

Why some won't seek election to school board

From today, there are but six days remaining for a candidate desiring to be elected to the board of education to file his nominating petition.

We should all be ashamed that, in the past 33 years, the number of instances that we have had competition for a school board seat can be counted on the digits of one hand and two of another.

While the pay of board members has been raised since 1954, it is still only a whisper in an arena that thrives for noise.

For what more important effort of government is there than the education of our children, which, in these parts, anyway, by law even predates the U.S. Constitution?

There are many reasons, we feel certain, why competent electors decline to run for a board of education seat.

The strongest one, we tend to think, may be William that which is all but never spoken of.

For want of a better term, let's call it the limitations on a board of education. These may indeed be self-imposed, perhaps by long-standing tradition.

Who doesn't manage. Keeping its fingers out of the pie may be difficult, but history is replete with verified accounts of disaster when one or more board members does so.

Its job is to govern.

It hires an executive whose job it is to set strategy. It is the job of that executive to develop strategy to meet long-range goals and plans. When board members get involved in setting strategy they forfeit their objectivity by getting too close to the strategic operations and problems.

Board members don't, they shouldn't, generate new ideas. Boards are rarely considered sources of creative new ideas, curriculum changes, disciplinary and dress codes, bus routes, teacher assignment and training and other bolts of lightning that energize day-to-day business.

Instead, the job of the board is to receive proposals, plans, strategies and such, and to react to them based on its collective experience and what it conceives to be good for the common weal.

The board is, above all, an evaluator. It evaluates management, finances, quality and strategy. It is cast in the posture of reacting, passing judgment, concluding whether the school is proceeding in an acceptable direction and within reasonable bounds. Summed up, what the board does, or is supposed to do, is exercise judgment.

He who accepts this concept, which is not by any means spelled out in the Ohio Revised Code, not as such, anyway, is bound to accept static rather than dynamic action by his board of education.

Unless.

Unless he who is assigned as executive is a ball of fire with his eye on the right target, his finger on the public pulse and his hand on the public wallet.

Executives of this stripe are as rare in this state as pandas, and last time we looked there was none of them.

After a while they tend to protect their flanks by what, to our mind, is undue and unreasonable caution, by their concept of what the public is likely to hold still for rather than what may be good for our children. And always they tie this reluctance to proceed with vigor to the question of funding whereas even a dunce knows that not every step forward requires more money, not every problem is soluble by throwing new money at it, and not every teacher needs an immediate raise to improve his performance in the classroom.

Mrs. Jewett, 82, dies at Fremont

Formerly a compositor in The Advertiser, a native of Plymouth, Mrs. John E. Jewett, 82, Clyde, died in Memorial hospital, Fremont, July 21 of a lengthy illness.

Born Florence Hills, she was widowed in 1956. She retired as a compositor and skilled Linotype operator in the Clyde Enterprise in 1975.

Mrs. Jewett was a member of Bellevue Congregation of Jehovah Witnesses.

A daughter, Judy, died in 1978. A son, Thomas died in 1950. Three brothers also died earlier. She is survived by a daughter, Mary Ellen, now Mrs. William Dillon, Clyde; two sons, Jerry A. Clyde, and Richard J. Hollywood, Fla.; two brothers, Theophilus Hills, Prescott, Ariz., and Otis Hills, Dearborn, Mich.; a sister, Daisy, now Mrs. William Mowry, Norwalk; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Lee Bennett conducted services at Clyde Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Burial was in McPherson cemetery there.

Lonnie Caudill dies at Sandusky; ill a long time

Lonnie B. Caudill, 73, Route 61, died in Providence hospital, Sandusky, July 23 of a lengthy illness. He was earlier hospitalized at Willard.

Born Jan. 30, 1914, in Riceville, Ky., he came to this country 50 years ago. He was a retiree of Ohio Tube Steel works, The Copperhead Co., Shelby. He was a member of 70 Eagles, Norwalk, and of IOOF Lodge, New Haven.

He attended the United Baptist church.

His wife, nee E. Madge Ramey, two sons, Herbert and Jerry, Plymouth; two daughters, Mrs. Emogene Thompson, Harrison, Va., and Mrs. Pameline Dotson, Willard; three brothers, Powell, Ada, and Ray and James, Plymouth; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Hicks, Mansfield, Julia, now Mrs. Robert Lynch, and Kaye, now Mrs. Merton Kessler, Plymouth, and nine grandchildren survive.

