

Crafts and skills to be highlights at Village Days

Demonstrations of old time crafts and skills will be shown around the Square during next week's Village Days, Oct. 5 and 6.

Mrs. James McClure and Mrs. William R. Miller have arranged for a variety to be shown.

Members of Rainbow Valley chapel will make apple butter again.

Michael Reynolds will show his authentic Indian tepee.

Among the other displays are stone carving by Walter Nicola, a cider press by the Eichelbarger family, twirling and candle-wicking by Mrs. Harold Laser, carving by Michael Laser and a saddle and display of old sleighs by Betsy Rhodes.

Her mother, Mrs. Ivan Rhodes, William R. Miller have arranged for a variety to be shown.

Donald B. Shaver will carve apple head dolls.

Mrs. Richard Pennell, Mrs. Nevin Border and Evelyn Buckingham will be showing and doing quilting.

Alicia Smith will be back to show the skill of calligraphy.

Robert Fogleson, that of chair caning.

Mrs. Fogleson will do folk art. So will Laura Schwaderer.

Basket weaving will be shown by Mrs. Larry Taylor, Joyce Porter and Laura King.

Mrs. Larry Classen will turn out old fashioned corn fritters. Band Mothers will prepare homemade ice cream.

Rug braiding will be shown by Norma McClain and tile painting by Mrs. Donald Ray.

Girl Scouts will be doing face painting.

Adam Taylor will display Civil War items from his family.

Plymouth Garden club will sell grape vine wreaths. Redd White will demonstrate rolling pin making.

A style show of old fashioned clothing from the collection of Mrs. James Wolf will be shown in Plymouth Elementary school on both days, Oct. 5 and 6, at 4 p.m.

Businesses around the Square will again have displays of old items in their windows.

Reproduction by post cards set by pupils

Art classes of Plymouth High school with their instructor, Mrs. Gerry Burman, Jr., are doing their share for Village Days.

From old photographs of village scenes, they are reproducing drawings that will be reproduced on post cards.

Some of the scenes to be depicted are the chapel in Greenlaw cemetery, the west side of the Square looking east, from a 1917 photograph, the band stand from a 1903 picture, the Derringer Hotel in Sandusky street, and some of the old houses shown in "Picturesque Huron County".

Also Sam Nims's sugar camp, the Searle house, and the present Plymouth library.

Police set mock jail sentence, $10 in bail

In the spirit of Village Days, and to raise funds for the Plymouth Police association, the police department on Oct. 5 and 6 will arrest and jail, on comical charges, any resident likely to pay a ransom of $10 to the association for his release.

Persons wishing to cooperate may call Jail-in-Bail, 687-3371.

Name and address of the alleged culprit must be given, together with a pledge of $10 to the Plymouth Police association, which will share its earnings with the Village Days committee.

Some possible offenses: Impersonating a school superintendent, transporting females across a county line, inciting a riot with wild attire, skipping out early, indelicat exposure from the neck up, embezzlement from the coffee fund, removing all ash trays from office, selling "movie" in a crowded firehouse, loitering on one's own property, exceeding speed limit while jogging and wearing of the belt too close to the sidewalk.

Those headed will be dealt with by a kangaroo judge, who will hear their pleas and set bail.

12th grader wins national honor as 'commended'

A Plymouth High school pupil has been designated commended student in the 1986 National Merit Scholarship program, Principal Jeffrey H. Stauson, announces.

Kevin Taylor, a 12th grader, placed in the top five per cent of over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship program.

Date changed, three absent

Change of date of the mayor's court to Wednesday afternoon did not help much, records of Mayor Keith A. Hebble's court show.

Four cases were slated to be heard Sept. 18 at 2 p.m. Three of the accused did not appear. Bench warrants will issue.

The fourth, Timothy M. Stump, Tiro, charged with drunken driving, asked for continuance.

Carl McCoy, Willard, charged with drunken driving; Bruce E. Carpenter, Plymouth, accused of driving without a license, and Gregory O. Starky, Willard, charged with driving while under suspension, did not appear.

George Conley, 64, dies at Willard

George Conley, 64, Shiloh, died Sept. 18 in Willard Area hospital of a lengthy illness.

He was a retiree of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., and a member of United Baptist church, Shelby, whose minister, the Rev. James Oakley, conducted services Saturday in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township. Interment was by McQuate-Scor Funeral home.

He was born Aug. 25, 1921, in Salsyerville, Ky.

