Note from the Editor

Sometime in May the students of our school will be leafing through the pages of this 1957 Periscope for the first time.

We, the members of the Senior Class, hope that as you turn the pages there will be portrayed an accurate and interesting story of the 1956-57 school year. Likewise, in future years, we hope that it will bring back pleasant memories of a small portion of your school life.

Our Book of Memories

Dear Diary,

As we reminisce over our four years of high school, we can vividly remember many of our past experiences.

How can we forget our initiation! We have to admit that we were scared, but we survived it.

How excited we were when three of our girls were elected to lead cheers at the basketball games! Janet, Kay, and Phaenon did a good job of it, too.

Carole Ann Black was chosen to be our freshman homecoming attendant.

We ended our freshman year by picnicking at Mohican State Park with our class adviser, Mr. Kinsel.

We weren't too active during our sophomore year, Diary. I suppose that we were recuperating from our freshman year and getting set to tackle our junior year. Janet, Kay, and Phaenon were re-elected as cheerleaders in the fall.

Elaine Ballitch was elected as our sophomore attendant.

Mr. Daup was our class adviser.

Our junior year under the guidance of Mr. Pittenger proved to be very successful, Diary.

In November we received our class rings, and we presented our class play, "A-Feudin' Over Yonder", under the guidance of Mr. Mock.

The high school student body elected Elaine Ballitch as the 1956 homecoming queen, and the junior class elected Kay Elliott to be her attendant.

Janet Banks was chosen as our F. F. A. queen.

Kay Elliott attended Girls' State, and Larry Barnd and Jennings Francis attended Boys' State.

The highlight of our junior year was the Junior-Senior Prom. Our theme was "Moonlight and Roses". Getting ready for the prom was hard work, but we enjoyed every minute of it.

After eleven long years we have finally made it! Our studying seems to have paid off. We are under the supervision of Mrs. Huston.

Our class sold over $1,000 worth of magazines. The magazines and annual ads helped finance our annual. Janet Baker received a beautiful watch and Mary Catherine Daup, a camera.

Our class play was given late in the spring.

We are proud of Grace Ann Wolfersberger, one of our classmates, who placed third in the state finals of the Prince of Peace Contest. How well we recall New York Central's fastest train stopping on the Main Street of Shiloh at 4:30 A. M., so we could all go to Columbus to see her. After spending the remainder of the day sight-seeing and shopping, we returned to Shiloh that night.

We elected Dolores Mitchell as the senior class attendant.

Larry Barnd has been an outstanding basketball player for his three years in high school.

We are looking forward to our commencement which will be May 22.

As we look back, Diary, we realize how quickly our high school days have come to an end. We have shared many wonderful experiences together as a class. Now, each of us will be writing his own personal diary after graduating from high school. We hope that each one of our diaries will contain many pleasant memories too.

Reminiscently yours,

Mary Catherine Daup & Elaine Ballitch

Class Prophecy of 1957

At 8:00 P. M., on May 22nd, 1957, in a small auditorium at Shiloh High School, eighteen graduates received their diplomas at the annual Commencement exercises. Yes, it was a night of joy, and also a night of sadness. For after that night we knew that we would no longer see each other day after day; but that each one of us had to take his place in the world, which seemed to be staring us in the face that night.

In 1960 I, (INEZ GIBSON), graduated from Nurses' Training School at St. Lukes in New York. After I received my R. N., I then applied for a position at Cleveland City Hospital.

Shortly after I had started working there, I was very much surprised one morning as I walked into a patient's room. Who should the patient be but (ADRIAN COLE). He had become an electrician and while working on some high project, he had got his wires crossed and received a slight charge.

After treatment, Adrian was released a few days later.

The next week, I was walking down the hall carrying a tray of test tubes when my attention was turned to a moaning object being wheeled up the corridor, face down. I quickly set the tray down and rushed to the emergency room. It was a good thing I wasn't holding the tray of tubes, for who should it be but the blonde of my old high school class, (PHAENON GUTHRIE).

