

Help wanted — and needed!

A recreation program for the young will get under way in the next few weeks.

Ambitious plans have been laid for the field where the girls will play softball. A couple of public-spirited citizens, by name Edd Vanderpool and Robert Tackett, have donated time, some money and much labor to the task of installing modern sanitary conditions there.

Lighting for the field is on hand. It needs to be installed. Those willing to volunteer their time and effort may do so by calling Roy Barber at 687-1515.

PML, which got its start in our kitchen nearly 30 years ago, will open another season. Only four teams are expected to play this year. There aren't enough players — and the word is used advisedly, because girls are welcome — to field five teams, as used to be the case.

PML can use some help. Before the season and after it starts. Call Arnold Roberts at 687-1285.

We're all to blame for teacher plight

Yesterday was Teachers' day.

Here, too.

It didn't get much publicity, but it's certainly not our fault. Not all of it, anyway.

Individually, teachers here do a pretty good job of shouldering their responsibilities in the community. Collectively, it's not so great.

Truth to tell, the only time that the teachers collectively come to public notice to any extent at all is when they conclude, after secret negotiations (and the adjective galls just about everybody in town), a new work contract. Invariably, the new one is sweeter than the old one.

And we are not so sure that that isn't how it should be.

None but a fool would assert that teachers are overpaid. Some teachers are overpaid, certainly. But not the large part of them. It's just that, collectively, they do a darned poor job of showing those who pay their salaries that they really aren't overpaid.

Comes now some reliable information that, somewhere and some time down the road, there will be a shortage of teachers. Four reasons are recited for this.

1. A passel of good teachers is leaving the profession for better paying jobs with less hassle.
2. Although school enrollments now aren't staggering, there is a boomlet of babies-coming-of-school-age that will require an increase in the number of teachers.
3. A goodly number of teachers drawn to the profession after World War II, having by now put in sufficient years to command the maximum pension, are opting to retire, while they're still in their early fifties, seeking other careers (and double dipping) and getting as far away from school buildings and school work as they can.
4. Upward mobility of women is better, faster and richer than it used to be; whereas 25 or so years ago, a young girl had little opportunity to improve her station in life save to go into teaching, today she has a plethora of choices, most of them paying more than teaching.

We could recite our complaints about the teaching profession until Hell freezes over. It's like complaining about the Little Woman: we can recite complaint after complaint after complaint, but what it boils down to is this: "What would we do without her?"

Which is what it is with teachers, here, down the road, across the state, clear to Alaska, Puerto and Hawaii.

Their station in life deserves improvement. If they would only start right in the classroom, in the teachers' lounge, in the community where they teach!

Earnings up! Banner's difficulties in local operation offset elsewhere

Despite a poor performance here, resulting in layoffs of about 15 per cent of the work force, Banner Industries, Inc. reported earnings for the quarter ending Mar. 31 more than double those of a year earlier.

What's more, they amounted to the second-best third-quarter net income in the company's history.

Banner said most of the strength was manifested by its aviation aftermarket component, which produced 64 per cent of total sales for the period.

International markets accounted for 40 per cent of the total sales for the first three quarters of the current fiscal year, despite the high cost of the U.S. dollar abroad.

New London victim —

Hall's nitching in sectionals

Pitching is the name of the game, and Plymouth got it in spades, at Ontario Saturday.

Hitting is the difference between winning hard and winning easy, and Plymouth won easy because it hit the ball — 14 times, in all.

So the Big Red advanced to the sectional finals, which were played yesterday against South Central with a 16 to 0 defeat of New London.

Steve Hall, the 10th grader who throws, and throws hard, from the starboard side, faced just 21 batters. He allowed only two hits, both of them by Butch Wise, the Wildcat leftfielder. He struck out 11 and issued no walks. And he contributed two hits to the Plymouth total. All in all, a splendid performance.

The Big Red broke it open in the first inning. It got doubles by Jamie Brown, the team's leading hitter after 16 contests with an average of .408, and Jeff Lasch sandwiched around Hall's single and one base shots by Dave Burks, the Red catcher who collected three hits all told, and Gary Brown, the designated hitter.

