Bribery charges dropped

Dismissal of bribery charges against 19-year-old Paul Loran Payne was approved in Richland county common pleas court Dec. 28.
Assistant Prosecutor Jerry Ault sought the dismissal of the second degree felony against Miss Payne, live-in girlfriend of E. Charles Cutright, 29, 16 1/2 East Main street, convicted player of Jeffrey Cloncs in a cornfield off Opdyke road on Sept. 21 last.

Miss Payne was indicted by a Richland county grand jury on evidence she sought to bribe Jackie Loran Cutright, 27, sister of the convicted man, to abscond from the jurisdiction of the court so she could not testify against her brother.

Miss Payne, staying with her sister, Brenda, in Plymouth street, is the daughter of the William Housser, 52 Bell street.

She testified that she withdrew $200 from Cutright's account and delivered it to Patricia Rettig, manager of Weber's Cafe, who gave the money to Miss Cutright.

She in turn reported the act to the Richland County sheriff. Ault told Judge Max Chilcote "cooperated fully" during the investigation and trial.

Thefts solved, youth held

Arrest of a Clark county man and of a Plymouth juvenile has broken what police describe as an active and profitable theft ring between New Carlisle and Plymouth.

William Hoffman, New Carlisle, 19 years old, has been charged with breaking and entering and forgery.

His 17-year-old accomplice, who lives in the Huron county side of the village, was arrested and lodged in the Richland county detention center until he could be arraigned in Huron county juvenile court on Monday. Employees of the detention center confirm that he depredated two of the rooms in which he was retained, arranged in "the low four figures" before he was taken to jail at Norwalk.

His younger brother, 15 years old, is also a suspect and a warrant for his arrest is understood to be pending.

The 17-year-old was taken into custody on Christmas eve.

Police have recovered about $274 worth of speakers stolen in 1986 from a vehicle in Plymouth.

Items stolen here were fenced in New Carlisle. Items stolen in Clark county were sold among juveniles here.

Who fired at station?

Ball bearings fired or launched at high speed into the walls of the Marathon station of 189 Plymouth street were returned to police Saturday at 9:27 p.m.

No suspects have been found in a police investigation launched when the report was received.

Woman arrested for child neglect

A New Haven woman was accused of child endangerment Friday after she allegedly left four young children unattended on Dec. 31.

Carol Stephens, 2063 Route 224, will be heard in juvenile court. Sheriff's deputies who went to the home at 11:20 p.m. on Dec. 31 found James Allen, five, Chris topher Stephens, four, Marlon Lindsey Jr., two, and Dustin Lindsey, 11 months, sleeping there without any supervision or oversight.

The children were said to have been in the custody of Mrs. Stephens, who left the place about 10:45 p.m. When she returned later, deputies said, she was drunk.

Second oldest graduate -

Miss Willett dead at 93; taught at Canton 40 years

For many years a teacher in McKinley High school, Canton, then at the former Lehman High school and finally in Malone college, Miss Florence N. Willett, 93, second oldest surviving alumna of Plymouth High school, died Dec. 14, 1986, of a stroke there.

Miss Willett taught English, public speaking and debate. She earned the reputation of "stern but fair."

"She was the best teacher I ever had," said Jack Lothner, former assistant principal of Glen Oak High school.

Miss Willett began her teaching career in 1913. She taught for over 40 years in McKinley and Lehman High schools. She retired in 1967, having been in Canton since 1921, after a heart attack. In 1959 she returned to teaching in the newly organized Malone college and remained there until 1956.

She was a member of Canton Women's club, Delta Kappa Gamma sorority, National Association of Retired Teachers and a trustee of the Canton Scholarship Foundation. She was a member of Calvary Presbyterian church.

Born to the A. E. Willetts, she was raised in the house at 183 Sandusky street now occupied by Councilman Everett Eckstein.

A 1911 graduate of Plymouth High school, she was five years old when she moved off the farm. It included her oldest sister, Grace, and younger brother, Philip, a younger sister, now Mrs. Gertrude Willett Wagner, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a younger brother, Edward. He became a teacher of real estate salesmen in Salinas, Cal., having graduated from North-western university, Evanston, Ill., with a master's degree.

Her older sister, who died at age 38, was a dean of Antioch college, Yellow Springs.

Mrs. Wagner and her brother survive.

A memorial service was conducted in her church at Canton on Dec. 20.

Lantern? Not with Heydinger!

Digenes went around with a lantern, seeking the face of an honest man.

There was no Route 598 near New Haven, then, else Digenes would have found one.

His name is Kenneth W. Heydinger, a 54-year-old employee of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., who found $462 downtown in Mansfield Dec. 22 at 4:30 p.m.

He turned it over to Mansfield police to hold for the loser.

No surprises: youth ask for dances

A survey by the village planning commission for what the youth of the community would like of produced two suggestions.

They want an activity center and teen age dances that could be at Ehet-Parsel Post 447, American Legion.

Most of those surveyed want a weekly dance, but some settled for a monthly dance.

The survey was conducted by Sandy Elliott and Beth Baldrige, Plymouth High school pupils.

