

How to deal with egg throwers?

The conduct of some during the Hallowe'en season was unappealable.

We are tired, and almost sick, of remarks such as "Weren't you a kid once?" One cannot, one dare not, answer that question. To do so is to invite a spew of abuse: "Oh, I see, you were a sissy pants", if one's response that he was, indeed, young once and no, by God, he didn't destroy property; "Aha, you see! This is just a matter of the pot calling the kettle black!" if one admits to minor sins.

And we are equally tired, and almost sick, of imputations that favoritism was shown by police toward some obvious culprits, that the police weren't doing their job, that they didn't attend to duty, that much of the damage can be laid in the laps of the police force.

With such forces as were available, the police chief and his department did a good job to contain the damage as much as they did.

Just how much damage was done?

Raw eggs, often mixed with a soap solution, produce a corrosive reaction on automobile paint. If the mixture is not promptly removed, a new coat of paint for the car is the only remedy. And a new coat of paint these days is no Earl Scheid composition of $19.95, as it once was. More like, $199.95, for a small car.

Police hosed off nine vehicles, five so damaged they are the subject of insurance claims.

Raw eggs, overripe vegetables and other noxious items thrown at one's house present a difficult problem to deal with. If the householder possesses mechanical skills, perhaps he can attend to the repairs himself. But what if the householder is not able to do this? To postpone the repair because of temporary shortage of funds, or because one cannot engage the labor required to correct the situation, is to invite disaster. The longer the stuff remains on the house, the harder it is to remove.

What does one do? Call the police? He is told, and rightly, that since the police officer did not himself see the offense, the officer is powerless to file charges. If the victim cannot honestly swear that he saw the offense committed, that he saw the offender breaking the law, he cannot obtain by the village the prosecution he so earnestly desires. And if there is no suitable witness, it is the disposition of the courts, and rightly so, to dismiss the whole action as a matter of one person's word against another's.

There is conclusive evidence that at least one juvenile admitted he committed a misdemeanor. But he who heard the admission would not swear under oath as to what he heard. There is a strong feeling, not limited to juveniles, by any means, that it is best not to be involved. Some of it derives from fear of retribution.

How many vandals are we talking about?

Not many. Surely not more than eight.

Such statements as have been made to local police tend to identify the likely perpetrators because the vandalism took place in one location. It is a fact that it is relatively difficult to carry more than four or five eggs at a time. To replenish one's supply requires a return to his base, probably his home.

Consider: if there were a strong danger of explosion because of leaking gas, somebody in authority would act to restrict the sale or distribution of matches, lighters and other such devices. And sensible, and sensitive, vendors of these items would simply embargo their sale or distribution. It might be useful to look into this factor.

Eggs are not the sort of thing a young peckerwood can store prior to Hallowe'en without the cooperation, whether knowing or unknowing, of the head of his household.

Which suggests that the blame ought to be laid at the feet of some of these!

Some of the victims of vandalism had every reason to expect it would occur. They knew, or had every reason to know, their spoken and

PPD, PFD request more pay

Requests of Police Chief Stephen J. Caudill and Fire Chief Terry Hopkins for changes in their departments' ranks were studied by village council Oct. 27 when the council met in special session to consider a new pay ordinance.

Caudill asked that a new rank of sergeant be established and that his officers be paid for time spent in court if it falls outside their regular shift hours.

This would include both the Shelby and Newark municipal courts and the mayor's court here.

Hopkins asked for upgrading the hourly pay for the ambulance squad so it is equal to fire fighting time.

Secretarial duties will be split between two persons. Mrs. William Burkett will become the ambulance billing clerk and another will be appointed secretary for the fire department. This change will result in a small savings in pay.

Ex-teacher, Jeffrey Risner died at Newark

Formerly high school vocal instructor here, Jeffrey Risner, 46, Heath, died in Newark Memorial hospital emergency room Aug. 9.

