FOREWORD

Minds are trained through many perspiration hours whether on the football field, a quiet moment alone, or 2:45 in the afternoon. The mind in motion is revealed in many ways; to do the telling, to think, or to be told, each striving to express himself in his own way.

P.H.S. students motivated by others to reach their goals will continuously profit by these gains achieved. Whether past or present they will be recorded in the annals of P.H.S.

STUDENT LIFE

The close score of the volleyball game instills a competitive spirit among P.H.S.er's in the evening activity. Cheerleaders WIN! Senior boys "bring home the bacon".

Ceremonious installation of new members acquire "in" status for F.H.A. girls.

Leadership for students in the council are highlighted by the success of the Sadie Hawkins Dance in March.

Engrossed in school, self, friends, achievement, success, happiness and a deeper understanding of man in a modern world makes P.H.S. tops!

Students of PHS Spend an "Evening

On Saturday evening, May 17, the junior class was host to the 1969 prom. They created an atmosphere which was indeed a wonderful "Evening in Paris". The Mansfield Senior High dance band provided the music. The post prom was held at the Mansfield YMCA.

Music Department Heads

The music department was very successful this year in providing entertainment for the student body and members of the surrounding community. Football games, pep rallies, and concerts were among the highlights of the school year. The pinnacle of the season was a performance presented by the Ohio University Concert Band sponsored by the Plymouth Music Department.

Tim Willett puts in another hard hour of rehearsal.

SPORTS

Sports for Big Red athletes instills a competitive spirit to win. Victory is the result of many long hours of practice . . . practice . . . practice.

Five Varsity sports afford the opportunity for Plymouth athletes to compete in Johnny Appleseed Conference and tournament play.

Girls' Athletic Association members enjoy volleyball, basketball, and bowling against other girls' teams as well as an opportunity to compete within the club. The desire to win is good background for students to carry over into later years in life.

Enthusiasm and exactness typified the many hours of practicing. The squads and Mrs. Dawn Mock, advisor, are to be commended for their fine leadership.

Big Red on the Move

A first glance at Plymouth High School's gridiron scores is no evidence of the merited teamwork and excellent sportsmanship displayed by the team.

Named to the Johnny Appleseed Conference team were Seniors: Jim Clark, fullback; and Roger Company, defensive middle guard. Those who received Honorable Mention were Seniors: Ken Foreman, defensive back; and Tim Willet, offensive end.

The team will lose fifteen members due to graduation but six Varsity underclassmen will be returning which gives next year's team a good beginning for a winning season.

Underclassmen Display Outstanding Quality

This year Plymouth High School had both Freshmen and Reserve football teams, giving our boys more experience for future use on the Varsity team. Merited efforts and outstanding performance, combined with the fine coaching of Mr. Doug Dickson and Mr. Mike Ocepek led to a very successful season. The Freshmen won their only game and the Reserves won two, lost three, and tied one. Both squads and coaches are to be congratulated on their jobs well done.

The Varsity Basketball Team ended the 1968-1969 season with a fine record of eleven wins and seven losses. They also came out with a tournament record of one win and one loss.

This year the team was sparked by the fast play of Dick Beverly combined with smooth offensive play and good action on the boards.

Though the team lost seven of its eleven members due to graduation the underclassmen will be ready to fill their shoes.

As a whole the outlook for the 1969-1970 season is very promising.

by Rain Finish Fine

Seniors Lee Fenner, Bob Fairchild, and Tom Rook work on base stealing techniques during practice.

The varsity baseball team worked through a rain-soaked schedule and many postponed games to finish the season with a record of 9 wins and 8 losses. This is the first year that Mr. Root has taken on the job of coaching the baseball team. He has worked hard with the boys to create new enthusiasm for the sport. Though the team loses six members due to graduation the up and coming reserve members are well ready to work for many victories next season.

This year the reserve squad finished the season with a record of 1 win and 2 losses. They were instructed in the skills of the sport by first year coach, Mr. Ralph Thauvette. Through hard work and fine coaching the boys are prepared for varsity ball next year. Both team and coach should be complimented for jobs well done.

Trackmen Rewrite the Record Book

Right: Jacque Daup sets the pace for the competition in J.A.C. meet.

