Behavior pattern of law enforcers needs attention

The Huron county sheriff is moonlighting with a janitorial service in which he is an officer in Lucas county is not, apparently, unlawful.

There are some, including at least one influential daily newspaper, who think it is unethical, perhaps even immoral. Their argument is that if Thomas Dunlap had revealed to the electorate that he intended to invoke obscure facets of the law (in a county of Huron's size, the sheriff is by law required to turn up in his office only once every 90 days), Lloyd Smith would have won the election, despite the fact that Smith was the paper tiger of John Borgia, who was sheriff when the Indians last won the pennant.

It is worth remarking that we have had hereabouts a very considerable amount of difficulty with our new law enforcement officers.

A police captain at Shelby was found to be a pedester, a crime to which he confessed. He is now in prison.

The sheriff of Richland county was convicted of several offenses deriving from a cover-up of a confession to arson signed by the daughter of his campaign manager. To avoid going to prison, he was compelled to resign in humiliation. He is still on strict probation.

Earlier, a predecessor admitted his guilt in the abuse of some prisoners, among other offenses, and served six months or so in jail while losing his post.

The Huron county sheriff, who rode into office in part by attacking his predecessor's appointment of his wife as jail cook/matron, engaged in similar practices, which he compounded by slandering a woman he had discharged, saying she was a thief. She sued and eventually settled for $23,000, paid by the sheriff and the county.

A police officer at Willard fell into hot water by allowing a prisoner released to his custody, an action that was suspect, ab initio, to escape, forcing the county to make substantial expenditures to search for the escapee before he eventually was returned to jail. There are those who've said this fact contributed substantially to the defea of his chief, who was seeking reelection to the Willard Board of Education.

A police officer at Mansfield drew headlines after he engaged in misconduct — specifically abuse of a prisoner — yet another time. After a trial in which he was acquitted, the officer was brought up on administrative charges and summarily sacked, an action he appealed with out success.

If we do not learn from our mistakes of the past, we are bound to repeat them.

Dunlap's principal deputy has already said he wants the job. If there were those who wondered why he chose to run now, those doubts have now evanesced, like yesterday's fog.

There is a Cresham's Law in small town politics: good, honest candidates will, in time, drive out the bad. But only if the rest of us attend to our duties as citizen-electors.

PJVS pupils total 1,010, 47 from here

Enrollment of Plymouth High school pupils in Pioneer Joint Vocational school at Shelby amounts to 47 pupils, an increase of 10 over the 1986 enrollment. Total enrollment in PJVS is 1,010 pupils, up in two years from 932.

Of these, 253 male pupils in 12th grade and 394 males in 11th grade show dominance of that sex in the enrollment. There are 204 females in 12th grade and 249 females in 11th grade.

Shelby district sends 162 pupils, Willard 140. Of the 12 other districts, Plymouth is ninth. Only Lucas and Northwood with 43 each and Wyandot with 22 have smaller enrollments at PJVS than does Plymouth.

17-year-old held after collision

A 17-year-old Plymouth driver was charged with failure to control his vehicle and not wearing a seat belt after his 1986 Chevrolet pickup truck left Townline road 12 in New Haven township, slid off the left side of the road, struck a mailbox and overturned twice before a large tree in a ditch halted its momentum.

Thomas E. Albright, 2nd, was treated in Willard Area hospital. The collision occurred Friday at 6:56.

Hit-and-run damage noted

A Shiloh driver told Norwalk police early Nov. 18 her 1987 Yugo was struck by a hit-and-run driver with slight damage to its rear.

Vickie L. Moser, Baseline road, said she parked her car in Water street west of Benedict avenue Nov. 17 about 7 p.m. When she returned just after midnight she found it had been pushed over a small wall.

NHHS alumna, Mrs. Brown, 81, dies at Norwalk

A 1924 alumna of New Haven High school, Mrs. Ralph W. Brown, 81, died Nov. 17 in Norwalk Memorial home of a brief illness.

