THE MAYFLOWER

1946

L. Keith

O, here's to thee old P. H. S.
The school we love most dear,
We pledge to thee our loyalty,
Thy name we all revere.
Though we may roam in after years
Our love shall never die.
Nor shall we forget thee
And the friends of Plymouth Hi.

Dedication

We, the class of nineteen-hundred forty-six, do hereby dedicate this page to our advisor, Mrs. Margaritha Anderson, without whose able and willing help and kindly guidance, the making of this annual might never have been possible.

This is the '46 Mayflower Staff, the group that has worked long to produce an annual worthy of the standards that have been set for them.

Extra appreciation is due to Mrs. Anderson, their efficient advisor, who kept the ball rolling when the friction was rough and who worked through the day and worried at night what to do the next day.

Not to be excepted are their trying efforts to get the material typed and ready.

We sincerely hope that their efforts have produced an annual that you will like.

Class History

In September 1934, ten of our present class members entered the first grade under the loving and capable hands of Miss Mary Sheely. They were Ella Jane Echelbarger, Margaret Briggs, Lois Berberick, Donald Smith, Wayne Ross, Eldon Sourwine, Richard Ross, William Miller, Byron Ream, and Elden Burkett.

Miss Swagger guided us through the second grade, continuing to teach us the fundamentals of reading, writing, and arithmetic.

With Miss Berry to guide us through the third grade we started the year with Warren Wirth as a new member.

The next year proved to be a happy one. We had as our teachers Miss Florence Danner and Mr. King. A new member, Evelyn Carnahan, joined us due to the consolidation of the township schools.

The fifth grade was an eventful year because of the many activities in which we partook, such as the yearly operetta, bake sales and parties. Mr. Kienath and Miss Florence Danner were our teachers.

During the last year at the dear old grade school, Miss Danner led us successfully through our many trials.

Entering the seventh grade in the High School Building we thought would be wonderful. But once we got inside, our knees began to shake and we were quite uncomfortable until Mr. Derr took us under his protecting wing.

During our next year we welcomed two more of our present number, namely, James Neely, and LaWanna Brown. Many of us participated in the school activities, such as glee clubs, band, operetta, and the sports.

Freshmen! . . . to good to be true! Our faculty had made many changes during the summer. We started with new ambitions and goals determined to make the best of our high school career. Miss Hamilton took us in hand that year.

During our Sophomore year with Mr. Derr to counsel us again we experienced many good times and will long remember the hay rides and social activities. One new member, Verna Smith, joined our ranks.

Our Junior year held many things in store for us. In November we presented our class play, "Grandpa's Twin Sister." Our sponsor, Mrs. Anderson, helped to make this a great success, and with her guidance and endless patience, we were able to give a beautiful and successful Junior-Senior Banquet which was enjoyed by all. This year we sold popcorn, hot dogs and coke at the basketball games which enabled us to make quite a bit of money.

During this year we made the acquaintance of four new members, Dale Thompson, Cynthia Burrus, Florence Cole and Robert Berberick. The Merchant Marine's gain and our loss during this year was Jack Hampton and Bob Metcalfe.

The fastest of all school years—the twelfth—is a year in which the class is sorry to leave. Under the direction of Mrs. Anderson the year is sailing along smoothly.

In January of this year Betty Nix made the acquaintance of our group.

We now have a class of twenty . . . . Lois Berberick, Verna Smith, LaWanna Brown, Florence Cole, Ella Jane Echelbarger, Evelyn Carnahan, Cynthia Burrus, Donald Smith, Richard Ross, William Miller, Byron Ream, Warren Wirth, Eldon Sourwine, James Neely, Robert Berberick, Elden Burkett, Dale Thompson, and Betty Nix.

As this is being written we are looking forward to presenting our class play, "Peekaboo Penny;" to the Juniors entertaining us at a banquet; and last but not least to—Graduation.

Our work on the annual has provided us with valuable experience as reporters, copy writers, advertising agents, editors, etc. We will long remember the good times; the work; the fun; all of which made our Senior Year the happiest—the parting the saddest—of all our School Life.

Class Prophecy

It was my job to write the Class Prophecy. A hard task—but now it has been completed. For days I gazed into the crystal ball, trying to grasp every little detail the future held for my classmates. Some of the facts were not so clear, some seemed incorrect and puzzling. I did the best I could—never taking my eyes away from the vision before it disappeared. This was what I saw:

A new star had taken the place of the old glamour boy Van Johnson, ELDEN "Red" BURKETT. The sign in front of the Capital Theater said "The Love Life of Burkett," the true story of his boyhood in a little town called Plymouth, Ohio.

