

New dress code allows shorts in hot months

By one vote margin, the dress code for older pupils was altered by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

Although A. George Miller and Donald M. Eichelberger voted nay, the board said during May, June and September shorts of a suitable length and style may be worn by all pupils, whether male or female.

Eichelberger said later "the board shouldn't even be discussing this matter."

At the same time, the board endorsed a policy that bans chewing of gum by pupils of the high school at any time during the school day.

The policy was anticipated by the administration. It had approved preparation of the elementary school handbook with the revised code in it. The handbooks for the high and middle schools will need to be amended by hand.

What is suitable length? "Mid-thigh," said the board. And style? "No cutoffs," said the board.

One manager for Plymouth and Shiloh cafeterias will be the rule when schools open Sept. 1.

Mrs. A. George Miller, head cook at Shiloh, will take over duties for both buildings at a salary of $12,977 for 10 months.

The change has been recommended by the state board of education, Supt. Jeffery Slauason told Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

The school district has been running two separate services. Putting them together will be more efficient, he said. The Plymouth cafeteria has been operating at a loss while Shiloh is well into black ink. Slauason said, however, that they average each other out.

Mrs. Max Caywood, who has headed the Plymouth cafeteria for a number of years, will be the head cook and cashier, working seven hours a day for nine months. She will receive $5,986.

Mrs. Mary Chronister will become the head cook at Shiloh. She will also work seven hours a day for nine months and receive $7,821.

Mrs. Bertha Hamman will also work the same hours but will also take on the cashier duties at $6,139.

Lunch prices will remain the same as last year. Kindergarten through the eighth grade is 86¢, ninth through 12th grade is 90¢, and adult lunches are $1.35. Milk is 25¢.

Free milk will be provided for kindergarten pupils if they qualify under the federal free lunch program.

Slauason told the board

Investigators pull rug under alibi of ex-sheriff

An investigative report prepared by his chief investigators and seven others finds the infamous house fire in Adams street that took the life of a four-year-old boy was accidentally started, pulling the rug from under the argument of former Sheriff Richard H. Petty that the fire was arson.

The team of investigators examined for three days a statement of Burt Kirkpatrick, an inmate at Lima doing eight to 15 years for holding up a doughnut shop, that Ronald Holbrook, also a prisoner, confessed to him he set the fire.

The conclusion of the investigators, who were Lieut. Philip Messer, Lieut. James Goldsmith and Sgt. Marjan Grogza, Mansfield Police department; Capt. Robert Hunter, Mansfield Fire department; Charles Hooks, MFD arson investigator, and Capt. Dale Miller, special investigator of the sheriff's department.

1) The fire at 16 South Adams street on Aug. 6, 1984, was not the result of arson, but by Holbrook or another.

2) Kirkpatrick's statement he met Holbrook in 1981 while Holbrook was accompanied by Debra Bush Fenton Berges can't be correct because Holbrook was in prison in 1981 for nine months and did not meet the woman until January of 1984.

3) Kirkpatrick is a chronic liar. What effect these findings will have on a projected appeal by attorneys for Petty is open to conjecture. Appeals court judges will be afforded access to the findings because the state is certain to include them in its brief to the court and in oral arguments if in fact an appeal is laid.

Bizarre charge laid vs. villager after 'detention'

A former Plymouth resident with admitted domestic difficulties claims in an affidavit filed Aug. 4 with Plymouth police that his estranged wife and her kin held him against his will at 266 West Broadway and threatened to maim and kill him.

Mahlon E. McLaughlin said he was questioned by his wife and her two sons for two and a half hours and finally left the house Aug. 3 at approximately 4 a.m. Allegedly his RCA video camera, case, accessories and sack of tapes were stolen.

McLaughlin said he "was curious to see if the storm had done any damage to the property (owned jointly by McLaughlin and his estranged wife, Sarah Ann Gwirtz)."

McLaughlin said he was threatened with a poisoned "pep" cookie and "flavored" water. His captors allegedly threatened to roll him in a bed sheet, drive him to Lake Erie and throw him in.