Born Nov. 26, 1940, to Kenneth and Aliene Coddington Risner, he was a 1962 graduate of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, with a bachelor's degree in piano and music. He later took a master's degree in technical theater from Bowling Green State University, where he was music director of the summer theater. At his death he was organist and choirmaster of St. James's Episcopal church, Zanesville, where he was employed as sales manager by Corder Applepie Center, a business owned by his wife's family.

When he left here, he went to Heath schools to be vocal music instructor and choir director.

His wife, nee Cheryl A. Corder, a son, Michael, and a daughter, Janet, both at home, survive. His parents and a brother died earlier.

The Rev. Jack C. Bennett conducted services Aug. 13 from the church. Interment was in Duncan Falls cemetery.

Lynch held

Scott Lynch, 19, 209 Plymouth street, was arrested Oct. 28 by Plymouth police on a warrant issued in Norwalk.

Postman quits after 24 years of 'happy duty'

Just two months shy of 24 years as a letter carrier in Plymouth, during which he walked over 25,830 miles, equivalent to once around the earth at its equator, Charles Harrington has packed it in, with more fond memories than otherwise.

Otherwise? "Yeah, one day I got bitten by two dogs, one in the right leg, one in the left," Charles Harrington recalled Friday afternoon, when he retired at the close of business in the U.S. Post office, which he joined Jan. 4, 1962.

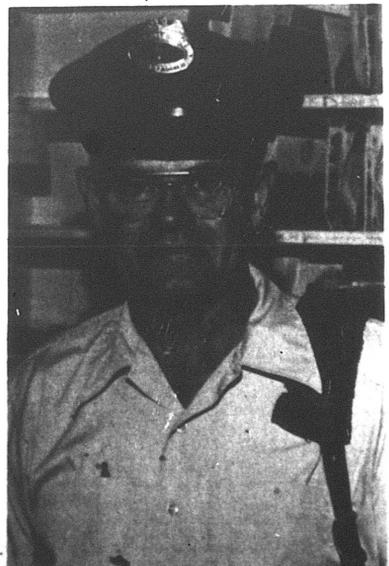

No other memorable occurrences or events? "None, I never found anybody dead or on fire or anything like that. Just a heck of a lot of good people who were mostly helpful and Harrington, who has lived at 30 Brooks court since 1965, came to Plymouth in 1960. He and his wife, Virginia, and their only child, Jerrold D. —

Miss Caudill to wed at Shelby in July

Engagement of their daughter, Lenora, to Mark Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donel Gibson, New Haven, is announced by her parents, the Wayne Caudills, Plymouth. Miss Caudill is a 1985 graduate of Plymouth High school now a student in Ohio State university, Mansfield. She is employed by Holland Market, Willard and also does professional modeling for Ryan-Orem agency, Akron. Her fiance is a 1981 graduate of Willard High school and a 1985 graduate of the tool and die apprenticeship program, Sandusky. He is employed as a journeyman by Midwest Industries, Inc., Willard. The couple will marry July 16 at 6:30 p.m. in First Lutheran church, Shelby.

25 years ago, 1962

Big fire is underway in last home game against Ontario. William Fazio is an underdog in the race for Ohio General Assembly against the incumbent, Willard Republican Harry V. Jump.

Village was told at Columbus it won't be given authorization to transfer $35,000 from electric fund to water fund to pay for a second water tower.

James W. Fetters, 17, a student in Ohio State university at Mansfield, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver who struck him in Bartley avenue, Mansfield.

Ruth A. Fitch was named chairman of the printing committee for "Sadie Shuffle", University of Detroit social event.

Mrs. William Forquer, 81, 187 West Broadway, died at Shelby. Peter Schlarb, Sr., 72, whose son, Peter, Jr., lived here, died in Homer township, Medina county.

Dr. Roy J. Johnson, Jr., will open a medical practice at Shelby. Mrs. Gerald W. Caywood was elected district president, Daughters of Union Veterans.

Father of Robert Young, Clarence C. Young, 70, Ft. Clinton, was killed when he drove his car off the open lift bridge into Sandusky bay.

