

Why go to the game?

Tomorrow is Homecoming in Plymouth High school. Darned few graduates will come "home" for the day. So far as we know, nothing is planned for them, even if they should come.

Attendance at the one home game so far, when Plymouth was heavily favored to win, was little short of pitiful.

It is reasonable to hope that, for whatever reason, attendance tomorrow will fill the stadium. The team needs it.

What guidelines?

Seven Republicans have so far shown their interest in appointment to the unexpired term of Terry Wolf, whose last day on the job will be Wednesday.

One of them, or perhaps another who has not so far disclosed his interest, will be chosen by the party's central committee, which means one Republican from each of the precincts in the county.

One might hope that the party machinery will stay out of this.

But it won't go that way.

The argument that whoever is chosen must be a strong candidate for election a his own right almost 14 months down the road will surely prevail. And the party machinery knows, or thinks it knows, and that's what really counts, what it takes to be elected.

Is the average Republican concerned about who wins the nomination?

First, tell us what is, and who is, an average Republican.

That any Republican, so declared, as we are, should be giving some thought to the matter when he is not now, and is unlikely ever to be, a candidate for any office, whether partisan or other, shows he's not average. The average Republican doesn't even turn out for the party primary and there is good reason to believe he doesn't participate in the general election in years when there is no national race to decide. More's the pity. Part of the reason for this is that there isn't, so far as we know, anywhere a statement of the party's principles and aims at the local level.

What should be the guidelines for the central committee? At risk of excommunication, we posit these notions:

1. The average Republican, like the average citizen-elect, tends to think more highly of one whose private business has been a howling success, under all circumstances, and whose public service has been without blot. This disqualifies some of the eight.

2. The nominee should be old enough to command the respect of his age group and older and the attention of those who are younger. If he is too old, and don't ask us what age that is, he won't get the ear of the younger voter. If he's too young, the older voter, he who is most likely to turn out on a fair day to cast his ballot, is apt to be turned off. This, also, disqualifies some candidates.

3. The shopworn candidate, one who has been to the well more than once or twice, has already shown that he couldn't oust the incumbent or defeat another candidate. What does he have to offer now that he did not have then? Unless and until a convincing statement of these new assets is circulated in the party, he is not likely to obtain the broad support of confessed Republicans, let alone independents and some Democrats who might jump the fence, conditions that in Richland county are necessary to win election. This disqualifies some candidates.

4. The nominee should be articulate, personable, available to the public during reasonable hours, capable by himself of researching and developing, in good English, a plan for action that, in addition to drawing the attention of his colleagues, can be considered at length by his constituents. Our experience with some of the candidates — we do not know them all — is disappointing in this regard.

The GOP won the seat and held it against a successful challenge with a candidate who obtained broad support. It owes itself, not to mention the entire citizenry of Richland county, to choose a successor who can do at least as well.

A loss of $92,056 on operations during 1987 is reported by Willard Area hospital.

At this time last year, through July, the hospital showed a net profit of $12,829, so in the 12-month period expenses exceeded income by about $113,000. Average daily census in the first seven months of 1987 was 16.5 patients, whereas a year ago it was 19.2 patients.

Inpatient surgeries during 1987 totalled 194, compared to 242 a year ago.

Outpatient surgeries dropped by five, from 248 to 243. Births also dropped, from 128 to 115.

Inpatient revenue for the first seven months of 1987 amounted to $2,222,537, as compared with $2,463,768 a year ago.

Outpatient revenue was also down for the seven month period, to $968,200 from $975,632.

Figures for July, 1987, were substantially in advance of those for the same month in 1986. Patient days were up by 117 to 567. Total of patients admitted was up by 55 to 178. Births increased by five to 17. Inpatient surgeries advanced by six to 38 and outpatient surgeries by 22 to 49.

Four hurt in crash in Rt. 61

Four persons were injured, one severely, in a two-car collision at Route 61 and Preston road south of here Sunday noon.

Mrs. Cheryl Henry, 30, Willard, and her daughter, April, 11 were treated in Shelby Memorial hospital. Her son, Joseph, eight, was transferred to Mansfield General hospital after triage.

Mrs. Brenda Oney, 25, Shelby, was also treated at Shelby. Her passenger, Jeffrey Oney, six, was not hurt.

Police said Mrs. Oney, driving north in Route 61, created a hill, noticed two vehicles seeking to turn into Preston road, could not stop and struck the Henry vehicle head-on.

