The sad tale of four boys and their illness

Three little boys went to school in Arcadia, Fla., a small town, last week. When they came home for the night, their house had burned down. The fire began in the room in which they slept. Apparently there is no question but that it was arson.

Another little boy went to school in an Indiana town last week. He knew none of his classmates; indeed, only two even spoke to him. He was new to that school because pupils and their parents kicked him out of his previous school.

What counts?

A while back, some otherwise sensible and reasonable folks in the county seat became highly exercised — what our schoolboy friend labels "all bent out of shape" — because a survey showed that Mansfield ranks in the lower 13th percentile among 300 places to live in America.

They expended considerable energy and used a goodly portion of the news hole in the daily newspaper in useless protest. It was useless for a number of reasons, not the least of which are that the milk had been spilled, there was nothing Mayor Meehan, or the chief editorial writer of the newspaper, or the clergy or anybody else in Mansfield should do about it, and that, whether Mansfield could rank in the highest five or 10 cities, in the middle among the 300 that were considered, or at the extremely low level that was ultimately decided upon, it really doesn't matter a whole heck of a lot. What counts is how we perceive ourselves.

If Mayor Meehan and others of the Mansfield power structure had shown good sense, they would have concluded, as we do now, that Money Magazine is a long way from being the Gospel According to St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke or St. John, and while it would have been nice had the findings of the publication shown Mansfield higher than in the 13th percentile, somebody had to be in that place. And they would have discovered that the city rated No. 1 in the list, Nashua, N. H., not only finds the honor difficult to accept — its power structure recites such shortcomings as "too expensive", "too crowded", "awfully boring", "nothing here for young single people", "too many homeless people", "impossible traffic" and "pollution problems" — but questions any survey that ranks San Francisco below No. 1.

Even so, Money Magazine faulted Nashua for some of the same shortcomings as were assigned to Mansfield; small cultural community, dull social life, limited retail market.

Everybody knows that life in Richland county in 1987 is not all milk and honey. Leave aside the frightful scandals in the Mansfield treasurer's office and the county sheriff's office. Leave aside that Washington is again making noises that may close the Mansfield weather station. Leave aside that some industries aren't hiring, or, indeed, are considering closing. What needs to be addressed, by all of us, the commissioners, business, commerce and industry, the political party structures, the schools, the whole shoot-and-baboodle of us, is why we are losing the good ones, what will it take to keep them among us or to retain them after they have completed their educations, what is it that impels the good ones to reject the ties of family, of friends, of familiar institutions and organizations, for the glitter, and the glitches, of other towns in other regions.

We laid these thoughts before an adviser of long and favorable standing. He refreshed his chew — he favors Havana Blossom — and said, "Your ideas, for the most part, are sound, deserving of consideration, show good signs that if they were adopted we'll be a lot better off. Now be honest with me: how far do you think you'd get if you went to the power structure, as you call them, with these ideas? Don't make me laugh!"

Laugh, indeed! Our adviser knows more about Richland county and who live in it than those that we pay to know at least as much, and prayerfully more, that he does. Or we do.

Aims in PHS: accreditation leader of four

Four objectives for the 1987-88 school year have been set for Plymouth High school by its principal, Granville S. Fleisher.
 Oct. 20-22 will be red letter days for the school: it will be visited by a team of 19 educators to review the overall program that, it is hoped, will lead to final approval by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.
 If the school passes muster, it will then be received into the prestigious organization during the national convention during March, 1988, in Chicago, Ill.
 Fleisher's second objective is the goal of more positive leadership among the student body.
 Third, he hopes to reduce disciplinary suspensions and to have make-up days on Saturdays.
 Fourth goal is to "revitalize" school programs, such as the annual Voice of Democracy declamation contest, the spelling bee and the "responsibility room", which is open for pupils with 3.0 averages.

