

It helps to listen, sometimes!

When one's bronchii and larynx are inflamed, sore and unresponsive to immediate treatment, he has but little choice: he listens or he hides.

He who oversees all of this knows what He is doing. In the present case, it was time for the afflicted to listen.

And when he had time to write down some notes of what was said these past few days, which was precious little time, because he was dabbling at his nasal drip and rubbing his chest to allay his discomfort, he gleaned some kernels from the chaff that he will save, think about, perhaps even urge adoption of in days to come.

One of them is that anyone who throws gum, cigarette butts or other offal into a public urinal ought to be compelled to fetch it out with his tongue and teeth. At once.

Another is that, so far as anyone knows, there is no requirement in Ohio law that one who seeks certification as a school administrator shall have completed any instruction in how to promote, and obtain the passage of, a bond issue, an operating levy or a special building repair tax. In some districts, the administrator is not even an elector thereof. Yet his employers, the members of the board of education, invariably expect him to organize a political campaign, to round up the dollars to fund it, to prepare the necessary propaganda and to circulate it, by whatever means, among the electors of the district.

Leave politics to the politicians. Which is what a school board member is. No, he doesn't declare his political party preference, although in most instances he finds it hard to conceal. But he is a political animal, expected by those who put him where he is to respond to the pressures normally incident to a public office where the candidates are chosen in what amounts to a beauty contest. The administrator ought to be left out of it.

A third is that, while this is indeed 1987, there are hereabouts many whose approach to life remains old-fashioned. Some subjects are simply not, in their view, suitable for public notice. Even when the subject matter derives from a public document open to the inspection of any citizen, it is deemed unseemly to discuss it.

These hidebound folk persist in the notion that when there is bad news, it's the messenger who should be shot.

A good many were disturbed that a Cleveland station telecast the actual shooting by his own hand of the Pennsylvania treasurer. That the whole world was subjected to the gory details of the assassinations of the Kennedys, the attempted assassination of President Reagan, the murder of the poor Asian in the public square in Indo-China by the chief of police, the immolation of the Buddhist monk. Why make an exception for the treasurer?

Two local instances were brought to our notice. Once involved the severe injury of three teenagers, all of them stoned out of their minds on social drugs (read alcohol, tobacco, marijuana, whatever), and the fact that a newspaper photographer just happened by and snapped a picture that is, to say the least, the most explicit of its kind that we ever saw. He was ordered to destroy the negative and his editor was ordered not to run the print.

Another medium in good faith, relying on the official act of a duly elected and qualified public servant, published some information about a citizen that he resented. Resented so much that he terminated his business dealings with the medium. Once again a classic example of the shooting of the bearer of bad tidings that he had no responsibility for whatsoever.

These are but a few of our notes.

Here scrawled at the bottom of one of the pages is the pithiest comment of all: "All these nuggets, and nobody's said so far what is a Venus butterfly!"

Main gun of Big Red girls basketball team is Kay Niedermeier, a sure bet for all-Firelands conference honors this season. A pure shooter, strong floor player and effective defender, she's the answer to a coach's prayer, the kind of player one goes to when the chips are down.

A trin, Todd Wilson is up from the reserve squad. He spells the front court of the Big Red attack. Handy on the baseball diamond, as well, he's a team player, not spectacular, steady, learns from his mistakes, certain to be part of the nucleus for next season. He'll play here against South Central tomorrow.

Funding to fix homes on top

Assistance for home repairs for low income families in Richland county is offered by the Richland county planning commission under a program called "Emergency Home Repairs". The planning commission has budgeted $30,000 of its 1985 block grant funds for the assistance. Further information is available at the commission office, 35 North Park street, Mansfield. This schedule shows who's eligible: One person, income of $9,250; eight persons, $17,400.

Two real estate sales in Square recorded

Two significant real estate transactions in the Public Square figure to change, ultimately, the face of Plymouth's commercial community.

John Justice, 23 East High street, who works full time as a custodian in Plymouth High school, bought from Toledo TrustCorp the premises at 1-3 East Main street.

He has stored the stock-in-trade of his part-time business, the sale of used appliances, in the building for some time. Now he intends to open the business to the public. The appliances include refrigerators, ranges, washers, dryers and such. Later he will stock used furniture in good condition and some new furniture.

