Five lettermen report to Neff

Bryan Neff is approaching his new job as head basketball coach of Plymouth High school in a cautious, low-key man-

The Big Red opens an 18-game season at Clear Fork Dec. 3. He has about decided on the identity of the personnel of the 12-man sonnel of the ra-ham squad. But he hasn't decided which among them will be his starting five. Nor has he decided if his team can win the Johnny Appleseed conference championship this season, but "Lexington is the team to beat". Neff succeeds Ron Host-ler as head coach. He moves up from the reserve post. HE HAS FIVE SENIORS who are returning lettermen. Two of them won second team mention in the JAC last season. These are John Conley, 5 ft. 11 ins., and Bill Van Wagner, 6t. 3 ins. The other three are Larry Taylor, 6-3; Brad Ream, 6-2, and Jeff Fa-zio, 5-11. Two other seniors, both

As it was, Plymouth closed another dismal and discouraging season. Its record was 3-and-7, with two wins in the Johnny Appleseed conference.

The record should have been 6-and-4, it being doubtful that Plymouth could have beeten Mon-roeville, Ontario, Fredericktown or Crestline. But it should have won the others.
