

Jake Gaubatz, Bob Kanz Hit Big 700 Series In Bowling

Jake Gaubatz and Bob Kanz blasted off with fine 700 series to spark league bowling last night.

The Fisher Body Salaried League at Park Lanes also produced two of the top scores. D. Van Dine had a 248—691 and Bill Kimes, 274—678.

Jean Rock led women's bowling with a 228—585 in the Sunset Classic League at Village Lanes.

Mossy's Ashland put together a whopping 3,031 in the Fisher Body Hourly League at Park Lanes as Bill Kimes rolled 274—678, Ernie Surgener, 653; Phil Cooper, 624; Don Utz, 552; Jack Boisvert, 524.

Maloney's Bid Fails Once Again

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It's a case of close but no cigar for Cincinnati's Jim Maloney in his bid to join baseball's select group of no-hit pitching fame.

The 24-year-old fire-balling right-hander lost another crack at an elusive goal and had to settle for his third one-hitter in less than three seasons Monday as the Reds defeated the Milwaukee Braves 2-0 on Deron Johnson's two-run homer in the second inning.

Maloney checked the Braves for seven innings, surrendering only three walks, all on 3-and-2 pitches. Then Denny Menke half lunged at a low outside pitch and looped a single through the hole to left to spoil Maloney's brilliant effort at the outset of the eighth.

ALL GOING

"I felt sure I was going to get the no-hitter after the sixth inning," Maloney said. "I had everything going for me. My fast ball was exploding and I was putting my curve where I wanted it. Then Menke hit a real good pitch, low and away. The pitch was right where we wanted it, but he managed to get a piece of it. It was a curve and he didn't take a hard cut."

Menke, a power-hitting shortstop with a homer, a triple, two doubles and a single in weekend games with the Chicago Cubs, agreed with Maloney.

"It was a good pitch," Menke said. "With the count one ball and two strikes on me. I was just protecting the plate. I couldn't afford to risk a called third strike, so I just reached out and tried to get the fat end of the bat on the ball. It's tough for a pitcher to miss a no-hitter, but we have a job to do, too. And I'll take a hit anytime."

Dodger Ace Okay After First Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As morning dawned today, Los Angeles Dodger hearts were swollen because Sandy Koufax' left elbow wasn't.

Koufax' cherished elbow, which hurled nine victorious innings against the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday and was still slim and limber Monday, is nonetheless arthritic and could flare up again, warns Koufax.

Koufax, who threw a touch wild against the Phils, said Monday, "I'm very happy about the condition of my arm," after the precarious joint weathered the workout with no swelling.

But pleasure at the elbow's condition was tempered by Koufax' additional statement that: "I'm not looking for any trouble and I don't expect any. But I have still got arthritis. There's no telling when it will blow up next."

"No matter what I think of it, it's not going to help. It felt good yesterday, it feels good today. Tomorrow, who knows?"

Tech Drops Out Of Old Sport Loop

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Ambitious Virginia Tech has cut its Southern Conference ties and set an athletic course it hopes will lead straight into the arms of the powerful Atlantic Coast Conference.

After 44 years in the Southern, of which it was the last remaining charter member, Tech announced Monday night it was withdrawing June 1. It said bluntly that it had outgrown the league.

And although Tech President T. Marshall Hahn said the college had made no plans other than to operate independently, it was abundantly clear that Tech had ACC membership in mind.

Considerably less clear was whether the eight-member ACC would welcome the 6,500-student college with open arms. Six members must favor any addition to the conference, and not that many did in 1958 when Tech applied formally and didn't make the grade.

McDowell To Pitch

CLEVELAND (AP)—The first pitch for the Cleveland Indians home opener Wednesday will go from governor to mayor to senator—then Sam McDowell will take over.

Gov. James A. Rhodes will toss from a field box to Mayor Ralph S. Locher on the mound. He'll relay to Sen. Frank J. Lausche in the batter's box.

It'll be an all-Ohio combination—except for McDowell, a native of Verona, Pa.