Forty-two pupils of the high school made the honor roll. Carol Roberts, 10th grader, and E. Jane Fenner and Kenneth Springer, ninth graders, made 4.0 grade-point averages.

20 years ago, 1967
Lutherans will dedicate the new addition to the church. Father of Mrs. John Ray, Harry G. Rohrs, Willard, died there. D. Guy Cunningham and William Fazio will contest the mayoral ship in the general election. Elizabeth G. Paddeck, Michael Dick and Wayne E. Strine seek two seats as village councilmen.

Sixteen high school pupils were named to the honor roll, 34 to the merit roll. Twelfth graders: Karen Barnes, Linda Hollenbaugh, Paula Jane Johnson, Cathy Moore, Brenda Springer, Barbara Wagner, 11th graders: Deborah Hawk, Terry Henry, Betty Hunter, Daniel Seitz; ninth graders: Michael Beard, Miriam Hill, Mary Lee Miller.

Joyce Ann Falk was married at Shiloh to Robert D. Enzor. Gene Kok scored 15 points as Plymouth trimmed Loudonville in Johnny Applesed conference play, 21 to 6.

Greg Cashman, Ohio university senior, placed ninth in 25-28 in the all-Ohio cross country championships at Oberlin college, Oberlin.

15 years ago, 1972
Cross country team placed second in the district. A stout defense led Plymouth to a surprise 8 to 0 victory over Clear Fork.

Shiloh doubled the building permit fees applicable to residential construction there. A former Plymouth High school pupil, Wilson R. Selick, 25, was held in Cincinnati on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of employer.

10 years ago, 1977

Prices: ground beef, 68¢ lb.; chuck roast, 68¢ lb.; chuck steak, 78¢ lb.; Swiss steak or beef roast, 88¢ lb.; boneless chuck roast or stew beef, 99¢ lb.; smoked picnics, 39¢ lb.; sliced bacon, 79¢ lb.; slab bacon, 69¢ lb.

The John Gayhearts marked No. 50. Cross country team set a school record with its 14th victory. Plymouth ranked 31st by computer in Region 10 after seven weeks.

Parents of Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, the Francis Heubergers were injured in a collision in Route 99. Sixteen were tapped for initiation into Louis Brombeck chapter, National Honor society: Carol Erst, Anita M. Riedlinger, Barbara Rettig and Janene Lewis, 12th graders; Richard Seymour, Richard Russell, Kenneth Edgson, Michael Hamman, Karen Fenner, Mary Humbert, Gayle Kok, Joanne Suttler, Barbara Burkett, Doyle Tuttle, Pamela Briner and Deborah Moorman, 11th graders.

Ten candidates seek election to four seats as councilmen: D. Douglas Brumbach, V. Duane Keene and John A. Ray, incumbents, and Dean A. Cline, William C. Enderby, James M. Fleck, David A. Howard, Ervin W. Howard, G. Thomas Moore and James C. Root.

Mrs. Frank Hoffman, 77, died at Willard. Big Red dumped Loudonville, 30 to 21, three touchdowns coming through the air. Mike Berberick passed to Mike McKenzie for 48 yards and a score. Tom Miller threw the halfback pass to Steve Shaver for 31 yards, Berberick tossed to John Ross for 14 yards. Mike Messer ran for seven and Ross for four for the other two scores.

The Homer Lambs marked No. 50. Prices: sliced bacon, $1.19 lb.; chuck steak, 98¢ lb.; turkey drumsticks, 33¢ lb.; chuck roast, 88¢ lb.

Five years ago, 1982
Uncle of Thomas J. Webber, Floyd Powers, 92, Bellevue, died there. Fiscal surveillance of Plymouth by the state terminated.

This morning 23,316 people brought you your coffee.

Your local power company is a part of American Electric Power, a family of power companies.

So the electricity you use to brew your morning coffee comes from a network of people and power and resources that links seven states.

That network helps us deliver electricity quickly and efficiently, while keeping down the cost. And together we're pioneering new technologies to provide affordable power in the future.

From now on, when you see our name, you'll also see AEP.