She was charged with not wearing her seat belt. Further charges are under investigation. Plymouth, Shelby and Shiloh ambulance squads reported to the scene.

'Riders tough opponent in Homecoming game

The faces are different but the names are the same. Back when Western Reserve was Townsend-Wakeman and Tony Aiello was the coach, the Eungards, the Fairchilds, the Higgs and such shone for the Blue and White.

It is no less so today. Western Reserve comes here tomorrow for a Homecoming game (there won't be much to celebrate one's graduation from Plymouth High school unless he's still a pupil, more's the pity) for the first time under the coaching of Barry Pickens.

He has 14 lettermen, not so many as Plymouth but of the same or better quality. And he has an undefeated club that only last week took South Central apart with an offense that rolled up 48 points.

What's more ominous is that some of his bigger guns have another year on the firing line, since they are 11th and 10th graders.

Quarterbacking assignment will be divided between Chad Fairchild, 11th grader, six feet two inches and scaling 195 pounds, who throws like John Elway, and Dave Hipp, only five feet 11 inches tall and weighing just 168 pounds, who excels in the running game.

And the running game? Largely in the hands of and on the back of Dane Burke, an 11th grader, 175 pounds and six feet one inch. He's a game-breaker. He carried for 180 yards in 14 tries against South Central.

Kevin Campbell is, most of the time, the fullback. He scales 190 which he carries on a six feet two inch frame. Campbell gained 58 yards against the Trojans.

How good is the offensive line? Pickens doesn't know and expects to find out tomorrow. Three 12th graders, Larry Jackson, 177 pounds; Dan Thomas, 170 pounds, and Pat Carey, 160 pounds, and an 11th grader, Scott Sowers, 173 pounds, will give away some weight but not much height or speed to the Big Red's defensive ends.

Seasoned players are available for the tackle jobs. These are Jeff Charles, 190 pounds, Jay Lukaako, 175 pounds, 12th grader and 11th grader, respectively, with two ninth graders, Travis Braden, 245 pounds, and Shane Fairchild, 189 pounds, as backups.

Two starters of last year's team, which defeated Plymouth at Collins, are back at guard. These are Brian Vogt, 190 pounds, and Steve Good, only 145 but tough.

A returning starter, Craig Conklin, 190 pounds, does a good job at center.

Western Reserve, like Penn State, habitually turns out strong linebackers. This season is no exception. Hite, Fairchild and Hipp have drawn these assignments, with relief from Good, Ty Wolfe, who also plays fullback; Keith Schaeffer and Kevin Campbell.

But the big man for the Roughriders is Todd Eungard. He weighs please see page 2

Janelle L. Miller, daughter of the A. George Millers of Shiloh route 1, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military academy's corps of cadets as a new member of the Class of 1991 during the annual acceptance parade.

The new cadet is an honor 1987 graduate of Plymouth High school.

Local couple seeks license to marry

Gregory Alan Rogers and Sheri Lynn Ellis, both residing at 167 1/2 Nichols street, have applied in Richland county probate court for a license to marry.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

This letter is to inform the voters and taxpayers of this village on a very controversial issue to do with trash hauling that just passed in this village on Sept. 23th. It was passed by the village council to have one trash hauling contractor in this village and "requires" all residents to participate in this service. This means all village residents would be required by village law to pay the trash fee by one trash hauler or face prosecution. I think that the idea is good, to reduce the monthly cost to homeowners, but this takes away a person's right to select the trash hauler of his or her choice. I think this does take the freedom of choice away from us. This also puts a financial burden on those families with a fixed income and especially the senior citizens of the village. This point was well voiced by the members of the community at the meeting as there was standing room only. Being a write-in candidate for a council seat in the next election, I want you to know that I would have voted against the above. I believe the council people should represent the people of the village and be their voice in law and policy making. Therefore I urge you to write-in my name at the next election for a council seat so that I may represent you in the years ahead. My husband and I have been in this village for about two years now, but coming from another community gives me a chance to see things from a broader perspective than some who have lived here for a long time or their whole life. As your councilman I pledge to represent the voice of the people of Plymouth and not a part of any "click".

Thank-you,
Wanda Caudill
(Mrs. Stephen J. Caudill)

Red romps at Crestview

Shocked by a 45-yard touchdown run by Kerry Hart on the first offensive play of the game by Crestview three Friday night, Plymouth methodically persisted in its game plan and dominated the Cougars thereafter for a 24 to 6 Firelands conference victory.