For two generations the rooms at 1 East Main street were occupied by a men's ready-to-wear clothing business, first owned by the late Newton Kule, then by the late Max Jump. For a long period, the premises next door, at No. 3, housed The Plymouth Advertiser.

In last five months of 1986 —

229 children assisted by Upstairs Store here

Two hundred 29 children in 89 families received clothing from the Upstairs Store during the last five months of 1986.

For the same period in 1985, clothing went to 220 children from 87 families.

During December and the holiday season 192 children and 72 families were given clothing, toys, books and holiday decorations.

Father Big Wheel, Shelby, and Sears Roebuck have made donations of clothing. Volunteers did what mending was needed.

Saturday supervisors who were in charge of the store the last year were Mrs. Roy Carter, Mrs. Russell J. Moser, Mrs. Yvonne Bailey, Mrs. H. Lee Welker, Mrs. Fred Port, Mrs. Paul Kranz, Mrs. Max Smith and Mrs. Thomas F. Root. They have worked on a rotating basis. Mrs. Benjamin Kensingher has been the acting administrator.

Eight girls in Shiloh Junior High school made 4.0 grade-point averages during the third six-week grading period, their principal, Mark Sheely, says.

Twenty-four pupils were named to the honor roll and 31 to the merit roll.

Perfect grades were recorded by Kerrie Claus, Erika Faulkner, Michelle Krietemeyer, Wendy Risher, Jennifer Ritchie and Missy Young, eighth graders, and Holly Barnhouse and Mario Reider-Kennard, seventh graders.

Honor roll grades were assigned to Duane Adams, Becky Beebe, Amy Beverly, Andrew Bowman, Krista Chaffins, Kathy Myers, Anne Paul, Jarrid Pennell, Robert Smith, Thomas Tackett, Robin Burke, Debbie Laney, Stephen Thornberry, Theresa Armstrong, Christine Williams and Gayle Wilson, eighth graders. Also, Stephanie Boggers, Kirsten Bond, Amy Edler, Homer Hawk, Scott Howard, Jessica Ritchie, Chris Ross and Justin Slauson, seventh graders.

Merit roll pupils are Sarah DeLombard, Jennifer Gano, Sharr Hixon, Tricia Howell, Matthew Studer, Jack Winans, April Clark, Toni Hill, Marco Laser, April Pratt, Shelby Remhart, Matthew Smedley, Benjamin Connolly, Amy Franklin, Bud Horn, Christine Kennard, Steven Kennard and Bert Moore, eighth graders.

Also, April Gayheart, Keba Boyer, Andrew Brown, John Ferguson, Leanne Hersen, Darla Hixon, Howard Steven Powers, Chris Roberts, Neil Schuller, Vicki Trout, Pamela Williams, Daniel Harris and Michael Snyder, seventh graders.

Edison Berger dies in Texas, interred here

Interment of the ashes of Edison T. Berger, 82, Granbury, Tex., formerly of Plymouth, took place in Greenlawn cemetery Monday.

He died in Olin E. Teague hospital, Temple, Tex., on Jan. 5. His second wife, nee Vernetta Kemp, survives.

His first wife, Mary M., died in 1964 and is interred here.

Ex-New Havenite, Corwin Osborn succumbs at 69

Brother of Dale Osborn, New Haven, now of Hudson, Fla., Corwin R. Osborn, 69, Boque Farms, N. M., died in Presbyterian hospital, Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 27 of a lengthy illness.

Born and raised in New Haven, he lived near Milan until 1967, when he moved to Albuquerque, where he retired from General Electric Co.

He is also survived by his wife, nee Bernice Burr, whom he married May 22, 1946; two sons, Kenneth M., North Fairfield, and Rex E., Clovis, N. M.; two daughters, Mrs. Sandra Hill, Sacramento, Cal., and Mrs. Constance Heidelberg, Albuquerque; a brother, Leon, Sandusky; 17 grand-children and six great-grandchildren.

His parents, Charles and Lela Cox Osborn, died earlier.

Memorial services were conducted in Albuquerque Saturday.

F. J. Kreutzfeld succumbs at 60

Teacher, coach and assistant principal in Plymouth High school in 1952-54, Frederick J. (Fritz) Kreutzfeld, 60, died in Toledo hospital Jan. 23 of heart seizure.