He is survived by his wife, Charlene; three sons, Alonzo and Rundle, Plymouth and James, Mansfield; five daughters, Beulah, now Mrs. Charles Estep, Norwalk; Mrs. Cynthia Stephens, Mrs. Edith Penzes, Mrs. Alice Stephens and Mrs. Fannie Owens, Plymouth; a step-daughter, Mrs. Tina Osborne, Hi Hat, Ky.; three brothers, Green, Willard; Eugene, Shiloh, and Orville, Stow; a sister, Mrs. Alice Ouley, Warsaw, Ind.; 28 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Two teenagers die in Rt. 598 collision

Two teenagers died and a third was severely injured Saturday about 8:20 p.m. when their car left Route 598 north of Henry road and overturned "perhaps 20 times", Ohio Highway patrol reported.

The dead are the driver, Thomas Raymond Schaffer, 18, 540 Nutte street, Willard, a pupil of Willard High school who attended Pioneer Joint Vocational school as a 12th grader, who died at 9:32 p.m. in Shelby Memorial hospital; and Tonya Sue Richard, 15, 38 Rase court, Willard, who died at 11:57 p.m. in Mansfield General hospital.

They were riding in a car with James A. Gunaria, 19, Cottage Cove, who was removed to Willard Area hospital, where his condition is fair. A 1985 alumna of Willard High school, he is employed by R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co.

They were headed north when the vehicle left the road, apparently at high speed, and overturned when the 1984 Chrysler Laser slid off the left side of the road.

The three youths were thrown from the car. Born in Willard, young Schaffer was a communicant of St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church, where the Rev. James Peiffer was celebrant of the funeral mass Tuesday at 10 a.m. Interment by Scor Funeral home was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Memorial contributions to the organ fund of the church are suggested.

The boy is survived by his parents, the Raymond J. (Bud) Schaffers, four sisters, Christine, now Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Willard; Beth, now Mrs. William Goodsite, Willard; Julie, now Mrs. Lanny Jackson, Lafayette, La., and Rebecca, at home, and a brother, Michael, Willard.

Miss Richard was born in Clearwater, Fla., and lived nine years in Willard. She was a pupil of Willard High school active in basketball and volleyball and band and chorus.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Richard, Willard; her father, Howard T. Richard, her sister, DiAnne, Willard, and her paternal grandparents, the Leonard Richards, Land O' Lakes, Fla.

The Rev. G5rdon Meyer conducted services from Scor Funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Burkett now acting chief

A 25-year-old alumnus of Plymouth High school in 1978, William T. Burkett is the new acting police chief.

Resignation of William N. Spognardi, Sr., took effect Monday.

Burkett's promotion to the rank of captain and appointment as acting chief were made by the safety committee Sept. 7. He is a candidate for appointment as permanent chief, a designation Mayor Keith A. Hebble said will be made by Oct. 15, "at least we hope so".

Son of the Eldon G. Burkette, 153 Whitney avenue, Acting Chief Burkett was for a time employed by R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., Willard. He is engaged to be married to Miss Nancy Ritchie, the utilities clerk.

Mayor Hebble reports receipt of two other applications, "both of them from out-of-town and both of them from former military people."

The village will receive applications until Oct. 10. It is advertising for candidates.

Whether two functionaries of the village who have completed Ohio Peace Officers' school training will apply is problematical.

Wayne E. (Jim) Strine has for some time said he wishes the posts of fire chief and police chief to be combined and a trained officer assigned to head the new department, a move that would give Plymouth its first paid fireman and thereby reduce fire insurance rates in the village.

Councilman Terry Hopkins, who declined to seek reelection, was the bete noire of Chief Spognardi, who often said "The man who wants my job is Terry Hopkins". He has so far made no gesture that he want the job, no formal gesture, anyway, and there are those who doubt that he will do so.

Mrs. Moore's nephew kills self at Norwalk

375 Willow drive, Charles Byron Lord, 36, Norwalk, shot himself to death early Sept. 17 after a spat with a woman friend.

Police were called to an apartment at 30-B Ontario street in Norwalk at 1:43 a.m. by Gail Johnson, who said she was the girlfriend of Lord, with whom she had been out drinking. They had a spat in a bar and he departed the apartment in anger. He returned and begun to pound on the door.

Although the pounding had stopped by the time she telephoned to the police, she said she feared he might still be around because his car, a Camaro was parked in the parking lot.

Police found him slumped over in a partial sitting position, a caliber .38 revolver in his hand, a pool of blood beneath him. He was shot in the head.