The Big Red is now 2-and-1 overall and 2-and-0 in league play. Chuck Kosee's passing game got a better than passing grade. He completed 10 of 21 aerials for 118 yards and all three Plymouth touchdowns. Two of them went to Bernd Schneider, a West German exchange pupil, kicked three PATs and a 17-yard field goal.

Hart's touchdown was the result of a mistake by the Plymouth defense. The Cougars got possession by an earlier mistake, a fumble by Chuck Deskins at the Red 40, whence Plymouth had advanced with the opening kickoff from its 25.

Hart leaped over Jeff Staggs, cut down by a vicious block, and sped down the east sideline untouched. The run for PATs failed. The clock read 9:08.

The Big Red punched to the Cougar 34 with the ensuing kickoff, only to run out of downs. Its defense, which stood out like a beacon, forced Crestview to give up the ball, indeed, during the first half, the Cougars notched only three first downs for 61 yards on the ground and five yards through the air.

Plymouth kept the pressure up on offense. But it could not make a 10-strike. Its aim for the jugular was askew. It drove to the Cougar 24, gave up the ball, then regained possession after giving up a first down because, on fourth down, Crestview couldn't get the ball to its punter.

On three occasions, the snap went over the punter's head or skittered on the ground beyond his reach.

Forced to give up the ball on fourth down at its 36 because Deskins, who spent almost as much time in the Cougar backfield as he spent in his own, sacked Kevin Phillips for four yards, Crestview gave Red possession at its 35. Kosee sent Co-Capt. Dave Powers, who was to rack up 69 yards with 22 carries and make half a dozen solo tackles, his guard for no gain. On second down, Kosee found Fletcher alone in the tertiary and hit him with a pass-and-run play that concluded in pay dirt. Schneider's place kick gave Plymouth a lead it never gave up. The clock read 3:27 of the second period.

Boosters to meet

Athletic Boosters will meet today at 7 p.m. in the OWE room of Plymouth High school.

Entry to the room is at the nearest corner of the building.

Sean Garrett intercepted Phillips' pass at the Cougar 34 early in the second half. Plymouth needed four plays to get to the Cougar 29, but failed of first down.

On fourth down, the Crestview punter passed to Scott Durbin but the play lost two yards.

The Big Red was not to be denied with the next possession. It drove from the Cougar 31 to the nine. On fourth down, from the 17-yard line, Schneider split the uprights.

Unable to gain with the next kickoff, Crestview punted 29 yards to the Red 35, where a veteran letterman was ejected for unsportsmanlike conduct. Plymouth drove 65 in 11 plays. Kosee's pass to Fletcher with just three ticks left on the clock resulting in the second touchdown. Schneider's kick was again good.

Crestview's passing game wasn't anything to write home about. It was effective only over the middle of the Red line, which comported itself with high honor in this one. Barry Handahoe, Mike Howell, Jeff Staggs and Dave Powers were outstanding on defense. Staggs in the secondary, almost all night.

The Cougars got 28 yards on one completion and 18 on another. A fumble recovery by Powers cost the Cougars 16 of the 28 they netted on the completion. Plymouth went to work.

The Big Red went to the air twice in the next series. On third down Kosee got 12 yards on a completion to Mike Bailey. Plymouth drove 57 yards in 15 plays after the fumble recovery. The clincher was a 22-yard toss from Kosee to Todd Wilson. Schneider's kick was again good.

This was neither a spectacular nor an exciting game; it seldom is when the stronger team simply grinds it out and plays it tough on defense. That Crestview was held to 17 yards on the ground and 51 in the air is convincing evidence that the Red defense did its job.

The offense has a considerable distance to go. But it did not engage in self-crippling mistakes. The running game depends on Powers and Deskins, each of whom was a marked man in the Cougar defensive scheme.

Seven seek to succeed to Wolf's post on commission

Seven Republicans seek appointment to complete the term of Terry Wolf, whose resignation to become treasurer of Clear Fork Valley Local School district is effective Wednesday.