A 1950 alumnus of Ohio State university, he came here from Butler, where he coached the Bulldogs to an undefeated season.

He coached the Big Red for two seasons until he resigned to go to Ottawa Hills, where in two tenures, 1953 to 1961, and 1963 to his retirement in 1980, he taught chemistry, physics and biology, coached football and basketball and was principal for two years.

He took a master's degree from the University of Toledo in 1964.

In 1971 he was named outstanding science teacher in northwestern Ohio by the Ohio Academy of Science.

He was owner and president of Tomahawk Realty in Maumee, a commercial real estate development that he began in 1983.

A Navy veteran of World War II, he was a member of Toledo Realtors.

He resided in Rigra, Mich., where he is survived by his wife, Jane; a daughter, Sue; two sons, Kenneth and James, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Hellinger.

Services were conducted in Sylvania Jan. 27.

Births exceeded deaths by 233

Births outnumbered deaths in walk, 194 in Willard. Six elsewhere during 1986 by 233, where in the county.

Seven sets of twins were born in the year.

Of the 669 mothers who were delivered, 58 were 18 and under, an increase of 17 over 1985.

Usual residence of the mother was Norwalk, 178; Willard, 90; rural address in county, 291; outside health district, 110.

Male births outnumbered females by 58. There were 476 births in Nor-

Main cause of death was heart disease, accounting for 193 deaths. Cancer deaths numbered 78. Seven persons lost their lives in automobile collisions, four by accidental death.

Only 75 deaths of residents were recorded.

Male deaths numbered 206, female 221. There were 266 deaths at Norwalk, 111 at Willard, 59 elsewhere in the county.

Classic confrontation result: the young outwits the old

It was the classic confrontation: the bumptious young peckwood thirty for a victory over the leader, trained by the wily veteran who's got children as old as the young coach, his conquerer at home earlier in the season.

They went at it for 38 minutes and when the smoke cleared, the young peckwood and his gallant, red-shirted team from Plymouth was in front by one at 65 to 64.

The Big Red and South Central now, share the lead in the Firelands conference.

It was a dramatic shot by Kim Gibson that produced the Plymouth victory.

She got her hands on the ball along the left baseline about six feet from the basket, fired and watched it go down with just a second left in the second overtime period.

Miss Gibson scored 22 points for her night's work, six of them in the second overtime period.

Coach Mike Bletcher said after it was over, "I had five shooters on the floor and I told them during the timeout to run off offense. I said I wanted the good percentages shot. I didn't think she (Miss Gibson) would get the lane to the basket like she did."

For Coach Ted Fox, one of Plymouth's finest athletes of 30 years ago, it was a tough one to lose.

His team led by two at 26 to 24 at the half. The Trojans fell behind in the third quarter because Plymouth got hot and scored 16 points, holding the South Central outfit to eight.

Fox went to Mollie Woodruff, the splendid Trojan athlete who competes in cross country and track and field at the state level. And she responded.

She sank two free throws to regain the lead for the Trojans at 43 to 42. In the next possession she threw in a 15-footer. Michelle Woodruff did it for the Big Red with a three point play.

The two quintets shot basket for basket to close out regulation play at 49 all.

Amy Laser and Miss Collins knocked down long jumpers in the first overtime, only to have Miss Woodruff tie the score.

Miss Laser responded to pressure with 16 seconds left by converting a free throw. The score was now 57 apiece.

Cindy Boone threw in an offensive rebound to start the second overtime period. Kay Niedermeier converted two free throws. Miss Woodruff scored with the first shot of a bonus foul situation, whereupon Miss Gibson made two free throws. She and Miss Woodruff exchanged baskets and it was South Central 64, Plymouth 63.

Veronica Shepherd of the Trojans missed a free throw and the state was set for the grant killer.

Miss Gibson's 22 led Plymouth's scoring. Miss Niedermeier added 18 and Miss Collins 14. Overall, the Big Red fired 64 times and converted 24 of them. It missed nine of 26 free throws.

South Central threw up 70 shots, converting 25, and failed with three of 17 penalty shots.

The Trojans controlled the rebounding, 53 to 29. Each team erred on offense 23 times.