Two brothers, a sister and a granddaughter died earlier.

The Revs. Joe Carroll and Roy Smith conducted services from Secor Funeral home Friday at 1:30 p.m. Interment was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

IGOF service was Thursday night.

Memorial contributions to the Heart fund are suggested.

H. M. Kenestrick, local native, succumbs at 84

Scion of a prominent Plymouth township family, Homer M. Kenestrick, 84, Dayton, died in Miami Valley hospital there July 24 of a lengthy illness.

He lived in the family homestead, the brick house atop the hill in Fenner road, as a young man. He was the son of the Frank Kenestrick. Family friends often said that Frank, Dayton, of his harsh childhood in that house led him to permit it to fall into extreme disrepair, resisting all offers to buy it. One Plymouth family deposited 10 per cent, then 15, finally 25 per cent of its bid in a certified check to buy the house and slightly less than 50 acres north of the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad tracks.

He was a retired insurance agent and lived for a number of years in Bellevue. He was a member of Plymouth United Methodist church.

A son, Frank, Dayton, a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Arter, Akron, Pa., and five grandchildren survive.

The Rev. William Detwiler, Kidron, conducted graveside services at Greenlawn cemetery Friday at 3 p.m. Burial was by Secor Funeral home.

Prison or another trial —

Tomorrow D-Day in Petty's future

Tomorrow is D day, 9:00 is H hour for Sheriff Richard Petty, who was convicted by a Richland county common pleas jury on July 7 of four charges of felonies.

Visiting Judge John Reece, Summit county common pleas court, will rule at that hour on a motion filed by Gary Schweickart, Petty's defense counsel, to set the conviction aside and order a new trial on grounds of juror misconduct.

The motion derives from a statement given to authorities by Judith Foegen, who in 10 pages swore that during the second day of the trial, on July 1, she received a message from God.

Mrs. Foegen, 38-year-old mother of two who is engaged in business, denies that she hallucinated. She insists "there is nothing wrong with me."

She was interviewed July 9 by two assistants to Richland County Prosecutor John Allen, Fames Sterhoff and Albert O'Neil. After Charles Hooks, arson investigator for Mansfield Fire department, testified on June 30, Mrs. Foegen says she heard from God, who told her "was not an accident."

She said He told her the boy was not playing with matches, that the fire was set by another. Mrs. Foegen claimed it was Ron Holbrook who set the fire in the house in Adams street, Mansfield, owned by the daughter of Mrs. Louise Bush, Democratic party kingpin and campaign manager for Petty in two races for the sheriff's office.

Schweickart's motion calls for a ruling of mistrial.

In a separate motion, he argues that since the jury found Petty innocent of counts 3 and 6, it should have found him not guilty of all charges. Count 3 accused Petty of tampering with evidence that might have led to an investigation that would have recovered $11,900 paid to Mrs. Bush's daughter, owner of a burned apartment house. Count 6 dealt with a charge that Petty led to Hooks and Capt. Wayne Cairns, Mansfield Police department, in connection with evidentiary findings against Debbie Bush Berges.

If Judge Reece rules against these motions, he is expected to sentence Petty.

Meanwhile, James DeWeese, assistant prosecutor of Richland county, obtained from the 5th District Court of Appeals an order for a special hearing on Aug. 6 on a motion to remove Petty from his office.

If the sheriff or his attorneys seek to delay this hearing, DeWeese says he will ask for a temporary order to remove Petty from office until a hearing is conducted.

DeWeese argues that Petty, who refuses to resign, is holding hostage the position of chief law enforcement of the county. He insists Petty means to remain in office until all legal appeals are exhausted.

Should the appeals court rule against DeWeese on Aug. 6, the county is prepared to seek to convene the Ohio Supreme Court, in recess till after Labor day, for a temporary injunction to keep Petty from his office.

Two requests of Gov. Richard F. Celeste to take action against Petty have received neither encouragement nor response.

So within seven days, Petty faces two hearings that will either rescue him from a certain prison term or give him a second chance to prove his innocence.

Building permit procedure set

Huron county building permits will henceforth be examined and issued by Richland county's building inspector.

Village council will approve Tuesday at 8 p.m. in a special session a resolution approving the action of Huron County Economic and Education development council (HECEDC) and Huron county commissioners establishing a Huron county commercial building department.