As a part of American Electric Power, we're still your local power company, with a lot of power behind us.

second sister, then Julia Fisher, died of cancer in Oregon in 1962.

Charley was graduated by Shiloh High school in 1941. He played on the Drummer Boys football team — a six man team — and they tell me he was the shadow for Jim Cunningham, who was fast as lightning, but I don't seem to remember much of that." He joined the Navy and served honorably for a bit over three years, all but a month of it overseas in the Atlantic theater.

When Harrington joined the postal service, Cunningham was already on the staff. He later retired, having served as clerk and rural carrier.

Prior to his postal service, Charley worked for Sealtest Milk Co. out of its Shelby distributing point.

His successor on the route is Rock Merritt, for whom he has this piece of advice: "Stay healthy and don't get arthritis of the knees, which I've got. And people will be nice and friendly if you'll be nice and friendly."

Anything else?

"I'm sure Rock knows some of this, but it won't hurt to repeat it. The volume of first and second class mail goes up all the time. When I started out, it was easy to ease your mail and get out of here at nine o'clock.

"The post office doesn't allow any time for goofing off. If you take five minutes to talk with an customer, you've got to hustle to make it up on the next.

"These circulars that've swamped the mails in the last few years make the carrier work harder than ever.

"The post office allows just so much time for each drop, if you don't make it in the allotted time, they want to know why."

Harrington served under three postmasters, Raymond L. Brooks, Mrs. Ruth Pittenger, now postmaster at Shelby, and the incumbent, Mrs. Elwood Kaple.

"I liked 'em all, honest, but if you push me, I'd have to say I like this one" — he nods his head toward Mrs. Kaple — "the best."

His son and daughter-in-law have two vigorous children, Casey and Heidi. Between them and the aging Mrs. Harrington grandmere, living in Willard, and "the boss of the house", Mrs. Harrington mere, he expects to be kept busy.

But not so busy that he can't or won't exchange greetings with the scores of friends he's made in carrying the mails around Plymouth for nearly 24 years — "they're what made it worthwhile. Sure, I got paid, a man's got to take care of his family, but the folks I've met will stay with me to my grave!"

Score one for Charley Harrington!

Risner jailed in burglary

A plea of guilty to burglary in January at Shiloh residence by Donald Risner, 23, Shelby, resulted in a 30-day sentence in the Richland county jail after Common Pleas Judge Max Chilcote expunged him from a three to 15-year prison term. Risner must also serve three years on probation.

Church built 25 years ago

The Rev. George Koerber, now chaplain in St. Charles hospital, Oregon, was in town Oct. 15 when St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church marked the 25th anniversary of its building.

It was noted that the late Rev. William Conces, Father Koerber's predecessor as priest here, undertook to fund the new structure by redeeming sales tax stamps contributed to the church by buyers of new cars in about 75 per cent of Ohio's 88 counties. By the time this practice was discontinued in 1962, Father Conces had collected $856,872, at an expense of about $400,000. Parishioners contributed about $100,000 to the building fund.

The first mass was celebrated at midnight on Christmas eve, 1962. When he was transferred to Genoa in 1971, Father Conces told parishioners he had built a church and endowed it, but it was up to them to build a parish, Father Koerber observed.

The incumbent pastor, the Rev. Gregory A. Bishop, blessed the sanctuary on Oct. 18. A golden chalice and paten were presented by the Leland Bugges to mark their 50th anniversary.

Neil A. McKown, president of the parish council, was master of ceremonies during the dinners, when Shirley Phillips showed slides of the building of the edifice.

The Revs. James Steine, St. Joseph's parish, Galion; Jerome Niedermier, St. Joseph's parish, Crestline; and Timothy Downey, retired, Bucyrus, and Walter Friebe, Shelby, a partner in the firm that built the church, were special guests.

Father Conces died in retirement in November three years ago.

Singspiration . . .

The Wilson family of Shelby and the Gospel Tourman from Magadore will lead the music.