Girls trim 'Riders, 48 to 36

Big Red girls won No. 11 against only two defeats here Jan. 27 by solving Western Reserve's diamond and two defense in the second half, forcing some turnovers and converting the mistakes.

The score was 38 to 36. The games turned on a superior performance in scoring by Plymouth in the second period, when the home forces got seven, the visitors only five. Otherwise the two teams shot point for point.

The Roughriders, coached by John Speer, outscored Plymouth from the field, 17 to 15. The Big Red got more opportunities at the foul line, 14 to four, and outscored the Riders there, eight to two.

Plymouth fired 56 times, Western Reserve 55. The Big Red rebounded 37 shots, the Riders 39. It was an offensive mistakes that Plymouth prevailed so heavily.

The Big Red made only 16 turnovers, nine of them in the first half. The Riders were charged with 23, 12 in the second half.

Kim Gibson led all scorers with 14. Kay Niedermeier bagged 12 and Michelle Collins 10.

Chris Mahl scored 13 and Shari Motolik 12 for the Blue and White.

Girls rally over Eagles

Big Red girls showed Saturday the effect of two hard contests in league play during the week. They hooked up with Colonel Crawford and barely managed to win, 44 to 42.

Plymouth had to come from behind at the half to pull it off. Only a strong fourth quarter surge produced victory.

Kim Gibson led the Big Red with 17. Kay Niedermeier had 10. Plymouth shot only 35 times and converted 15 of them, slightly over 40 percent. It failed with 10 of 24 free throws, rebounded 26 shots and turned the ball over 25 times.

The Eagles tied fired 49 times and scored with 17 of them. They missed only two of 10 free throws, rebounded 26 shots and turned the ball over 36 times.

Plymouth is now 13-and-2 overall, 9-and-1 in Firelands Conference play, and plays Monroeville there today.

Robinson jars Western Reserve with 34 points Red wins No. 10

Forty years hence, they'll be talking about the snowy night in Collins when Grandpa Jason Robinson scored the nets for 34 points to lead Plymouth to a 94 to 63 rout of Western Reserve.

Co-Capt. Robinson was as hot as a Saturday night special in the first three periods.

He scored 15 in the first quarter, five field goals on as many shots as the basket, and five three throws. He collected only four in the second period. But after the recess, he took up where he left off in the first quarter. He took six shots, made five, and notched three free throws. He got the last field goal in the early going in the final period. All told, he took 16 shots and converted 12 of them and fired 10 free throws without a failure.

Co-Capt. Steve Hall got a slow start but warmed to his task at the beginning of the second quarter. By halftime he had collected 15 points. He added 11 in the third period.

For the first time in the memory of most men, Hall got into foul trouble. He went to the bench early in the fourth quarter with four of them.

Indeed, the entire Plymouth team was shackled with personal fouls. Ron Shepherd fouled out.

Only two Roughriders got into double digits.

Not in a long time has a Plymouth team so completely dominated its opponent. It did so by shooting with fantastic accuracy in the first half: nine of 18 in the first period, 20 of 39 in the first half. By the end of the third period, it was 32 of 57.

En route to finals

Randy Myers, competing in 185-lb. division, placed second in Firelands conference tourney at New London. Here he is in earlier bout, en route to win that put him, at last, in finals.

South Central's upset of New London Friday brought the Wildcats into a tie for the leadership of the Firelands Conference. Plymouth and New London each have records of 9-and-2.

If the Big Red can get by the Trojans here tomorrow and past Monroeville here on Feb. 14, the showdown will be at New London on Feb. 21.

Every other starter collected three.

Terry Wilson scored. D. Burke collected 28. 19 63

Still, a strong performance by his bench could not have been but, heartwarming to Coach David P. Dunn.

He had to use the bench early and it produced.

Terry Hall collected six, Todd Wilson, eight, Larry Trout and Terry Wilson four each.

Plymouth held the lead five times in the first period before it was able to run through to build a lead of 16 to 13, added two buckets and closed out the first eight minutes with a lead of 24 to 18. The Big Red posted it on during the second quarter with 26 points, holding the Roughriders to 15. After the half it was more of the same. Plymouth outscored the Blue and White by 18, 27 to nine.