Hit-and-run crash occupies police

A hit-and-run collision in Willow court was reported to police July 22 at 11 a.m.

A black truck struck a vehicle belonging to Wheels, Inc. North Fairfield, parked at 917 Willow court, while it was in the driveway during the night.

McPherson quits, with ColGas since '55

Formerly of 130 Sandusky street here, Dale W. McPherson, area service supervisor for Columbia Gas of Ohio at Ashland, has retired after 32 years with the gas company.

McPherson joined Columbia Gas in 1954 as a meter reader at Shelby. He was promoted to area service supervisor in 1975.

He is a graduate of Norwalk High school and is an Air Force veteran.

He and his wife, nee Marilyn Cheesman, have four children and reside in Ashland.

BULLETIN

Case of K. Frank Hodge against the village has been decided in its favor and he must pay court costs.

Police seek clues to identify thieves

Police seek clues to identify the footprints or footprints who broke into two adjoining houses in the east side of Sandusky street July 26.

Reed M. White, who lives at 208 Sandusky street, reported to police Sunday at 3:05 a.m. that his house was ransacked. Mrs. White got a fleeting glimpse of a male leaving by the back door. Police found footprints they described as "good". The Whites reported a brown wallet containing $16 and several pictures and business cards and a 24-in. Dominion fan were missing.

An agent of the BCI at Fremont searched the area where the house is. Later, at 6:31 a.m. Mrs. Jonathan A. Weller, 220 Sandusky street, reported to police that a thief or thieves who entered the house through an open window ransacked it. She was not sure what was missing and undertook an inventory to determine the fact.

Meanwhile, police have two suspects in the aggravated burglary of Caris Tuttle's house at Mulberry street and Mills avenue. They will submit to a polygraph test at BCI headquarters in Fremont.

A breaking and entering of an

Youth, 19, held on DWI count

A 19-year-old Plymouth youth was charged with drunken driving Sunday after 2 a.m. when his eastbound car failed to negotiate a curve in London East road near Miller road and struck a power pole.

Christopher Runkle, 126 Plymouth street, was treated in Shelby Memorial hospital.

His passenger, Donald E. Miller, 21, Springfield road, was admitted at Shelby in fair condition.

Police act to get tapes

Police intervention to recover three VCR tapes worth $180 taken on loan July 5 from Plymouth Video, 17 West Broadway, by Douglas Osborne, 30, 4285 Route 61, Plymouth, resulted in a threat to file charges by the proprietor, Roger E. Pedersen, Briarwood Estates, Willard, being suspended.

Osborne returned the tapes, due July 7, on July 24.

Postema girl plate ump as Yanks nip Atlanta, 3-0

Southwestern Huron county's contribution to big time umpiring broke a record Monday.

Niece of J. Harris and Wilford Postema, Pamela Postema, an 11-year-veteran of professional baseball umpiring, became the first woman in history to umpire a game between two major league teams when she worked behind the plate at Cooperstown, N.Y., in the 44th annual Hall of Fame game. New York Yankees defeated the Atlanta Braves, 3 to 0, with home runs by Henry Cotto and Juan Bonilla.

Ellis bequests to Vanderpools, niece in will

A cousin and his long-time friends are the principal beneficiaries of the will of Carl V. Ellis, who died May 23 in a rest home in Willard after long service to the village as clerk and member and later chairman of the board of cemetery trustees.

He left to Mrs. Edd Vanderpool, nee Velma McGinty, a four carat diamond ring that had belonged to Mrs. Ellis and to Mrs. Vanderpool and her husband 40 per cent of the residue of his estate after specific bequests have been executed.

These are three carat diamond ring to Joann Patricia Fowler, with her husband, Eugene, inherits 60 per cent of the residue of the estate after specific bequests are made; marble top stand to Judy Heesen, formerly his neighbor in West Broadway; a mahogany dining room table and four chairs and antique dishes to Mrs. Fowler, a cherry bedroom suite to Mrs. Vanderpool, $500 to First Evangelical Lutheran church and $100 each to Miss M. Leora Kahn, Shelby; Evelyn E. Waterman, Battle Creek, Mich.; Eileen B. Schafer, Greenwich, and Esther now Mrs. Earl A. Heist, North Ridgeville.

Judge Robert A. Wiedeman, Norwalk, is executor of the will, drawn Jan. 10, 1985.