By AUNT LIZ
 To be pecked, it could be called the nastiest trick: how to make an apple cake-like pudding without apples.
 It was a real goof. That recipe has two cups of chopped apples and just a half-cup of chopped nuts. I am sorry if I upset anyone who decided to try it.
 We all goof now and then. (Ed. Note: Not all of us.) Even in the Sunday paper, there is a really funny one. I won't say which of the three we read it. It was kind of a logical goof. Some reporter, probably a very young one who simply is not too familiar with some of our colleges and universities, called Murray State McMurray State. After all, it sounds Irish, no more Irish names start with Mc.
 Maybe I wouldn't have caught it if I didn't know the place, since our favorite son was on the faculty there and he visited several times. It is a good school and a lovely town except for one thing: You have to drive about 40 miles to buy a bottle of beer. It's quite dry, but this doesn't stop half the population from inbibing.
 I can remember one holiday night when we went to a lovely old house turned into a good restaurant near the lakes. Since it had no wine menu, we carried a little brown bag with one bottle for the four of us and while we were waiting for our table, some guy who was really celebrating the holiday came in with a large cooler, which must have had a complete bar in it.
 Back to goofs in newspapers. The best I ever saw, and I did not cut it out, was in a very nearby town. In those days families would sometimes write a glowing obituary of a departed one that was paid for. This one was an elderly lady who must have been a really good mother and grand-daddy mother. The last line said, "She parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell E. will be missed by her man friends." Keith. Him mother, Mrs. Rita that was back in the days of Courtney, Buckeye Lake; his aunt, Linotypes and someone left the "y" out. And, also were guests, W. Va., were also guests.

Contributions in memory of Mrs. Vane Hackett from Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. P. Wayne Wertheimer and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bisher have been received by Plymouth Public Library.

Jose Vasquez, Plymouth route 1, was admitted Aug. 28 to Willard Area hospital.
 Della King, Plymouth, was admitted there Aug. 24. She was released Aug. 28.
 Abel Tuttle, Plymouth, was released at Willard Aug. 24.
 Susan Hochstetler, Plymouth, was admitted at Willard Aug. 25.
 Thomas Riedinger, Plymouth, was released at Willard Aug. 25.
 Mrs. Marie Hall, Plymouth Villa, mother of David Hall, was admitted Saturday to Shelby Memorial hospital.

 The latter is a holding company that will allow the bank to offer more diversified services to its customers now not allowable under banking laws.

The sad tale of four boys and their illness

Doesn't it make you proud?
 And before you throw rocks at Arcadia, Fla., or at the town in Indiana, consider this: what would you do if four little boys, none of them sexually active in any way, being for the most part pre-pubescent, afflicted with the germ that can result in AIDS, which they got because the blood that by prescription was introduced into their systems was administered with unclean needles and perhaps taken from AIDS-afflicted donors, came to the school where your child is enrolled?
 We can only pray that we would be decent and honorable and, most of all, sensible about the whole thing. It's not necessary to adopt any special policy. We simply need to be decent, and honorable, and sensible.

And don't think it can't happen here. It's already happened in Mansfield, as the crow flies only 18 miles off.

Five accusations vs. Hamman set to be heard Sept. 9

A charge of disorderly conduct against Robert L. Hamman, 18, pleaded not guilty, was continued by Mayor Keith A. Hebble to Sept. 9 when he conducted mayor's court.

So were two charges of reckless operation and disorderly conduct, a count of tire peeling and another of disorderly conduct.

He was convicted after pleading not guilty to an accusation of driving while under suspension and fined $150, of which $100 was suspended on condition of no similar violation for one year, and of having an open container of alcoholic beverage and consumption while under age, for each of which he was fined $15. He promised to pay the fines in installments.

Robert C. Botello, Shiloh, pleaded not guilty to counts of public intoxication, criminal trespass and criminal damaging. He was heard yesterday.

Stacie B. Vanderpool, Plymouth, accused of speeding 49 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, was heard yesterday.

Johnny Linville, 18, 23 West High street, was fined $50 and costs, of which $20 was suspended on condition of no similar violation for one year, on one count of disorderly conduct to which he pleaded guilty.

Robert Elliott, Plymouth Villa, pleaded not guilty to one count of assault and will be heard Sept. 16. Scott L. Fairchild, Columbus, accused of a stop light violation, failed to appear. A bench warrant will issue.

Jacob J. Shepherd, Shiloh, accused of drunken driving, pleaded not guilty and his case was also continued.