Overall, the Big Red shot 73 times and scored with 30 of them. It failed with eight of 24 free throws, rebounded 50 times and erred on offense 15 times. Western Reserve converted 22 of 60 tries for field, 14 of 35 free throws, rebounded 31 shots and committed 18 turnovers.

Important to Red game is the sib among the trins, Terry Wilson, whose brother, Todd, also plays on the varsity and whose other brother, Troy, plays with the reserves. When he can stay out of foul trouble, he delivers a strong defensive game and effective rebounding.

Co-Capt. Jason Robinson is crafty, flashy passer as well as dead eye shooter. Here he whips ball across court as Plymouth attacks Western Reserve at Collins Friday. He'll start for Red tomorrow against Trojans.

Two real estate sales in Square recorded

Lynch, 3rd, by Mrs. McIntire.

Eventually the buyer intends to open a building supply business in the corner site, which for a number of years was occupied by a grocery. In 1954 the Kroger Co. closed its operation here. Eventually A. W. Koser owned the Royal Blue market there. Latest occupants, who founded it, was Donald Perdue, who with his wife, the former Nonabelle McDougal, operated a family grocery.

The premises next door for most of this century housed Webber's Drug store.

The late Karl Webber was the occupant for a generation. When he died suddenly in 1934, his only son, the late Thomas J. Webber, came home from his studies in Wittenberg university at Springfield to run the business with the help of his widowed mother.

Thomas J. Webber operated the business successfully for a generation until ill health compelled him to sell out. His successors did not last long and in a short time the business closed.

Since that time several tenants have occupied the premises, with limited success.

It is Lynch's intention — he is a skilled craftsman and he has the help and counsel of his father, a veteran carpenter-builder — to first remodel the apartments above 2 and 4 West Broadway and rent them to responsible tenants so as to produce revenue to service his debt.

Perhaps in a year he will undertake opening his building supply business. He hopes to interest a local businessman to rent the west position of the complex. Negotiations are going forward. The Advertiser is informed.

$500 in fines verdict of court

On plea of no contest by Danny R. Montgomery, Plymouth, to a charge of assault in mayor's court Jan. 25, Mayor Keith A. Hebble found him guilty and sentenced him to 10 days in jail and to a fine of $250, of which the jail sentence and $200 were suspended on condition of no similar offenses for one year.

Denny Lewis, North Fairfield, pleaded no contest to criminal trespassing. He was found guilty and fined $100, $50 of which was suspended on condition of no similar violations for one year.

Diane Sue Bahr, Shiloh, was hauled into court on two counts, disorderly conduct and public intoxication.

She pleaded no contest to each, was found guilty on each, and fined $100 on the former count and $50 on the latter. Half of the fine in each case was suspended on condition of no similar offenses within a year.

Lisa Robinson, Plymouth, accused of disorderly conduct and public intoxication, was nearu yesterday.

So were Donald B. Adams, Jr., Plymouth, accused of disorderly conduct, and Lorna G. Lacey, Willard, charged with speeding. Convictions were had in these instances:

Also, Scott A. T. Wise, Norwalk, speeding, $36; Judith R. Heffner, Plymouth, stop sign violation, $15; Leslie R. Decker, Greenwich, speeding, $22; Lois J. Tarantino, Willard, speeding, $24; Ralph C. Dickson, Jr., Mansfield, speeding, $32;

Also, Scott A. Weaver, Shelby, speeding, $28; Marcia A. Stockmaster, Willard, speeding, $24; Eddie W. Ratliff, Plymouth, stop sign violation, $15; Pasquale Desintore, Vermilion, speeding, failure to appear, bench warrant will issue; Also, Natusha A. Barnara Rutherford, Plymouth, stop sign violation, $15; Kimberly A. Powell, Mansfield, speeding, $28.

Feb. 22:

Mrs. Tubb's tale of Washington and Betsy Ross worth retelling

She was an old woman then, in 1933. Her neighbor, Mrs. Solomon Spear, nee Augusta Billstein, 87, had just died in the family home in Mulberry street.

That house was destroyed by fire some years ago. Her name was Mary Tubb. She was the great-great-niece of a celebrated seamstress in Philadelphia, Pa., the woman generally considered to have originated the American flag. Her name was Betsy Ross.

