Income tax dispute sent to Norwalk

A charge of failure to file a municipal income tax form lodged against William Hamons by Janet C. Jones, village tax administrator, resulted in a plea of not guilty in mayor's court July 23 and a transfer of the case to Norwalk Municipal court.

Bobby R. Hicks, Willard, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having no motorcycle endorsement on his license and he will be heard at Norwalk.

Charges of assault against criminal damaging, $150; Jay Matthew F. McKenzie, North Fairfield, and of improper license tags against John S. Robinson, Plymouth, were dismissed by Mayor Keith A. Hebble.

He continued the cases against Bruce Carpenter, Plymouth, accused of having no operator's license and having improper tags; James R. Kegley, Mansfield, of operating a vehicle while under suspension, and of Bryan K. Askey, Lexington, speeding were continued to Aug. 6.

Verdicts of guilty were returned in these cases: Michael Branham, Plymouth, criminal damaging, $150; Jay Kinchy, Mansfield, speeding, $50; Randal E. Taah, Plymouth, U-turn, $15; Lonnie Westbrook, Plymouth, please see page 3

A new suit on old form: who'll run for office?

To dig into our desk drawer and bring forth a suitable peroration on the subject of apathy and neglect is to wade through dozens of such efforts we've published over the past three decades. Each of them suits the purpose. Unfortunately, not a darned one of them did any good.

And we set forth once more, in the same effort, without much hope that we can persuade anyone to step forward and be heard, to submit his name as a candidate for the important offices that will be settled in November.

We hear on every street corner and wherever folks gather that this and so is wrong with the schools, that he or she, perhaps both, aren't doing what they're supposed to and ought to be fired, that the major part of the faculty lives outside the district, on and on, ad infinitum.

To which we respond, sometimes cheerfully, in consonance with what Mr. Jefferson said and wrote over 200 years ago: "If you don't like it, get in there and change it, whether by your candidacy or another."

Three seats, which means control of the board of education, and four seats, which means control of the village council, will be filled in November. The filing deadline is fast approaching. Where are the candidates?

We urged one likely (to us, anyway) candidate to throw his hat into the ring.

"And have you b—s of the newspaper stomp all over it? And have my kids spit upon in the street and the playground? Not on you life, old buddy. I'd rather play Russian roulette!"

Still, the age-old lesson is no less true now than it ever was: if the people want to run their affairs, they had damned well better step forward to do so, else the Yahoos will do it and bleed 'em white!"

To him, or her, who will consider the executing of a petition, regardless of his views, or the lack thereof, we'll promise this:

1. Free notarial service.
2. Free transportation to solicit signatures.
3. Full, fair coverage of the candidate without violation of his privacy in any way, and
4. A frank statement, when the time comes, to him and to his neighbors, of what we think of his candidacy and whether he ought to be elected.

Two parcels sold in south side of village

Outlot 18, in the south side of West Broadway, was being sold to the Bryan J. Neffs, Richland county recorder reports.

Lot 176, at the southwest corner of Wall street and West Broadway, has been sold by Jerry Stackhouse to Mrs. John F. Stambaugh.

Court rules for Layne in appeal by village

Two court actions affecting the village were recorded last week.

Judge Robert W. Smith, Huron county common pleas court, ruled on one of two motions filed by Village Solicitor Richard P. Wolfe, 2nd, gave temporary relief to the permanent injunction handed down in his court by an earlier judge in 1942 that prevents the village from obstructing traffic in the Public Square or in Sandusky street.

He will rule on the primary motion, to modify the injunction so as to permit festivals, parades and such.

Appeals court sitting at Canton turned down an appeal by the village in its case against Samuel Layne.

Appeal was taken from a ruling by Shelby Municipal Court Judge Vincent R. Phelan in the case of Village of Plymouth vs. Samuel Layne, accused of operating a motor vehicle without a license. Phelan ruled that a summons and/or arrest for a traffic offense must emanate from detection by a police officer who, if mounted, must be mounted in a vehicle clearly marked as a police car. After a snowstorm last winter, Layne was apprehended by two officers who were riding in the vehicle belonging to one of them, not marked as a police cruiser.

Layne was represented by Richard Hauser, former Huron county prosecutor, Willard. The appeals court upheld Hauser's contention and Phelan's ruling.

Layne is now discharged from all prosecution in this alleged offense.

Who took conditioner at house?

An air conditioner was reported stolen from 138 1/2 Maple street Monday at 4:30 p. m. The house is unoccupied.

Three arrested after festival on five counts

Aftermath of the Firemen's Festival late Saturday and early Sunday was arrest of three young men, two Shilohans and a Mansfielder, for drunken driving, disorderly conduct, assault, resisting arrest and possession of marijuana.

John Sutton, 21, Mansfield, was charged with public intoxication Sunday at 8:40 a. m. when police found him in a vehicle at Bell and West High streets, where they found him in a vehicle.

