

Open season?

Open season has apparently been declared on the principal law enforcement officer of Richland county.

The county seat daily reported at considerable, and convincing, length on Sunday that a number of former employees became so because of their disenchantment with his method of doing business. And, the newspaper reported, some functionaries in elective office, notably the county prosecutor, are not too pleased with some actions by the sheriff.

Some of it is politics, pure and simple, although why it matters a whoop whether the sheriff is of one party or the other, or of no party at all, escapes our understanding. Enforcement of the law ought to be effected without fear or favor, by public servants beholden only to God, subject to rules of good conduct that the servant and his employers, the public, can live with.

But some of it appears to be more than just politics.

Why make something of the travail of a sheriff who almost never comes to Plymouth, save when he is campaigning, and so far as we can recall, then only once, with his comely wife, when he sought election for the first time, and whose services to this municipality are, to use a football comparison, of the deep secondary character, rather than up on the line where the action is.

For one thing, he is the principal contracting officer of the Village of Shiloh. That contract is about to expire. Some electors in Shiloh, including: some chosen by those electors to speak for them, in public office, have said to us they're not wholly pleased with the character of the service furnished by the sheriff to Shiloh under the terms of that contract.

For another, all of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders in the district, and a goodly number of the fourth graders, attend sessions in Shiloh, where for five hours a day, so far as their public safety is concerned, they are charges of the sheriff.

For a third, every taxpayer in Richland county shares the cost of operating the sheriff's office. If it is not being done properly, or efficiently, each taxpayer has a right to know why, and to decide what ought to be done about it. Dissatisfaction with the conduct of the sheriff's office is not a new manifestation in Richland county; just a short time back, the sheriff was kicked out and punished in court for shenanigans of a gross nature.

So what ought to be done about it?

If there are, or have been, mortal sins that border on the felonious, there is no choice but to submit the evidence to a grand jury.

If the sins are venial in nature, they ought to be sharply identified, responsibility or blame definitively fixed, and appropriate discipline, even removal from office, if such action seems warranted, should be undertaken to be done.

By whom?

By the prosecutor, in the first instance.

By the commissioners, in the second, although, as we understand it, they are limited by law in authority over the sheriff; such action as they might take would necessarily be of a leadership, rather than an accusatory, character.

The sheriff is only at the beginning of a term that he won, so far as we can tell, fairly and squarely, in a general election over a young opponent who was beaten because he didn't beat the bushes hard enough. The sheriff has played games with the political stepladder; he has publicly, on at least two occasions, let it be known he is or was available to run for another, higher (?) office.

The council at Shiloh is between a rock and a hard place: it can deal with the sheriff, or it can terminate the contract and reorganize its police department, which it has said many times it can't afford.

The next several weeks will be interesting, to say the least.

Mrs. Nesbitt's kin, dies at Cleveland

Brother-in-law of Mrs. Kirby Nesbitt, Shiloh, Homer L. Carman, 72, Willard, retired from John F. Stambaugh Co., died Apr. 2 in Cleveland Clinic hospital, Cleveland, of injuries received earlier in a collision at Willard. Born in McGuffey, he lived in Willard 45 years.

He is survived by his wife, Audrey; a son, Mervin, Willard; two daughters, Mrs. Jane Hastings, Willard, and Mrs. Sandra Dorf, New Haven; three brothers, Charles, Kenton; Howard, in Florida, and Louis, Kenton; and Mrs. Gertrude Newland, McGuffey; eight grandchildren and a great grandson.

The Rev. Bruce Bequette, First United Methodist church, conducted services from Secor Funeral home, Willard, Apr. 2 at 2 p.m. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery there.

Memorial contributions to the Cancer society are suggested.

Mrs. Dininger, 88, dies at home, ill a long time

Mrs. Carl Dininger, 88, died Apr. 2 at her home in Dininger road of a lengthy illness.

Born Osa Mathews in West Virginia on Jan. 10, 1898, she lived in Plymouth township for three generations. She was a member of Sunshine Lodge, Shelby.

Her husband died in 1980. A son, Melvin, died recently.