And on Tuesday, Feb. 21, 1933, on the eve of the 211th anniversary of the birth of the Father of his Country, George Washington, Mary Tubb recounted a story handed down in her family from Mrs. Ross.

General Washington and his staff were expected in Philadelphia one day in 1777. Betsy Ross was assigned to prepare the meal for the distinguished guest.

"All was in readiness," Mrs. Tubb recounted in 1933, "waiting for the general, when there came a tap at the back door and a travel-stained stranger asked if he might have a bite to eat."

"Betsy told him that she was expecting Gen. Washington and that she did not wish to serve anyone until after his arrival."

"Said the man: 'I will split some wood for you or do any other work you may have on hand to pay for my dinner.'"

Betsy put the man to work. "After the job was finished she concluded that it was not right to keep him waiting for his dinner, so she placed him in an out-of-the-way corner and gave him a good meal."

"When the stranger had finished, he arose and said, 'Madam, you are expecting Washington and his staff.'"

"She nodded her head. He pointed to the doorway, 'There is Washington's staff, just riding up. I am Washington — I came on ahead.'"

Feb. 16 meeting called to decide on Chamber

"Something needs to be done," observed James C. Davis Monday when some of the commercial community of the village met to discuss the beautification of the Square and the revitalization of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Keith A. Hebble, who presided at the meeting, said he has high hopes the First National Bank of Shelby might give the property adjoining Wall street to the village to be developed into a mini-park such as Shelby and Norwalk have in their shopping areas.

"If this should happen," he said, "then the village has a good chance to use it as part of obtaining a matching grant from the Department of Natural Resources to be used for further beautification."

The village planning commission hired Lester Poggeneyer HPE, Inc., Willard, to develop an overall plan for the Square.

The engineer's representative told the gathering Monday that if it is developed completely, it could cost close to a half million dollars.

Several seemed to disagree that such an elaborate plan is necessary.

Mrs. James McClure, proprietor of Nancy's Salon of Beauty and a long time businesswoman on the Square, said business would be attracted to the village and shoppers also if there is a good setting.

The mayor told the gathering that a good, strong Chamber is necessary for the village to go forward and suggested an organizational meeting, which will be Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. in the village hall.

Mrs. McClure said that in order to attract new Chamber members, dues are being lowered until Mar. 6. They will be $15 for a business and $5 for a non-business member. Later they will revert to $25 and $10.

During the discussion, Louis Lynch, 3rd, seemed to think a restaurant is necessary and he commented on the downtown area of Greenwich, which he said "had wall to wall parked cars."

Rudy Lesseuer, who recently purchased Miller's True Value Hardware, said that a group of professional surveyors recommended that he bypass Plymouth for Willard when he wanted to expand his Shelby business.

He saw a future here and is prepared to take an active role as a meeting, to which 60 some business owners

It is hoped that there will be a citizens interested in revitalizing large turnout at the Feb. 16 the Square.

Furry friend needs TLC, walnut bars!

A lot of people end up "going to the dogs".
 It's a quaint American expression from someplace which says that some not socially acceptable things have changed.
 Now a lot of women are going that direction. Purposely, too.
 Have you ever noticed when the Westchester dog show is on TV, that most of the entries are being led around by girls?
 Maybe a lot of hard work went into all, but not like what went into the dog sled races which were a couple weeks ago in New York state.
 They started about eight years ago by a well known dog food company.
 At first, the dogs merely helped husbands, this year over 100 entered on their own.
 One gal said that you have to get along with the dogs, you really don't have to be a female Adas. "They will do anything for you, if they like you", she added.
 There is no question, most dogs like women best of all.
 After all who feeds them, makes sure their water dishes are filled and that there is a supply of dog biscuits?
 And who shares that last bite of a sandwich or spoonful of ice cream?
 These dog sled races must be pure fun. Sure, they have some prizes, but I doubt if even the top would keep those huskies in food a week.
 What would any ordinary house do without a furry friend? I can see why some do not have them, new carpeting, they have had them and now are retired from it all, or they would rather have a kitten.
 I have never seen the figures, but I am willing to bet that a good 10 per cent of grocery sales go to pet food. Just look at the amount of shelf space they get!