After Phaenon was able to be moved to a private room, I learned that she had married a successful farmer, Harmon Sloan, and that she also owned the Chuck Wagon. Then I learned the reason for her admittance to the hospital. It seems that she was attending a farmers' convention with her husband, and while hunting for his prize calf she accidentally found herself in a Brahma Bull's pen. He had favored her red Bermudas.

While talking to Phaenon, I received a call to report to the maternity ward. Yes, it was (MARILYN GARRETT) again. After her first turned out to be triplets, her husband was so excited this time that he had called the fire department, the police, the state patrolmen, and the mayor. However, he had forgotten to call a cab to take her to the hospital, so a policeman had to drive her there. At least it wasn't so hard on her husband this time as it was only twins.

The next morning, as soon as I came on duty, I was asked to keep a close watch on Room 308. It seems that some barber had accidentally got his fingers in his electric clippers. As I was walking by a stand in the hall where some magazines were lying, I thought I might be able to cheer him up by taking him a "Popular Mechanics". As I walked through the door, the magazine dropped to the floor, and I stood there with my mouth open, for who should it be but (DOLORES MITCHELL). After I had recuperated from the shock, she told me that when she graduated she wanted to do something different, so she became a barber. While she was cutting Elvis Presley's hair, she was so excited that she lost her fingers in the clippers.

A few weeks later my attention was called to Room 101. Some cheerleading teacher had broken her leg while trying to show one of her students how to kick her leg over her head. This I couldn't make out, so I thought I would go down to her room and see her. As you have already guessed, it was none other than (JANET BANKS). She told me that she was so interested in cheerleading, that she had decided to teach it. Then I asked her about her accident. She blushed and said she was standing in front of a closed door, and about the time she was demonstrating, some coach opened the door. Of course, I knew the rest.

One afternoon about 1:00 P. M., I was called to the emergency door. Upon my arrival there, I saw them carrying a familiar person on the stretchers. Why, yes, it was (LARRY BARND). After Larry was taken to his room, I talked to him for a while and learned that he had been quite successful. He was now playing ball for the Brooklyn Dodgers. His accident occurred at one of the games. It seems he was looking at a lovely girl in the stands, and did not see the baseball coming toward him. It had dislocated his shoulder. He later found out the girl in the stands was the pitcher's wife.

As the clock struck 3:00 P. M. one Wednesday afternoon, I was called to the emergency room again. Upon my arrival, they told me that there had been another accident. This time, football. I walked into the room, where the man was lying. Did I say man? Oh! No! I might have known it. It was (GRACE ANN WOLFERSBERGER). She was teaching physical education, and was always wearing some kind of football suit around. While she was watching a game, the only seat she could find was on the bench where the players sat. The coach was so excited that he had put her in to play as his last player was carried out on stretchers. The only thing she knew for sure was that she ended up on the bottom! Grace Ann was treated for shock and bruises and released.

It was late one evening when a patient was brought in with a broken nose. They told me it wasn't very bad, so I didn't go down to the room until the next morning. Of all people, it was (KAY ELLIOTT). Kay had become a well-known piano player, and when she was asked to play at a concert, she learned that only the night before Liberace had played the same piano. As she was examining the key board very closely and caressing the keys, the lid came down on her nose.

Then I remember a minor injury of one of my old classmates, (CAROLE ANN BLACK). Carole had become a private secretary for Governor O'Neil. One day she was so terribly rushed that some how she got her finger fastened in the electric typewriter. The damage was not serious; and after her finger was bandaged, she was released.

One morning I learned that a lady scientist had been bitten by a monkey, and being curious, I walked down to her room. Wouldn't you know it! (ELAINE BALLITCH), the brain of my old high school class, was lying there. I learned that Elaine had become a scientist and was interested in the fact that we were supposed to have originated from the monkey race, but the monkey didn't like the idea of her examining his teeth. The bite was not serious though, and Elaine was released.

As I look back on my first days at Cleveland Hospital, one of my funniest experiences concerned one of my classmates, (SAM LYNCH). It seemed that Sam had developed a very mechanical mind, and had invented a giant Robot. While he was demonstrating his giant Robot in Cleveland, something seemed to have gone wrong. Right in the middle of the demonstration, the Robot picked Sam up and set him on the Terminal Tower. After a physical checkup, we found that Sam wasn't hurt, just suffering a little from shock.