The cross-country team, though small in size, had some outstanding runners. Randy Conley, running as first man, qualified for the state meet. Other outstanding runners included Jacque Daup, Tim Reynolds, and Tim Nesbitt. The team improved considerably on last year's record. Due to the fact that the J.A.C. meet was held here, the course was changed somewhat and made a little longer. With good underclassmen coming up, and more boys going out for cross-country, a bright, winning future is in store.

The Big Red track team, under the direction of coaches Dickson and Oceppek, produced many record-breaking performances this season. Among them, Jim Adams, long jump; Tom Henry, the 220; John Hamman, the low hurdles; and, the 880-yard relay team, consisting of Jim Adams, Terry Finnegan, John Hamman, and Tom Henry. Adams (long jump), Clark (high jump), and the 880-relay all competed in the regional meet in Worthington. The team faced tough competition, as two of their opponents won their conferences. With many fine underclassmen coming up, the coaching staff as well as the school, will have something to look forward to.

Faculty and Administration

Faculty delve into the theory of education to bring out the learning process in class. P.H.S. administrators see that the best learning conditions prevail as the enrichment process is a forward step to a better education.

Lesson plans, grade cards, attendance records, class schedules, the game on Friday night, and sponsoring a dance are all part of a busy schedule at P.H.S.

To teach is to learn and to learn is the epitome of education.

Heads of School

Right: Superintendent of Plymouth Schools is Mr. John Fazzini. Mr. Fazzini is the executive head of the local school district and is responsible for seeing that all school policies, rules, and regulations for the entire district are carried out. Below: The governing body of Plymouth High is the Board of Education. These dedicated people's main responsibilities are setting school policies and appropriating funds for the many school needs.

School Coordinators

Student Aids

Aiding the students at Plymouth are Mrs. Agatha Strine, below, and Mr. Paul Smith, Right. Mrs. Strine, librarian, is always ready to help a student with research or other assignments pertaining to the library. Mr. Smith, guidance counselor, helps the students arrange their schedules, plan classes, choose a college or technical school, and various other aids pertaining to guidance. Below right, students find the library a quiet study place, too!

Preparing for the Future with Expert Training!