At her son, Charles Gwirtz's, request, Sarah McLaughlin allegedly produced an extension cord and with a pair of scissors stripped the two ends opposite the plug bare of insulation, apparently with intent to maim him, McLaughlin said.

Building permit protocol chosen

Plymouth has entered into an agreement with Huron county to conduct the issuance of commercial building permits.

During a special meeting Aug. 4 sandwiched in between two sessions of the monthly committee meeting of the council, the action was taken without dissent.

In the past such permits on the Huron county side of the village were processed in Akron, because Huron county could not afford the staff for the few permits that are issued.

Because the Akron office has such a heavy load, it often took up to six months to process a permit. Huron county officials have entered into an agreement with Richland county to issue the permits, thus avoiding long delays.

During the committee meeting, council members sat through another computer demonstration from Creative Microsystems, Inc., Dayton.

This system is more expensive than an earlier one demonstrated for the police department, and to include the clerk's records. It would cost upwards of $25,000.

Councilmen have indicated that this will not be a decision made quickly.

James C. Root, village administrator, cried, "What." He quickly added that he has several items he felt should be considered first, mainly the leaking roof of the utility building and replacement of the village backhoe.

Paul Caspale, general manager of Plymouth Locomotive International, Inc., was present to tell the council he is seeking funding to purchase a baler for the company and would be happy to cooperate with villagers by baling their newspapers during the quarterly paper drives and would receive their newspapers if they wish to give them for recycling, which the company would turn in with its own baled materials.

Police Chief Stephen Caudill announced Eric Rath has been appointed a cadet from the Explorer's post.

Root reported the clean-up of the village after last week's violent wind storm will run into several thousands of dollars. This was for picking up limbs of the streets and overtime for village employees. The money will be taken out of the appropriation for contingencies since such an expense was not budgeted in any of the utility funds.

The voice of The Advertiser —

What does it boil down to?

"A while back," a reader says, "you wrote why you think folks won't run for school board. I agree with most of it. But what I want to know is, how do we act, what do we do, to get done what we want done?"

Funny he should ask.

So what does it boil down to?

To this:

1. Take your complaints to the executive. Document them thoroughly. Insist on his attention. Allow him a reasonable time to satisfy your complaint. If he fails, tell the members of the board of education. It is more effective to do this in a regular session of the board, but only a few folks over the past 33 years have had the courage to do so.

2. Encourage the executive to develop new ideas, new techniques, new solutions that seem likely to produce new, and better, results. Even should every 12th grader score 1,200 on the SAT, it's not enough. Why not 1,250, or 1,300? Or the maximum, 1,600?

3. Insist that the executive be allowed to do his job, which does not include the funding of his proposals. If they are approved by the board, it is the board's duty to sell the electorate on proper funding. There is no facet of the formal training of a school superintendent that specifically equips him to mount a political campaign.

4. If and when the executive loses your confidence, make this known to the board. If it does not act to seek you, don't vote for that member if he seeks reelection. Encourage another to oppose him. Consider running yourself. Board members can be removed for cause.

The system as it operates is not our dish of tea. We can find at least fifty holes in it. But our chances of changing it are only two: slim and none. There isn't enough time left to consider the first. We shall have to settle for the second.

But to our dying day, and that seems closer with every turn of the clock, we shall shout with all our might for open debate of public education issues, so that we all can measure the arguments on each side.

The number of times this has occurred in the last 33 years is fewer than 10. Always the board has chosen the SYA course of action. Those who need an explanation of the acronym need only call at the editor's office.

Old hearse winner in parade of firemen

A smaller crowd watched the 11th annual Firemen's Festival parade Saturday afternoon to note fewer entries but higher quality.

Secor Funeral home's horse-drawn hearse, drawn by a matched pair of dappled grays, was chosen best overall entry. It was driven by Raymond Secor in vintage costume. It also won the best horse hitch award from the six judges, who were the William R. Millers, the A. L. Paddock, Jr., and the David Williamsens.