Samuel Layne, Plymouth, convicted of public intoxication, was fined $30 and costs.

Disposition of other cases: Michael E. Schiefer, Bucyrus, speeding, $28; James A. Todd, Mansfield, speeding, $34; Douglas E. Wilson, Jr., Bucyrus, speeding, $28; Kimberly C. Simpson, Columbus, stop light violation, $15; Michael Branham, Plymouth, expired driver's license, $50.

Sir:

One last letter about the proposed garbage legislation. We all tend to think it won't matter if I don't go to that meeting. It matters! At this time, they think it is just a few people complaining. I'm sure this is not true. Later, many of these people may not be in office, whereas if this is passed, we will have this on the books a long time. Unless, that is, some of us get up petitions to have the issue put on the ballot. Your presence at this meeting Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. is vital! I'll see you at the meeting!

Marie Moorman
(Mrs. Dean Moorman)

Sir:

I had the distinct displeasure of accompanying my brother to the Courthouse as a witness in his custody suit for his three children. The attitude of Judge Smith and Referee Young is that mothers should always have custody, regardless of several witnesses who could present facts to the contrary.

Young refused to hear witnesses who waited up to seven hours, claiming he had "heard enough." Would these people have been here if they had not had something pertinent to say concerning the children's welfare?

The behavior of Referee Young, who several of us saw meeting with my brother's wife and her attorney prior to the temporary custody hearing, is appalling. Subsequently, Young would not hear testimony from any of my brother's witnesses in court and gave his wife temporary custody.

We have since been to court on another occasion. Three contempt charges were filed against my brother's wife for defying the court visitation order made by Young himself. My brother was to have his children every other weekend but has not seen them since May 29. Prior to this time, his wife took the children that moved to North Carolina, against Young's advice. Still, he failed to hold her in contempt, but instead accommodated her by giving my brother visitation rights twice a year - yet it seems the decision has been made.

After talking with "Fathers for Equal Rights" I find my brother's story is common. Based on my psychanalysis report, testimony from witnesses or actions displayed by the mother, Norwalk courts always give custody to the mother. Now that women make up a larger percentage of the work force then ever before, having to leave children with babysitters while they work, our judicial system should recognize that fathers can handle the same responsibilities.

If cases were judged on facts rather than an outdated, chauvinistic point of view, my brother would have custody of his children.

GenTelCo seeking $54 million raise

Telephone Co. is seeking a rate increase in the amount of $54 million, six-year investment program, officials announce.

The company Friday filed a rate plan with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. The plan is planned Sept. 30.

The plan increases proposed residential one-party service from $3.86 to $6.20 a month. Robert R. Randall, Marion, vice president-general manager, cites rising operating costs, a declining rate of return on investment and heavy capital needs to continue modernization programs as main reasons for the action.

The company also will seek authority to offer a "Lifetime" service for low-income customers, he said.

Lifetime, if approved, would discount basic service 43 per cent for users who qualify for the state's Home Energy Assistance program (HEAP).

Randall says Gen Tel's new Lifetime proposal is really an expansion of a concept introduced earlier this year. GTE's Telephone Assistance plan, introduced to customers in April, already offers a 50 per cent reduction in all one-time charges for HEAP-eligible customers signing up for new service.

"Our Lifetime plan continues the philosophy of ensuring affordable service," Randall said. "With Lifetime, we will assist low-income customers on both initial sign-up fees and basic monthly rates. We believe it will provide meaningful assistance to people who need it."

Gen Tel. is the first telephone company in Ohio to offer the Lifetime service that provides a reduction in rates, he says. With the discount, eligible customers would pay less under GTE's new rates than they are paying today, he says.

In addition, Gen Tel's Lifetime plan also may result in a waiver of an additional $2.60 a month in FCC-authorized subscriber line charges. Randall says GTE is now investigating the possibilities for that waiver.

If approved, the request would: 1. Increase the basic local service rate business and residential customers pay.

2. Move one-time charges, such as installation services, closer to the waiver.

Crestline favored to win opener with Plymouth

Big Red opens its 39th consecutive season of 11-man football at Crestline tomorrow.