The next day as I walked through the hall with another nurse, she was telling me about a girl that had been admitted the preceding night. It seems she had to be treated for shock and was to be released today. In the afternoon I decided to go into her room and cheer her up. As you might have guessed, it was another one of my classmates, (PHYLLIS WALLACE). Phyllis told me she had married James Faulkner, and they lived in an apartment in town. Her husband worked nights and she was scared to stay by herself. One night as she was lying in the bed, she thought she heard a noise in the closet. She got up, half asleep, walked to the closet door, and opened it. She had forgotten about hanging a pair of long, white, underwear in the closet. As she opened the door, the underwear was all that she saw dangling in the black space. She was so scared that she jumped right out the window. She wasn't cut badly, but was just suffering from shock.

Early one morning as I was walking down the hall, I was asked to take a vase of flowers, which had been wired from Parris Island, South Carolina, into a patient's room. As I did so, I heard a familiar voice greet me. Why, who else would be getting flowers from Parris Island, South Carolina, but (MARY CATHERINE DAUP)? I learned that Mary Catherine had become a secretary for a large firm, and while sitting at her desk one day, she saw a mouse run across the room. She was so frightened that she tried to climb the filing cabinet, and turned it over on her. There were no broken bones though--just a few bruises.

During my lunch hour one day, I was to report to the X-ray room. Upon my arrival there, I learned that it was another one of my classmates, (MIRIAM STEELE). Miriam had got a position where she demonstrated how unhandy the old hand crank wash wringers were, compared with the new atomic modern ones of today. She had accidentally cranked her fingers up in the wringer. The X-rays showed no broken bones, so Miriam was released.

As I was about to go off duty one evening, I thought I would take a last round before going. As I walked down the hall, I heard a weird moaning. The room was dark, so I walked in and turned a light on over the bed, and there lay (NOREEN HALL), Noreen told me she was attending a rodeo, and while perched on a high railing above a wild horse, some funny cowboy pushed her in on the horse's back. All she remembers is the gate flying open. Of course, she wasn't hurt seriously--just a few bruises here and there.

The next morning my assignment was to keep watch on Room 808. It seems that a Home Ec. teacher was suffering from shock. Yes, it was (JANET BAKER). I later learned that while Janet was teaching one day, she was surprised by a skunk that ran right across the floor. Janet was so excited that she jumped upon a table and practically went into hysterics. We also learned later, that the skunk was a pet and quite harmless. Janet was released after a few days.

Then I was told one afternoon that a sailor had just about drowned that morning. Now this did seem unusual, so I walked down to the room where they told me the sailor was. Why yes, of course last, as he always was, but not least, was (BEVO FRANCIS). Bevo told me he was set on making the Navy a career after he was out of high school. I asked him if they didn't teach them to swim in the Navy. He told me they did. Then I asked him why he had almost drowned. He lay there for a while, then as his face turned a brilliant red, he told me the whole story. It seemed that he was on board a big ocean liner, and as it was pulling away from the dock, he was leaning out a port hole waving at a WAVE standing on the dock. One of his shipmates, from behind, made him acquainted with a wave twenty feet below.

It was early one spring morning as I walked toward the hospital. The fresh fragrance of spring flowers filled the air and birds singing in the newly leaved trees gave me a feeling of warmth and security. I was thinking of the days like this when we had walked to school, counting the days until it would be out.

As I entered the hospital, I saw them taking a patient into a room down the hall. I was told it was a school teacher, so later in the morning I thought I would cheer her up by taking her some flowers, from the garden behind the hospital. As I put the flowers down, and turned toward the patient, I couldn't even move, for who should it be but our senior class adviser, (MRS. HUSTON). She told me that while she was sitting at her kitchen table one morning, she saw some dogs in her sheep. She grabbed her shotgun, and ran out the back door. While trying to jump over the fence, she caught her foot between the railings, and she had done it again-sprained her ankle. I told her about all of my classmates that I had met while working at the hospital. She told me that she was still misplacing her purse.

As I was ready to leave the room, Mrs. Huston turned to me and said, "That Senior Class of 1957 stands out in my mind very much. I think that each and everyone of them has lived pretty close to the class motto."