A 1931 Model A roadster driven by Norman Abaton, Willard, was chosen among antique cars for the best appearance award.

Other prizes: A registered quarter horse ridden astride by Beth Stockmaster, Attica, won first place. Penny Rhodes, riding sidesaddle, in riding habit, was second.

Marigolds won first among clowns, Richard Linder second, Fritz the Clown third.

Pt. Clinton American Legion entry was adjudged superior among beton units, Denise's Twirlettes, Shelby, second and Americettes Baton and Drum Corps, Bucyrus, third.

Auxiliary, Ehret-Parrel Post 447, American Legion, Plymouth, won in the color guard category, Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, Shiloh, was second.

Fleet entered by Plymouth Viking Academic Boosters won first prize in the float competition. Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, Shiloh, placed second.

New London Wildcat marching band won first prize among bands. Plymouth Big Red band second.

First prize

First time entered, first prize: Plymouth Vikings Academic Boosters, led by Michael R. Taylor, far right, competed in Firemen's Festival parade Saturday with this float.

Auxiliary wins

Old soldiers

Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, thinks enough of its life members to show them off in a float in a parade. Before backdrop of celebrated raising of the flag on Iwo Jima, these life members, among them Commander Harold Porter, Alvin Garrett and R. Eugene Russell, past commanders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir,
Although I am thechnically no longer a citizen, I was born in Mansfield and lived in Richland county most of my life, and hope my words will be accepted as those of citizen of Richland county.

I'm writing in reference to the recent conviction of Sheriff Petty. I've just read that the meager sentence of two years he received is to be suspended upon his resignation. This is justice? Are you aware of the significance of the type of crimes he was found guilty of (obstruction of justice & tampering with evidence) This is the leader of the largest investigative force in our county! If he cannot be trusted to indiscriminately submit, without tampering or withholding all evidence obtained, how can the citizens be sure there are those now imprisoned who shouldn't be and those not who should? All of you who have sat on juries and used evidence from Mr. Petty's office as the bases for a guilty verdict, should be outraged! You should now be asking yourselves "was I given all the facts and were these facts presented at face value?" You must realize, the law enforcement agencies are the foundation of the entire Judicial System. If the foundation of a structure is weak or crooked, the entire structure built on it can't be trusted.

Being a county sheriff is not just a law enforcement job, it is a political position and as proven throughout history, where politics are involved, there is frequently dishonesty, corruption, and egomaniacs, concerned only with "re-election."

Does this letter sound as that of a bitter person? Well you're right it is! I believe I am one of the victims of an inadequate and politically based investigation of Mr. Petty and yes, I am bitter! Why? Because I am presently incarcerated for a crime I didn't do and our dear Mr. Petty is going to "walk" for crimes he did. Think about it.

1987 alumnus sent to Maryland for more school

Private Charles D. Beverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Beverly, 45 Bell street, graduated Aug. 7 from the U.S. Army basic training at Ft. Dix, N. J.

During the six weeks of basic training Private Beverly earned a marksmen medal for the shooting of weapons and an expert medal for hand grenades. He also received a certificate of achievement for a perfect score on the end-of-cycle-test.

He is a 1987 graduate of Plymouth High school.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Beverly, a friend, Lana Laser, Plymouth, his brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beverly, Greenwich, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Beverly, and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Beverly of Willard attended the graduation ceremony.

He is now stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. for schooling for diesel and heavy wheeled vehicle mechanics.

Villager wins commendation for jail rescue

A corrections officer in Huron county jail, Douglas E. McQuate received a commendation from his chief, Sheriff Thomas D. Dunlap, for his actions in preventing the suicide of a prisoner on Aug. 3 at 12:35 a.m.

The prisoner, Rodney Joseph Keller, Wakeman, was taken down and removed by ambulance to Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, where he was treated. He was returned to his cell.

Dunlap remarked that McQuate has several times before acted similarly.

