

Seasoned leadership for Red

Clarence (Junior) Porter, a 12th grade letterman, goes three ways for the Big Red: he plays end on offense, line-backer on defense, and he punts — splendidly, so far. He was a transfer last season. Coach Richard Roll wishes he has 10 more just like Junior.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

What's wrong? some ideas

What a pity it is that those who pay the bill don't turn out to see if their money is well spent.

It is not only true in matters that really count, such as whether the governing body takes the right decision or the wrong one, or whether its request for more funds is fair or not fair. It is also true in trasyitory matters.

Which is what a football game is, a transitory matter. Unless a team wins them all, or nearly all, one game or another at any point in the season is but a transitory thing; a few days, a few weeks, a few months from now it will be forgotten. Or nearly so.

Which brings us to the matter of attendance at the high school's football games.

It's not anywhere near what it ought to be.

The performance, by both teams, on Friday night was worth the price of admission several times over.

Why weren't there more folks on hand?

We made a survey on Saturday. Here're the results:

"Why should I spend my money to watch some school kids and take a chance on getting rained on when I can stay home and watch the professionals, the world's champions, for nothing?"

"Who wants to pay two dollars and a half to see the team get beat? That's all you write about, how the team will get beat. I'm tired of getting beat."

"Friday night is the night the old lady wants me to take her to Mansfield to do here grocery shopping."

"We had dinner guests, folks who aren't particularly keen on seeing Class A high school football, and especially when there's the threat of rain."

"My kids are long out of school. When they were there, I was there. Now I couldn't care less."

"I would rather watch Willard, that's where I work, and Willard plays in a faster league."

"Shelby's the best there is, so I go to see Shelby — they win!"

"My wife's a Shelby graduate, she wants to see Shelby, so we go to Shelby games."

"The whole thing is dinky (sic). The band is dinky, the field is dinky, the competition is dinky, it's just dinky all the way through, they way this town is dinky. And your newspaper, for that matter. What is it, six pages? Who cares about who's divorced?"

"I'll wait until they show me they've got a one kind of team. Then, if the weather is all right, maybe I'll go."

If responses are typical, in a larger sampling of opinion, which we had neither the time nor the resources to complete, perhaps it will show a) the mayor and the council, b) the Chamber of Commerce, c) the planning commission, d) the historical society, e) the business (sic) community f) the school board and administration, and anybody else who's concerned what's wrong with Plymouth.

Pogo said it: "we have seen the enemy, and he is us!"

Open burning summons results in fine of $15

Charges against Marvin Tanner, Plymouth East road, alleging open burning without permit were heard by Mayor Keith A. Hebblein mayor's court Aug. 27.

Tanner admitted his guilt, pleading ignorance of the village ordinance and of the state law. He said a fireman had passed by his burning a few minutes before his department personnel insisted that Police Chief Bill N. Spognardi issue a summons against Tanner without comment on the burning.

Hebblein fined him $15 and costs which Tanner at first declined to pay, not to state when precisely he would pay the fine. He initially said he did not wish to pay the fine.

The fine will be collected. Charges of drunken driving against John D. Sutton, Mansfield, were dismissed. Hebblein said the court took note that he planned to join the Navy but insisted the decision to drop the charges bore

Shouter given summons to court

Darrell E. Hall, 24, Shelby, was charged with disorderly conduct Aug. 28 when he was seen and heard by police to have shouted obscenities to a passerby.

$34,637 bid accepted for water line project

R. N. Bore Excavating, Inc., Route 547, Bellevue, was low bidder on the Riggs street water line project and village council voted in special session Aug. 28 to award it a contract at $34,637.

A HUD block grant of $20,000 has been applied to the cost. From this, Floyd G. Browne & Associates, engineers, received $1,996. An easement costing $200 and its recording costing $18 will raise the village's share to $16,842.

Other bidders: A. J. Riley, Inc., Norwalk, $34,880; Mark Schaffer Excavating & Trucking, Norwalk, $37,963; Rietschlin Land Clearing,

One mill new tax, aimed at park

Village voters will decide whether a new one mill levy to fund Mary Fate park should be approved when they go to the polls Nov. 5.