Preparing Students for the Business World

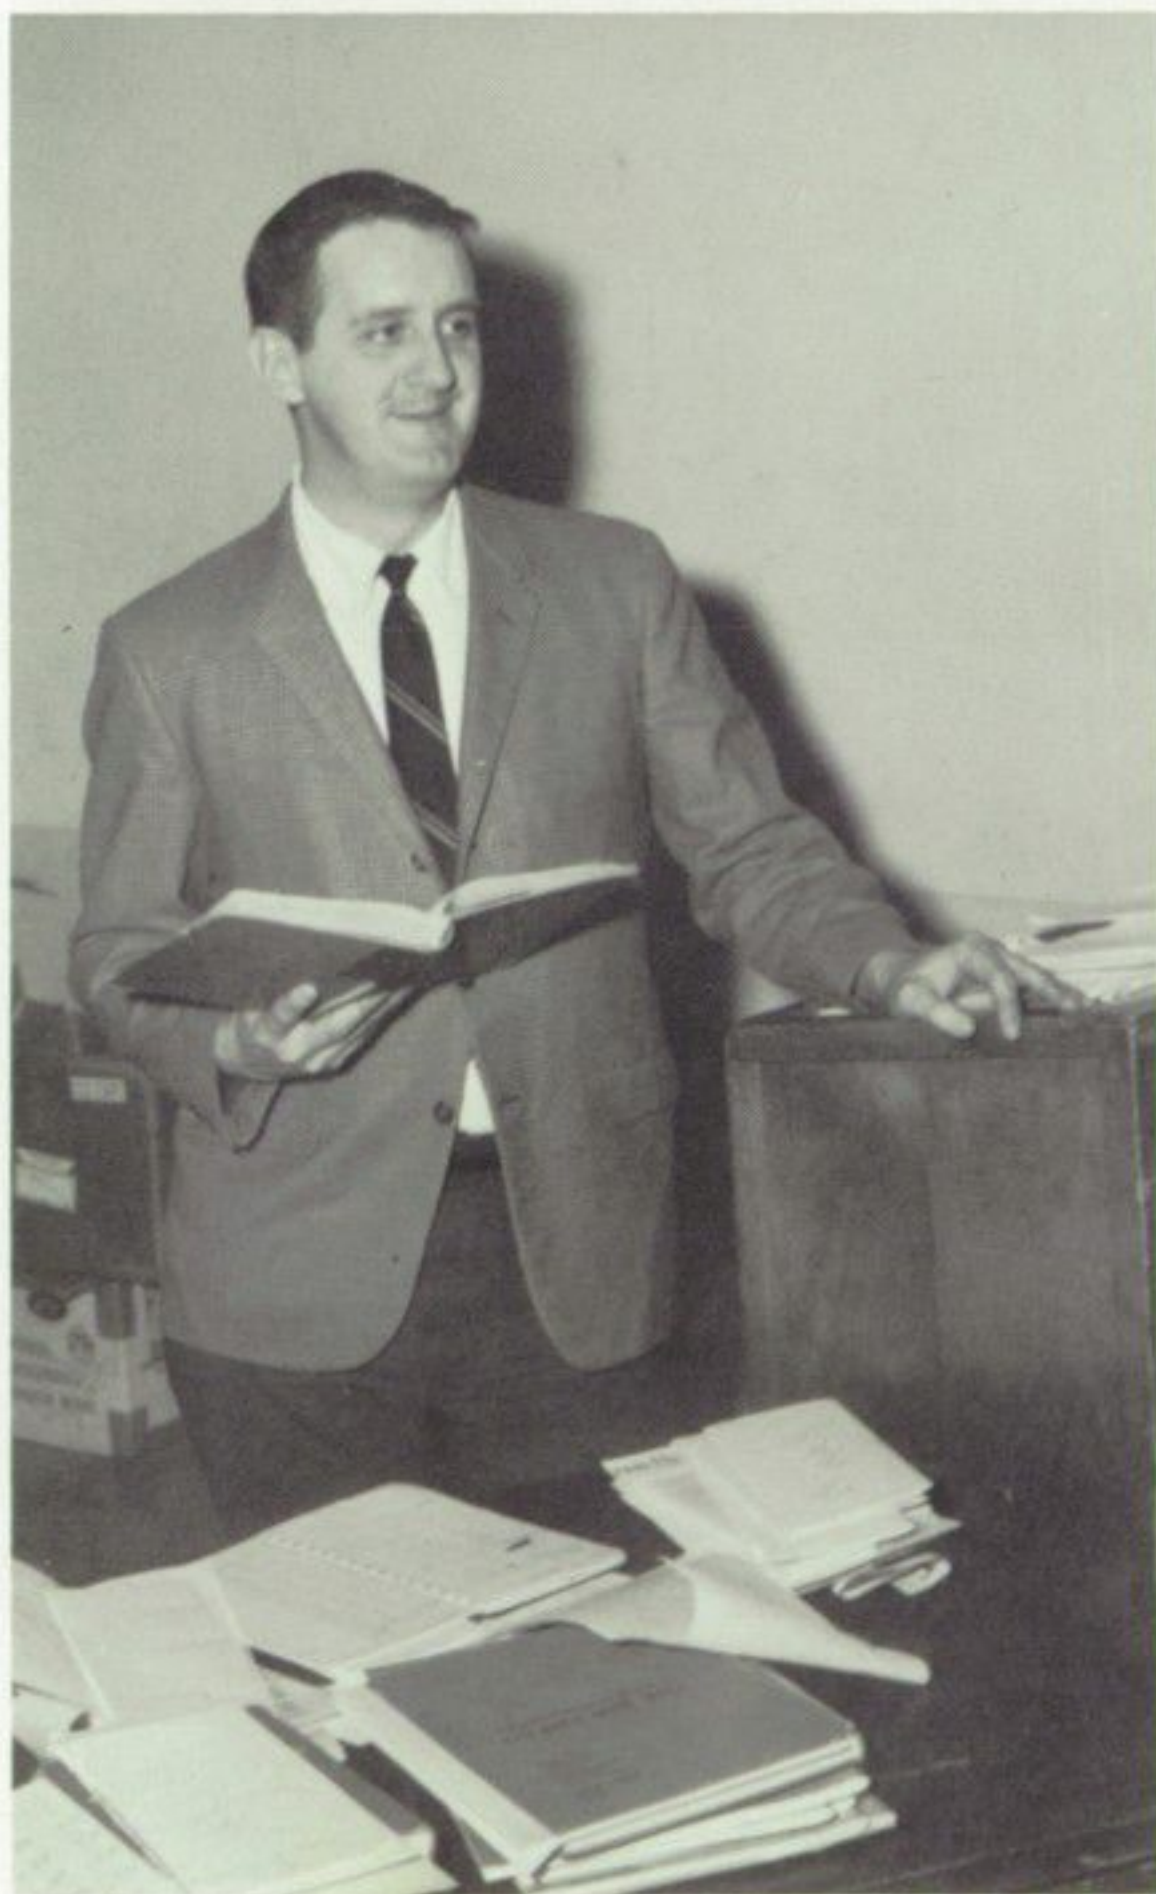

Below and upper right: Office Practice, Typing, and Shorthand, instructed by Mrs. Marjorie Smith, prepare many students for the business world. Modern office equipment makes Mrs. Smith's classes more interesting and her daily quotations teach the students not only office work, but how to get along with other people. Center right and lower right: Also preparing students at Plymouth for a future in commercial business is Mr. Glenn Radcliffe. Mr. Radcliffe, a new teacher this year, teaches General Business, Business Math, and Bookkeeping. His hobby, for which he is well known already through sports events, is photography.

Special Education Classes

The Arts

Top left: An active organization, the Music Department, is directed by Mr. Warren Mock. This department is comprised of marching and concert bands and a choir. Mr. Mock directs all three sections of this department in concerts, parades, and other activities year around. Top right: Plymouth's new Speech Instructor this year is Miss Barbara Brown. Miss Brown also teaches elementary music and directed a play at Plymouth High School last fall entitled "Our Town". Below: A scene from the musical "Camelot", presented by the Music Department and directed by Mr. Mock, last spring.

Students Plan for Future

Upper right and lower left: Vocational Agriculture at Plymouth High School is instructed by Mr. Keith Johnson. Mr. Johnson keeps the boys busy with time in the classroom, on farms in the area, and in many contests. Mr. Johnson is also the advisor of the FFA.

Linguistic Arts Received Attention

Upper right: Instructing art at Plymouth High School, is Miss Estella Easterday. Leading students into a richer appreciation of beauty in the world around them, her classes utilize all the artistic mediums. Miss Easterday also teaches a class of Senior English and serves as Senior Class advisor.

Lower Right: Demonstrating versatility, Mrs. Joanne Root teaches English in both Freshman and Sophomore classes and World History. She is also Junior Class advisor, where her organizational abilities and advice have been invaluable.

New Teachers Instruct in Foundation Areas