Bizarre charge laid vs. villager after 'detention'

you would not have lived the night out," Sarah and Charles' wife, Chris, allegedly said.

Charles again threatened to take me on a long ride that I would never come back from, kill my dog and dump me in Lake Erie in a bed sheet," McLaughlin said.

He said the three — Sarah, Charles and Edward Gwirtz — wanted him to sign a quit claim deed to the house and lot. His belongings would be returned after he signed the property over to his estranged wife, he alleges.

The charge has been referred to Village Solicitor Richard P. Wolfe, 2nd, Ashland, to determine if the village can proceed further.

Leapley, Hawk win museum contest

It was fun!
Foster Leapley, Springmill road, and Ivan Hawk, Willow drive, tied for first place over the weekend in the guessing contest of seven antique items displayed by the Plymouth Historical society.

Both missed the identification of a voice speaker concocted by the late Dr. George J. Searle so that he could communicate with someone at his front door to his bedroom.

Larry Trout, however, identified it. But he missed out on two other items.

The items were a vacuum sweeper — donated by Mrs. Charles H. Dick; a pair of ice skates belonging to Dr. Searle, donated by his daughter, Mrs. Leonard McCollum, along with the voice speaker, a milking stool found in the barn of the old Nimmons farm in Springmill road, donated by David Coulter; a wool carder used by Jacob Speer and donated by Miss Florence Danner; and a walnut nut cracker made and donated by Roscoe Hutchinson.

Thirty-three persons entered the contest, and during the Firemen's Festival 125 persons visited the museum.

It is open each Sunday this month from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Next monthly meeting of the Plymouth Historical society will be Sept. 26 at 7 p.m. in the Plymouth Public Library. Annual meeting will be Nov. 16 at the same time, also in the library.

Shelly Ream is an all-star on roster of Ross's Mobile Home Park; also a minor league club. Absent: MVP Jesse Reeder and Sarah Cooper.

Kathy Welker wowed the sweltering audience in this costume.

Schools alter dress code, shorts allowed

Plymouth has 25.3 per cent of its pupils under the program and Shiloh has 30 per cent. He said the high school figure is "negligible" because pupils are too embarrassed about the free program."

Two high school teachers were hired. Miss Linda Feichtner, Bloomville, will teach home economics. She substituted last year during a maternity leave and was highly recommended for the full time position. She received her bachelor's degree from Bowling Green State university.

W. James Drombaski will teach high school English. He received his bachelor's degree in English and journalism from Kent State university this month.

Resignation of Kenneth Snider was accepted, he has been a bus driver for many years. Ill health has caused him to give up the position.

By AUNT LIZ
Everyone knows that life is filled with all sorts of little mysteries and surprises.

Maybe the biggest mystery we have in our country right now is how it keeps going when our highest officials simply do not talk to each other, so they all know who is doing what.

Anyone who has been watching the best soap opera television has had in its history cannot miss it. Not only do these guys see each other every day, they go to the same cocktail and dinner parties. Maybe they just discuss who hit a couple of home runs that day or how Army clerks have stayed.

After deep thought, I have come to the conclusion that our happy little village council or any other village council around here could do a much better job of running the whole darned place.

Maybe we are not polished politicians and simply say what we think, not hide anything. Ages ago, when I was the Mother Hen of the place, many openly accused me of "slanting" the news. Frankly, I didn't dare, and the test came one Wednesday morning when a nice guy came up to me on the street and said, "You know, I was at the council meeting taking notes." I said "Yes, I watched you."

He then went on to say that he went home that night just as I did and composed a council story that turned out to be almost word for word of what appeared that morning in the paper.

We are a great country, but we sure have our little faults. After hearing some of the stories of World War II, I frankly wondered how we ever won it, but we did. There's an old story of how the Germans lost World War I that shows that people, no matter who they are, are really kind of alike. The Germans were pushing toward Paris, cold and hungry, and came upon a nice stout French building filled with tasty cognac. That did it, and our side had time to recoup.