"The reason for this levy," says Wayne H. Strine, chairman of the park's board of trustees, "is that we can't do what is expected and required of us, and provide for the continuing needs of the people, with the money that we have."

"This amounts to half of one mill. By the time the county auditor makes his deductions for the park board's share of workmen's compensation, advertisement and collection of delinquent taxes, and other such charges, we get about $2,500. This barely meets our costs for labor and materials, and most of the time it doesn't. The revenue from reservations and gifts from the Community chest and such are helpful but nowhere near enough to meet our needs."

"We think a third pavilion is desirable and necessary. We have made application for a federal grant which requires matching funds of $8,000 to fund this. We are not sure we will get it. We have already been turned down once."

"After considerable thought, the trustees decided to ask for one mill of fresh taxation just to allow the present one-half mill to expire next year, if the one mill is approved. If it is not approved, we will have no other course but to ask the people to renew the one-half mill, failing which the park will have to close."

"Many Fate park stands second to none for many miles around in its accommodations for the public. The trustees want to keep it that way and expand its services. This takes money and this is why the trustees are asking for the one mill tax."

Other trustees are Eldon Burket, Frederick E. Ford and A. L. Paddock, Jr.

Speed limits to be enforced

Enforcement of the legal, speed limit in school zones will be rigid, Police Chief Bill N. Spognardi announces.

He noted parents who took their children to Plymouth Elementary school on Aug. 27 left their vehicles in space reserved for buses, making it difficult to load and discharge pupils. Parking regulations will be rigidly enforced, he says.

Jaywalking in West Broadway will be discouraged, if not by issuing summonses, Spognardi said.

"Pupils and parents accompanying pupils should cross at the crosswalk. We can help to educate these children by walking them to the crosswalk instead of jaywalking," he said.

Speed limit in school zones when pupils are proceeding to and from school is 20 miles an hour.

He advised parents who take their children to school to be watchful for suspicious persons, to avoid child molestation.

LITTER HURTS OHIO'S DRIVERS.

nothing but fresh fruits with some flavorings and simply frozen.

Cut up two quarts of watermelon into small cubes. Sprinkle a half cup of sugar over it. Put them in a plastic bag or two and freeze.

When you are ready for it, put them through a food processor with a puree blade and continue until they are fluffy. Actually, once is enough.

Serve in a little cup and plunk a couple of mint leaves on top to pretty it.

This is an ideal thing to serve right after a rather heavy meal before you get to dessert.

Way back, an ice or sherberts were always served this way at a really dressed up dinner. They were to "cleanse the palate," so you were ready to really dig into a rich dessert.

That is the reason that in Europe and some restaurants in the know in this country serve the salad after the main course, rather than let you fill up on it first.

It makes plain sense.

You can do this with most fruits, freeze now and eat when the snows are pouring down.

Now that I am the mother of a deep freeze, which we never had before, we are almost going to give up everything is going into it. Just wait until Thanksgiving, and we may be the only ones around the countryside having tasty rhubarb pie. Unfortunately, we missed out on some other things this year before we got the monster, so someone will outdo me with real strawberry shortcake.

A name to be permanently writ?

Robinson, J.

Plymouth rally nips Crestline; Robinson nails 14 aerials

The name Robinson, J., is indelibly and permanently writ in the annals of the great American sport.

Jack Roosevelt Robinson was the first black player in major league baseball and he made them forget all about, or almost all about, Eddie Collins, Frank Frisch and Rogers Hornsby.

And to devotees of Plymouth football, now in their 36th season, the name Robinson, J., will be indelibly and permanently writ in the annals of the great in Plymouth sport.

Jason Robinson, a mere slip of a boy, an 11th grader, weighing only 146 pounds, and reaching just five feet eight inches in height, played his first interscholastic game of football here Friday night and played it like a champion.

He scored one touchdown, intercepted two passes, was a demon on defense and snared 14 aerials thrown by Co-Capt. Troy Keene good for 177 yards.

And Plymouth showed that lightning can strike twice in the same place, so far as Crestline goes.