He was charged with drunken driving. All of the arrested were taken to the Shelby jail. Poth was released and Conley was heard Monday morning. Sutton will be heard in mayor's court Tuesday night.

Shiloh entry wins top parade prize

A diminished audience did not deter marchers in the ninth annual Firemen's Festival parade Saturday.

Some veteran participants and experienced observers said it was the best parade in several years, "mostly because there was a heck of a lot more music than we normally have here. Somebody really worked at it."

It appears that somebody is Mrs. Wayne E. Strine, wife of the fire chief, parade chairman. Judging resulted in selection of the Big Oak Campground entry, prepared by Ralph A. Hawkins, as the top-of-the-line.

Float entered by Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, Shiloh, won first place among floats. High school FFA placed second. New London High school band won first prize.

Crown entry by Border's Market, Plymouth, took first prize. Mrs. Elizabeth Horn and her husband were second. Albert DeKlown was third.

High Society was adjudged first among baton and drum units, Americettes second, Red Marauders third.

Secor Funeral home's horse hitch won first place. DonMar Stable's mini-horse hitch was second.

Huron County Ladies' Sheriff's Poise won the ribbon among single horse entries. Betsy Rhodes placed second.

A 1930 Ford Model A pickup truck entered by Billy Wright won the competition among antique automobiles.

Rebecca Seaman, USAF recruiter at Mansfield, brought a Lahm Airport color guard to the parade and placed second, behind the entry of Elmer-Parrel Post 447, American Legion, Plymouth, that led the march as well.

Fire Queen for 1985 is Carol Tuttle, all smiles after outgoing queen, Renee Carter, pinned tiara in her hair Friday night.

Miss Tuttle new queen of festival

Carol Tuttle was chosen Friday night to succeed Renee Carter as Plymouth Fire Queen.

She defeated four others in the competition, which was judged by Nelson Roberts, vocal music director, Willard High school, an alumnus of Plymouth High school; Jodi Crawford, Northwestern Ohio Volunteer Firemen's association queen of 1985, and Karen Edwards.

Mrs. Thomas DeWitt, master of ceremonies for this affair since its inception, asked each contestant the same question: "If you could nominate one of your teachers to ride into space, who would it be?"

Sandra Elliott was runner-up. Karol Edler was chosen Miss Congeniality.

Although the room in Plymouth Elementary school was hot than in previous years, a smaller than usual crowd turned out.

Other contestants were Rhonda Sexton and Lana Laser.

Miss Tuttle is the daughter of Ronnie Tuttle and Mrs. Doris Stover. She lives in Beelman street.

Miss Elliott is the daughter of the Benjamin Elliotts, 535 West Broadway.

Miss Edler is the daughter of the Roy Edlers, 160 Nichols street.

Miss Laser is the elder child of the Larry Lasers, 334 Willow drive. Miss Sexton is the daughter of the Lowell Sextons.

Reappraisal begins on Richland side

Reappraisal of real estate for tax purposes in Richland county is under way.

Auditor Freeman Swank has hired Cole-Lister-Trumbull, professional appraisers, to do the work.

Reappraisal for real estate tax purposes is required in Ohio every six years. The next one in Richland county is due in 1987. Adjustments to present valuations will be reflected in tax bills for 1988.

There are 67,022 parcels of land in the county, Swank says. C-L-T will be paid $900,000 for its work. Listers, each of whom is equipped with identification in laminated form signed by Swank, will call on property owners to verify data on file.

sale price of adjacent to that being appraised, although other factors such as size, structural strength and general condition also are considered.

Randall R. Bare, a C-L-T project supervisor, put it succinctly: "We recognize the value that is established by sales, we do not set the value."

New construction of such as porches, garages, ells and out-buildings can add to the tax valuation of the property.

What does the appraiser think? "He thinks," says Barr, "how much more would he pay for the place with the improvement. Some items simply don't add much to the value of a property if it's to be sold."

What can the householder do if he disagrees with the new appraisal? please see page 4

No rice at weddings, broccoli in soup in the kitchen

By AUNT LIZ
By now everyone knows that throwing rice at a wedding is plain out and bird seed is in.

It really goes a little further, and it makes sense.

A Connecticut legislator has now introduced a bill making it unlawful to throw instant rice.

It is a real time saver in cooking, because of a couple of minutes the water is absorbed, and you can start to eat a tasty dinner.

That is exactly what happens when birds nibble on it. It bloats them, they get very sick and many are not birds anymore, but small angels flying around heaven.

This has been a good summer for birds without having to go to weddings.

Everything seems to be growing like mad. The corn is so tall and plain beautiful.

But what I cannot understand is why farmers can't make a decent living out of it all. We have so many hungry people right here in this country let alone the rest of the world. Not one kernel should be wasted.