Plymouth is a one touchdown underdog. The Bulldogs have a seasoned team, considerable size, better than average speed, and a strong desire to even an old score with the Big Red.

No player on the Blue and White has ever beaten Plymouth in football.

"We're a city over here," one player who wouldn't allow use of his name said to a reporter Friday. "Where does Plymouth get off beating us? Plymouth'll know what a good team looks like after this game. And you can print that."

The Big Red has engaged in three scrimmages with better success than most of its fans hoped for.

It downed Lucas on its field, tied Division III Willard and was beaten by a touchdown by Division II Ashland and defeated Hilldale here Saturday night.

Barring injury, this team can challenge for the Firelands conference championship.

Its principal opposition ought to be the defender, Black River, always formidable Monroeville and an up-from-the-ashes New London eleven.

Two of these foes will engage Plymouth at home, which puts the Big Red at some disadvantage. Only New London comes here, on Oct. 30.

Taken on what it has shown in scrimmages, Plymouth should show a strong running game, particularly to the right, by Chuck Deskins and big Dave Powers, who's going after his fourth letter. Powers, who comes from the formidable Hampton line of athletes that have competed for the Big Red, scales 200 pounds. Deskins, an 11th grader, packs 183 pounds on a five feet nine inch frame. Powers is the Felix Blanchard, the Mr. Inside, Deskins the Glenn Davis, the Mr. Outside, more correctly Mr. Farther-out-than-Inside.

Mike Bailey will spell Deskins. He tips the beam at 175.

Chuck Kosse, also an 11th grader, was injured in last year's Crestline game and was of no value thereafter. A year older, a year wiser, a bit faster, certainly somewhat bigger at 180 pounds, he will be the quarterback.

If the offensive line can accord him a reasonable protective front, he can pass accurately.

The pity is that the left side of the offensive line is no match for the right, where Co-Capt. Greg Burka, a three year letterman, at 205 pounds leads the charge from a tackle post. On his left is John Ganzhorn, six feet two inches and 185 pounds but with a neurological problem in his back, a seasoned performer. On his right, at tight end, is Jeff Tackett, also a letterman. He scales 190 pounds.

The center for the second year is Barry Handshoe, who weighs 200 pounds.

On the left side of the line, Coach Richard Roll, starting his sixth season as head mentor, needs to make some decisions. John Myers is an effective tackle. He is a letterman. His kin, Cory, may do at guard. The split end will probably be Ron Stephens, fastest man on the squad, a record setter in the 220-yard dash, who's out for football for the first time and shows his inexperience.

Plymouth's depth is questionable. Roll hopes his team will be tough enough to show as much stamina in the fourth period as in the first. Last Red team to do that was the 1964 club.

Defense is the name of the game. The Big Red defense made too many mistakes, mental and physical, against Willard, Ashland and Hilldale.

The key to the success of the defense is Burka, a genuinely nice fellow with great determination who leads by example. If he can avoid injury, the Red forward wall will be stronger than usual.

Burka will play at end, opposite side from Powers, a rambled boy of some size — 182 pounds — and height — six feet two inches.

Roger Keese, who weighs 190, and Mike Howell, who scales 200, will be the tackles. Deskins will be the middle guard.

The linebackers have great experience. Rod Reed also has three letters. He'll play on the other side from Powers, James Fletcher will spell them off.

The secondary is comprised of Jeff Staggs, Jerry Hall, Shane Garrett and Todd Wilson, who'll also see action, with Eric Breznicki, at wide receiver.

Plymouth will go just as far as its defense will carry it. "They can't beat you if they don't score" is what it said in George Halas's locker room at Chicago. It is no less true here.

By JOSEPH J. PETTI (Ed. Note: Mr. Petti enters his 34th season of outstanding coverage of Crestline athletics. He is editor of the Crestline Advocate.)

Since 1898 Crestline and Plymouth High schools have met on the football field 20 times and while Crestline has won 13 of the encounters, giving seven wins to Plymouth, only the last two years really matter.

Prior to 1985, the last time the two schools met was in 1976. That's long enough ago to make rivalries cool. The reviewed series, starting in '85 saw, the Big Red take a close 34 to 30 win. Then in 1986, the Red nipped the Bulldogs 27 to 26 because Crestline failed to score on a two-point conversion late in the game.