Meanwhile, Hall was mowing 'em down. In the fourth, Plymouth scored nine runs, having made three in the fourth.

Jeff Stagg led off the fourth by striking out. Tim Deskins was hit by a pitch, Jamie Brown doubled. Hall singled, Lasch fanned but was safe on the catcher's error. Troy Keene got a life on the third baseman's error, Burks went out on a ground ball to third, Gary Brown fanned.

Jason Robinson began the fifth with a pass. Stagg singled, Tim Deskins struck out, Jamie Brown singled, Hall walked, Lasch was safe on a fielder's choice, Keene singled, Burks walked, so did Gary Brown and Robinson. When Stagg drew a pass, Plymouth had seven runs. But it was not finished. Deskins walked, facing Tommy Howell, and Jamie Brown was safe on the third baseman's error, scoring one. When Hall walked, another scored.

Dave Ash started for the Wildcats, allowing 12 hits, five walks and setting down five by K. Howell and two and fanned two.

Jamie Brown had two doubles, Lasch one.

Boys, girls win over Old Fort

Mapleton collected 13 hits off Jamie Brown, who was accorded poor support in the field, here Friday and went on to a 15 to 4 victory in Firelands' conference play.

The Mounties scored thrice in the first on an error in left field, two singles and a double, then another single with two out.

Plymouth struck back for two in its half on a homer by Steve Hall and a double by Jeff Lasch, who scored when the first baseman erred on Troy Keene's ground ball.

The Mounties got one in the third on a walk and two singles. They added four in the fourth. A leadoff double, a walk and a home run by Kevin Drushel scored three. Britt was safe when the rightfielder dropped his fly, allowing Britt to reach third. He scored on a wild pitch.

The visitors collected three more in the fifth and two each in the sixth and seventh.

Troy Keene walked after Lasch singled in the sixth and when Dave Burks walked, Gary Brown's single drove him in two.

Electrical safety begins at home.

Electricity is so dependable and so much a part of our everyday life, people sometimes take it for granted. That's why it's important to review the basics of electrical safety.

Check your home and see if you have any overloaded outlets. See if the cords and plugs are frayed or worn. Make sure no appliances are used near a bathtub or sink—be especially careful of hair dryers, blenders and radios.

When working on a roof or ladder outside, stay far away from overhead power lines. And never dig in your yard without first checking with the electric company for the location of any underground cables.

There are many other safety tips you should know about. You'll find them in a free pamphlet called "Electrical Safety." Contact us today and ask for your free copy.

After she's read out, she recommends cheese with eggs

By AUNT LIZ
The world is back on the kick again that kids cannot read. This idea has about a 10-year cycle. It dies down for a while, then rears its ugly little head. This shakes everyone, especially parents. They happily blame all the teachers and schools. At the same time the teachers and schools are blaming them for not pitching in at home, so it is a two-way street. I cannot remember how I learned to read, but it had to have been in school.

My mother was not that literary-minded. Parents can help. They can be sure their kids have a library card and can haul them to the closest one. They don't even have to go in themselves. Fortunately, we have very good librarians who take their work seriously.

They know what the little ones will like. I sincerely hope, though, that they close their eyes to what maybe a fifth or sixth grade gal may choose.

By then those little girls who were brought up on sexy television are looking for real romance. They aren't alone.

Why do you suppose that the grandmother by marriage to the Princess of Wales is such a howling success?

Barbara Cartland learned that nice, clean romances sell and she turned out like mad.

I went on the theory for years when our children were growing up that as long as they were reading the printed word that was all that counted.

Of course, there was a little guidance. They simply did not know that their mother was thoroughly enjoying some really shady mysteries written by a guy called Carter Brown.

There would be a new one at least once a month, and I soon realized no one person could be writing them all.

I've never known who nor how, but I think a bunch of good writers were simply hired to follow a pattern and turn them out. They were shady and fun to read and at the same time too well written for any hacky writer.

So let your kids read what they want. It will not hurt them any nor even corrupt their morals. If that is your worry, best you find a private space ship going off to the moon where there are no people.

Everyone else jogs, paints rooms and can do all sorts of dumb things. I kind of read in my spare time. Then, very unfortunately, dinner time pops up.