Trout repeat winner by three

An 18-year-old 1987 graduate of Plymouth High school is the winner of the Ohio Youth Golf tournament.

Larry Trout shot a final round of 67 at Cranberry Hills for an aggregate of 218 strokes to win over Jim Manos of Ashland by three shots.

After 18 holes on the Valley View course outside Crestline and the second 18 on the Woody Ridge layout here, Trout had a score of 151, tied with Manos but four strokes in the rear of David Dinan of Lima. Trout and three others occupied fourth place.

It was the second year that the spitaw shooter, who played on the Big Red basketball team as a seventh man, won the title. Last year he had to claw from behind to force a playoff before he won.

Trout will enroll in Ohio university at Athens in September. He couldn't interest a bigger school in his athletic talents. So he'll work to polish his game and try to make the Bobcats' golf team.

Right now he works the graveyard shift at R.R. Donnelley & Sons Co. at Willard.

The Ohio Youth tournament is conducted by the Crawford County Golf association.

9-10 All-Stars win tourney

Nine and 10-year-old Midget league all-star tournament July 18 and 19 saw five teams in round robin play, with approximately 62 players involved in the 10-game playdowns.

Plymouth's All Stars captured the first-place trophy, crushing Colonel Crawford, 10 to 2, in the ninth game of the tournament to go undefeated in four games. Willard took second place with a 31-and-1 finish. Ontario beat Shiloh, 19 to 2, for third place honors.

Plymouth paved the way to first place in its opening round game, a 15 to 5 thrashing of Shiloh. Ten runs in the first inning gave early indications that Plymouth was the team to beat in the tourney. Every Plymouth batter batted at least five times. Ronnie Tash of the Reds drove in four runs with a double and a single, both with bases loaded.

All Stars continued to win with an 8 to 3 victory over the tournament runners-up, Willard. Six fifth inning runs and one in the sixth erased a 3 to 1 Willard lead. The Yankees' Nick Roll stole four bases and had two bunt singles in the game.

After game four Plymouth faced Ontario, the eventual third place finishers. After four innings Plymouth held a slim 12 to 11 advantage. Three runs broke it open in the fifth. The hosts won, 15 to 13. Four consecutive hours of baseball didn't seem to bother the players, especially Craig Powers, who stole seven bases. Powers singled three times and reached base on an error. Brett Hall of the Indians and the Cubs' Chris Stone scored three runs apiece. In Plymouth's 10 to 2 victory over Colonel Crawford, the home team scored five runs in the first inning, added three in the third and breezed to victory and the tournament championship.

The champions scored 48 runs in four games, averaging 12 runs a contest. Plymouth pounded out 34 hits, nearly nine per game. All Stars made only six errors in the tournament, second only to Willard, with just three. —T.R.N.

Brazilian, two Germans to go to PHS

For the first time in history, since it opened its doors in 1868, Plymouth High school will have three foreign exchange pupils during the coming school year.

One is a Brazilian girl, two are West German boys. The boys will arrive at Columbus Monday and take up residence with two local families.

Bernd Schneider, 18, who comes from Niederselbach in West Germany, says his interests academically are in chemistry, physics and history. Extra-curricularly, they lie in table tennis, juggling, soccer and swimming as well as biking and basketball.

His brother stayed with a family in Michigan last year.

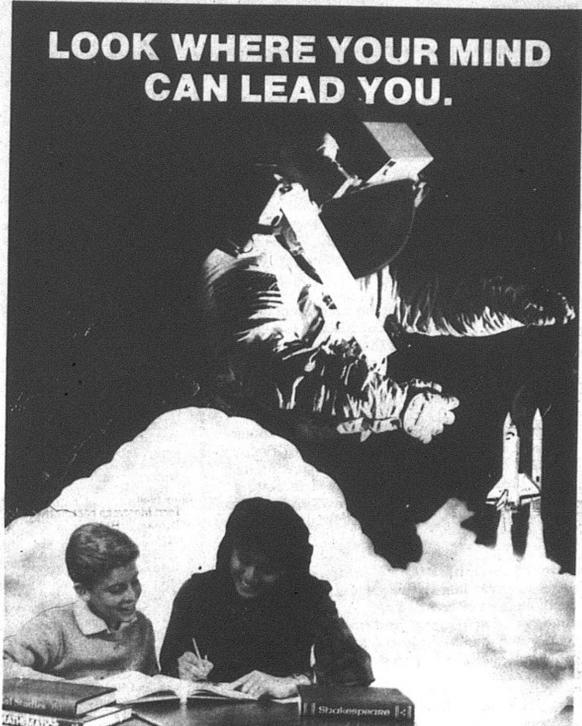

He will stay with the Roger Carruths, Route 98.