Coach John DiPietro, entering his 16th year at the helm of the Bulldogs, has spent the past two years developing a team which contains several players who saw action as ninth graders.

In 1985 the Bulldogs fielded a team of ninth graders, a few 10th graders and a couple of 11th and 12th graders, who were able to put together only 1-and-8 season. The next year they capitalized on the hard experience of the previous year and fashioned a 7-and-3 finale.

Now, the heart of the team is comprised of 11th graders who have played together for the past two years. There are 14 lettermen returning to the team. Only six graduated in June, and there are six 12th graders on this year's team. They are backed up by 14 of the 11th grade, eight 10th graders and 13 rookies.

The Bulldogs will mount an offensive line that averages 195 pounds. The backfield will be directed by Quarterback Mike Zara, 11th grader, who learned his trade the hard way, starting out as the first string quarterback when he was a ninth grader.

He will hand off to Tom Finnegan, 12th grader, a slashing runner who piled up 1,008 yards rushing last year. Rounding out the backfield for DiPietro will be Tim Eichler and Bryan Wiley, both 11th graders.

Two more 11th graders, Kevin Garrett and Todd Rox, will be looking at the Zara passing arm from the wide receiver post. Guards will be Chris Middleton and John Jeffrey. The tackle spots will be handled by Scott Smith, a 206-pound 11th grader, and Dave Phillips, a 225-pound classmate.

Centering the ball will be Rob Newcome, 210 pounds, who'll be graduated in 1988.

Bill Stull, at six feet four and 190 pounds, will be the tight end. He also is an 11th grader.

Defensively the Bulldogs will have an equally impressive front four with only a few of the offensive players doubling over. In pre-season scrimmages Crestline tied Malabar, two to two; beat Clear Fork two to none, and dumped Danbury two to one, on Aug. 26.

On the sober side of the picture, not everything is rosy for the Bulldogs. One starter and one player, described by Coach DiPietro as "very good", were lost for the season because of academic ineligibility during the last nine week grading period.

More recently the Bulldogs lost, for at least six weeks, the services of a 10th grader, Todd Rudd, who at 5 feet 10 inches and 194 pounds, had been slated for a lot of action at a guard position. Rudd broke an ankle in a mishap and will be sidelined.

If everyone else stays healthy, the Bulldogs will welcome the Big Red to Crestline on Friday, in the hope that the past two years will be just a bad memory.

Two at PHS take course in survival

If Rodney Reed, a three letter winner playing defense on the Big Red football team, runs out of gas during the season, don't blame it on his preparation.

In addition to the rigorous pre-season drills, some of which he missed because he was under the weather, young Reed enrolled in the Basic School in McBride road, Mifflin township, and underwent orienteering and survival instruction patterned after Army programs, including exposure to live ammunition fire overhead, and completed the course.

Son of the Robert Reeds, Mills road, he was accompanied by Michael McQuate, son of the Douglas McQuates.

'Colleen' fifth in $5,000 pace

She trailed the field of eight in the $5000 pace at Northfield Park Friday night, bolted to fifth and finished there, beaten almost six lengths.

Scrogie Colleen, owned by Lyle and Robert Hamman, Noble road, Shiloh, was beaten by BJ's Riply, driven by Ken Kash.

TODAY'S WOMAN HAS A WILL OF HER OWN

Time was when a woman didn't feel she needed to have a will. Her husband or father or some other male member of the family took care of such things. But today things are different. Many women prefer to handle things themselves—investments, insurance, property—and to make their own decisions. When it comes to their possessions, they want to decide who gets the treasurers, the stock, the real estate or the antiques.
The best way for you to be sure that your wishes will be carried out is to make a will of your own. And the first step is to see your attorney. After you have remembered those close to you, we ask you to remember the American Cancer Society. We promise to use anything you leave us carefully and prudently in research, in public and professional education and to improve the quality of life of cancer patients.
If you or your attorney want to know more about the Society and what we do, call your local ACS Unit or write to the American Cancer Society, 4 West 35th Street, New York, NY 10001.