Since you know who is on a diet, I have lived on memories of what we would eat with great regularity.

One of my most favorite quick dinners was a cheese and egg deal. Just hard-boil five eggs — this is for two — then in a double boiler empty a can of cheese soup, meanwhile boil a little sliced onion with a few mushrooms until they are tender, add with the eggs. Actually you can throw in anything else like a few stuffed olives or black ones or pimiento.

You can add more cheese if you have it. It can be served on rice, toast or a patty shell which you can buy and will help the local economy since only one company makes them. It is much easier and cheaper than trying to make them yourself.

Two winners chosen by Aunt Liz

On Apr. 4, former mayor Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., drew the two winning tickets for the Jaycees' lottery. The two winning tickets were those of Robert Boyer and Mark Sheely, both of Plymouth street. They were drawn from over 550 tickets sold by the Jaycees for community projects.

About Bulls & Bears & Savings Bonds.

According to people in the stock market, bulls are good and bears are bad. But if you're buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, you don't have to worry about missing a ride on the bull or being devoured by the Wall Street bear.

When the bull is dominant in the market and rates are high, you'll share in those higher returns because Bonds now have a variable interest rate.

And that means there's no limit on how much you can earn.

But if the bear takes over and rates decline, you're protected by a guaranteed minimum of 7.5%. And that's only minimum. Chances are you'll do a lot better over time.

All you have to do is hold your Bonds five years or more and you can ride the bull and beat the bear.

Take stock in America.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA NEVER CHANGE.

SOME DO.

U.S. Savings Bonds now pay like money market accounts! At the current rate—10.94%—you could double your money in less than seven years.

Just hold your Bonds five years or more and get the new higher variable rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more—but never less than 7½%. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

But some of the best things about Savings Bonds haven't changed. They're still as safe as ever. They're still exempt from state and local income taxes. And since Bonds cost as little as $25,

U.S. Savings Bonds. Now paying 10.94%.

Or easier still, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Today, more than 5.5 million Americans are saving the easy way—through Payroll Savings. Isn't it time you joined them? they're as affordable as ever.

What's more, Savings Bonds remain a great way to keep our country strong.

You can purchase Bonds almost anywhere. At neighborhood banks, savings and loans and credit unions.

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on or after 11/1/82 and held at least 5 years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/1/82. Bonds held less than 5 years earn lower interest. A public service of the public trust.

The amount of the revenue increase requested in the application is $56,075,000. The major reasons in this case are:

- a) the reasonableness of the proposed increase;
- b) the company's proposal to amortize the difference in depreciation rates between the FCC depreciation methodology and the PUCO authorized depreciation methodology;
- c) the propriety of an allowance for Construction Work in Progress (CWIP);
- d) the determination of a cash working capital allowance and the appropriate methodology in calculating load factor costs;
- e) the appropriate test levels of local service, toll, and directory advertising revenues;
- f) the proper allowance for noncollectible labor and related expenses (including management labor and related benefits) and federal income taxes;
- g) the proposed amortization of embedded contract inside wire investments;
- h) the appropriate depreciation methodology;
- i) the determination of an appropriate rate of return, including the capital structure and the methodologies used to determine the cost of common equity;
- j) the inter-utility revenue distribution and whether the applicant's proposed movement toward cost-based pricing, recognizing market constraints for its common products and services, is reasonable;
- k) whether related rates should be eliminated or phased out;
- l) the level and structure of basic exchange rates including whether and in what length and density should be reflected back into rates and whether the applicant's proposal to shift 20% of its non-rate sensitive costs from its intrastate toll service to basic exchange rates is reasonable;
- m) the applicant's proposal to implement non-optimal Energy Rescheduling and other operational and residential customers in the Huron, Montrose, Bellevue and Oak Harbor exchanges;
- n) the applicant's proposal for the Extended Area Service (EAS) surcharge;
- o) the proposed rate for coin service of 25 cents per call;
- p) the rate levels for operator-assisted calls;
- q) whether the company's and Staff's proposals regarding customer notification of operational maintenance of inside wire charges are reasonable;
- r) the quality of telephone service provided by the applicant to its customers.