Born to Clayton C. and Hilda Boettcher Lord in Norwalk, he grew up in Monroeville, where he was an outstanding high school athlete. Graduated in 1967, he took the baccalaureate degree of Baldwin-Wallace college, Berea, in 1971. He was lately employed by Brite-But Jewelers, Norwalk.

Divorced, he is survived by a son, Matthew, Norwalk; his father, Monroeville; a sister, Kay, now Mrs. James Schlachter, Monroeville, and a brother, Robert, Riverside, Cal.

His mother died in 1967. Memorial contributions may be made to the Monroeville High school athletic fund or to a favorite charity.

Graveside service was conducted Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in Riverside cemetery by the Rev. Benedict Ringholz. Interment was by Jump Funeral home.

First baby born at Celeryville succumbs at 87

First child born to the Dutch immigrants who settled in Celeryville in the late 1890s, Nicholas Moll, 87, died Sept. 17 in Hillside Acres Nursing home, Willard, after a lengthy illness.

He was born Nov. 1, 1897, in Celeryville. In 1904, he moved with his parents and a mother to Newburg, because of his father's illness. The father died there shortly afterwards and his mother moved to Cleveland, where her relatives lived. He grew up in Cleveland but returned to Celeryville in the summer to work in the celery fields. He also worked at the White Motor Co. and Republic Steel Corp. in Cleveland.

On Oct. 12, 1929, he married Jennie Burman and returned to Celeryville.

He worked at the Pioneer Rubber Co. in Willard and in 1926 he went to work in Wiern General Store in Celeryville. In 1944 he bought the store. He ran it until 1961, turning it over to his oldest son, and was appointed a deputy by Sheriff John Borgia. He retired after 12 years with the rank of captain.

He was active in the Republican party in Huron county and for many years was a notary public. For a short time in the 1930s, he Speak your mind by letter to the editor

Friendly persuasion.

What would it take to persuade you to join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds? We could appeal to your patriotism. Or we could point out the dangers of not preparing for the future.

Instead, we'll just point out in a very friendly way that Bonds are one of the easiest ways to save. Even if saving has always been difficult for you. The Payroll Savings Plan sets aside a little from each paycheck toward Savings Bonds. And that's a nice way of saving, because you'll hardly miss it. But if you need it, it'll be there. Just like a friend.

Red rally beats Wildcats, 29 to 24

Keene-to-Hall 16-yarder clinches victory

A determined Plymouth team came from behind in the closing minutes at New London Friday night to win a stirring 29 to 24 victory over the Wildcats in Firelands conference play with an aerial attack that misfired more than it connected but produced results at the end.

Nevertheless, without two fortuitous decisions, which amounted to gifts by the New London leadership, Plymouth might not have prevailed.

Behind by a point at 24 to 23, owing to a wide kick by Randy Myers on the third touchdown, his first miss of the season, the Big Red kicked deep into New London territory. The ball skittered out of bounds along the south sideline at the New London 15.

Here the referee notified the New London captain of his options: he could take the ball where it was, or he could choose a five-yard penalty against Plymouth and take another kickoff, this time from the Red 35.

He chose the former, to the consternation of the bench. Coach Bob Haseman said later of this and a subsequent "boner," it was due to a mixup in communications.

This bottled the Wildcats deep in their own territory. In three downs they managed only two yards net and on fourth down punted 33 yards to midfield, where Jamie Brown, who had his ups and downs this balmy night, perfect for football, fell down after running into a teammate.

Plymouth set up on the 50 and in five plays was into the end zone for the go ahead score.

Haseman observed after the game, "We thought we had Plymouth beaten at the half. We were satisfied the players had had it. And that's how we saw it all during the second half, except for Keene and Hall. They're the reason why we got beat!"

Indeed, Haseman was more right than wrong.

Keene passed 23 yards to Jason Robinson, who has been the forgotten receiver of late, and first down at the Wildcat 37. After an incompletion, Keene hit Robinson again, this time for nine yards.

Billy Castle, who scored two touchdowns, booted up the middle for two. Then, with 1:40 on the clock, Keene found Steve Hall in the end zone for 16 yards and what proved to be the clincher. Myers' kick was again wide.

The ensuing kickoff went out of bounds at the New London nine. The Wildcats refused the penalty and lost two yards in four plays.

Plymouth was afforded a splendid opportunity to expand its lead with 56 seconds remaining and the Wildcats out of timeouts.

But Coach Richard Roll opted to swallow the ball and let the clock run down.