Lutherans plan holiday bazaar

Annual holiday bazaar of First Evangelical Lutheran church will be conducted Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Items are to be brought to the church tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

Lunch of home made vegetable soup and brownies will be served by the Alice Willcutt class.

Door prize is an antique double wedding ring quilt, a gift by Mrs. Russell Crispin, whose mother made it.

Lutheran Church Women will also give away an afghan.

Revival . . .

Revival in Plymouth Church of God, 206 Trux street, with Evangelist T. L. Copland, began yesterday. James Gray, the minister, invites the public.

Miss Dawson to be married here Saturday

A 1987 alumna of Plymouth High school, Miss Tammy Susan Dawson will be married by the Rev. Julian Taggart before the altar of First United Presbyterian church Saturday at 3 p.m. to James Darrell Hale.

He is the son of James Hale, Willard, and of Mrs. Sue Bolen, Plymouth. She is the daughter of the Eugene Dawsons, 25 Plymouth street.

The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of South Central High school, having earlier attended Plymouth High school. In both schools he excelled in football.

A reception will follow the ceremony.

Veterans' day to be observed Wednesday

Annual observance of Veterans' day will take place in Elyre-Paradise Post 447, American Legion, 112 Trux street, Nov. 11 at 6:30 p.m. as a potluck dinner for which the post will furnish meat and beverage.

Guests are asked to carry a covered dish and their own table service.

The Gerald W. Caywood Memorial award, a gift to the post of Arthur L. Paddock, Jr., and Elizabeth G. Paddock, in memory of their long-time friend and business associate, will be presented to the Legionnaire adjudged to have contributed most to the post during the past year.

The Voice of The Advertiser — How to deal with egg throwers?

written attitudes toward social conduct were likely to rile a noxious segment of the community. That the First Amendment to the Constitution guarantees his right to speak and write as he may wish is of small solace to him because it doesn't say the police may use prior restraint to prevent such vandalism.

To deal with these miscreants who are past 18 requires, we think, stiffer penalties and rigid exactment of the fines.

To deal with those under 18 requires, we also think, a speedy and conspicuous punishment of the guilty after a fair trial that guards their rights with the zeal of a Patrick Henry.

No one in his right mind would suggest that rights of property surpass those of person.

But, so far, thanks be to God, there is not now, nor has there been, any noticeable offenses against person. Therefore, it's time, we think, that the justice system turn its force upon these vandals and relieve the householder of these distasteful results of their unspeakable conduct.

Powers power

Co-Capt. Dave Powers didn't gain much against New London, but managed four in this shot. No. 13 is Chuck Kosse, No. 54 Rod Reed, No. 25 Jeff Tackett. No. 87 in white is Wildcats' Keith Shepherd.

Fletch's run

James Fletcher, who scored both of Plymouth's touchdowns, ran around right side of New London line on this reverse play Friday night.

Wildcats win on field goal

Red outgains New London; Fletcher scores twice

Two interceptions led to New London touchdowns here Friday night as an outgained New London eleven managed to defeat Plymouth, 16 to 13.

The difference was a 24-yard field goal by Dave Ash with 11:20 remaining in the game.

Only moments before a Wildcat score from the three was called back by a yellow flag that cost New London a setback to the Red 13.

The visitors were unable to penetrate deeper than the Plymouth eight, whereupon on fourth down Ash split the uprights.

That New London scored once more, on a 49-yard runback of an interception by Billy Radcliffe, and that a Hal Mary bomb from Chuck Kose to James Fletcher was good for 76 yards and the second Big Red score with 33 seconds left in the game was no more than a gliding of the lily, or more likely, the dandelion.

Because neither team played particularly well.

New London rushed the ball 45 times for a net yardage of 45. It passed 10 times, completed six, lost one by interception and gained 77 yards.

Plymouth ran the ball 22 times, gained 67 yards, threw 19 passes, completed 10 for a net of 173 yards.

The two interceptions, a fumble by the usually reliable Dave Powers and another by Kosse, the first that halted what showed signs of being a sustained drive.

the second that set the Wildcats up in the shadow of the Red goal, and the failure of the Plymouth running game cost the Big Red its chance to win.

