Mrs. Jump named to succeed Fazzini

Mrs. Terry Jump will become village clerk-treasurer Apr. 1 when John Fazzini, the present clerk, retires.

She was one of nine applicants for the position. Mrs. Jump had the added advantage of having an associate degree in accounting from North Central Technical college, Mansfield, which she obtained in June, 1985. She has been a member of the village council for over three years and has an added knowledge of village affairs.

Elected to the council in November 1982, she began serving Jan. 1, 1983. Her term expires the end of this year.

In November, 1985, she opposed Mayor Keith A. Hebble for the mayor's position, and lost. She retained her council seat. The mother of two daughters, Sharla and Teri Lynn, she is the wife of the village's head electrician.

A Willard native, she lived in Greenwich, Plymouth and Shelby as a child and moved as a ninth grader to Defiance, where she graduated from high school.

She served in the U.S. Army from 1976 until 1978 as an air traffic controller. She is employed by Kelly Services, Mansfield, assigned to the C-P-C Mansfield General Motors plant, which she is giving up to take the village position.

As a council member, she has been chairman of the rules committee and a member of the finance committee.

Others who applied were former mayor William Fazio, Mrs. James Channing, Luther J. Strigall, Perryville, Theodore A. Ross, Eldon Burkett, Miss Lorna Collins, Mrs. William Burkett and Ronald Catron.

Mrs. Burkett, who is the village utility clerk, and Catron, who is the court bailiff and a police dispatcher, both said in their applications that they would be able to handle both positions.

Each also stated he had checked with the state attorney general and had been told there was no conflict of interest in his holding the two positions.

Mrs. Jump will be sworn into office by Mayor Hebble on the effective date of Fazzini's retirement.

Barnes kin succumbs at Norwalk

Sister of the late Clarence and Leo Barnes, Mrs. Elsie Mae Robinson, 85, died Sunday in Twilight Gardens Geriatric Center, Norwalk, after a long illness.

A native of North Fairfield, most of her life was spent in that area, and in Punta Gorda, Fla., where she spent the winter months.

She retired in 1966 as a sales person in several Norwalk dress shops.

A son, N. Keith Robinson, Norwalk; a sister, Mrs. Grace June, Sandusky; five grandchildren survive.

Her husband, William M. Robinson, died in 1975. Funeral services were conducted yesterday by her pastor, Dr. Walter Chisholm, First United Methodist church, Norwalk.

Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery.

Villager's kin dies at Sandusky

Father of two Plymouth residents, Dale and James Miller, Virgil G. Miller, 75, Willard, died Feb. 18 in Friesland Community hospital, Sandusky.

He was a native of Norwich township and retired as a car inspector for the B&O railroad after 35 years of service. He was a member of Trinity Lutheran church, Willard.

He is also survived by his wife Mary, two daughters, Carol Marsh, Phoenix, Ariz., and Barbara Franklin, Willard; two other sons, Gary, North Fairfield, and Dennis, Sandusky; a sister, Gladys Featheringill, and a brother, Harold Miller, both of Centerton; 18 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at the Secor Funeral home in Willard by the Rev. Edward Brandt, and burial was in the church cemetery.

Bennings eager to buy site in village

So far, so good. An enthusiastic interest has started up in the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

It has been more than inactive for the last year, but is getting a fresh start. The Feb. 16 meeting brought out new faces determined to make it viable again.

It will again meet Mar. 24 at 7 p.m. in the village hall to choose the paper this week is inhibited by the absence of the floor sweeper (sometimes) and the cussier (all the time) whose ability to perform more service, was prevented by hospitalization Sunday.

ILLUSTRATION FROM A STATE BEING PREPARED BY Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Roy Barber, Mrs. Timothy Moore and Douglas Dickson.

What is really being the force to put new life into it is a new business in the area. It is the Tri County Heavy Truck and Machine.

Mrs. William Benning is its president and since they are living in the village, in Railroad street, she is interested in "perk'ing it up." This can lead to something which most small communities do not have a mini mall of small specialty shops.

Every business is urged to be represented at the Mar. 24 meeting as well as interested citizens.