A good farmer who is kind of an acquaintance has said that even if his crop equals last year's and his price is about the same, he is going to lose his last shirt. Why?

I am not even going to try to find the answer because I simply am not that smart, but surely there has to be someone who can.

Meanwhile I will enjoy it (keep telling myself) standing over a hot stove.

If I can do this, anyone can. It's the tastiest broccoli soup you have ever had. The recipe comes from a rather costly Cleveland eatery.

Start with about three cups of the flowerette, if the stems look tender, peel them, and throw them in too.

Boil them in three and a half cups of water. Measure this carefully. When yet crispy, take them out and chop.

Save the water.

In a large sauce pan melt a half stick of margarine and brown about a fourth of a cup of chopped onions.

Meanwhile, have about 10 and half ounces of chicken broth ready. This is an average size can, if you do not have the homemade stuff.

And in another pan have five cups of milk heating to scalding.

When the onions are golden and everything is nicely heated, add two-third of a cup of flour to them, mix, and slowly add half the milk, the chicken broth and the liquid from cooking the broccoli. Stir like mad so it does not get lumpy.

Then add the rest of the milk and the broccoli. Season it with salt and pepper.

It will be a thickish soup, good hot or cold.

The original recipe says to grind the onions out. I leave them in.

They add to it all.

There is one large catch to this tasty tidbit. It takes five pans to make it plus the bread board and choppy to wash. It will take about 20 minutes to make it and another two hours to clean it all up.

No wonder frozen foods are so popular.

"Mom, could electricity hurt you?"

When your children ask about electricity, read them these safety reminders. Let your son or daughter know electricity is one of the most convenient and dependable forms of energy we have. But care must be taken when you're around it, or it can injure or kill. Make sure your children know and follow these safety rules:

1. Never fly a kite or model airplane in the rain and never fly one near utility poles. Don't use wire or any metal parts in your kite. If the kite should get caught in a power line, don't try to get it down.
2. Never touch any power line. It could kill you.
3. Don't climb trees near power lines.
4. Don't build treehouses near electrical wires.
5. Don't climb utility poles, towers or other electrical structures.
6. Never stick fingers or any objects into electrical outlets or appliances.

Reappraisal set on Richland side

He can appeal to the county board of revision, which is comprised of the auditor, the treasurer and a commissioner, if he will disatisfied, he can seek relief from the state board of tax appeals.

Sir, I have always been one to give credit where credit is due, and now is no exception.

Last week a letter appeared in this same space from a irate dog owner—me. I was both angry and disappointed in the system which had sent my pet to the dog pound despite a report filed on the missing animal.

While I have in no way altered my opinion of that system, I want to make known the commendable effort put forth by Captain Spognard in investigating my complaint. It is through his help that we have recovered our dog, and I greatly appreciate the means he employed to that end.

Police help appreciated, she says

Also a thank you is due Mayor Keith Hobbs for his efforts on our behalf, and to our family and friends for the assistance they gave.

It is with renewed hope that I write this; hope that by working through the system we can improve it, making it both more efficient and better suited to the needs of the people it serves. Change, both good and bad, can only come to the village from within, and within is you and me.

Thank you,
Elaine Enderby
(Mrs. James Enderby)

Why didn't media report this achievement?

Sir, On July 5 of this year, six civically-minded young people of this community and area completed the Ohio Peace Officer Basic training held at the Willard Police Academy. Sponsored by our local police department, they were members of a class of 20 sponsored by various law enforcement agencies of the are. Local people participating in this training were Jeff Brown, Al Carey, Dana Howard, Michael Metcalfe, Robert Reed and Nancy Ritchie. Also attending from Plymouth, sponsored by another agency was Ed Waddles. These young people are all employed at full-time jobs and attended classes on their own time. They paid for their schooling, uniforms and gear as well as ammunition and necessary classroom supplies.

Ribbon on Pentagon sewn here

A touch of Plymouth was in Washington, D. C. Sunday when Jeff Brown, 10,000 persons demonstrated around the Pentagon and the Capital Mall.

Women of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church made a small section of the 15-mile peace "ribbon" that was stretched around the Pentagon building.

I would like to further add, in case there are those who are unaware of this fact, that these people serve as auxiliary policemen at no pay, serving alongside our regular law officers taking the same risks and serving us the public, on their own time at their own expense, out of a sense of civic pride, meeting a need which certainly does exist in this community.

I personally feel it is a shame that this event was ignored by the media and extend to these young people my congratulations and thanks.

Julia Metcalfe
(Ed. Note: This medium does not ignore any news event of which it is informed, whether before, during or after the fact, if people living in or near Plymouth are involved.)

Clerk's open on Wednesday

Huron county clerk of courts has reverted to his normal office schedule.