Powers was held to 34 yards in nine carries.

The absence of John Ganzhorn at offensive guard — he is laid up with a painful back injury — and that Co-Capt. Greg Burka was not able to go at full speed were noticeable deficiencies in the Red attack.

Its defense measured up to the stiffest standards and deserved a better result.

Rod Reed, the third brother of the Reed family over 18 seasons, Jeff Staggs and the linebacker corps did well, well indeed.

After a scoreless first quarter, in which each team punted twice, Plymouth went into the second period with a sustained push that carried from its 22 to its 46.

On fourth down, with less than a yard to go for firstdown, the Big Red engaged in a flimsy hocus pocus that was mere foolery.

An effort to draw the Wildcats into an offside, patent to all who would see, did not succeed. Plymouth took a five yard delay-of-game penalty, one of six in the game. For such an event to occur to any team in Game No. 9 is unpeakable.

Jeff Tackett's punt carried to the Wildcat 30, whence New London managed only seven yards, whereupon Keith Shepherd punted 41 yards to the Red 22.

On firstdown Kosse sought to pass. His throw was blocked by Bobby Wilson at the Red 29. The ball flew into the air, Wilson snatched it as it came down and sped down the south sideline to the end zone. Ash's kick at 3:29 of the first half failed.

Neither team, statistically speaking, could have beaten Miss Eliot's School for Girls during the first half.

New London with 15 rushes had a net of minus 14 yards and on four completions in 11 tries, with one interception, had collected 57 yards.

Its kicking game was superior; four punts averaged 33 yards, whereas four kicks by Tackett averaged only 26 1/2 yards.

With 14 rushes, Plymouth had 27 yards. Four completions in six tries, with one tragic interception, netted the Big Red 40 yards.

After Powers ripped off 14 yards to start the second half, bringing Plymouth its first firstdown by rushing, he fumbled on the next play. The Wildcats were compelled to punt and Plymouth returned the kick, a magnificent 48-yarder, counting the roll.

From this point, the Wildcats put on a sustained drive that led to Ash's field goal. Three penalties against the Big Red that amounted to 30 yards helped New London enormously. The drive produced five first downs, two by penalty, one by passing, two by rushing.

With a lead of 9 to 0, the Wildcats timorously sought to protect their lead.

They kicked off. With good field position at its 45, the Big Red needed only six plays to reach the end zone.

On third down, Fletcher on a reverse gained 13 yards to the Wildcat 42, Chuck Deskins hit right tackle for three and on third down Kosse threaded the needle to Fletcher, who snatched the ball from two defenders. The play carried 39 yards.

Bernad Schneider kicked the PAT and Plymouth had a head of steam — they call it momentum in more genteel circles — and the half-filled stands seemed to sense that Plymouth would rally to win.

The Wildcats could not gain with the kickoff and a short punt of 29 yards gave Plymouth possession at its 35.

On second down, Kosse passed on the screen to Powers for eight yards. Powers belted through right guard for three yards and first down.

After an incomplete aimed for Mike Howell, Kosse aimed a pass to his left flit. Radcliffe nailed it and bowled down the south sideline for the score. The run covered 49 yards. Kosse missed the final tackle.

Ash's place kick was good and New London had it locked up at 16 to 7 with 5:02 remaining.

Plymouth had ample time, but only just. It could not produce the goods.

In the series after the kickoff, the Big Red went for broke on fourth down. It managed seven yards on fourth down, not enough to continue.

New London ate up the clock but ran out of downs at the Red 24.

On first down, Kosse unloaded. His throw carried 39 yards in the air. Fletcher grabbed it and ran the remaining 45 yards to the end zone.

Schneider's kick failed. It hardly made any difference. There wasn't time left to prevail.

When this team reflects upon its record for the 1987 season, it cannot but recall with sore regret that it did everything to New London but beat it on the scoreboard.