Born Dorothy Dowd in New London, she lived in Norwalk since 1949. Her late husband became superintendent of the Huron county school system, from which post he retired. Earlier he was teacher, coach and superintendent at New Haven and superintendent at Deshler.

She attended Wittenberg university, then college at Springfield. She taught in Monroeville Elementary school for 15 years before she retired.

Mrs. Brown was a member of First United Methodist church in Norwalk and of the Huron County and Ohio Retired Persons associations. She was an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority.

Her husband died in 1985. She is survived by three daughters, Jean, now Mrs. Theodora Schwenn, Massillon; Ruth, now Mrs. Robert Harrington, Akron and Patricia, now Mrs. William Beeler, Modesto, Cal.; and nine grandchildren.

Her minister, the Rev. Walter Chisholm, conducted services in Norwalk Saturday at 11 a.m. Interment was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Memorial contributions to the music fund of her church are suggested.

Who set car fire on Nov. 18?

His car was taken without permission Nov. 18 at 10:30 p.m., Robert L. Hamman told police.

It was found Thursday at 9:07 a.m. before Hamman reported his loss, in a field along Miller road, where it had burned. A Richland county deputy sheriff on patrol found the vehicle.

Investigators are satisfied the fire was the work of an arsonist, perhaps one who had access to a key, since they found the car had not been "hot wired" nor had its ignition lock been jammed. They say the accelerator was gasoline.

Hamman came to Plymouth from his lodgings near Dayton to be present in Richland county common pleas courts for sentencing in the breaking and entering of the Roseanna Handsoe premises at Mills avenue and Railroad street.

His father, Terry, who lives near Dayton, assisted in the purchase of the vehicle.

Plymouth police reported Monday no official report of a stolen vehicle by Hamman was yet on file. They said it was they who notified Hamman on Thursday, somewhat after 9 a.m., that his car was not parked, as he insisted, in front of his residence but lay a burned-out hulk off Miller road.

Appearing before Judge James Henson Friday, Hamman pleaded no contest to the first count of the indictment alleging he broke into the Handsoe residence. Second count, corruption of a minor, was dismissed.

Judge Henson ordered the defendant held for pre-sentence investigation.

Dennis K. McGinnis, 46, 356 Willow drive, convicted at Norwalk of drunken driving was sentenced to 30 days in jail, suspension of his license for six months and to pay a fine of $600 and court costs.

Man held as fugitive of Michigan

Police arrested a New Washington man Thursday on a charge of criminal mischief only to find he is wanted for criminal sexual assault against a juvenile by Niles, Mich. police.

Gerardo Rojas Garsell, 34, was sought for throwing a missile through the window of a car belonging to Wanda B. Karl, 173 Walnut street. Taken into custody by Patrolman Dane Howard, Garsell was found to be a fugitive from the Michigan charge.

He was arraigned at Shelby Monday.

E. Picklesimer dies suddenly at Willard

Services were conducted at Willard Thursday at 2 p.m. for Eugene E. Picklesimer, 68, Baseline road, who died in Willard Area hospital Nov. 16 of a sudden illness.

Born Mar. 1, 1936, in Salyersville, Ky., he lived most of his life in or near here. He was a retiree of the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad and a member of the Church of God here.

His wife, nee Evelyn Barnett, three sons, Michael, New Washington, Carl, Plymouth, and Robert, Mansfield; a daughter, Kathy, at home; his mother, Mrs. Frankie Picklesimer, Willard five brothers, Delmer, Richard, Marty and Rocky, Willard; and Jack, Norwalk, three sisters, Mmes. Tina Kidd, in California, Jewell Baldrige, Shelby and Justine Statts, in Kentucky, and eight grandchildren survive.

The Rev. William G. Greg, his minister, conducted the final service. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Thanksgiving day, 1987

By the President of the United States of America

A proclamation

Thanksgiving Day is one of our most beloved holidays, an occasion set aside by Americans from earliest times to thank our Maker prayerfully and humbly for the blessings and the care He bestows on us and on our beautiful, bountiful land. Through the decades, through the centuries, in log cabins, country churches, cathedrals, homes, and halls, the American people have paused to give thanks to God, in times of peace and plenty or of danger and distress.