Clark Hunter says that starting yesterday, his office is open Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., on Fridays from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Saturdays from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Why was he closed Wednesday afternoons? "A new computer, and we had to learn how to use it."

Three injured in two collisions

An 18-year-old Plymouth route 1 youth was injured Friday morning when the truck in which he was a passenger was struck by a car at Route 250 and South Norwalk road.

Titus E. Miller was scratched. A state highway trooper took him to Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital at Norwalk for treatment.

He was riding with E. Edward Miller, 28, West Salem, who was headed south on Route 250 and drove around a vehicle stopped to turn left into South Norwalk road. This car, driven by Arnold Leedy, 28, New London, was headed north. Leedy turned left in front of the pickup truck. The collision forced the vehicles into the lawn of Morgan's restaurant.

Leedy was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way when turning left.

Pleas of guilty to a charge of driving without a license and to drunken driving in Shelby Municipal court resulted in stiff penalties against a 19-year-old Shilohan.

Paul E. Burton, 69 Euclid street, was fined $250 and costs on the first count and $300 and costs on the second, to which was added three days in jail and suspension of his driver's license for a year.

Two persons were injured early July 31 in a collision in Route 61 south of here.

Deanna Mask, 38, Stiving road, and Henry Wright, 42, Skinner road, New Haven township, were taken to Shelby Memorial hospital by ambulance shortly after 12:30 a. m.

Wright was driving a 1979 Ford LTD northerly in Route 61. The Mask woman in a 1984 Pontiac Fiero, headed south, averted left of center and struck Wright's car. Her car went into a ditch.

She was charged with drunken driving.

Hales, Allens end marriages in divorce court

Divorce sought in Huron county common pleas court by Vickie L. Hale, New Haven, against Robert W. Hale, Plymouth, was granted, a journal entry shows.

Marriage of Leonard J. Allen, Lot 32, Huron Valley Mobile Home park, New Haven, and Claudine Allen, Willard, had been dissolved.

Mrs. Ally's kin, Mrs. Pera dies in California

Step-mother of Mrs. Virginia Ally, Plymouth route 1. Mrs. Thomas Pera, 66, nee Betty Jane Biglin, Pacifico, Cal., died there June 17 of a brief illness.

She was graduated by Sandusky high school in 1936 and was employed by Waldock Packing Co. and by American Crayon Co., Sandusky, before she went to California.

She was a member of St. Stephen's United Church of Christ, San Gabriel, and of the auxiliary, Loomooe, Pacifico, Cal.

Her husband and a son, Donald Hoffman, in California, also survive.

Her parents, the Clayton Biglin, died earlier.

Service and interment took place in California June 19.

The Advertiser watches parade

Runner-up

First runner-up to the Fire Queen was Sandy Elliott, daughter of the Benjamin Elliotts, who rode in Saturday's parade.

Charter member

Mrs. Paul Kranz, one of a few living charter members of Shiloh community Grange, this year marking its golden anniversary, rode in the tonneau of this convertible Saturday.

Hooray for Orva!

A parade in Plymouth isn't complete unless Orva Dawson drives his little car AND poses for The Advertiser's camera.

A 1932!

Milt Shank, Attica, exhibited his 1932 Ford station wagon, magnificently refurbished, in the antique auto show in the Square Saturday morning and then participated in the parade.

Champs!

Vikings, T-Ball champs in PML play, filled the wagon of a hitch that assembled in West High street.

6-and-3

Ross's Mobile Home Park, minor division: kneeling, from left, Christie Kamann, Tiffany Reidman, Lori Root, Michelle Ream; standing, Mandy Beverly, Tina Hayes, Charity Stein; coaches, the Sidney Reams. Record: won six, lost three.

All about town . . .

Mr. and Mrs. G. Thomas Moore with their daughter and son-in-law, the Philip Fletchers, and their three sons, Mansfield, spent their vacation visiting Norfolk, Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va. En route home they toured the battlefield at Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry McKenzie and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keown, Clinton, Ind., vacationed in Nashville, Tenn. The McKenzies spent the weekend in Washington, Pa., when they returned her niece, Lynn Baker, who visited here last week.

Jerry Cook, son of the Dennis Cooks, Manafield, spent the weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Cook, to watch the firemen's parade.

Mrs. Joel Van Loo is the new le chapeau, or president, of Richland County Salon 450, Huit Chevaux et Quarante Femmes, an organization of members of the American Legion auxiliary restricted to those who have served as principal officers of auxiliary units.

Mrs. Fred Bauer, Shiloh, is demichapeau premier, or first vice-president; Mrs. J. Max Fidler, Plymouth, is la petite secretaire, or secretary. They and other officers were installed at a picnic July 31.

Old Gertie

Shiloh's oldest fire truck, which goes nowhere but to ceremonial exhibitions such as parades, turned out in replendent form Saturday for the annual Firemen's Festival parade here.