Why, yes, I never thought of it before, but they have got TO THE STARS THROUGH DIFFICULTIES.

Carole Ann Black

Carole, sweet not shy,
Has a way with a certain guy,
His name is Tom, as we know,
And to shows they like to go.

Phaenon Ann Guthrie

Phaenon, that's quite a question!
Will she marry? Nice suggestion,
Some day she'll find a guy,
Then to us, it will be good-by.

Miriam Elaine Steele

Miriam knows her stuff
She studies her books and doesn't bluff.
She wants a position when she's through school,
And she always remembers the "Golden Rule."

Janet Irene Banks

Janet is very quiet,
But in Algebra she's a riot.
Now she never gets the blues,
Because she still likes Otis Hughes.

Ernest Adrian Cole

Adrian, long and lean,
Has a smile that's really keen.
With breaking speed records,
He's on the beam!

Mary Catherine Daup

Mary Catherine is a nice girl to know
We all know "Bill" is her "beau".
She is slim, smart, and really neat
And has a way that can't be beat.

Janet Cleone Baker

Janet is a friend to all,
Not too short and not too tall.
Comes to school to work, not play,
And with the rest, she has a way.

Elaine Kathryn Ballitch

Elaine, our '56 queen,
Is very smart and really keen,
In all her classes she is a whiz,
She's always on top in every quiz.

Jacqueline Kay Elliott

Kay, a girl of charm,
She can really set off the alarm,
She goes with a boy whose name is Fred
And her class she has often led.

Rose Inez Gibson

Inez has a special beau,
His name is Jerry, as we know.
We all hope that some day,
To nursing she'll be on her way.

Dolores Marie Mitchell

Dolores has very dark hair,
Some lucky guy she will snare.
Her ambition is uncertain as yet,
She may be a housewife or a hostess on a jet.

Marilyn Fay Garrett

Marilyn, the marrying kind,
Will stay single until a man she will find,
She loves jokes that make her laugh,
Tell us, Marilyn, who is your better half?

Noreen Hall

Noreen is known by all,
And with her you will have a ball,
Marcus is the name of her favorite boy,
And for him she jumps for joy.

Phyllis Jean Wallace

Phyllis is gay, shrewd, and witty
When she gets James, she'll live in the city.
Right now she works in Boock's store,
After she is married, she'll work harder than before.

Grace Ann Wolfersberger

Grace Ann is the clown of our class,
And a very clever little lass,
She makes us laugh when we'd rather cry,
While she just lets the rest of the world go by.

Larry Martin Barnd

Now Larry is an outstanding man,
Climbs to the top as fast as he can,
In a ballgame or in class grades,
He leaves us all in the shade.

Samuel James Lynch

Sam is tall and busy too,
He always paddles his own canoe,
Always comes to school on time,
And likes to sing "I'll Walk The Line."

Jennings Bryan Francis

Last, but not least, is our dear "Bevo."
He's always late and rather slow;
He pulls jokes and keeps us in a whirl,
Some day he'll find a pretty girl.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1957, being of unsane mind and infirm body, do hereby bequeath the following things to the underclassmen and persons in this our last will and testament.

ARTICLE 1

To the Junior Class we leave our ability to get along as a class.

To the Sophomores we leave the ability to draw over our pencil marks in our old books.

To the Freshmen we leave the ability to have a good initiation for the class of 1963.

To Mrs. Huston we leave our old memories.

To Mr. Guthrie we leave our dirty class room.

ARTICLE 11

Janet Baker leaves her ability to drive to Bobby Crouse.

Janet Banks leaves her cheerleading ability to Ruth Heifner.

Elaine Ballitch leaves her height to Dick Bookwalter.

Larry Barnd leaves his basketball ability to Junior Reynolds.

Adrian Cole leaves his ability to chisel his dad out of the car every night to Jiggs Hughes.

Mary Catherine Daup leaves her ability to play the clarinet to Mavis Francis.

Kay Elliott leaves her typing ability to Sam Leapley.

Bevo Francis leaves his ability to kill mice to Robert Seaman.