These are Dale Cook, former commissioner, who did not seek reelection in 1982; Richard Hamilton, clerk of Madison township, the only candidate who ever came within whistling distance of defeating the late Norman Wolfe as Richland county auditor (Wolfe served as county auditor longer than anyone in Ohio history);

Also, Bonnie Scott, deputy clerk, Board of Elections; Ralph Shadel, administrator, small claims division, Mansfield Municipal court and secretary, GOP executive committee; Ray Atkins, retired executive of United Telephone Co.

Also, Albert D. O'Neil, former sheriff, now an investigator in child support division of the prosecutor's office, and Phillip M. Holloway, councilman-at-large in Mansfield.

Wolf's successor will be named by the GOP central committee, which must act after Oct. 6 and before Oct. 15.

The job pays $32,333 a year. Wolf has held it since 1980. He was reelected in 1984.

Soul cleansed, her recipe's for package mix

By AUNT LIZ

Over the years, this column has been designed to amuse even educate, with some dumb thing I have discovered for the first time in my life.

This week is going to be a little different, but first let us deal with bee stings. For the second time in my life one got me. (Ed. Note: It was a wasp.) The first time was when I was doing swimming in a Girl Scout camp, sat on one at the end of the diving board and could not sit for two days. The Boy Scout handy man kept offering to rub stuff on it.

This time all I did was pick up a telephone, and the insect was on the inside and really got me. Now I have discovered you must put ice on immediately, then soak it well in which, which is a time honored remedy for all sorts of things.

It was a friend who came up with it, for which I will always be grateful. I never had anything hurt so much in my life, and she solved it by sending down a bottle.

If you do not own one, trot right out and buy one. It does everything from bruises to bites.

Now let us get serious. For the first time in years, the village council is divided. A tie vote is rather rare, but it happened.

The last time it was over the firemen selling beer at its first festival.

Three were dead set against it, and I had the feeling they really got together to split the vote so I would have to make the decision, since I was the Mother Hen of the place. They all knew public opinion was really divided. Frankly I wanted them to sell the stuff rather than have everyone wandering around the Square for it. Just keep it in one place.

So the night came to vote, and they split. By then I had caught on to them and simply said, "Gentlemen, if you cannot decide, I will not do it for you".

It worked out. Bob Bachrach generously offered his property at the edge of the fire department for the stand, so it was not on public ground. Lately it has been on public ground and no one has uttered a sound because it has worked out nicely.

Now we are into who will pick up our trash. Having one hauler for the whole village sounded like a great idea to start with and I was for it. Now, I have discovered too many "bugs" exist.

Many are living on fixed incomes, cut corners and manage to take care of theirs, some houses are shaming, and it simply is not fair for those of us who have one bag or possibly two a week to pay the same as those with babies who are in diapers.

Actually, our house is the dumb one. We are paying for the house and office, and could very easily eliminate the house by carrying the little we have to the office.

The other big thing that I did not really realize existed was the fact that people simply do not want to be told what to do beyond necessity. Sure we are all stuck with village electricity, water, General Telephone and Continental Cablevision. Call them "natural monopolies." This whole thing can be carried a step or two further. Why can't there be an ordinance or a contract that only one newspaper will be subscribed to and billed on your utility bill, or only one grocery store or hardware store you may shop in?

Sounds stupid? But it could be. Other countries have done it. Next comes the big decision this fall of all of us. Are we going to wear skirts four inches above our knees because a bunch of designers think it's great?

"Not me," said the Little Red Hen. My legs aren't too bad. (Ed. Note: You can say that again!) but I think that at the grandmotherly age, I would look plain dumb. Nevertheless, we do live in a great age. Don't pass up any of those package sauces you see. They work like a dream, especially those for pasta. Our biggest treat of the summer was to have real pesto from fresh basil, which was kind of a head ache to raise. Now it comes in a little envelope and is just as good as the stuff we ate in Italy. The secret is to mix it with good olive oil.

There was another package mix someone gave us of herbs and garlic that called for olive oil, which we did not have, so I used ordinary margarine and it was great.

Simply do not pass them up when you see them, they make a quick, good dinner. Be sure you have grated cheese.

Taking The Bite Out Of The Bear.

Even during bull markets, some Wall Street investors worry about the bear showing up to take a bite out of them. But you can get the best of the bull and take the bite out of the bear. If you join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds, Bonds have a variable interest rate that lets you share in higher returns during bull markets and a guaranteed minimum to protect you against the bear.

Bonds give you the best of both markets. Because you know that if the bear should appear, his growl will be worse than his bite.