Two personal foul penalties, each of which cost the Wildcats five and a half yards, ate up the distance Keene gave up when he retreated and sank to the turf.

New London drew first blood. The Wildcats forced Hall to fumble after a 19-yard pass reception and recovered at the New London punted. Shepherd's boot went 27 yards to the New London 47 where Brown fumbled. New London recovered and in nine plays had the field goal, a 21-yarder kicked by Dave Hartley on fourth down, with new London at the Red four.

Plymouth stormed to the New London 24 in the ensuing series, failing of fifth down. On second down, the Wildcats fumbled, Plymouth recovered — it was Paul Manuel who fell on the ball — and needed seven plays to cover the 21 yards to the end zone. Castle darted home from the one with 9:01 on the clock.

Myers kicked the PAT and Plymouth led.

The hosts couldn't move in the ensuing series and after a 30-yard punt, Plymouth attacked again.

This time, two running plays netted 30 yards, the big one a reverse with Hall on the last handoff, and two passes accounted for 26 yards. On fourth down, from the New London five, Myers booted a 21-yard field goal for a halftime lead of 10 to 3.

After 24 minutes of action, the teams were about even on the ground. New London in 35 plays had seven first downs and 56 yards by rushing. It had thrown two passes and completed one for 22 yards. And it had lost 25 yards in three penalties.

Plymouth in 29 plays had eight first downs with 56 yards by rushing and 87 yards in the air, on seven connections of 15 tosses. It had fumbled twice and lost each one, whereas the Wildcats had lost only one of three. Plymouth gave up 25 yards on three penalties.

In the second half, Ken Ross, certainly an all-conference selection based on his performance in this contest, came to the fore. For the night he carried 25 times for 172 yards.

Toward the end of the third period, Ross profited by a fourth down pass interference penalty against Hall that gave him and the Wildcats first down at the Red 15. So on first down he darted through the Plymouth defenses for the first New London touchdown. Hartley kicked the PAT and it was tied at 10.

He was back in the end zone in New London's next series.

With possession at the Red 44 and time running out in the third period, Ross carried for seven, two and 12 yards, got a rest when Brian Ony took a reverse for a 21 yard loss and then Ross sprinted 21 yards for the second Wildcat touchdown. Hartley kicked the PAT and it put New London into a 17 to 10 lead.

Plymouth took the kickoff and drove 59 yards in three plays for the tying score.

From the Red 41, Hall lost four on a pitchout to the right. A strong pass rush, characteristic of the New London line in the second half, hurried Keene and he could not hit Hall deep. But on third down the combination worked perfectly. From the Red 37, Keene found Hall alone in the secondary. hit him perfectly and Hall sped 63 yards for the score.

Myers kicked the PAT and it was tied at 17.

New London took the next kickoff and marched 64 yards in 19 plays. The scoring play was a 20-yard pass from Dan Cole, the quarterback, to Brian Ony. Hartley again kicked the PAT.

And so the stage was laid for Plymouth's dramatic comeback. Plymouth took the kickoff to its 32. On second down, Keene pitched back to Hall who threw to the Plymouth quarterback for 29 yards in an sick piece of hipster dicker as Plymouth has produced in a long time.

On third down, Keene found Robinson for 33 yards. This gave Plymouth first down at the Wildcat six. Castle needed two shots to score. This he did from four yards away.

The place kick by Myers was wide to the right and at 24 to 23 and trailing, Plymouth had time enough to win if it could get the ball. The clock read 4:30.

The fan who drove 20 miles to New London and paid his $2.50 to see this one was more than rewarded. Each team played well. Plymouth was luckier and perhaps just a bit better. New London is not such a poor team, although it has lost four straight.

By the same token, although Plymouth has won four straight, a feat no other Big Red team has even managed in 35 seasons of 11-man football (one the Big Red went 3-0-1). Plymouth has played teams that collectively haven't won more than one game.

To prevail against the remainder of the conference will require better running, a stronger defense against the run and a second half that matches the first half performance. There were some yeomen on the Plymouth side. Terry Mansfield, Manuel, Junior Porter, Dave Powers and Walter Laaser showed up well on defense. An outburst by another defensive player, cost Plymouth a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty it could ill afford.

Kids learned rouser songs at Auntie's knee: she cared!

By AUNT LIZ

TV is great, it says here, for plain fun and actually for knowledge. But radio is even better. It is easier, you don't have to watch it and can wash dishes, cook, scrub the floor, you name it.