Advertiser wins for best editorials in Ohio contest

The Plymouth Advertiser was judged the best in the editorial category Thursday in the state-wide contest of the Ohio Newspaper Association in Columbus for weekly newspapers.

Because the editorial entry covers all weeklies regardless of size, it is a coveted honor. The Advertiser also won it in 1975.

Donald A. Lambert of the E.W. Scripps School of Journalism, Ohio University, Athens, was the judge for the entries.

These are his comments in general —

"Editorials, above all, should provide strong opinions. And they should be written interestingly, with well turned phrases, as they fulfill their duty to 'comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable.'"

"There's good news and bad news about the editorials in Ohio's community newspapers."

"First, the good news: As far as local, hard-hitting editorials go, this is a renewal of the existing there is a fund to benefit the village's general fund which expires at the end of this year."

Both of these issues require a 65 percent majority.

Voters in Plymouth Local school district will decide on a 2.5 mill levy to be used for school improvement. If approved, it will be in effect for three years. Only a majority is required for its passage.

hearing to see these newspapers exhibiting so much internal fortitude on their editorial pages. Toes are being stepped on, and that's as it should be."

"The bad news: There are still many 'long ago or far away' editorials with which few readers could disagree. Every newspaper, of course, runs some of this kind, but they're not contest material, and it's depressing to think these are newspapers' best efforts over the span of a year. If there will be hardly a shred of disagreement with a position taken in an editorial, the space probably is wasted."

And for the Advertiser —

First Place — The Plymouth Advertiser. "Delightful writing, with a distinct aura of H.L. Mencken. This newspaper obviously is willing to step on toes and to state opinions very strongly. One editorial described in a pull-no-punches manner the needs of the community in improving its business climate. A second blasted a county commissioner candidate for her campaign tactics. And a third pointedly discussed the needs of schools from an administrative standpoint."

Second place went to the Harrison News Herald, Cadiz; third place to The Grove City Record, and honorable mention to the Mansburg News, and the Erie County Reporter, Huron.

Mrs. King dies; kin of Barneses

Funeral services were conducted Friday in Shelby for Mrs. Anna Frances King, 79, sister of Mrs. Clarence Barnes.

She succumbed to a long illness in Heritage Care Center, Shelby. She was born Nov. 26, 1907 in Cass township and lived most of her life in Shelby.

She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. James Allen, a son Earl, Shelby, six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Laume, and two sons, George and Laume, who lost their lives in Vietnam.

The Rev. William L. Medley, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, conducted the last service and burial was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

E.S. Richard, 98, interred here

E. Stacey Richard, 98, Newcastle, Pa., was buried in the family plot in Greenlawn cemetery Saturday.

He died Feb. 17 in Jameson hospital there.

A native of Garrett, Ind., he managed the former Neisner Brothers store in Shelby for many years. He is survived by a daughter, a son, a sister, nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren. His wife, Donna Marie Hoak Richards, died in 1972.

The last services were conducted Saturday in Shelby by the Rev. Roger Miller, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, New Washington.

Wildcats win Over Big Red for title

New London's big win was bigger than Plymouth's on the Wildcats' abbreviated floor before a packed house Saturday and New London won for the second time this season, 55 to 50.

Plymouth outplayed and out-shot the Wildcats in the first half. It was a different story in the second half.

New London ran eight in the third period and seven in the fourth to build a lead of 48 to 41. The Big Red could not catch up.

Keith Shepherd, New London's stout center, controlled the boards in the second half and threw nine free throws, of which he converted six. He was high man for the Wildcats. Tom Myers, the playmaker, bagged 10, all of them on field goals.

Plymouth, classically not a strong third quarter team, managed only 10 points in that quarter. Six of them were by Co-Capt. Jason Robinson, on a field goal and four free throws.

His running mate at guard, Co-Capt. Steve Hall, was shackled in the first half. He was two for four in the first eight minutes and three for six in the second. It is not normal for him to be held to only 10 shots in the first half.

He managed 18 before the night was over including the last bucket of the game. It was the 56th consecutive game in which he has scored in double figures.