Some Plymouth players and the Big Red sticks crew deplored the conduct of the heralded New London player who, they said, resorted to unethical, illegal and/or unsportsmanlike conduct that was only once penalized.

Red rates 22nd by computer

Monroeville is so far ahead of its closest competitor, Seneca East, in Region 18, Division V, after nine weeks of computerized ratings of schoolboy football teams by the OHSAA that even humiliating defeat couldn't destroy its lead.

The Eagles have 49 points, Seneca East only 38.5.

Mapleton is 21st in Region 17, Division V, which shows St. Paul's at 32nd and South Central tied for 33rd and last.

Among Division IV teams, Western Reserve occupies 12th in Region 14, New London is tied with Tinora for 18th, Plymouth is 22nd, Crestview is tied with Columbia for 28th.

In Region 13 of Division IV, Black River is 16th.

STATISTICS

Two to compete for state title at Columbus

Two Plymouth cross country runners will seek state honors Saturday at Scioto Downs race course south of Columbus.

These are Susan Helms who led Plymouth girls to third place in the regionals at Tiffin Saturday — only the top two teams will race in the Class A championships — with 70 points, behind St. Mary's Central Catholic of Sandusky at 35 and Hicksville at 53, and Wendell Burton.

Miss Helms finished third in 20:21.

The race was won by Kristi Kramer of St. Mary's in 19:58. Jenny Adkins was 19th in 21:51, Kathy Welker 24th in 22:09, Jenny Chase 27th in 22:31 and Angie Cook 38th in 23:57.

Micki McQuate placed 42nd in 24:14. Kathy Farnar was 44th in 24:57.

Burton placed eighth in 17:07 in the boys' race, won as in the district at Galion by Kevin King of Mohawk in 16:15.

seconds later, Mellert's horse collided with Sharosis, which lay over the track. Mellert was thrown over the inside rail, apparently striking his head on a supporting pole of the inside (hub) rail, the reins still clutched tightly in his hands.

He was dead on arrival at Bedford Community hospital, apparently of severe chest injuries.

With a catch driver, Scrogie Colleen started in the ninth race, a $4,500 open pace, and finished eighth in a field of nine.

Tragedy strikes 'Colleen' barn

Tragedy struck the chances of Scrogie Colleen at Northfield Park Friday night.

Lon Mellert, the horse's 55-year-old trainer-driver, was killed in a pile-up during the first race.

He was driving a two-year-old coast pacer, Majestic Dale, owned

Selectors exposed in last week

With this, the final week of football forecasting, The Advertiser expresses its thanks to the guest selectors, the Plymouth postmaster, the Plymouth police chief, the mayors of Plymouth and Shiloh, the Plymouth clerk-treasurer, G. Thomas Moore, Michael Fidler and Ronnie Akers, Plymouth businessmen, and Fred L. Buzard, long-time Red fan.

G. Thomas Moore, businessman in the Public Square and a Plymouth graduate, is the guest selector in this, the final, week.

Here's what selectors say —

Young Dad: "Big Red is not playing to its potential. What happened? Monroeville shoe-in for Firelands conference championship. New London to win tough game with Black River." Past Dad: "Hurricanes vs. Redskins like shooting fish in a barrel, unless this is the game — and there's one every year — when our Miami upsets the dope. Eagles will complete magnificent season, holding something back for play-downs. Don't bet the farm on Wildcats over Pirates."

Middle schoolers won four, lost two

Girls' basketball aims, come March, to be first in Ohio. Chances are that may be an undertaking that's a bit too much for the Big Red.

Girls first in Ohio — for now!

To be first, the squad assembled under Coach Mike Badetscher, 1987 Firelands conference coach-of-the-year, Monday at 12:01 a.m. for a 90-minute session.
 The girls then awoke out in sleeping bags, were fed breakfast, went to class, and when the day was done, resumed their practice session.

Four letter winners reported for the squad. Each seeks to replace Kay Niedermeier, last season's Firelands conference player-of-the-year for the first time in the history of the league one sodej produced in both girls' and boys' basketball the player-of-the-year and the coach-of-the-year; these include Steve Hall and David P. Dunn, who is now contending for a place on the Hiram college roster.