Acknowledgment of dependence on God's favor was, in fact, our fledgling Nation's very first order of business. When the delegates to the First Continental Congress met in Philadelphia in 1774, they overcame discord by uniting in prayer for our country. Despite the differences among them as they began their work, they found common voice in the 36th Psalm, which concludes with a verse of joyous gratitude, "And my tongue shall speak of thy righteousness and of thy praise all the day long." This year, of course, our Thanksgiving Day celebration coincides with the Bicentennial of the Constitution. In 1789, the government established by that great charter of freedom, and "the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed," were cited by George Washington in the first Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation as among "the great and various favors" conferred upon us by the Lord and Ruler of Nations. As we thank the God our first President called "that great and glorious Being, who is the beneficent Author of all the good that is, that is, or that will be," we have even greater cause for gratitude than the fresh triumphs that inspired Washington's prose. We have seen the splendor of our natural resources spread across the tables of the world, and we have seen the splendor of freedom coursing with new vigor through the channels of history. The cause for which we give thanks, for which so many of our citizens through the years have given their lives, has endured 200 years — a blessing to us and a light to all mankind. On Thanksgiving Day, 1987, let us, in this unbroken chain of observance, dedicate ourselves to honor anew the Author of Liberty and to publicly acknowledge our debt to all those who have sacrificed so much in our behalf. May our gratitude always be coupled with petitions for divine guidance and protection for our Nation and with ready help for our neighbors in time of need. Now Therefore, I, Ronald Reagan, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 26, 1987, as a National Day of Thanksgiving, and I call upon the citizens of this great Nation to gather together in homes and places of worship on that day of thanks to affirm by their prayers and their gratitude the many blessings God has bestowed upon us.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and twelfth.

— Ronald Reagan

 No, just go out and buy a copy of "Cultural Literacy" by Dr. E.D. Hirach.
 You can skip the first 151 pages, it's pages 152 through 215 that will give you an education and is more fun than any of the Trivia games. Hirach, who worked with a couple of other professors, has covered just about everything I consider essential, and the stuff I simply do not know but do know should be known.
 There are some omissions which I think should be there, like The Supreme, Sinatra and Bing Crosby's "White Christmas". He does have poor old Simon Legree, and it did my heart good to see the Cathedral at Chartres, which is just outside Paris and has the most beautiful rose window in the world.

you can enjoy it, and I have found a real short-cut.

 You just might have some turkey scraps left over that look like they are good for nothing. They are. Hopefully you can scrounge up about two cups of them, even more. This is not in any cookbook that I know about. I made it up.

Maybe Mr. Bruce should not have taken the job in the first place. Mr. Hayes was certainly an exception for coaches. He enjoyed the limelight, the more the better and that is why I always wanted three teams, Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan, to win. It did my heart good, though, on Saturday to have Kent Union, just to apiece the powers behind the throne.

Cut up a couple of onions, brown them in margarine, throw in some curry powder. Judge the amount by plain smelling — then add the turkey. Meanwhile with your other hand have a saucapang going with a white sauce that should have a chicken base. A turkey base might be better, but we always used to put on gravy so had to stoop to the chicken cubes. Mix the two together, and that is it.

'77 alumnus wins recognition as 'outstanding'

A 1977 alumnus of Plymouth High school who is now a certified public accountant with Georgia-Pacific Corp., Atlanta, Ga., is an Outstanding Young Man of America.

He is Steven A. Shuty, elder son of the Albert J. Shutys, Route 98, who was graduated in 1981 by Tiffin university.
 An outstanding athlete while he was a pupil here, Shuty is married, the father of a daughter and resides in Sugar Hill, Ga., an Atlanta suburb. His first assignment with his employer was in Portland, Ore.