Wilks Schutte, a 16-year-old native of Oldenburg, a city on the Hunte river about 30 kilometers from the great port of Bremen in the northern part of West Germany.

He is bound to attract the notice of David E. Hirsch, Jr., starting his first season as head basketball coach. Young Schutte measures six foot four inches and has some basketball experience. That he is quick on his feet is attested to by his ranking as a junior tennis player in West Germany. For one to be ranked nationally is a tribute to his great skills at the game.

He will stay with the Neil A. McKowna, 345 Trux street.

Councilman and Mrs. H. Lee Walker will be hosts for a year to Mariane Franchetti, a native of Brazil, who says her interests are in reading, Scouts and volleyball.

ALWAYS SHOP AT HOME FIRST

By AUNY LIZ

We have in our house a collection that I did not realize we had until the other day when I added to it. Some of them are real antiques. It's all because we simply needed them to find our way around. They're maps.

Every time a member of this family moves somewhere, I get a new map, and somehow we never seem to throw them away. They merely get stuffed from one glove compartment to another.

Of course, my latest acquisition is Virginia, which includes the District of Columbia and Maryland.

The streets that I remember from about 500 years back were merely two lane jobs, and now they are major highways. And what was real country at the end of the bus line at Falls Church is only the beginning houses and apartments. I had almost forgotten a place called Tyson's Corners, and it is on the new map. Back then, it was just that, a corner where two roads met at four corners with two gas pumps in front of it, and that was it. This I have got to see. I'll bet those four corners have million dollar houses on them, and I hope the guy who owned that little whistle stop grocery store made a big profit.

I wonder also if the little church with its small graveyard is still in Falls Church. We would get off the bus with a picnic lunch and walk maybe three city blocks to peer country and have our lunch while we listened to organ music piped out of the church. Hardly a car ever passed along the roadway.

I realize there is no going back but this is one time I think I would really like to.

Singspiration Set Wednesday

Baker family, Ft. Wayne, Ind., will conduct a singspiration, assisted by the Wilson family, Shelby, Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Guinea Corner Church of God, Routes 103 and 61 north of New Haven.

Annual homecoming will take place Thursday. An all-day session will conclude with a supper served under a pavilion.

Somehow this is where we will be for one of the big upcoming holidays and trying to figure out how to get to both coasts of this country in a month's span.

Let's face it, we're the lucky ones with a child on each side of the continent. This means no motel bills.

There is one thing I want to see in Virginia that is kind of off the regular tourist beat, somehow, if the place still exists I think it may now be converted to office space. All I want to do is to go into the first building nearest the gate, which was Barracks E that housed all the paymaster ladies and look out a window, which was the laundry room back then and overlooked Arlington cemetery, to see if that cemetery ever got around to straightening one white grave marker.

There were rows of them, probably enlisted men, and a beautifully straight except for one about six rows back from the fence that was a good 10 inches out of whack. I used to stare at it by the hour, waiting for my clothes to wash and dry.

And I spent a lot of time in that particular room. We had exactly four summer uniforms issued and not about to spend our own money on more, so we washed. During the summers, you simply wore three a day, so there went a happy evening. Air conditioning had not hit the Marine Corps back then.

So it has been just as hot here as I remember those summers in Washington.

Don't cook. Simply go out and buy some tasty cold meats for sandwiches, open a package of soup, mix up a salad, and buy a melon. That is enough. No one will starve. But, meanwhile, do not pass up any grocery bargains for cool weather cooking. This will also give you time to pick wild berries that are slowly beginning to ripen. It is pure labor, but fun, and next winter you will be very pleased about it all. I would suggest you take a box of band-aids with you and a pair of scissors to cut the burrs out of your hair. I learned this the hard way.

WANTED: Small jars, baby food size. Leave at The Plymouth Advertiser.

GARAGE SALE: Children's and adult clothing, toys, twin size mattress, cedar chest, old kitchen chairs plus many miscellaneous items. Friday, July 31, 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. at 345 Trux street, Plymouth.

No cemetery levy in 1987!

Trustees, council agree promise must be kept

There will be no cemetery levy on the $100 per burial.