Nine seasons ago, the Big Red went to Crestline and trailed the Bulldogs late in the game. With the contest apparently locked up, and with only seven seconds left on the clock, the Crestline quarterback ran a fruitless thrust into the line. Thinking the game to be over, he threw the ball into the air.

Forest (Nick) Dent, Plymouth's all-conference line-backer, caught the ball and ran into the end zone. Result: Plymouth 13, Crestline 12.

And on Friday night, with Plymouth behind at 30 to 27, with 32 seconds remaining, and the Big Red having failed to score on fourth down, in the shadow of the Bulldog goal posts, at Crestline's six, a Bulldog mistake gave Plymouth a new life.

A substitution penalty gave Plymouth first down at the three and in three plays the Big Red thrust Billy Casty off right guard for the final three yards and the winning score.

Randy Myers kicked the PAT, but it was academic at this point.

Crestline was dead. The ensuing kickoff went to Troy Perry, who ran it out of bounds at the Crestline 22. Tom Finnegan, certainly the bellwether of the Bulldog attack this overcast night, before a crowd that was far less than capacity, connected with a 13-yard pass to Jim Wyant, but Crestline ran out of time after the next play.

It also ran out of the ball, for Junior Porter intercepted Finnegan's pass at the Red 48.

Plymouth set out to make the forecasters look silly with a quick touchdown with the opening kickoff.

The Big Red marched 7 yards in 14 plays, Steve Hall threw the last 31 yards with a fancy reverse play that dumbfounded the Bulldog defense.

Myers, certainly the best kicker Plymouth has had for a number of seasons, split the uprights with his kick.

And Robinson was the holder. He has splendid hands. And to think that heretofore he played golf!

The clock read 6:36. In less than 90 seconds of playing time, Plymouth was back in the end zone.

This time it was the result of a 17-yard pass from Keene to Robinson on first down after a shanked punt enabled Plymouth to run it in deep.

Myers kicked the PAT. The Bulldogs had had enough of this humiliation. They struck back with a vengeance.

In the next series, after advancing to the Plymouth 41, they were compelled to punt. It carried 27 yards to the Red 14.

Plymouth could not advance and returned the punt, 38 yards to the Big Red 37.

In five plays Finnegan had the Bulldogs on the scoreboard. Only one second remained in the period when he ran in from 12 yards away. He rolled out for the PATs.

Neither team did much in the second period until time had all but expired.

Plymouth got a break when Coach John DiPietro disallowed the punt at the Red 37. A shot up the middle by Ron Hefner fell short of first down and Plymouth took over.

Keene put the home forces into the end zone in eight plays. With 57 seconds remaining, he threw an up-and-downer along the north sideline that Hall took in for the score.

Myers again kicked the PAT. And Plymouth went to the halftime break ahead by 21 to 8.

Whatever it was that DiPietro fed his team during halftime, he ought to bottle and sell it.

Because the Bulldogs came out with fire in their eye and with the second half kickoff marched 72 yards in nine plays to score. Hefner darted in from a yard away with 8:44 remaining in the third quarter.

A pass for PATs was incomplete.

Plymouth stormed the Crestline goal in the next series but Keene was intercepted at the Bulldog 10.

The Bulldogs mounted another offensive and on a drive that carried into the fourth period, they reached the Red seven, where Robinson intercepted Finnegan at the four.

On first down, Plymouth fumbled and Crestline recovered. It needed four plays one of which was a tace mask penalty against Plymouth, to score, Hefner went in from half a yard out. He ran the PATs. The Bulldogs were back in business and they were not to be denied.

They forced Plymouth to punt in the next series and Porter did so handomely, 37 yards to the Blue and White 44. From this point Finnegan, who ran the ball 16 times for 90 yards, almost a third of the Bulldog total rushing yardage, steered his team to another score this time with a six yard pass to Troy Perry. He threw to Perry for the PATs.

Now Plymouth was behind and only 6:10 remained in the game.

It turned to with a will. The Big Red drove 78 yards in eight plays, all of them through the air, with five completions to Robinson good for 71 yards, the final five accomplished with a throw to Porter. The clock read 4:36. Myer's try for PAT was wide.