When it was all over, Plymouth had one player out on five personals and four starters with four personals apiece.

These offenses afforded New London 29 shots from the foul line, of which it converted 23.

Plymouth outshot the Wildcats from the field, 18 to 16. New London outrebounced the Big Red, 44 to 39. Plymouth made fewer mistakes on offense, 16 to 19.

Robinson also scored 18. Plymouth got no output from its bench, of which there were only three who saw action.

Ahead by three at the half, Plymouth scored the first goal of the third period. New London then ran eight to build a lead of 31 to 28. Robinson broke the string with two free throws. Shepherd retaliated, Robinson and Lance Combs added the field goals to tie at 29.

The game was to be tied three more times — the lead changed hands 14 times — before the Wildcats established an advantage of seven with a run of seven that concluded at 2:22 with Shepherd's field goal.

The two teams traded baskets until the finish.

Girls Down Crestline

Big Red girls peaked at just the right time.

With the Firelands Conference Championship in hand, Plymouth went to Crestline Thursday, seeking its 15th consecutive victory.

And the visitors showed the Blue and White how it's done among the higher panoply. The score was 71 to 59.

Plymouth fired for field goal 53 times and was successful 26 times, just a whisker under 50 percent. It erred on offense just 11 times.

That it was outrebounced by four shots, 33 to 29, didn't have much effect on the outcome.

How was it done? With a strong fourth period performance that overcame a two point Crestline lead of 49 to 46. The Big Red stormed the net for 25 points to lock it up. The Bulldogs managed only 11.

Plymouth outshot the hosts from the penalty stripe, 19 to 17, the Big Red on 29 shots, the Bulldogs on 33.

Crestline got off 58 shots with 21 successes. It made 25 turnovers.

Scrogie Colleen, six-year old pacing mare belonging to Lysle and Robert Hamman, Nobis road, Shiloh, started in the eighth race, an open pace on one mile for $4,000, at Northfield park Saturday afternoon and finished fourth.

Driven by Lou Mettzer, she was second at the 5/8, but faded in the stretch.

Winner was Louise Billie, driven by Mel Turcotte, which was timed in 2:01 4/5.

Daughter-in-law of Lysle and sister-in-law of Robert, Mrs. Jesse Wayne Hamman, has continued the campaign with the stable by her late husband.

B.B. Willie, a four-year old gelding pacer, set the track record Feb. 12 for pacers competing at Fairmont park, Ill., across from St. Louis, Mo.

Competing for a $4,000 purse, B.B. Willie flashed home in front in 1:55 3/5.

Success Again, a six-year old trotter, won at Scioto, near Columbus, Jan. 1 on a sloppy track in 2:06 1/5.

Success Again went to Fairmont park and placed second in 2:01 1/5.

Mrs. Hamman is the former Mary Jane Boyce of Shiloh.

Athlete dies from drug overdose

The local community was extremely saddened to learn of the untimely death of James Smith, the high school basketball team's first string center.

Authorities say that an autopsy would reveal that Smith had smoked "crack", a new form of highly addictive cocaine, before his body was found by his mother in his bedroom on Thursday evening. Evidence of the drug was found at the scene.

Smith was the leading scorer this past season, having set a number of district records. He was high school captain by a number of votes and many coaches felt that Smith had the potential of achieving national status in the sport.

Six parcels in PLSD transferred: recorder

Six parcels in Plymouth village have changed hands, Huron county recorder reports.
Great lot 161, Spring street, was transferred by Ervin Beryl Miller (co-exec) to William R. Miller.

The same property was then transferred from Millers Hardwood to Roland Dale and Josephine A. Miller.
Maureen J. and Edward Zirke have transferred two lots of 2.0762 acres in North street to Christopher E. Phillips.

Topher E. Collins transferred lot 310, Willow creek to Stephen and Patricia A. Tracey.
By a sheriff's sale, lots 42 and 43 in Sandusky street were transferred to First Buckeye Bank from Charles E. and Catherine A. Pritchard.

The same lots were then transferred to John E. and Diana R. Justice by Trustcorp Co.
In New Haven township, lots 80 and 81, North street, were transferred to Forest C. and Nancy L. Peters by Carl J. Blankenship and others.