This has been week-day entertainment, but Sundays are reserved for peace and quiet and chicken.

Why Sunday should be a chicken day is beyond my thinking, but it is. Just like Saturday was always baked beans, winners and brown bread and Fridays were always macaroni and cheese days.

You can do anything with chicken, the one thing almost impossible to ruin. This is chicken salad time.

and it can be a sturdy, filling dish. Don't be afraid to put everything you own in it.

My favorite version, which did not come out of a book but out of my head, is a cinch. Just take the meat of either legs or breasts (cooked), toss in a couple of cut-up hardboiled eggs, some finely cut celery and onion, a small can of little peas, some cut-up stuffed salad olives, green grapes and mushrooms. The last two can easily be left out if you do not have them.

Mix it all up, sprinkle some poultry seasoning on it and add just enough mayonnaise to gather it all together. Best you taste it to see if it needs pepper and salt or more seasoning.

You can do about the same thing with potato or macaroni salad, but add some crumbled bacon to both. Everyone knows that a little pickle relish and the pickle juice perks up potato salad.

I have still not recovered from the potato salad I had one night at a nearby ox roast, and we were there early so it was not a matter of running out of food. It consisted merely of potatoes nicely cut up and mayonnaise. Not one other thing, and these women were all older and should have been good cooks.

Deputy bitten by thief

A 34-year-old Shilohian hit a Richland county sheriff's deputy on the right forearm in a futile effort to escape custody Aug. 3.

John Arns, 36 North Euclid street, was taken to Mansfield General Hospital for observation after he bit Deputy Glen Wentz, who was himself treated for the bite.

Wentz reported to 171 Euclid street after Sarah Reeder reported someone sought to steal a bicycle from her back yard.

Wentz called the suspect, who tried to lift the 20-inch gray bicycle over the fence, caught him, he escaped, then Wentz caught him again and threw him down and sought to handcuff him. This is when Arns bit Wentz.

Mayor disposes of light docket

A light docket faced Mayor Keith A. Hebble May 5 but he exacted stiff fines of four defendants.

Fine of $200 and costs were levied against Ramiro Cardoza, Plymouth, for resisting arrest and $100 and costs for disorderly conduct, a reduced charge from assault.

Three days in jail and $100 of the fine on the first count and one day in jail and $50 of the second count were suspended on condition of no similar violation for one year. He was accorded credit for time served, one day.

Roy L. Smith, Attica, charged with use of fictitious license tags, was found guilty and fined $100 and costs.

Joe Cardoza, Jr., Willard, was fined $80 and costs on a disorderly conduct count. Suspension of $30 of the fine is contingent upon no similar violations for one year.

Two cases were transferred to Shelby Municipal court on pleas of not guilty by Douglas C. Osborne, Plymouth, to hit-and-run driving and theft.

A bench warrant will issue for William Capelle, Shelby, accused of false utterance, and Paul J. Kessler, 826 Robert L. Schreck, Rowe, Plymouth, accused of speeding.

Bryan K. Hall, Willard, and Orbin L. Phillips, South Amherst, charged with possession of open containers of alcoholic beverage, were fined $15 and costs each.

Other cases: Rebecca L. Reed, Shiloh, $36; Hubert Rice, Mansfield, $26; Steven W. Stallings, Attica, $26; Robert L. Schreck, Clyde, $40; all speeding.

Also, Billy J. Bray, Willard, $15, stop sign violation; Hector Driacrus-Honero, New Washington, no front license tag, $15; Alfonso S. Gonzalez, Green Springs, $40, no license; Carol A. Armstrong, Shelby, $15, improper left turn.

Police arrest Hamman again; two of thefts occur

Robert L. Hamman, 18, 20 1/2 Mills avenue, was apprehended by Plymouth police in West Broadway Sunday at 10:30 p.m. and summoned on a charge of having an open container of alcoholic beverage in his possession.

Police stopped him on information from Crawford county authorities charging him with hit-and-run driving and consumption of alcohol while under the legal age.