Trustees of Greenlawn cemetery agreed with Mayor Keith A. Hebble, Monday, a promise was made to voters last fall that if the renewal of the general fund levy was approved, no additional levies would be forthcoming in the near future.

Fire Chief Terry A. Hopkins, in looking the cemetery section over the coals in what he charged is a violation of Ordinance 660.03

(a) and 660.707 (1). A trash fire in Greenlawn cemetery on July 21 was the third such fire that occupied Plymouth Fire department since Mar. 28, Hopkins told.

He said a total of 49 man-hours was expended in dealing with these blazes, at a cost of $308.70 in labor, "plus vehicle wear, operating and equipment expenses."

The problem, it was brought out, is that individuals use the cemetery trash pile as a dumping place for brush and other combustible matter. Sexton Kenneth Echelberry said some garbage is dumped at the site as well and suggested a garbage collection might help.

Attitude of village council on Monday night was firm: no new tax money for the cemetery, neither as renewal or fresh taxation.

Echelberry asked for and got approval to change the monthly meeting dates of the cemetery trustees to the first instead of the last Monday of the month. Mrs. Terry Jump, clerk-treasurer, said a more accurate report of the fiscal status of the cemetery can be submitted with an earlier meeting.

Trustees, John T. Dick, Toy C. Patton and J. Harold Cashman, will start the new schedule of meetings in the village hall Monday at 10 a.m.

Hamman held in county jail

A warrant to arrest Robert L. Hamman was issued by Norwalk Municipal Court Judge Donald Derby July 29 because he failed to appear to answer a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under suspension.

Village Solicitor Richard P. Wolf, 2nd, and the court were prepared to proceed but could not because Hamman did not appear. He was lodged in Huron county jail.

Harvey Robinson, 2nd, pleaded not guilty to a charge of furnishing beer to minors in mayor's court July 22. He will be heard in Shelby Municipal court.

Michael J. Mansfield, Plymouth, pleaded not guilty to a charge filed by Sharon K. Alesp of reckless operation. He received a continuance until yesterday.

Steven W. Stallings, Attica, accused of speeding, was also continued to yesterday.

None of not guilty to consumption of alcohol in a motor vehicle by Manuel Mejia Ramirez, Galion, and Tomas Gaspar Tomas, Celeryville, resulted in dismissals.

Fern F. Strom, Shelby, was found not guilty of a red light violation.

Roger A. Burton, Shiloh, accused of drunken driving, was found guilty and fined $500 after the charge was amended to physical control of a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. Suspension of $150 of the fine and of the jail sentence of three days was ordered if there are no similar violations for one year.

Disposition of other accused: Elizabeth A. Moore, Greenwich, $30; Verlin A. Kempf, Shelby, $22; Harold Morgan, Monga, Ind., $44; Bryan D. Peiffer, Shelby, $28; Anthony J. Paulus, Tiffin, $30; Bryan L. Day, Shelby, $20; Peggy D. Pitman, Mansfield, $30; Kimberly A. Webb, Willard, $28; Steven D. Cramer, Crestline, $30, speeding.

Also, Carol A. Armstrong, Shelby, improper left turn, continued to yesterday; Barry W. Penzill, Greenwch, drunken driving, $500 fine and three days in jail, jail sentence and $150 of fine suspended on condition of no similar violations within one year; curfew violation, $15.

Also, Chad E. Buchanan, Greenwch, underage consumption of alcohol, $15; curfew violation, $15; Todd A. Adkins, Shelby, operating a vehicle while under suspension, $150, of which $100 was suspended on condition of no similar violations for one year.

Also, Charley C. Hall, Plymouth, drunken driving, three days in jail and $500 fine, jail sentence and $150 of fine suspended on condition of no similar violations for one year; Brian E. Dalansky, Scottsdale, Pa., red light violation, $15.

Also, Allen C. Gwartz, Shelby, improper passing, $15; Daniel F. Sexton, Middleburg Hts., unattended vehicle, $15.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir: Citizens of this town. UNITE! Let's all go to the council meeting on Aug. 11 at 7 p.m.

The council votes on legislation to make us all use the same garbage hauler for the whole town. I've had satisfactory service from our hauler for nearly 30 years, but we will no longer have a choice. One more of your choices down the drain, fellow citizens. None of us requested this unilateral service.