The record-setting Big Red girls' basketball team won the Firelands conference championship outright here Feb. 17 and Plymouth High school promptly went bananas.
Consider:

For the first time in history — the girls' program is in its 16th season — a Plymouth team won 18 games.
For the first time since it joined the Firelands conference, a Plymouth team has won the undisputed girls' championship.

For the second time in history, a Plymouth girls' team is a conference champion.
The record-breaking outfit kept its promise to itself and its coach made at the start of the season: it would win the conference title. The other half of the promise, that it would win its sectional championship, remains to be settled. The Big Red faces some formidable opposition and must get past Lucas and St. Peter's to capture the sectional title, in which it can't get out of its district without facing the awesome juggernaut of Buckeye Central, which has lost just one game, to Hopewell-Loudon.

"We obviously just outplayed Mapleton right down the line until the last couple of minutes, when they started scoring," a jubilant Coach Mike Baederscher said Feb. 17.

The score was 46 to 39. Plymouth was outscored only in the final period.
It won because it outshot the Mounties. Plymouth got off 53 shots at the basket, converting 20 of them. It canned half of 12 free throws.

Mapleton was much less accurate. It fired 63 times and made 15 of them. It missed 19 of 28 free throws.
The Mounties outrebounded Plymouth, 55 to 46, but Plymouth won the battle of offensive mistakes, 15 to 18.

Kay Niedermeier, once again, as during the entire season, kept Plymouth in the forefront. She scored 20 points and if she is not an unanimous choice for all-conference selection there is something rotten in the state of Denmark.
M 8 11 8 14 — 39
P 15 16 7 8 — 46
Red reserves closed their season on a sour note, beaten 29 to 22.

Molly Woodruff, South Central's outstanding player, who has already won all-district selection. What everybody needs to remember is that Plymouth split two games with the Trojans, losing one in overtime and winning the other in regulation.
Julie Myers scored 18 for the Mounties.

Pet fish and AIDS. Auntie's perplexed!

By AUNT LIZ
If our happy lawmakers in Washington ever decide to give out prizes to the state with the best sense of humor, there is no question who would win.

It has to be Hawaii, hands down. What other state has a state fish that must run for reelection every five years?

Right now it's a little guy called Humuhumu that holds the title. He won it in the election at the Waikiki aquarium just held.

Apparently, it's a real Hawaiian pet that goes back in the old legends of the islands.

I do not know if any of them appear on the menus of gourmet restaurants, but I doubt it. To keep themselves alive and not a meal for their neighbors, they hide in small cracks of rocks and have a special spine system that keeps the others out. It should also keep people from catching them.

This may not be an earth shaking tidbit, but it sure is better than writing about AIDS.

Frankly, I never knew such an ailment existed until it popped up in Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

It is hard to believe that it is so new. For years I have thought that what was called leprosy covered a lot of things, mainly cancer, but from Biblical times, it all got put under one name.

I know there is such a thing as leprosy and modern medicine has it under control as far as possible. There was a leper colony outside Addis Ababa when we lived there, and they were allowed in the city to beg. That was the first time I had ever seen anything like that and the Ethiopians had no fear of catching it, for some reason. And it has to be communicable.

So now everyone is scared stiff of AIDS. We're lucky we are living now because some of the answers are there. Simply do not indulge in the activities that are known to be the method by which you can come down with it.

It's as simple as that.
This is simple too, and kind of a nice change from pasta with an Italian meat sauce.

The Japanese have their own version.
It is a good size recipe and can be frozen.

If you can find soybean paste, you need a pound. If not, leave it out.
It is to be mixed with four tablespoons of soy sauce and a cup of water in which fresh mushrooms have been cooked. Put aside.

In four tablespoons of peanut oil, brown two pounds of lean ground pork with one large chopped onion and the juice of a small piece of gingerroot (use your garlic press for this). Cook this until the pork separates and lightens in color.

Add the soy sauce mixture and stir together. When nicely mixed there is a tablespoon of sugar.
Simmer for about 15 minutes so the flavors blend, than have thin noodles ready. If it seems too thick, add more water and soy sauce mixed with just a little cornstarch.