Two sons, Erachel, Barstow, Cal., and Elden, Lexington; two daughters, Dorothy, now Mrs. Kenneth McDonagel, Perryville, and Mrs. Lila Strohm, Dininger road; a brother, Burl Mathews, Medford, Ore.; 17 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren survive.

The Rev. A. Preston Van Dusen, First Evangelical Lutheran church conducted services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home Friday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Kin of Blands, R. C. Charles, 73, dies at Mansfield

Step-father of William Bland, Roy C. Charles, 73, Mansfield, died in Memorial Homes rest center there Saturday afternoon.

He was born in Washington township Nov. 15, 1912, and lived there most of his life. He worked 41 years for Ohio Brass Co. until he retired. He was a member of FOEagles, the Owls club and of the Liederkranz.

He married Hazel James on July 17, 1957. She survives. So also do two sons, Lee and Richard, Mansfield; a step-son, Charles Bland, in South Carolina; a step-daughter, Mrs. Patricia Stevens, Miami, Fla., and seven step-grandchildren.

The Rev. Carl Caffer conducted services at Mansfield Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. Interment was in Mansfield Memorial park.

Clean up days to end Apr. 25

Village clean-up days will begin Monday and run through Apr. 25. There will be no kerb pick-up.

Dumpsters will be provided behind the fire station for trash.

The change this year is because Village Administrator James C. Root does not have the manpower to provide for the pick-ups and it has become too costly for the village to haul trash to the Huron county landfill since the EPA has prohibited any open burning at the sewer lagoon site.

Two boys headed for 'State'

Two 11th graders in Plymouth High school will attend Buckeye Boys' State at Bowling Green State university in June as delegates of Ehret-Parrel Post 447, American Legion.

A delegate will serve as alternate. Delegates are Douglas Houser, son of the William F. Housers, 52 Bell street, and James Beck, son of the Robert Becks, 380 Walnut street. Alternate is Kip Tucker, son of Mrs. Lucille Tucker.

Ambulance back-up safe? How should village act?

What should be done about a second ambulance? Will council's committee meeting Apr. 1 deal with the question.

Members of the squad and Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine attended the older vehicle is unsafe to drive. They also feel that two vehicles are essential for the village plus the area squad serves, Plymouth, New Haven, Auburn township and Tiro.

Burgess Hearse & Ambulance Service, Inc., Loudonville, from whom the new ambulance was purchased, checked the older vehicle and cited minor repairs that are necessary. However, it will not guarantee the safety of its use.

It has stated in writing the vehicle is not overweight, which some members of the squad say. With its equipment, it weighs 6,800 pounds, leaving a payload of 820 pounds allowed by law. This should be adequate for three squad members and a patient.

Councilman Roy R. Barber says he is in favor of a new vehicle if it is necessary. Mayor Keith A. Hebble also seems to be in favor of one, so that the village will be assured of fulfilling its contracts and with the possibility of taking on additional contracts. A new four wheel drive vehicle will cost about $50,000 while a used vehicle is available for $17,500, with the village's old one as trade-in.

The council agreed to pay the fees for Richard Hill and Terry Hopkins to attend a fire fighters' instructors course in the amount of $130. At first, the council refused to honor the bill, saying that it would enable them on their own to instruct firemen of other departments and receive private compensation.

The fire department is concerned that a half mill levy that brings in just over $3,000 will not be renewed by the council when it expires at the end of 1988.

Councilman Bill Taulbee pointed out the department has a continuing three mill levy, which generates about $30,000 a year. He said the council is correct in its decision to save taxpayers money.

The firemen feel the council has purposely made its decision so that the upcoming cemetery and general fund levies will pass. please see page 5

Kin of Burtons succumbs at 46

Vehicle coasts, strikes another

A vehicle belonging to Larry C. Laer, 334 Walnut street, parked in the rear of the fire station Sunday at 11:30 p.m., coasted 105 feet down a slope and struck a vehicle belonging to Carl Haas, 155 Walnut street.

Man injured in ruckus in Trux street

Bystanders in the Public Square reported to Plymouth police Sunday at 10:27 p.m. that a fight was going on at 26 Trux street.

When the patrolman arrived, one person was found in the Square with a bloody face.