McDowell, a 6-foot-5 southpaw, will face Fred Newman of the Los Angeles Angels in the Tribe's attempt to snap a three-game losing streak. Ralph Terry won the season opener against the Angels in Los Angeles, then the Indians dropped three straight.

It was thought that Dean Chance might oppose the Indians but he has been hampered with a blistered finger since working six innings against the Yankees last Wednesday. Chance, of Wooster, won the Cy Young Award as the most valuable pitcher in baseball last year with a 20-9 record.

Japan Dominates Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — Morio Shigematsu led a promised blitz of the Boston A. A. marathon Monday and stamped the 1965 edition "Made in Japan."

The delegation from Nippon predicted it would capture the first five places. Two-time defending champion Aurele Vandendriessche of Belgium said "They can always dream."

When it was over, Vandendriessche was the lone obstacle between the Japanese and realization of their goal.

Shigematsu, 25-year-old senior business major at Fukuoka University, sprinted the final two miles for a 2:16:33 clocking. Hideaki Shishido and Takayuki Nakao completed a 1-2-3 sweep in 2:17:13 and 2:17:31, respectively.

Crestline In Close Win, 2-1

Crestline took advantage of four walks in the final inning to slip past Northmor yesterday, 2-1, on the Northmor diamond.

Hits were scarce for both teams, as Crestline hurler Jeff Hagan fanned 12 Golden Knight batters and allowed only a double and a single in seven innings. Jim Garverick, although plagued with control difficulties, was almost as tough for Northmor, giving up three doubles and striking out seven.

HEEL BLISTER

Poiled by Japanese strategy and a blistered right heel in his attempt to make it three straight, Vandendriessche was fourth in 2:17:44, still faster than the course mark of 2:18:58 he set two years ago.

Japan's Hoshikazu Funasako and Kazuo Matsubara were fifth and sixth.

Escorted by four, then three, then two Japanese most of the way when the field began to thin out, Vandendriessche was left far astern by Shigematsu's dashman takeoff two miles from the end. Vandy was second at that point but lost ground in the remaining distance.

EVERYTHING RIGHT

"Everything went right for me," said Shigematsu. "The weather, the road — everything was very good."

I worried about Vandendriessche up to 20 miles," he said through an interpreter. "I was very confident after that."

It was Shigematsu's first victory in 12th marathons. The Japanese had not been represented in the Boston event in the past seven years, but had three winners in the 1951-55 period.

Paint Will Cover Dome At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Hofheinz, a driving force behind the construction of the new $316-million Harris County Domes Stadium, will try to cover a mistake with 700 gallons of paint.

The mistake: A special kind of plastic in the 4,596 skylights in the dome that diffuses the sunlight but puts so much glare into an outfielder's eyes he hasn't one chance in a hundred of catching a high fly on a sunny day.

The solution: A coat of off-white paint over each skylight.

"We're reasonably certain this will stop the glare," Hofheinz told a news conference Monday.

"It's a permanent coating that will enhance the stadium's beauty," he said. "At night the paint will make the dome glitter on the outside and glow on the inside."

What could be better than that?

Blue sky overhead, an outfielder might say.

SPOOKED ASTROS

You've got to feel for the outfielders. The Astros, for example, were so spooked by the possibility of getting knoked on the head they wore batting helmets during an intra-squad game April 8.

That's the day the mistake was discovered.

The painting job will cost $20,000. Four men with spray guns are expected to take three days to do it, starting today.

The first daylight league game is scheduled Sunday between the Astros and Pittsburgh.

Hofheinz, co-owner of the Astros, said experts studied more than a thousand suggested solutions from over the nation before deciding on the paint.

He said the paint would cut out 25 to 40 per cent of the natural light, but this would not hurt the special grass that already has shown signs of dying in spots.

"We think it will continue to grow," Hofheinz said. "It will require some experimentation, however, and the grass will be observed constantly by experts during the 10-game home stand that opens Friday night."