Trailing by three, Plymouth forced the issue.

It held the Bulldogs to one first down and forced a fumble at the Red 42.

The clock read 2:17. The denouement of the final score.

Keene to Robinson, 11 yards; pass incomplete; Keene cannot pass, rolls out for 12 yards, first down at the Bulldog 35; Keene to Robinson, 11 yards, first down; pass interference against Crestline at the 24, penalty to the 13; Keene to Robinson, six yards; Robinson slightly injured, sent off the field by Keene; Casty gains one over guard; on fourth down, Keene's pass incomplete; violation of substitution rule affords Plymouth penalty and first down to three; Keene to Dave Powers, incomplete; Castle for score.

Plymouth gave up 110% yards in penalties, most of them silly offenses for illegal procedure, perhaps owing to first game jitters and some inexperience.

Its defense against the running game needs to improve substantially to be competitive in the F'relands conference. Crestline is a fine team but not the running outfit that, say, New London or Western Reserve or Edison is.

Harriers to race in Tiffin park in sectionals

Big Red harriers will compete in regional championships at Hedges Boyer park, Tiffin, Saturday, Oct. 26, if they survive that far.

District competition at the same site is set for Saturday, Oct. 19. Teams from Crestview, Seneca East, Western Reserve, Crestline, South Central, Danbury, Lucas, St. Peter's, New London, Buckeye Central, St. Paul's, Monroeville, St. Mary's, Mohawk and Calvert will also compete.

Here's slate this week

Here's schoolboy football slate for this week: TOMORROW: *South Central at New London; Hillsdale at Crestview; Western Reserve at Crestline; Keystone at Black River; Monroeville at Seneca East; South Amherst at Mapleton; Lucas at Plymouth; Edison at Margareta. SATURDAY: St. Paul's at St. Mary's Central Catholic. *denotes F'relands conference game.

Big Red volleyball team, competing in Class AA for the first time, will play its sectional tournament games at Ontario Oct. 19 in a field that includes Clear Fork, Bucyrus, Wynford, Ontario, Upper Sandusky and Willard.

Can Red overcome Lucas tomorrow?

Plymouth will tackle Lucas here tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. "That word 'tackle' is just right," a scout says. "If you tackle the heck out of Lucas, you'll win." That's what Mapleton did last week, taking a 6 to 0 victory over the Cubs, who were limited to just 73 yards on the ground. They threw for 56, completing three of eight passes.

Lucas's offensive line is greener than the grass it will play on.

There is one returning letterman, Scott Baire, but he is a good one. He weighs 206 pounds and will go two ways at guard.

Jeff Barrett, and 11th grader who plays defensive end, will start at that position. He has some experience but did not win a letter.

Plymouth knows well enough what a job Rick Masters can do. He showed the Big Red how the game is played last year. Back for his final season, he succeeds Andy Booth, the Cubs' all-conference player-of-the-year last season, at fullback.

He is also the team's kicker. Split end Harold Daugherty figures to test Plymouth's secondary, which didn't set the world afire against Crestline.

What Coach Richard Roll needs to do, more than anything else, is shore up the defense against the running game.

Crestline packs less beef this season than in several years yet ran for almost 255 yards against the Red defense. The chief weakness is that the ends did not crash. please see page 4

Here're scores last week

Here're scores last week: Monroeville 19, Danbury 12; Plymouth 34, Crestline 30; Mapleton 6, Lucas 0; Black River 27, Northwestern 0; South Amherst 12, South Central 6. Crestview 7, Northmor 0; Perkins 35, New London 0; Norwalk 21, Edison 3; Keystone 12, St. Paul's 0; Western Reserve 26, Columbia Station 14.

She is the former Nannie Ruth Hirsch.

They have a son, Jeffrey, Happy Hollow Trailer court, and three daughters, Shawn, Maria and Shelley, all at home. There are two granddaughters, Amanda and Ashley.

The Ousleys hope that gifts will not be sent.