Henry J. Cole, Willard, reported to Plymouth police Monday at 1:13 a.m. that two speakers were taken from his car while it was left in the library parking lot. The front window of his vehicle was smashed.

Erica Bauer, Townline 12, driver of a car from which $277 was taken a week ago, reported that $1,000 in tapes were taken from the car left in the library parking lot Aug. 7 at 3 p.m.

Two juveniles are suspected. Robert Boyer, 150 Plymouth street, reported an attempted auto theft Aug. 7 at 3:15 p.m. His daughter awakened and saw two suspects near the car. She yelled, he arose and the suspects fled.

Cross driven by Danny Adkins, 44, Planktown road, Shiloh, and Ricky Hall, Willard, collided at East Main and Mill streets Aug. 8 at 9 p.m.

Hall was thought by police to have struck the Adkins vehicle.

Laura Stroup, 17, Preston road, was taken to Shelby Memorial hospital by ambulance Aug. 8 at 6:01 p.m. after her car and that of Jeffrey Lawrence, Mansfield, collided at Sandusky and North streets.

She told police she stopped at the intersection and from North street sought to exit into the state

The court dismissed six charges. These were false utterance against; Sheri Carpenter, Plymouth; false utterance in two counts against Jerry Hale, Shiloh; speeding against Steven W. Stallings, Attica, driving left of center against Teresa A. Montgomery, Greenwich, and failure to make a right signal against John S. Robinson, Shelby.

Stiff fines and jail sentences were levied against Robinson and Montgomery, each convicted of physical control of a vehicle while impaired and each sentenced to 10 days in jail and to pay a fine of $500, of which $150 and jail sentence were suspended on condition of no similar offense for one year.

David M. Cole, Plymouth, was fined $15 and costs for having an obstructed license tag.

Speeding cases disposed of: Valerie Tackett, Mansfield, $30; Jacqueline A. Robson, Greenwich, $26; Donald L. Jenkins, Norwalk, $26; Claude A. Beagall, Mansfield, $45; Billy J. Stocker, Mansfield, $26; Richard G. Alward, Mansfield, $30.

Thompson, Plymouth, $54; drunken driving, amended to physical control while impaired, 10 days in jail and fine of $500, of which jail sentence and $150 were suspended on condition of no similar violations for one year.

State patrolmen issued 506 citations, Plymouth, $46.

Bench warrant will issue for Lora J. Tackett, Willard, charged with speeding.

highway. Her view was obstructed by a tree and the northbound Mansfield car struck her in the left front fender.

Spellman was also taken to the Shelby hospital.

Each was treated and released. A two-car collision at Route 22 and 103 north of Celeryville Aug. 5 at 11:25 a.m. resulted in injury to eight persons and a summons for failure to yield the right-of-way for a Plymouth route 1 driver.

Teresa L. Ray, 28, Silliman road, headed west in Route 224 to turn left at the traffic signal into Route 103 and was struck by an eastbound car driven by Raymond F. Smith, 63, Fingert road.

Her sister, Rena, Ryan, four, and Jordan, one, and a passenger, Donna L. Cronewett, 56, Townline Road 111, Plymouth route 1, were slightly injured and treated in Willard Area hospital and released.

So were five passengers in the Schalk car.

'Cyclist injured in collision

A 32-year-old former Plymouth man was severely injured Friday afternoon when his motorcycle was struck by a 1978 Chevrolet Nova in Route 99 at Townline Road 12.

Jeffrey L. Clabaugh, Monroeville, was placed in the intensive care unit of Firelands Community hospital, Sandusky.

State patrolmen said he was headed south when a 1978 Chevrolet Nova driven by Michelle R. Lawrence, 19, Willard, drove from Townline Road 12 and struck him.

State patrolmen were summoned for failure to yield right-of-way. Her passenger, Zanetta M. Isaac, 10, Willard, was treated in Willard Area hospital and sent home.

Siblings' spat to come to court?

A brother and sister dispute grew into an assault charge against his wife Saturday night.