It is one less choice you will be able to make freely. No competition so what, in time, will happen to the rates. I'll see you all at the council meeting.

'62 class reunites at Willard

Twenty-fifth anniversary reunion of the Class of 1962, Plymouth High school, in which there were 64 graduates, took place at the American Legion, Willard, Saturday night.

A picnic was conducted Sunday in Mary Fate park.

Robert Bushey, Jr., Mrs. Beverly Hawk Zimmerman, New Washington; Mrs. Martha Curran Wright, Willard, and Mrs. Royanne Cunningham Ziegler, Willard, were instrumental in organizing the reunion, goaded by Richard Lewis, LaCosta, Cal., who came here with his wife and two children to visit his mother, Mrs. Robert A. Lewis, for several days.

Sixty-eight persons attended the dinner and dance at Willard Saturday night.

Two couples seek to marry

George E. Stidom, Shelby, retired, and Betty J. Bahl, Plymouth, at home, seek in Huron county probate court a license to marry.

So do Richard Allen Cunningham, Plymouth, college student, and Shellie R. Caldwell, Willard, secretary.

"Here's a NEW TAX LAW tip"

The new tax law requires that all employees file a new Form W-4 before October 1, 1987... but file it now so you can make sure the right amount of tax is being withheld. Your employer or the IRS has the forms and instructions.

AFTER THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE OUR FOUNDING FATHERS WROTE SOMETHING EVEN MORE IMPORTANT.

Ten years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence our founding fathers created what historians have called the greatest single document struck off by the hand and mind of man.

Our founding fathers created the Constitution of the United States.

For the first time in history, power was granted by the people to the government, and not by the government to the people.

The freedom unleashed by the Constitution allowed Americans to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest. And attain what is now known the world over as the American Dream.

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, there is no better way for you as an American to reaffirm the principles for which our country stands than to learn more about the Constitution.

THE CONSTITUTION

The words we live by

"SOME REAL BAD GUYS ARE WRECKING THE PUBLIC LAND. ANY GOOD GUYS WANT TO HELP SAVE IT?"

If you write to us, we'll tell you how you can help stop abuse of our public lands. Be one of the good guys.

BAD GUYS ABUSE PUBLIC LAND. GOOD GUYS SAVE IT.

Entries diminish, quality remains

Shiloh's Town and Country Garden club's annual flower show last weekend during the Ox Roast made up in quality what it lacked in quantity.

Not every entry received a ribbon, but the level of skill in each was high.

Mrs. Dean Hamman again took best of show with her entry in Class 1, "Wheel of Fortune".

It was a cleverly constructed black metal stand with a round top on which she arranged yellow blossoms with an outer circle of burnt orange blossoms.

In Class 2, "Dallas", she took first place with her dried arrangement in an oil can. Mrs. R. Eugene Russell received the second place red ribbon.

Class 3 entry, "Green Acres", was won by Mrs. Robert D. Forsythe, with Mrs. Hamman placing second, Mrs. Russell third and Mrs. Fred Bauer receiving honorable mention.

Mrs. Hamman's entry in Class 4, "Three's Company", her humorous arrangement of three sunflowers, was the first prize winner.

She also took the top prize in Class 5, "Golden Girls", with her arrangement of large yellow lilies. Mrs. Russell was the second place winner.

There were no entries for Class 6, "World News", which was to have seen a mass arrangement.

Mrs. Evelyn Gundrum was the blue ribbon winner in Class 7, "Highway to Heaven", with Mrs. Russell placing third.

Class 8, "Webster", which was to be a small arrangement of four inches, attracted the most entries, most of them in antique china vases. Mrs. Russell placed first, Mrs. Gundrum second; Mrs. Forsythe third, and Mrs. Forsythe receiving honorable mention.

Class 9 entry, "Lacy", which was a line arrangement of red flowers, was the most colorful of the classes with vivid reds. Margy Hamman won the blue ribbon, Mrs. Russell was second, Mrs. Forsythe third.

The last class, "I Dream of Jeanie", was won by Mrs. Evelyn Steele. Mrs. Hamman was second. Along with the floral arrangements and horticultural specimens, members of the club displayed their craft work which included quilts, wall hangings, framed dried flower arrangements and smaller craft items such as stuffed animals.