Amy McClure wins oratory contest

Amy McClure, daughter of the James McClures, Willard, drive, is the winner of the 1987 Voice of Democracy oratory contest conducted by George R. Broderick Post, VFW, Shelby.
 She defeated three finalists, Kim Gibson, Derek Kren and Todd Gundrum.
 Judges were former Supt. John Fazzino, Mr. Elwood Kaple, postmaster, and A.L. Paddock, Jr., editor-publisher of The Advertiser.

Dicks observe 40th anniversary

Married in First United Presbyterian church here on Nov. 23, 1947, by the Rev. Howard Bethel, Charles H. Dicks of 126 West Broadway marked their 40th anniversary as hosts at a family dinner Sunday, when their guests were her brother and sister-in-law, the Bradley J. Robertes, Attica; her brother and sister-in-law, the Raymond Willets, Plymouth; his brother, John T., and Mrs. Warren Hollenbaugh, Plymouth.

Big Red varsity

Red to open season with Crimson Flames

Five lettermen people the Big Red squad that will undertake the 1987-88 basketball season here Saturday, opposing Mansfield Christian school in what shapes up as a tough struggle.

The Crimson Flames are habitually a well-drilled team in fundamentals. That they have no football program (soccer substitutes for it) means that a longer preparation period for basketball is both possible and encouraged. Plymouth has never had an easy time of it with Mansfield Christian and doesn't expect Saturday's contest to be any different.

To replace the graduated Steve Hall is pretty much akin to restoring honesty to the office of President of the United States or common sense to the office of president of Ohio State university; not a task to be regarded as easy, by any means.

What's more, the Big Red is coached by a new man, young Dave Hirschy, who earned his spurs as reserve coach since the day he came here.

Here's slate this week —

Here's Firelands conference basketball slate for this weekend:
TOMORROW:
 Black River at Northwestern.
SATURDAY:
 Western Reserve at St. Mary's Central Catholic;
 Wellington at New London;
 Crestline at South Central;
 Mansfield Christian at Plymouth.

It's 6 p.m.!

Girls' basketball programs will begin at 6 p.m., not 6:30 p.m., Athletic Director Bryan J. Neff points out.

Boys' basketball programs will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m.

He succeeds David P. Dunn, whose career had its ups and downs. He went out with a flourish: Firelands conference coach-of-the-year for 1986-87.

The lettermen are Ron Stephens, he of the high grade-point average and the conference 200-m. dash championship, a six feet four inch giant who rebounds well; Lance Combs, another high honor roll pupil, a six footer who plays strong forward; Terry Hall, next to the smallest player on the team at five feet seven inches, the playmaker at point guard; and two of the Wolverines, Troy and Todd, each measuring five feet 10 inches. All of these are 12th graders. Combs, Hall and Todd Wilson are co-captains of the squad, which will dress 11 and call up one from the reserve team for each contest.

Others on the team are Jeff Bloomfield, an 11th grader who could be the unheralded star of the team; Terry Branham, also an 11th grader; Eric Breznicki, a 12th grader recovered from a shoulder separation incurred in a football game against Black River; Stacy Hall, cousin of Terry, an 11th grader; Tony Haymond, a 10th grader of whom much is expected, and Wilke Schutte, a West German exchange pupil, an outstanding competitor in tennis who won a letter in golf and wants more than anything else to win one in basketball. That he towers six feet four inches on a frame that carries 180 pounds will stand him in good stead.

Hirschy is likely to go with experience for his starting five on Saturday. He knows it's uphill for him and his team. There is more balance in the Firelands conference, with New London, the defending champion, and Western Reserve and Black River likely to give fits to all comers, not to mention an improving Mapleton squad.

Signs were, after Monday's practice scrimmage, Hirschy will start Hall and Todd Wilson at guards, Stephens at center, Combs and the young Haymond at forwards. Troy Wilson, Bloomfield and Schutte are certain to see early action.

New coaches abound in the league. Mike Lillo, who learned the game at Willard under Coach Bob Haas, is in charge of the Roughriders.