My attention was then drawn to a crowd of people walking down the street. I followed them until we came to a beautiful white stucco house. All the furniture was being auctioned off by a fast speaking auctioneer. He looked very familiar and when I gazed more closely I realized that man was JAMES NEELY. He was talking to a very charming young lady whom I knew immediately. It was MARGARET BRIGGS. She was leaving her home so that she might accompany her wealthy husband on a tour around the world. I walked up to Margaret and asked if she knew where any of our other classmates were. She said that LOIS BERBERICK was managing her husband's business affairs at the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. while he was writing a book on "Life in India." Margaret knew nothing about the remaining members of the class.

When the auction was over I strolled across the street to enjoy a good meal at Thompson's Restaurant. The proud owner was DALE THOMPSON. He and his wife had been in business here for six years and it seemed as though they had made a fortune. I ordered my lunch, then gave my thoughts to the radio playing in the front. The announcer introduced a man named WAYNE ROSS and he began telling about his record collection and how he had started it. I knew immediately that the owner of the most fabulous record collection in the world was none other than "Pee Wee" Ross, my old friend and fellow classmate. When the fifteen minute program of recorded music was over, the Metropolitan Opera Co. was introducing a new star, RICHARD ROSS. He had been studying music at the New York Conservatory for ten years and today he was making his debut. He sang the popular classical selection "Figaro," and it was really excellent. My attention was drawn completely from the radio by a very nice looking gentleman entering the front door. He seemed to be a fur trapper because he was dressed for cold weather and had a rifle over his shoulder. This man was the famous BOB "Jake" BERBERICK, the noted "Cat-Skin" fur dealer. "Jake" was known all over the U. S. A. for his technique in "skinning" any cat-like creature.

When all these things had been shown to me clearly, the vision began to disappear and everything was blurred. I couldn't understand what was happening. Then the words New York City came before me and I realized that that same magic strength in the Crystal Ball was moving my sight from the present place to that of New York City. Then I saw more plainly and all difficulty in vision was gone.

I saw a huge run-way and a row of modern offices. Big transport planes were landing and others were taking off. As I looked inside the main office I saw another familiar person. He was sitting behind a large desk. The placket on the desk said President of the New York Municipal Airport. The man in this great seat of honor was WARREN WIRTH, former President of the Class of "46." As I entered the building a smiling secretary greeted me. It was none other than EVELYN CARNAHAN, an old classmate of P. H. S. After talking for quite some time, I decided it was time to depart and get on with my journey.

Then I saw myself boarding a passenger plane for Washington, D. C. A beautiful blond Stewardess showed me my seat. Her face seemed familiar. I spoke to her in a friendly tone and found it to be none other than my old classmate VERNA RAE SMITH. When I arrived in Washington, D. C. I immediately called a taxi. As we were driving along the boulevard, exceeding the speed limit, we heard a siren. We looked back and a police car was following us. In a flash it was beside us, and we pulled over to the curb. At first the policeman was real mean, he never looked up, just handed the driver a ticket and started to say "That will be $10"—and then I recognized him. It was my old classmate DONALD "Pete" SMITH. I talked to him for quite a while and he told me about another one of our classmates, ELLA JANE ECHELBARGER, who had worked at the journal department of the Washington Herald ever since graduation as the editor of the "Lovelorn" column. Pete was so interested in what I told him about a few of the other classmates that he forgot all about the $10. I told him Good-bye and again was on my way.

The afternoon sun was shining so brightly that I decided to spend the rest of the day in the Potomac Park. As I was watching the children play "hide and seek," I noticed some blond twins, whose faces seemed familiar. After one of the twins fell down and began crying, a young woman who was sitting on a bench near by got up and ran to the child. It was CYNTHIA BURRUS, a "46" graduate of Plymouth High. By talking to her, I found that she had achieved a husband, family, and home.

It was growing dark and I was tired of wandering so I decided to see the new "MILLER-REAM" production, "Ice-Cube Isabelle" starring FLORENCE COLE. It seemed as if these members of the old class had done quite well for themselves.

After the play I was exhausted and ready to check in my hotel. I had my luggage taken up and went into the dining room to listen to ELDON SOURWINE'S famous "Slumber Time" Orchestra. When I went in, the hostess, LaWANNA BROWN showed me to a table. I looked down at the menu and started to order. The words became blurred and a glow of light appeared. I found myself back at the Crystal Ball. It had shown me all of these things and I knew because of this I would remember the dear class of "46" all the rest of my life.