Donell Branham, 12th grader, and Kim Gibson, 11th grader, were two letters apiece. Laura Paul, 12th grader, and Amy Laaser, 11th grader, have one letter each.
 The Big Red was 18-and-2 in regular season play last season, 18-and-3 overall. It set a new school record for victories in girls' basketball, exceeding by four, previous high number of wins by any Plymouth girls' team.

Seven Cubs win awards in Lynch case at party

Seven Cub Scouts received awards when Pack 411 met for its Halloween party at the Scout hut in Mary Fate park Oct. 26.
 Mark Sheely, Cubmaster, handed awards to Christopher McClintock, two-year pin, traveler, naturalist badge, Webelos badge, Arrow of Light; Nicholas Roll, forestry badge; Gregory Mongold, one and two year pins, forestry, Artist badge; Andrew Classen, forestry badge; Eddie Farmer, forestry badge; Scott Kristemeyer, forestry, citizen, family member badge.
 Judges in the costume contest were Mrs. Linda Hershiser, Mrs. Jerrold Harrington and Richard Myers.
 First place winners: Christopher McClintock, a nut fanaticist; Adam Channing, a werewolf; scientist; Michael Kristemeyer, a nurse, most original.
 Second place winners: David Kristemeyer, an old woman; fanaticist; Shawn Kegley, a Ninja; scientist; Gregory Mongold, a wizard, most original.
 Cubmaster Sheely told a spooky Halloween story.

Loren Strohm, kin of villagers, succumbs at 52

Brother of Mrs. Wayne McDougal and of Weldon and Orlo Strohm, Loren E. Strohm, 52, Mansfield, died in Mansfield General hospital Oct. 27 of a brief illness.
 He was owner of Strohm Insurance agency at Shelby, an inspector for Cincinnati Electronics and a former school bus driver for Shelby schools.
 Born in New Washington to John Frederick and Rose Feichter Strohm on Nov. 14, 1934, he lived in Shelby 20 years before he moved six years ago to near Mansfield. He was a member of First Lutheran church, Shelby, of Aerie 763, F.O.E.s, Shelby, and a past member of Shelby JayCees. He was for 15 years a Scoutmaster in Shelby and he served in the Army and the Air National Guard.
 He is also survived by his wife, Nancy, three sons, Troy, Scott and John F., 2nd, all at home, a daughter, Angela, Hampton, Va., five brothers Marvin, Chaffield, Kenneth and George, New Washington; Edgar, Galion, and Forrest (Pete), Tiro, and two sisters, Ethel, now Mrs. Haldon Reed, Attica, and Lulu, now Mrs. George Gearhart, Crestline.
 His parents and two sisters died earlier.
 The Rev. Dr. Carl L. Johnson, his minister, conducted services from the church Friday at 10:30 a.m. Interment was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.
 Memorial contributions to the Heart fund are suggested.

Court rules for village case in Lynch case

On motion of defendant, Village of Plymouth, Sixth Court of Appeals, Northern District of Ohio, Western division, has dismissed an action filed by David Lynch and others, seeking compensatory damages of $40,000 and punitive damages of $300,000 for alleged harassment.
 The suit was laid Mar. 9 by attorneys for Lynch, Scott Lynch, Carroll Lynch and Marcella Arrar, 220 Plymouth street, against the Village of Plymouth and its former and present police officers, William N. Spognardi, Mansfield, town police chief, Philip Beverly, 59 Plymouth street, then an auxiliary officer, Jeffrey Brown, Richard Garna, H. D'Avanzo and Michael Metcalfe.
 A magistrate's report and recommendation filed with the court dismisses defendants' motion to dismiss is well taken because the action was filed more than a year after the last incident upon which it is based, therefore, plaintiffs having failed to comply with the statute of limitations, the action has no legal standing. Magistrate's report acknowledges plaintiffs dispute this finding.
 Decision of the court was taken Oct. 23.