Pat Durham, a veteran coach at Clear Fork, long experienced with Plymouth basketball from the time both teams played in the old Johnny Appleseed conference, is in the first season of what he hopes will be a lengthy tenure at South Central.

Monroeville has changed basketball coaches more often than your old maid aunt changes her underwear. The new man is Danu Carley.

Mike Vannett takes over the reins at Crestview.

Where will Plymouth finish? Who'll be the Democratic nominee for president next year? Informed guesses are to the effect the Big Red, given some breaks, can be first flight, which means just below the leaders(s), say New London and Western Reserve.

McKenzie ends college career with Crusaders

The collegiate football career of a 1984 alumnus of Plymouth High school came to an abrupt halt Saturday, when the University of Dayton walloped Capital University, 52 to 28 in an NCAA Division III playoff game at Dayton. Mike McKenzie played fullback for the Crusaders, clearly outclassed by the Flyers, who now go on to play Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., which marched over Hiram college, 53 to 0, at Rock Island.

14 Red players on 'brain teams'

Fourteen Plymouth athletes won all-academic honors in Firelands conference competition in four sports.

Five are first team selections. These are Co-Capt. Terry Hall and Ron Stephens, football; Steve Hawkins and Kathy Welker, cross country, and Todd Gundrum, golf. Honorable mention was accorded Co-Capt. Dave Powers and Jeff Tackett, football; Mariane Franceschi, Trena Snipes, Miss Welker and Jennifer Young, volleyball; Lance Combs and Jenny Adams, cross country, and Scott Gano and Heath Howard, golf.

FFA donates $100 to Ohio 77A

FFA conducted its monthly meeting Thursday. Citrus committee suggested continuing sales because of the low amount of boxes sold. FFA calendars will be purchased.

A donation of $100 to the Ohio FFA foundation was made. Scholarship pen winners were announced; these are Scott Oney and Jarrid Pennell, ninth graders; Kevin Stevens, Cory Myers, and Larry Vanderpool, 10th graders; Aaron Keinath, Charles Pennell, Gregory Niedermeyer and Max Mullins, 11th graders. Meetings are changed to Monday night.

First female professional:

Karen Murray, optometrist, joins staff here

Karen Murray meets her clients in Plymouth three days a week, unmindful, on the surface, at least, that she is unique.

Karen Murray is the first woman professional to serve this village.

She is a doctor of optometry, fresh out of the school of optometry of Ohio State university, and an associate of Dr. Edwin Wimbler and Dr. Pierre E. Haver with offices at 13 West Broadway.

"It's no big deal, that I'm a woman optometrist, that is," she observes. "Half of the current class at Ohio State is female. In my class it was 55 per cent. Women are getting into professional schools and doing well more than you would expect: 20 per cent of the college of dentistry at Ohio State is female, 50 per cent of the college of law, 60 per cent of the college of veterinary medicine."

And how did she become attracted to the calling? Are there other women professionals in her family?

"I grew up in Pepper Pike, which is the high rent district. Many of the people who live there are captains of industry and business, but not my parents. I worked from the time I was 12, but almost never for less than $5 an hour. When I was young, my pediatrician was a woman, the family dentist was a woman, the family physician was a woman, the family eye doctor was a woman. I have an older sister who's an electrical engineer, works for NASA. I have a younger brother who's finishing up his B. S. degree and plans to go on for an M.B.A. And a younger brother who's just starting college, who can throw a baseball at 85 miles an hour or so and wants to be a big league pitcher. I hope he makes it."

This work business, what sort of work was it?

"Both my husband (she's a relative newlywed, to a young veterinarian in practice in Mansfield; they live on the old Black estate, as renters) and I worked in restaurants almost all of our time in Columbus, mostly at the J'ai Lai. I worked some summers for Sea World, as a pearl diver, which was for more than minimum wage — I'm sure you realize, don't you, that summer resort and entertainment businesses are exempt from the minimum wage rule — because of the risks involved, infection, and that sort of thing. My husband was a scuba diver in a similar situation, he was interested in marine veterinary science, and there's not much opportunity for that kind of thing in or near Mansfield."