A rare, true story that defies comment, an observation on the times we live in and the way we live in them!

A professional man of long-standing friendship with this journal shares his bed and board with a fifth grade teacher in a city system. (They've been married for over 25 years, not to characterize their status in half truth makes the story that more interesting.) He swears that she swears that she was told these facts by the mother of one of her charges.

Grandmommas and Grandpoppas made an infrequent visit and their hosts slew the fatted calf, staying up late to make those dishes they name Grandpoppas likes and his doctor forbids.

At the first dinner hour, they were six at the table: Grandmommas, Grandpoppas, Momma, Poppa, Mary, a third grader, and Junior.

In time, Junior said, "Can I ask a question?"
Encouraged to go on, he then said, "What's the name of the boy who's coming to school?"
Momma gasped and stared at the boy. Out of the corner of her eyes she could see her parents, as though impaled on a common stake, slowly twisting in the hot sun, flies crawling through their wounds.

"Junior," she said, "your Daddy will discuss that with you after dinner."
"Why can't I know now?" he demanded.

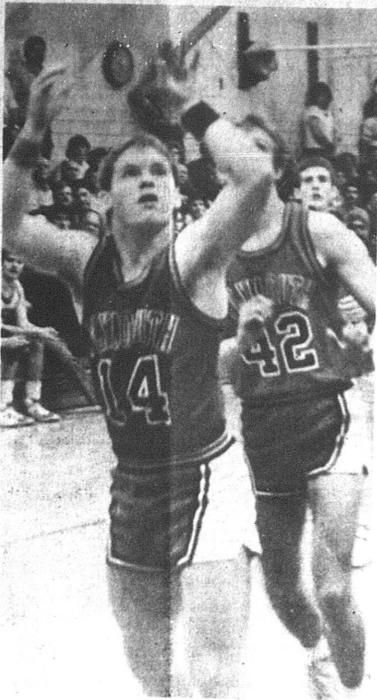

Poppa got into the act at this point.
"Where did you hear this word, son?"
"It's in my spelling lesson, that's where!"

Poppa exploded. "Let's see this spelling lesson, NOW!"
Junior rose, went to his speller, extracted a sheet of paper and fetched it to the table, where Poppa snatched it from his hand.

"See, there it is, Number 4."
And Poppa read the list aloud.
"No. 1: access."
"No. 2: action."
"No. 3: bearing."
"No. 4: bearing."
"No. 5: bearing."
"No. 6: condemn."

Michelle Collins gets off a shot that scores against Mapleton here last week as Big Red won first title in history.

Co-Capt. Steve Hall and Ron Stephens went after this shot unloaded by the doughty 12th grader in Saturday's contest.

He doesn't score much, but he's useful. And will be a factor in the next season's quintet if he stays healthy. He's Lance Conley. An excellent baseball player.

Co-Capt Jason Robinson goes arbound Keith Shepherd, New London's biggest, in Saturday's gate crasher at New London.

"IT'S EASIER TO SELL A HOME WHEN IT HAS MORE BENEFITS PEOPLE LIKE... LIKE THE COMFORT AND SAVINGS OF GAS HEAT AND APPLIANCES."

Holly Perry
Holly Perry, Realtor

"It's as true today as it's always been. Families prefer natural gas in their homes. Gas heat gives the warmth that makes the whole house comfortable, no matter how cold it gets outside. It's reliable, too. A gas furnace hardly ever needs service, which means real cost savings compared to other systems. And with today's lower gas costs, the savings are even greater. If the home has other gas appliances—like water heater and range—so much the better. So when I'm asked about the features of a home, I'm always glad when I can say it has gas heat and appliances. The people almost always are, too."

Natural gas can add comfort, convenience and value to your home. Just ask realtors like Holly Perry, and the families in gas-equipped homes.

AND NOW THE REALLY BAD NEWS.

The disaster isn't over when the emergency search leaves. For tonight these families need food, clothing, shelter. Tomorrow they'll start rebuilding their lives. And that takes months.