Then watch those clever TV commercials. They cost. Someday, I hope some enterprising soul puts them all together into a four hour long movie. There is no question, the star would be Mork.
 Since we are not steak eaters, we do not have much left over bones, chicken legs are out you all know, so the nicest present anyone can give us is the leftovers from their dinner. And there is nothing like going out for ribs, that means a feast in the backyard which ends up looking like Death Valley.
 Never throw a bone out, give it to a friend.
 If this happens to you, then, you must give something back. This is the answer — walnut bars. The recipe makes enough, that you can part with a nice plateful and still have some left for yourselves, and maybe your furry friend.
 Create a jelly roll pan, which can be one of your cookie sheets.
 Cream a half cup of shortening with a cup of brown sugar (use the dark if you have it). Beat in an egg. Stir in a fourth of a cup of milk with a fourth of a cup of sherry.
 It will look funny, but keep mixing it and add one and two thirds cups of flour mixed with a tablespoon of instant coffee, salt if you want, a half teaspoon each of baking powder, baking soda and cinnamon.
 When well mixed, stir in a cup of chopped walnuts and a cup of chocolate bits.
 Bake at 375 degrees about 20 minutes.
 They can have powdered sugar sprinkled over them or can be frosted.
 For the frosting beat together two and a fourth cups of powdered sugar, one and a half tablespoons soft margarine, two tablespoons sherry, a tablespoon milk and a teaspoon instant coffee.

Two hurt in crash in Rt. 603

Two Plymouth youths were injured in Route 603 Sunday at 4:30 a.m. when the car in which they were riding went off the road, struck an embankment and some small trees and rolled over twice.

One of them was severely injured. He was not wearing a seat belt, an offense for which he was summoned. He was also summoned for driving while drunk.

He is Jeffrey D. Barnett, 17, 135 West Broadway, driving a 1974 Chevrolet north in 603 when, he told patrolmen, he saw another vehicle approaching him at 4:30 a.m.

He drifted to his right and lost control.

He was admitted at Shelby Memorial hospital.

His passenger, Chad Hale, 15, Fenner road, was also taken by Shelby Rescue squad to Shelby Memorial hospital. Hale was wearing a seat belt, patrolman said, which obviously prevented more serious injury. He was treated and released.

The car was heavily damaged and had to be towed away.

Monroeville finds closing court a blessing, not a bane

How well is the Village of Monroeville doing without a mayor's court?
 The answer? "Very well!"
 Abolishment of the local court took effect Jan. 1, 1985, when Mayor Thomas D. Bergman turned violators over to the Norwalk Municipal court.

"The municipal court hears the local court cases, the court collects the costs, approximately $25 a case, and the fines are returned to the village.

Last year the village received $20,652 and in 1985 the amount was $18,302.

It is not an accurate judgment to compare what the village collected on its own in 1983 and 1984, which was $36,934 and $23,777, proponents of the move say. "Those years could have simply reflected more law violations; anyone familiar with small town mayor's courts knows that a certain group of individuals can consistently violate the laws, then they change their habits, and are no longer seen in the courts. It's also true that law enforcement officers are more diligent about issuing summonses when they want a new vehicle or a raise."

Another reason that the collection for the last two years has dropped off is that the higher court with more authority is able to collect its fines more readily and also that persons realizing they will appear before a sworn judge will think twice.

Police Chief Jerry Christopher is pleased with the whole thing.

"It frees a small department from a lot of paper work that takes a lot of time," he says.

On Fridays he delivers the case jackets to the court. On Monday afternoons all the Monroeville cases are heard. About an hour's time may be involved, Christopher says.

Unless the cases are contested, that is it. If it is contested, the arresting officer must appear.

"There have been very few cases contested," he said. He feels it was a good move on the mayor's part. Bergman had said that he simply is not a lawyer. "Having a judge hear the cases gives more credence all around," Bergman says.