How did you happen to choose Mansfield?

"We, my husband and I, long before we were married, decided we would look around for a place where we thought we might be happy and where there was an opportunity. My husband liked what and who he saw in Mansfield. I found out that Dr. Wimbler was looking for an associate, through the college, and we talked and got together and here I am."

Does an upbringing in Pepper Pike result in adverse comparisons with, say, Plymouth Local School district?

"We had an indoor pool, an outdoor pool, a boys' and a girls' swimming team, tennis, golf, the whole works. So far I've noticed among my clients, who come from Plymouth and surrounding area, a strong interest in sports, which I think is good. You don't want to raise a bunch of high IQ people who're social duds. I spoke a few days ago to some pupils in Plymouth High school and I found them to be polite, interested and extremely attentive, especially the girls. But then girls usually have more interest in their studies, mostly have higher grades and are more dedicated to achieving their goals."

It was a statement the interviewer would not contest, he had no stomach for it.

And what of Plymouth? "So far, the people I've talked to and dealt with, both professionally and socially, seem to be friendly, interested and interesting people, congenial is what I mean to say, and for my part, I want to keep it that way."

She has a winsome smile. Professionally, she gets to the point in a hurry, a fact to which the interviewer can personally swear. These are two ingredients of success in any small town, in Plymouth, they guarantee it.

Principal Granville S. Fleisher visited Pioneer Joint Vocational school Nov. 4 and was escorted through it by two Plymouth pupils, Lori Kessler and Heath Hale.

Shocked by fatal crash, Bernard Kaple, 50, dies

A partner in Kaple Lumber Co. Baseline and Shiloh-Norwalk roads, Cass township, Bernard (Bud) Kaple, 50, New Washington, died Thursday morning in Bucyrus Community hospital of a sudden illness.

He had earlier witnessed a head-on traffic collision that killed a man, an event thought to have triggered his heart attack.

Born Dec. 22, 1936, in New Washington, he lived there his whole life. He was a communicant of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic church, a member of the Knights of Columbus and a board member of the Ohio Forestry association.

He served in the U.S. Army. He is survived by his wife, Carolyn Ann, two sons, Scott Alan, Chicago, Ill., and Jeffrey Karl, Bellevue; his parents, the Vincent Kaples, New Washington; three brothers, William A., New Washington, Charles Thomas, Findlay, and David Vincent, Cincinnati; and three sisters, Mary Jean, now Mrs. David Smith, Bucyrus; Suzanne, now Mrs. Ben A. Laah, and Janette, now Mrs. Thomas Frazee, New Washington.

The Rev. Robert DeSloover was celebrant of the funeral mass from the church Saturday at 10 a.m. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Memorials to the church organ fund are suggested.

Fifteen Boy Scouts led by Arnold Roberts, Jr., assistant Scoutmaster, backpacked two and one-half miles to the Fenner Nature center Nov. 13 to camp out overnight.

They were afforded one hour upon arrival at the site to pitch camp, start individual fires using only two matches and cook a meal before night set in.

Chris Roberts, senior patrol leader, was observation Scout during the competition Nov. 14. Eagle patrol completed the nine check points in a combined time of two hours 16 minutes, defeating Wildcat patrol by 27 minutes. Clayton Loehn was the individual winner in 11 minutes.

Scouts will assist with unloading of paper during the drive Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Troop 411 thanked Mayor Keith A. Hebble and the village council for granting use of the village's wooded area.

All den chiefs are to report to Ehet-Parcel Post 447, American Legion, Monday at 6 p.m. for the Cub Scout Pinewood derby.

Troop 411 will meet in Plymouth Public library Dec. 7 at 6:30 p.m.

Advance weigh-in may be obtained at Plymouth Hardware.

ERRATUM
Name of Lar... Combs was accidentally omitted from the list of 12th graders who achieved 4.0 grade-point averages for the first nine weeks that appeared in the Nov. 19 issue.