Marilyn Garrett leaves her complexion to anyone who wants it.

Inez Gibson leaves her ability to go steady to Virginia and George.

Phaenon Guthrie leaves her long hair to Jerry Gramer.

Noreen Hall leaves her ability to miss school to Jay Baker.

Prince of Peace

FIRST ROW: I. Gibson, J. Montgomery, R. Hall, N. Evans, D. Herz. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Huston, M. Cooper, H. Seaman, G. Wolfersberger, N. Ballitch, J. Amstutz.

The Prince of Peace Contests, sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches, were held in the Lutheran and Methodist Churches.

The winner in the Methodist Church was Judy Amstutz, with Inez Gibson as alternate. In the Lutheran Contest, Grace Ann Wolfersberger was winner and Janice Montgomery was the alternate. The winners then competed in the county contest in Mansfield.

Grace Ann Wolfersberger State Winner

Our school and community are very proud of Grace Ann for her achievement in the Prince of Peace Contest this year.

After winning the local, county, district, and state semi-final contests, she proceeded to the State Finals held at the Ohio Pastors' Convention in Columbus. There she was judged the third best speaker in the state. She won a one year scholarship and a $75 award.

Congratulations, Grace Ann!

State Winners

The three winners, Bryan Predika, Allen South, and Grace Ann Wolfersberger are being congratulated by Mr. Shillington, Executive Secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches.

State Contestants

Mary M. Younkman of Lafayette, Grace Ann Wolfersberger of Shiloh, Allen South of Dayton, Bryan Predika of Niles, Sharon Swartz of Marietta, and Roberta Pultz of Lorain.

F.T.A.

FIRST ROW: Mrs. Arnold, V. Wallen, S. Kaylor, D. Baker, J. Patterson, J. Hamman, V. Dent, P. Guthrie,
SECOND ROW: J. Banks, G. Wolfersberger, T. Russell, C. Bell, M. Steele, I. Gibson.

The Student Teachers' Organization is fulfilling a real need in the Shiloh School. It is made up of those students who have the qualities which make the administrator select them for student teaching.

Any student who is selected twice for substitute teaching in a classroom becomes a member of the organization. Those students are given pins bearing the F. T. A. emblem. This pin is worn with pride as it is an honor to be selected for substitute teaching.

Visiting privileges are granted to those students who wish to observe normal classroom procedures in the various grade school rooms. This observation is helpful to them when they are called upon to take over a class without warning when a regular classroom teacher is absent.

Substitute teaching experience should help the students decide whether they would be happy in teaching as a career.

The Senior High Band presented several programs during the year, making its first public appearance in October when they led the Annual Hallowe'en Parade. Their snappy performance, under the direction of Mr. Cronquist, was acclaimed by all who saw and heard them.

A high point of the season was a Christmas program when the band not only presented a concert of its own but also accompanied the choir in a performance of the Christmas story.

A very successful year was terminated by a spring concert in April and the annual performance in the Memorial Day Services in May.

The Shiloh Senior High Choir presented several programs during the year including a musical narration of the Christmas story accompanied by the band. At this program the choir appeared in their new robes. The proceeds from the program were added to the money donated by the Band Mothers and the Board of Education to cover the cost of the new vestments.

A spring program of light songs and choir classics was presented in April to culminate the year's activities. Many achievements marked a very successful year for the music department.

And Scholarship, Too

JOAN BALLITCH

Joan tied for fourth in Richland County in the State Eighth Grade Tests given in the spring of 1956.

Shiloh High School faculty and students were very happy last spring when they received word that they had six students place in the District Scholarship Tests held in Wooster in May. They were as follows: David Swartz, second in Bookkeeping; Judy Patterson, fifth in Latin I; Larry Humbert, sixth in Social Studies; Phyllis Keith, seventh in English XII; Elaine Ballitch, twelfth in American History; Jerry Gramer, twenty-first in Algebra I.

Larry Humbert and David Swartz also received Honorable Mention in the State.

1956 SCHOLARSHIP TEAM

FIRST ROW: Phyllis Keith,
Elaine Ballitch, Jerry Gramer,
SECOND ROW: David Swartz,
Larry Humbert.