Competition, economy hurt parade

A smaller crowd watched the annual Firemen's Ox Roast parade at last Saturday at 7 p.m. Veteran parade watchers attributed the diminished throng to three factors:

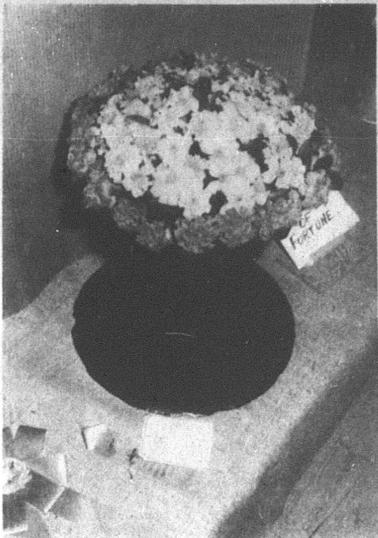

1. High humidity and extreme heat kept some paradegoers at home; appearance of threatening skies in the northwest prospects of skies in the northwest with prospects of a downpour deterred others from attending.

2. Competition from the rib burnout at Mansfield campus, Ohio State University, and other events drew some likely visitors away.

3. Economy this year is somewhat tougher; floods in Shelby affected some entertainment budgets, factory closings and layoffs "certainly had something to do with it" and "a lot of people don't like what they see down the road and they're not spending like they used to".

Nevertheless, the parade set off on time and marched eastward in West Main street across the Conrail tracks and past the reveiling stands in East Main street to the cheers of hundreds who brought their own chairs to sit in tree lawns and front yards along the line of march. Dooyard of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, was as usual filled with parade watchers, both seated and standing. Bleachers erected in the south side of West Main street were filled.

One experienced parade marcher observed, "The crowds weren't so deep from the kerf this year, and there didn't seem to be as many people in the usual places where they gather to watch the parade". Operators of entertainment reported brisk business. Food supplies moved smartly, notably from the roast beef sandwich outlet, where customers ordered as many as 50 sandwiches at a clip.

Grand prize entry in annual exposition of Shiloh Town & Country Garden club, once again, was prepared by Mrs. Dean Hamman. This one was in Class 1, "Wheel of Fortune".

For first time, members of Shiloh Town & Country Garden club showed crafts and handiwork prepared by them. Mrs. Evelyn Gundrum, who had several of her pieces on display, showed for cameraman these pieces by her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Robert D. Forsythe, Sr., one a sampler with a religious motif, the other a wall hanging in multi-colored thread.

Villager named to OSU dean's list

Jeanette Faeth, Plymouth, is among students of the Mansfield campus, Ohio State university, named to the spring quarter dean's list.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must be enrolled for a least 12 credit hours and earn a minimum of 3.5 grade point average or better. In computing the quarter point hour ratio, no incomplete grades, missing grades, or satisfactory/unsatisfactory grades are included in the 12 hours.

Scouts contribute 18 hours of work on sub-station

Three Shiloh Boy Scouts aiming for Star rank completed six hours of community service last week by painting the sheriff's sub-station, painting the cannon monument and, with assistance of Joseph Bauer, refashioning of the foundation of the sub-station.

Scouts James Cornelius and Matthew and Tyrone Powers were directed by Robert Cornelius, assistant Scoutmaster, under guidance of Mrs. Ronald Powers, member of village council.

All about town...

The J. Michael Bauers, Shiloh, are camping in Mohican State forest this week.

The Richard Lewises, LaCosta, Cal., and his mother, Mrs. Robert A. Lewis, visited his uncle, a cancer patient in Providence hospital, Sandusky, last week. They are visiting his cousins in Geauga county this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven C. Root, Falls Church, Va., are the parents of a son, Andrew Ebel, weighing 7 lb. 8 oz. born July 22, at Columbus Women's hospital, Washington, D.C.

He is their first child. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. Maximilian Ebel, Center (Jaspoe, N. H.) and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Root, 118 Plymouth street.

Rx for Flu or Chicken Pox: Kindness

Be good to yourself when you've got the flu or chicken pox. Take it easy. Get plenty of rest. Viral illnesses such as these are usually self-limiting. Time will cure them.

Check with your doctor about using medications to treat flu or chicken pox. For children—including teenagers—medications such as aspirin and aspirin-containing products may not be a good idea. A rare but dangerous condition called Reye syndrome may develop in young people just when they appear to be recovering. Studies suggest a link between the development of Reye and the use of aspirin to treat the flu or chicken pox.

So, treat yourself right when you've got the flu!