This being football season, I just heard something I could have guessed at, but actually did not know: that the Victory March of Notre Dame is the most popular of all football rousers.

It would be interesting if someone actually could tally up every high school that uses the music. Every year at this time, I think up something the schools should be doing, but get cold feet to even approach one high school or even grade school principal to suggest it.

They are all in one business, of preparing the young of our land to enter the world and survive in it. I can add one other little in evidence; they should learn to like it and appreciate it.

The heck with the great words of Plato, Shakespeare, and you can go on for pages, neither teachers nor kids seem to care anymore, so what is left?

They should know the rousers of every state university. They are part of our culture. Kids grow up hearing their fathers talk about the Badgers, the Hawkeyes, the Buckeyes, but do they know the music that urges those teams on?

Perhaps a truly trained musician would say the music is for the birds. I disagree, it is great, and is part of our culture of today.

Music teachers may be missing a great happy with their pupils with some of the great classics that also have a great part of our lives. Maybe every school administrator will help Lynch me for this, but let the kids loose with "I'm a rambling wreck from Georgia Tech and a hell of an engineer".

Our own kids loved it, and the one thing I ever did for them was, with the help of their father, now I am being plain decent, to teach them all the music we grew up with.

Don't think we were too kookie in bringing up two kids, they also learned every Sunday school song in the book on those Sunday joints in the car. To us, it was simply part of growing up, which we knew they would not learn entirely in school or Sunday school.

Now that I remember back, they never did get past the first stanza.

of "The Star Spangles Banner", I never knew those words.

What really upsets me today is the random amount of kids people have, and in a lot of cases are a one-night exercise, and they insist on producing them. Then what? We support them with their welfare checks, or the mothers get jobs and anyone can take care of the kids. From what I have seen, the little ones come absolutely last, and then a whole bunch of people yell that abortion is so wrong. What is more wrong than babies born healthy, waiting to be part of the world with a parent who doesn't give a damn?

We know of one young mother with three children, each from a different father, and who is supporting them?

This is the sort of thing that drives me to my stove to forget. I am deadly serious about this kind of misplaced kids. It's not that it costs us money as taxpayers, but it is such a waste of human beings.

No one really cares, I guess. So long as it's not yours.

Now that school is in full force, high school mothers are into an eating problem of when and what time. They're best bet can be good winners which the kids can stick under a broiler.

Mom can leave this sauce to perk them up. Combine a cup of softish margarine with a teaspoon of thyme, a fourth of a cup of real real Dijon mustard (which is expensive but worth it) and chopped fresh parsley.

That will perk up even a common hamburger.

Wiffle ball tourney set

Randy Hall will stage a wiffle ball tourney at 250 Trux street Oct. 12-13.

Teams of six players, only three of whom may be adults, are invited to compete. Entry fee is $20. Drawing will occur Oct. 10.

Mrs. Betty Linville was released Sept. 17 from Willard Area hospital.

Myrtle Hall was released at Willard Sept. 18. Clarence Cramer and Tessie Oney, Shiloh, Thursday.

Scott Breyman was released at Willard Friday.

Aaron Holt was released at Willard Saturday.

Robert Porter, Shiloh, was admitted at Willard Sunday.

"If your heating bills are high, add on a heat pump."

You can cut your heating bills by adding a heat pump to the gas or oil furnace you already have. An add-on heat pump saves you money because it shares the job of heating your home. It goes on only when electricity is the most efficient, economical source of heat.

And all summer long, you get the comfort of air conditioning. Because in the summer, the heat pump reverses itself and pumps the heat out of your house while keeping the cool air circulating.

Because an add-on heat pump uses your existing furnace, most installations don't involve any changes at all to your ductwork.

If you think about the savings, the air conditioning, and the low cost of installation, adding on a heat pump is a pretty smart move. Call us and find out more.

Twice-beaten Eagles tough with run-and-shoot game

There was a time, a decade ago, when Monroeville dropped Plymouth out of its schedule because it wasn't "competitive".

At least, that's what the then Eagle coach, Sam Fornasiglio, said, having taken the Big Red to the cleaners of a few times.

There's different, and some say better, coach in charge at Monroeville now.

Steve Ringholz doesn't make statements like that, not in public, anyway, and his team, and his record, show it.

The faithful Red rooster and the reborn fan, who turns out now that the team has won four straight, shouldn't expect a piece of cake in Mary Fats park tomorrow.