W. H. Doty dead at 72

A man who hired countless alumni of Plymouth High school at Shelby Mutual Insurance Co., William H. Doty, 72, a managing partner of the firm, died in Cleveland Clinic hospital Friday afternoon of a brief illness.

He was born in Cleveland Apr. 9, 1913, and lived in Shelby 48 years.

He was associated with Shelby Mutual Insurance Co. for 46 years.

He attended Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, where he belonged to Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity.

He was formerly president of Shelby Building & Loan Co., formerly a board member of Citizens National Bank there, and a member of First United Church of Christ, whose minister, the Rev. John J. Bradley, conducted services Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at Shelby. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mary C., two daughters, Carol, now Mrs. David Brown, Shelby, and Jana, now Mrs. Robert Busson, Carbondale, Ill., and four granddaughters.

Memorial contributions may be made to Shelby Memorial Hospital, Shelby YMCA or to his church.

Can Red prevail vs. Lucas tomorrow?

Tom Finnegan ran up most of his yardage by rolling outside Plymouth's ends.

The Big Red got some stalwart work from Junior Porter, Paul Manuel, Rodney Beverly and Walter Laser on both offense and defense. It was to learn Monday if Eric Rask, a letterman at end, will be available for this season. He has had a knee problem and a medical opinion on Monday was to have decided if he can suit up for football or whether he should withdraw and concentrate on basketball.

On form and experience, Plymouth should be favored to win. By how much?

It serves no purpose to predict scores or to calculate, by whatever method, the number of points of advantage one team has over another. Class A football is decided, for the most part, on emotion and discipline. Who can measure, and with what instrument, the level of a teenager's emotion and/or discipline at a given time?

Come time is 7:30 p.m.

Cancer study seminars planned at Shelby

Technology and enlightenment have brought cancer into the open. Survival rates get better every year. An increasing number of cancers are truly curable. Many are indeed dealing with cancer in a climate of understanding and optimism.

In September, the American Cancer society and Shelby Memorial hospital will present an eight-week series, "I Can Cope", to help cancer patients and their families deal with cancer in a positive, hope-filled way.

The program is designed to help patients and families manage cancer's effects, both physical and emotional. Some of the topics covered will include treatment, nutrition, stress management and sexuality. Health care professionals will offer practical solutions and encouragement for day-to-day living.

The eight sessions will be "Living with Cancer," "Dealing More about Cancer," "Understanding Your Emotions," "Enhancing Self-Esteem and Sexuality," "Keeping Active in Mind and Body," "Identifying Support Systems and Resources" and "You Can Cope: Evaluation and Graduation."

Classes will meet Wednesday at 7 p.m., at Shelby Memorial hospital. The series will run Sept. 11 through Oct. 30, and is free to area cancer patients and their families.

Because enrollment is limited, pre-registration is recommended by calling the social services department at Shelby Memorial hospital, Tel. 342-5015.

Cars collide, police issue summons

A vehicle driven by Lenora Stein, Plymouth, proceeding north in Sandusky street at the high school, was struck in the left rear by a pick-up truck operated by Kevin Neesley, Plymouth, Aug. 30 at 2:25 p.m.

He took his eyes off the roadway to work to a friend, he told police, who issued a summons accusing him of failure to hold within an assured clear distance.

ORDINANCE NO. 6-85 AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE MAYOR TO ENTER WATERLINE EXTENSION; AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, this Council has previously authorized the advertising for bids for the construction of a waterline extension; and

WHEREAS, bids have been received and Council desires to authorize the Mayor to enter into a contract for said waterline extension construction; and

WHEREAS, Council desires that said construction commence at the earliest possible time; now therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the Village of Plymouth, State of Ohio, 6 members thereto concurring;

Section 1. That the Mayor be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to enter into a contract for the construction of a waterline extension, conforming with the detailed specifications on file in the office of the administrator, with E. A. Bross Excavating, Inc.

Section 2. That said contract shall contain such other terms and conditions as the Mayor shall deem necessary and in the best interests of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio.

Section 3. That in order to enable such construction to commence at the earliest possible time, this ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, property, health, safety and welfare of said Village of Plymouth, Ohio.

Section 4. That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.