Jack Elliott is accused of assaulting his sister, Mrs. Glenna Howell, 38, Plymouth route 1, during the Firemen's Festival.

Eyes, ears open, police cadet foils burglary

A policeman keeps his eyes and ears open. A good policeman keeps his eyes and ears open all the time.

Consider what 19-year-old Shawn Branham, a cadet officer in Plymouth Police department, did Thursday night.

He had completed his shift in Domino's Pizza, Willard, and was en route home about midnight. As he drove past Fritchell's High school, he spied a man seeking to break into the building.

Branham continued in Sandusky street to police headquarters, where he notified the duty officer, who sped to the scene.

When he got there, the suspect fled on foot.

Result: there was no break in.

Moral: If you want to be recognized as a prospective patrolman, keep your eyes and ears open all the time.

Said Chief Stephen Caudill: "He is moving right up and doing a real good job."

Seven candidates to vie for mayorship at Shiloh Nov. 3

New tests mandated for pupils

New testing procedures in the public schools will begin next later this year.

Sixth grade pupils and those of grades below high school and not later than Dec. 31, 1990, for all pupils in grades nine through 12.

The procedures are mandated by Substitute House Bill 231, recently signed into law.

Requirements for elementary pupils:

1. By October of 1988 the state board of education must adopt a list of tests that meet the criteria established in the law. All pupils in grades four and six and in another, to be determined by the department of education, will be required to take the tests.

2. The tests will be in reading, language arts and mathematics.

3. Fourth grade pupils must have completed the test by Oct. 30, 1989.

4. Tests in reading, mathematics and citizenship will be given to all ninth graders and 12th graders. The state board will later decide whether to have one test with two differing proficiency levels or two tests, one for ninth graders and the other for 12th graders.

2. Diplomas in the 1993-94 school year will be categorized thus:

a. A certificate of attendance, if the pupil completes the high school curriculum but does not pass the ninth grade proficiency test.

b. A diploma of basic competency, if the pupil completes the high school curriculum and passes the ninth grade proficiency test.

c. A diploma with distinction, if the pupil completes the high school curriculum, passes the 12th grade proficiency test, and meets such other criteria as may be established by his board of education.

3. Each pupil will be afforded seven opportunities to pass the ninth grade proficiency test. He who passes the test will have at least two attempts to pass the diploma with distinction and/or commendation test.

Cost will amount to $1 to $1.50 a pupil to score and report in all test areas where answers are machine-scored. Cost of scoring writing samples is estimated to be from $3 to $5 a pupil. These costs will be borne by the state department, which will also pay the $100,000 to $150,000 to develop each test.

Mrs. Echelberry in new post

A new coach, Mrs. John Echelberry, takes over the Big Red volleyball reins this season.

Her work is cut out. Last year's team didn't set the world afire and there were only two letter winners back. These are Danielle Smith and Barbara York.

Dress code for pupils altered financially the district is holding its own, but "it is a downhill trend." He hopes to end the fiscal year with a balance of $100,000, "at least."

This year's balance is almost double that figure but will be eaten away because of the new salary contracts. He said 85.1 per cent of the school funds is earmarked for salaries and benefits.

He pointed out that school aid from the state lottery is a myth. Last year Plymouth received a little over $21,000 and this year it is zero.

Because of a blunder in the state office, the district may lose $1,000 of its funding for a new bus. Whoever was filling out the form apparently did not know the difference between a two and a three and wrote the figure as $32,000 and not $33,000.

An attempt is being made to correct the error.

Six Cubs end service MVP Rook, Rookie Roll honored

Six 12-year-olds will no longer play in Plymouth Midget league for the Cubs, who finished the baseball season at 12-and-0, six games ahead of the second-place Reds and Yankees, who tied for second at 6-and-5.

One of them is most valuable player of the PML. He is Jason Rook.