Three musicians play for OMTA at Mansfield

Five Plymouth musicians attended the fall concert of the youth orchestra of the Mansfield Symphony Sunday as a reward for maintaining a consistent piano practice schedule for the first term.

Jeremy Neff, Christopher McClintock, Sarah Cook, Leanna Giesige and Justin Slauson were guests of their piano teacher, Mrs. James M. Pekare.

Stephen Kensinger, J. B. Neff and Christopher McClintock performed "Lazaro", a piano trio, for the Ohio Music Teachers Sunday in Mansfield. The boys dressed in authentic Mexican costumes.

DWI conviction gets sentence of 30 days, fine of $500

Sentence of 30 days of jail and fine of $500 and costs on conviction of drunken driving was handed down to Mrs. Jerry Caudill, 134 East Main street, by Mayor Keith A. Hebble Nov. 16. He suspended 27 days of the jail term and $150 of the fine on condition there are no similar offenses within one year. Her driver's license was suspended for 60 days.

William M. Capelle, Shelby, pleaded no contest to hit-and-run driving, display of fictitious license tags and false utterance. On the first count he was fined $300 and sentenced to three days in jail, of which $150 and the jail time were suspended if there are no similar violations for one year. On the second count he was fined $51 and costs, with $25 suspended on similar conditions. On the third count, he is required to make restitution within six months. The mayor suspended $150 of the fine on condition of no similar violations for one year.

Charges of reckless operation against James Sandy, Jr., Sandusky; John Weidl, Mansfield, failure to halt within an assured clear distance; Wayne J. Gerber, Clyde, no through traffic violation, were continued to yesterday.

Sir:

I attended the council meeting Nov. 17 along with a few other Plymouth residents to find out developments regarding the garbage pickup issue.

Because the bids received by Plymouth do not greatly benefit the village, I feel there is a real chance to defeat this issue if we show a united front by attending the next council meeting.

My concern in this matter is still a question of CHOICE. Do we want to choose our haulers or have the village force us to have one hauler (with payment to be included on our utility bills)?

If Plymouth residents feel strongly about this issue, I urge them to attend the next council meeting, which will be the second Tuesday of December, Dec. 8, at 7 p.m.

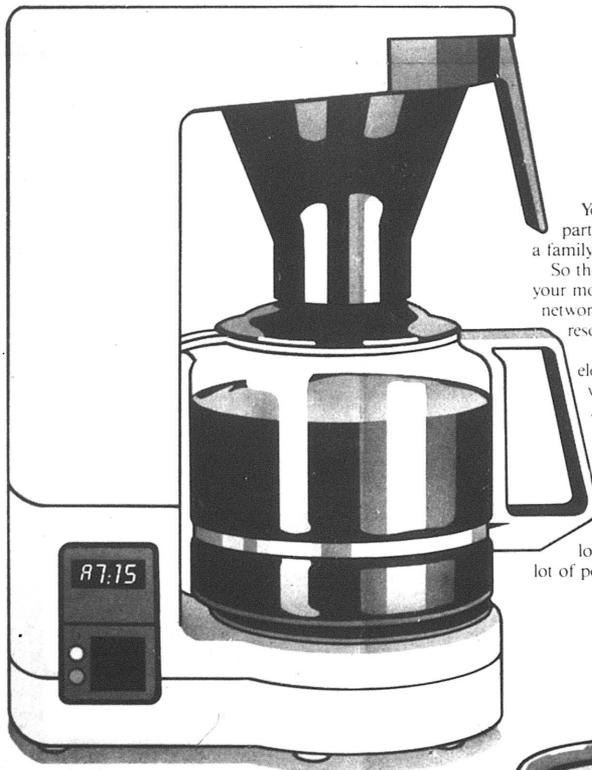

Thank you.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of our grandson, Chad William Taulbee, who passed away six years ago, Nov. 22, 1981.
Memories are treasures
No one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache
No one can heal,
Some may forget
Now that you're gone,
But we still remember
No matter how long.