Two 12th graders 'pupils-of-month'

Two 12th graders are Plymouth High school pupils-of-the-month in the Lions club's continuing program to single out a boy and a girl for recognition.

Lana Laser, daughter of the Larry Lasers and granddaughter of the Robert Tacketts and the Harold Lasers, lives at 334 Willow drive. She attends Pioneer Joint Vocational school and plans to enter the University of Toledo or the University of Akron to major in accounting.

She was a runner-up in the Huron county Miss Junior Miss Pageant, was a member of the parliamentary procedure team that placed first in the region, the state and nationally and holds the Silver award of the Girl Scouts.

She is a member of the student council, a band and chorus musician, a cheerleader, participates in volleyball and softball and is a consistent honor roll pupil. She won the English award as a ninth grader and the sociology award as a 10th grader. She is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Charles Beverly, son of the Lon Beverlys, 45 Bell street, plays on the baseball team. Earlier he participated in cross country and basketball. He won an academic letter. He plans to enter the armed forces when he graduates in June.

Of dogs, Rodeo drive, ducks, and fun in California.

By AUNT LIZ
Sure, it's nice to come home after 10 days in paradise.

The only thing that got us back in that we knew our two furry friends were lonesome. Our dog stayed with a friend and had a ball with her pets plus getting hot oatmeal for breakfast every morning.

The house was so mad at us that he wouldn't even look at us for a whole hour, just pretended we weren't there. He was alone the whole time.

It was great seeing kids and old friends. The children were funny and good, but then I let them win at games. Frankly, they knew them better than I did.

The funniest thing, though, was the six-year-old who complained to her mother that her nine-year-old sister had ruined something that was hers, so her mother said, "You may have your turn and ruin something of Shannon's."

You never saw such a happy-loo of malice on a face in your life as she shredded something into tiny bits. Washington should know about her and it would not have to buy those expensive machines.

Then there were the dogs who fall in love with you immediately because you have found the shelf where the dog biscuits are kept.

The dog who was really great was Ezekiel, a slobbering, lovable Great Dane. We visited him and he acted like we were old-time friends. He's a real character. Even in that beautiful climate, he sleeps with a blanket and if it falls off, no matter what hour it is, he simply awakes the head of the house to be covered up again.

We saw a little of everything including the Rodeo drive that Jackie Collins keeps writing about. It is only two blocks long, and I am sure if you humped long enough you could find some of the same stuff in a K-Mart. It's merely a "good" address, but there was one thing there that every kid would love: a bright purple bear called C.A. He's best, and it was something like $300, but a great idea for grandmothers who can make such things.

Just as I was getting used to those four lanes, 70 miles an hour freeways and was taking them in my stride and not chosing my eyes every five minutes, we had to come home. Like everyone we know, we had coach tickets, but someone really goofed and we got first class seats. It was a breakfast flight, and while the rest of the peasants in the back were getting a roll and coffee, we feasted.

Even had real silver and not the plastic variety.

After a beautifully arranged fruit plate came two heaping servings of eggs Benedict. What made them so good was that hollandaise sauce they had a brown sauce that gave them a beefy flavor. Try it some Sunday.

The best part, though, was having the whole place fit around it, and this time I really saw the Grand Canyon. The last time we made the jaunt in the day, I was on the wrong side and no way could I climb over six people.

We ate all sorts of tasty things (so it's now back to chicken legs and broccoli), but the best (and it did beat Chinstown, where we had a terrific lunch and brought enough home for dinner) was La Costa.

This was served as a canape, but could certainly be a dinner on rice. Just make little balls with sausage meat, brown them, then heat them up in apple butter which kind of gives a glaze.

Forgot one thing that kind of floored all of us. You all know how the Chinese love ducks for dinner. They barbecue them, heads and all, and we went past a Chinese carryout that had pictures of what could be ordered, and there was one of the whole bird, head too, on a plate of rice.

It was another world that I think I could adapt to with no problem.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Plymouth Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on an application for a proposed variance on the 14th day of January, 1987, at 7:00 p.m., at Village hall. The application, submitted by Mr. James Horner, requests that a C-1 beer license be granted for the property located at State Route 61S, Plymouth, OH. This license has been approved by the Village Council, however, it has requested that an application for variance be processed because the existence of the Farmers Market is the result of a zoning variance.
The Plymouth Planning Commission will, within 30 days after the hearing, refer to the Plymouth Village Council a recommendation on the proposed amendment.

Deregulation has now come down to the wire.

On January 1, 1987, a small but important change will take place. Deregulation will be giving you responsibility for repair and maintenance of inside phone wires and jacks. This means GTE will no longer be responsible for fixing them.

What can go wrong that you might have to repair? Well, humidity can harm wires. A puppy can chew them. A vacuum cleaner could hit and break a jack. Lots of things can happen.

These problems are facing everyone these days. So you're not alone. That's why GTE set up a jack and inside wire maintenance plan in August 1985. And it costs just 23 cents a month. Unless you called us to cancel it, you are already covered by this plan. If you want details, call our Service Order Center.

This inexpensive GTE service contract is worth the peace of mind it provides. Without it, a service call could cost you up to $70. But with our contract, fixing your wires will never come down to costing you a small fortune.