The officer then proceeded to the apartment and found Danny Lewis, Mansfield, lying on the floor with obvious injuries. The ambulance squad was called. Lewis declined to be taken to a hospital.

The three young women occupying the apartment alleged that Lewis and two other young men from Mansfield had broken in uninvited. One of the young women said she had been assaulted.

There is some evidence continuing. The three young men refused to give any statements concerning the incident and no charges have been filed yet.

There is some evidence the difficulties may have started from a dispute between two siblings that enlarged to envelop Lewis and his cronies. One woman complained that her garment was all but torn from her. The former

Councilman McQuown resigns

Mayor B. McQuown has resigned as village councilman in a terse, two sentence letter sent from his winter address in Florida.

He did not say why. The resignation was acted upon by his colleagues Tuesday night. They have until May 7 to choose a successor, failing which Mayor Keith A. Hebble will appoint a councilman. McQuown, a 1938 alumnus of Plymouth High school, is retired.

Trustees alter meeting night

Beginning with Wednesday's meeting, trustees of Plymouth township will meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month, instead of the first and third Thursday.

The change will remain in effect until later notice.

Mayor disposes of eight cases in light session

A charge of having no operator's license against Juan J. Gonzalez, Plymouth, was dismissed by Mayor Keith A. Hebble in his court Apr. 2.

Robert Lloyd Royer pleaded not guilty to a charge of display of improper license tags. He was heard yesterday.

Philip D. Beverly, charged with failure to control his car, forfeited bond of $15. So did James C. Garrett, Plymouth, charged with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Pleas of no contest resulted in findings of guilty against Ramon Sanchez, Willard, expired license, $40; C. Susie Barr Vanderpool, Plymouth, speeding, $22; Juan D. Gonzalez, drunken driving, $500, and speeding, $38.

Gonzalez was sentenced to 30 days in jail, of which 27 days and fine of $150 were suspended on condition of no similar violation for one year.

A fine of $15 and costs was levied against James Wolfe, Plymouth, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of harboring a barking dog. The fine was suspended on condition of no similar offense for one year.

Woman injured in collision in Square here

A 71-year-old Plymouth woman was injured Tuesday at 9:15 a.m. when she was thrown against the windshield of a vehicle that collided with another in front of 23 West Broadway.

Mrs. Cynthia Hale, 171 Beelman street, was taken to Shelby Memorial hospital by Plymouth ambulance.

She was a passenger of Maraha A. Shaffer, 29, Shelby, headed each when she collided with a car driven by Karen L. Fink, 30, who lives at 23 West Broadway. She backed from a stall in front of the resident and sought to turn north into Wall street when she was struck.

By AUNT LIZ.

What would life be without the pot luck or covered dish dinner? It's America's contribution to the gastronomic world, even though it really did not begin on these shores.
I am not certain, but I think of it really began in Africa, where the people were very friendly, very very friendly.
So when they had something to celebrate, a wedding, a new baby or whatever, they would invite everyone they knew, and everyone brought food. And how did I ever make this great discovery? The people who worked for us would ask for a slight advance so they could show off a little.

It is about the best way for any cook to show off. Some can be relied upon to bring the same tasty dish each time. Years ago, when our kids were in this and that and my attention called for a pot of something, one woman always brought the best chicken and noodle deal and I always managed to sit right next to it.

Then there was one family that would bring a meager little tossed salad and tell everyone how good the rest of the stuff was for a pot.
It's a great way to entertain, which puts no great burden on anyone, but it is a little hard to simply ask your friends to come for dinner and bring their own scalloped potatoes.

Luncheons set here week days

Residents over 60 who wish to take a hot luncheon in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church Mondays through Fridays at noon are invited to call 1474 to reserve a seat at the table.

There's a real trick to it all. Gather up a few and come up with the bright idea of a "progressive dinner" from house to house. Best though you stick to walking, not driving distances because of some of our new laws about the liquid stuff.
Let each do a course, and this way you will not have 10 pots of baked beans.
There are old standbys for such things, so try something new, and don't overlook any package mixes such as the several breads.
They can be perked up with more nuts, raisins, flavoring such as grated orange or lemon. It is economical, easy, can be done ahead and gets eaten.
Little sandwiches can be made by just slicing the bread thinly, spread with cream cheese or flavored butters.