Rx for Flu or Chicken Pox: Kindness

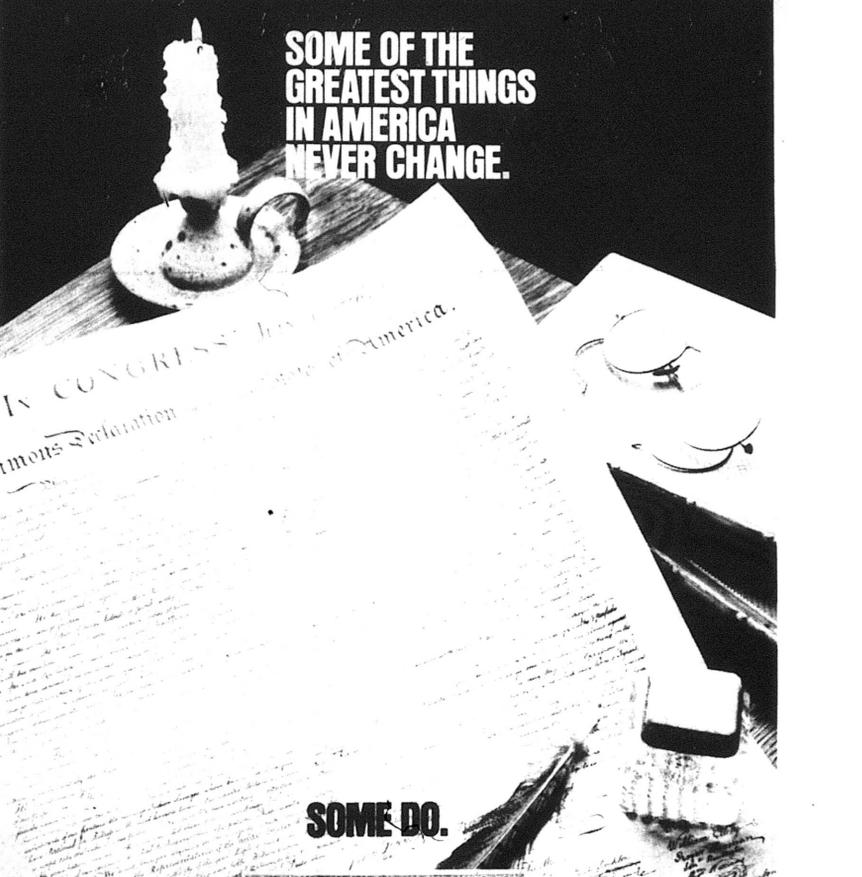

Be good to yourself when you've got the flu or chicken pox. Take it easy. Get plenty of rest. Viral illnesses such as these are usually self-limiting. Time will cure them.

Check with your doctor about using medications to treat flu or chicken pox. For children — including teenagers — medications such as aspirin and aspirin-containing products may not be a good idea. A rare but dangerous condition called Reye syndrome may develop in young people just when they appear to be recovering. Studies suggest a link between the development of Reye and the use of aspirin to treat the flu or chicken pox.

So, treat yourself right when you've got the flu.

A message from the Food and Drug Administration

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA NEVER CHANGE.

SOME DO.

U.S. Savings Bonds now pay like money market accounts! At the current rate—10.94%—you could double your money in less than seven years.

Just hold your Bonds five years or more and get the new higher variable rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more—but never less than 7½%. That's the kind of change anyone can appreciate.

But some of the best things about Savings Bonds haven't changed. They're still as safe as ever. They're still exempt from state and local income taxes. And since Bonds cost as little as $25, they're as affordable as ever.

What's more, Savings Bonds remain a great way to keep our country strong.

You can purchase Bonds almost anywhere. At neighborhood banks, savings and loans and credit unions.

Or easier still, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Today, more than 5.5 million Americans are saving the easy way—through Payroll Savings. Isn't it time you joined them? That's a sure way to appreciate how much Bonds have changed for the better.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
 Paying Better Than Ever

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least 5 years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than 5 years earn lower interest.

Bright Idea

You can count on the Consumer Information Catalog to try to give you new ideas that help solve problems and brighten your world.
The Catalog lists more than 200 federal publications you can send for. Many are free, all are helpful, and they cover a wide variety of topics. From building to buying, finding to fixing, travel to treatments. From cars to calories, jobs to juggling, babies to budgets.
Whatever consumer information you're looking for, look to the Consumer Information Catalog for help in finding the answers you need.
The Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration puts the Catalog together quarterly to make sure you get the most up-to-date information. So send for a copy and shed some light on your problems. It's free for the asking. Just write—