Foster Dials, who starred behind the plate, was on the receiving end of many of Rook's pitches and won as his team's Sportsmanship award. Dials also saw pitching duties. First baseman Roger Crager, third baseman Dale Fletcher and outfielders Tim Dawson and Chad Hughes will not return next year for their club.

Nick Fener of the T-Ball champion Raiders won this year's most valuable player award.

Junior All-Stars lose to Ontario in tourney

A six-run fourth inning blew it wide open for Plymouth nine- and 10-year-old All Stars, who defeated Ontario, 12 to 6, Aug. 1.

Mark McClure replaced the injured Foster Dials who was hit by a pitch twice, the second knocking him out of the contest. McClure pinch ran for Dials, who was struck in the face. Dials was hit in the back with the first pitch of the game. Each one produced a score. Starting pitcher Brian Handohse had three RBI. So did Dale Fletcher, the starting second baseman.

Colonel Crawford 7, Plymouth 3

Chris Gullett scored Brett King Aug. 2 from third with a double in the third. Dale Fletcher followed with two RBI single for Plymouth's only runs of the game. Two runs in the fifth and sixth innings broke a 3 to 3 tie. Bubba Harris struck out 16 Plymouth batters and walked only two, both in the third inning. Plymouth's Roger Crager countered with 12 strikeouts and six walks in the game.

Madison's 3, Plymouth 2

Madison's Sam Garziniti scored the game-winner in the bottom of the sixth inning with one out as the eventual 1987 11- and 12-year-old tournament champions, won, 3 to 2. Brian Nikolau had the game-winning RBI, a single, off

Chris Gullett, who replaced starter Jason Rook in the fourth.

Roger Crager belted a solo home run over the centerfield fence for Plymouth's first run in the fourth. Brian Handohse, who was hit by a pitch, trotted home with two outs in the sixth to tie the game on an RBI double by Dale Fletcher.

The loss eliminated favored Plymouth from the final tournament this year at Weber stadium.

Teachers assigned extra duty

Approval was given Monday night for supplemental contracts for school activities by Plymouth Board of Education.

Head teachers for the four buildings are Bryan J. Neff, high school; Suzanne Farrar, Shiloh middle school; Mrs. Charles Briggs, Shiloh elementary school, and C. Michael Follet, Jr., Plymouth elementary school.

Each will receive $458 annually for the assignment.

Class advisers are Mrs. William Albright, 12th grade, at a sum of $483 because of the additional activities involving graduation; Linda Feichtner, 11th grade, at $322 because of the class's main activity, the junior-senior prom; Richard Roll, 10th grade, and Mrs. Allen Carey, ninth grade, at $242 each.

Mrs. Richard Hutton will be the high school's student council adviser at $242 and Kevin Steinmetz, the middle school's advisor at $322.

Kim Stitzlein will be the National Honor society's adviser at $161.

David E. Hirschy, Jr., will again take on the position as assistant varsity football coach at $1,530. At first he declined the position because of his added duties as head varsity basketball coach, but changed his mind.

Karl Pfaff, 3rd, will be the high school intramural adviser at $934.

Mrs. Gerry Baums will again be the adviser to the high school year book at $797. Cindy Hornikle will serve as the elementary school year book adviser at $305.

'31 roadster winner

Antique cars assembled by the Carl M. McPhersons packed east end of the Public Square Saturday morning.

Tools taken from truck here

Tools valued at over $200 were taken from the truck of John Slone over the weekend.

He reported to police Tuesday morning that he did not realize they were gone until then.

AFTER THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE OUR FOUNDING FATHERS WROTE SOMETHING EVEN MORE IMPORTANT.

Ten years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence our founding fathers created what historians have called the greatest single document struck off by the hand and mind of man.

Our founding fathers created the Constitution of the United States.

For the first time in history, power was granted by the people to the government, and not by the government to the people.

The freedom unleashed by the Constitution allowed Americans to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest. And attain what is now known the world over as the American Dream.

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, there is no better way for you as an American to reaffirm the principles for which our country stands than to learn more about the Constitution.

The words we live by.