The Eagles are a tough ball club. They've played a tougher schedule than has Plymouth. Monroeville has been beaten by Seneca and teams that experts say will survive to the playoffs, and by St. Mary's Central Catholic. The first loss was as close a shave as you'll find, the second was a near slaughter. Monroeville has defeated Danbury and South Central.

The victory over the Trojans was somewhat hollow, because South Central outran and outplayed Monroeville.

New London, which fell to Plymouth Friday night in a barn burner, went down before South Central in the first conference game of the season for any club.

Ringholz teaches the run-and-shoot offense. This is its second year. He took it up last season because he had the enormously skilled Dave Keszei to run it at quarterback.

He made it more sophisticated this year. "Well, really not more sophisticated," Ringholz said. "What we've done is teach more of it than we could teach last year. And it shows."

Monroeville has by no means the skilled personnel as it had last season, when it won on Marsh field, 27 to 14.

And Plymouth does not have the skilled personnel it had two seasons ago when it upset the Eagles, 17 to 14, on Mike McKenney's field goal in Mary Fats park.

So it follows that each team will compete at the usual Class A level, with a few skilled players and a coterie of willing-but-less-than-sensational, the kind of athlete without which the program can't run.

The Eagles have a premier placekicker, Chris Pfeiffer, a letterman who got his feet wet last year with a splendid record and who has done well for the Eagles so far. He kicked a field goal against South Central that proved to be the winning margin.

Randy Myers had some ill luck with his last two kicks at New London and hopes there will be enough opportunities here tomorrow for him to regain his eye, his toe and his confidence.

Monroeville did not defend against the run by South Central so well. Two Trojan backs accounted for 193 yards, and the passer kept the running game alive with 145 yards.

Nor did Monroeville's running game amount to much. It was limited to 90 yards by South Central.

Kevin Smith, a 10th grader and letterman, may start for Monroeville at quarterback. Robert Cheek, a lefthanded 12th grader and letterman, will also see action there.

Steve McGinn, a co-captain, and Brian Leidoff, also a co-captain, are the main running backs. Each has won two letters.

Up front, Monroeville is formidable, anchored by the all-league lineman, Co-Capt. Brett Colahan.

As for Plymouth, no injuries are reported.

Coach Richard Roll, as he was at the beginning of the season, is cautiously optimistic.

"If we play as we can play and as we want to play, we will beat Monroeville, which is a good, tough team with a smart coach. Our players don't show much of their spirit on the practice field, but when the whistle blows, they lay it on the line. Who could find fault with that?"

Who, indeed?

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Red leadership

Undefeated Plymouth eleven is led by this triumvirate: Coach Richard Roll, in his fourth season at the helm, and Co-Capt. Terry Mansfield, No. 78, center and defensive lineman, and Troy Keene, No. 10, quarterback and free safety.

Sir:

I'm writing this letter to promote Village Days and to ask for assistance in some of our activities.

The second printing of the Village Days pamphlet is now ready for distribution. Anyone who would like to take some to distribute at places in any area town should pick them up at Milder's, Nancy's, the village hall, the Museum and at the football game this Friday.

We have many drawing tickets left to sell and the committee would like to sell as many as possible to help pay for expenses, especially, the advertisement for the week of Oct. 1 to 4. If you would like to sell the, contact Bill Flaherty or me.

We are having an antique tractor display which the committee hopes will bring many Plymouth and Silver King tractors to the Square on Sunday. Call me for more information.

We still need several adults to help at Plymouth Elementary school during Saturday and Sunday. This would be only one hour at a time. If we could know by Sept. 27 this would make it much easier to schedule.

There will be nine contests this year run by several groups and organizations. Persons who would like to enter can find entry blanks and information at Mack's and Miller's. Please enter by Sept. 28 if possible. Prizes, ribbons and certificates will be given out to the winners.

Any person who would like to help with Village Days should call one of the following persons as early as possible: Lu Vanderort, Barbara Burka, Nancy McClure, Doris Miller, Jean Strine or me.

Dickson bespeaks help from everyone

The Village Days committee would like to invite everyone to Village Days, Saturday, Oct. 5 from 9 to 6 the Firemen's benefit community dance from 7 to 10 at the American Legion on Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5. We would like to thank all the individuals and groups who are working on the festival and hope everyone will work hard this last week to make a very successful and enjoyable weekend.

Invite Someone!

THIS IS NOT THE TIME TO BEGIN LEARNING FIRST AID.

Not knowing first aid is an awful risk. Don't take it. Take a Red Cross first aid course instead. Then you'll know how to keep emergencies from becoming tragedies.