To pretty up a tray of sandwiches, add a little something else. Some may really like this and think you are the greatest thing in the world and others may feel sorry for your family because they have such a look cooking for them.
You want about a pound of seedless grapes, it doesn't matter what color. After they are washed, let them dry thoroughly.
Grate 10 oz. of pistachios and spread on a plate.
Then thoroughly mix an eight ounce package of cream cheese with a fourth of a pound of Roquefort or blue cheese with two tablespoons of thick cream.
This should be like a thick soup. Drop the grapes in so they are coated all over, then roll around in the nuts. Chill them well before transporting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dickson urges redding up

Sir:

"Project 1990" is now under way. The dedication of the new library and the planning of other events should motivate many residents to help with the future of Plymouth. One big way is to cooperate with the village's annual clean-up starting Apr. 14 and ending Apr. 25. Residents can help show their PRIDE by cleaning up, painting up and fixing up the environment around their homes. A free dumpster for trash will be behind the fire station between Apr. 14 and 25. There will be NO kerbside pick up this year because of the cost and manpower, but with the cooperation of everyone there can be a great clean-up in Plymouth this month.

The planting of grass, flowers and trees could help improve the positive image of our village. We hope that citizens will take the time, effort and expense to put beauty around their homes before Memorial day, May 26. Let's plan outstanding Memorial day activities with the village looking its best in 1986.

Douglas Dickson
"Project 1990" Committee Member

Worried about having to choose a long-distance company?

There's lots of confusion these days over how, when, and why you must choose a long-distance company to handle your one-plus calls.

(Actually, many people have already chosen the long-distance company they want to use. And, of course, you may sign-up with companies serving your area anytime you wish.)

The confusion is coming from all the ads telling you that if you don't choose, someone else will do it for you. They're talking about the new service called "equal access." With equal access, you must choose the company you want to handle your direct dialed calls.

But don't panic. You don't have to do anything until you hear from us. Since we are the ones to make equal access available in your area, you can bet that nothing will happen until we've notified you.

(Some areas may never see equal access. That's because long-distance companies may choose not to offer the service in all locations.)

If your town is one of the ones to get the new service, we will send you all the information you need to make a decision...

We'll send you a package explaining the how, when, and why of equal access. It will tell you exactly what you must do. And when you must do it. In fact, it will even include a ballot to make it easier for you to notify us of your choice.

But, until then, you don't have to do a thing. So sit back, relax. Your long distance service will be the same tomorrow as it is today.

Girls rally to win over Seneca East with one in 7th

The council heard a presentation from Vaughn Insurance agency, Columbus, on coverage for the fire department.

It represents the Volunteer Firemen's Insurance Services, Inc., York, Pa.

The total package for liability, vehicles, buildings and equipment will cost just over $12,000 annually. The department is covered now by the village's policy except for liability.

No decision was made of either taking the whole package or just the liability coverage.

Medical Records and discharges. There are also two part time employees, Mary Anne Terry, medical transcriptionist; and Carol Hoskins, clerk. A hospital volunteer, Reba Amsden, helps out on Mondays with filing.

The medical record starts with hospital admission and follows through the evaluation, testing and details of care given to the patient. The medical chart serves as a means of communication between a patient's physician and other hospital departments. On discharge, the chart comes back to Medical Records and is analyzed for completion. The department's responsibility is to make sure the charts are complete and that adequate documentation is provided to substantiate diagnosis, treatment and discharge.

Medical records provide a basis for planning and evaluating patient care. They also protect the legal interests of the hospital and the physician, and provide clinical data to researchers.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Carl E.
Montgomery, who passed away
one year ago Apr. 13, 1985.
He bid no one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none,
His loving heart just ceased to beat.
When they told us he was gone,
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have just can tell,
Of the grief we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
We never knew that hearts could ache
ache
With such bitter pain,
Longing for his smiling face,
Or to hear his voice again.
We didn't know that life could be so lonely.
So cold and so dim,
But oh we learned so many things,
Because of losing him.
Sadly missed by his wife and children. 10c