Lower Left: A new teacher at PHS this year is Mrs. Carole Miller. Mrs. Miller teaches both English and math to underclassmen at Plymouth, giving her a full schedule.

Languages, Math, Science Intrigue P.H.S. Students

Right: As head of the foreign language department, Mr. John Fogt teaches three courses each in German and Spanish, ranging from the primary to the advanced stages. In his classes he stresses not only the language but the cultures of these foreign peoples. He is also the advisor of the German Club and Junior Class. Below: One of the High School's new teachers is math instructor, Mrs. Edna Richards. She teaches Algebra I and II, Senior Math, Trigonometry, and Calculus. Music and tennis are two of her hobbies. Below Right: Earth Science, General Science, Chemistry, and Physics are taught by Mr. Jerry Bishop. His terrific sense of humor and interesting approach to teaching make his classes very popular.

History, Driver's Education Aid Citizenship

Left: Biology I and II, and Problems of Democracy occupy the time of Mr. Ronald Hostler. Discussion and the study of the latest events and scientific breakthroughs make his classes exciting and interesting. Along with teaching these courses, he is also involved with coaching the Big Red Varsity Basketball squad. He also advises the Senior Class. Below Left: A variety of courses keep Mr. Larry Root busy during the school year at Plymouth High School. Driver's Education; with time in both classroom and the training car; health, for one semester; and Head Coach for the Big Red Football and Baseball Squads leave little time for his hobbies. These include golf, collecting pop record albums, and travelling. Below Right: American History, World History, economics and sociology are taught by Mr. Douglas Dickson. New in the Plymouth High School System this year, Mr. Dickson also coached the Freshman 1968-1969 Football team.

Physical Education Department

Physical Education classes at Plymouth High School are instructed by Mr. William Flaherty, left, conducting boy's phys. ed., and Mrs. Maxine Lillo, below, conducting the girls classes. Physical Education helps a person develop coordination, agility, and muscle tone, which are often forgotten in our automated society. Boy's Physical Education classes range in activities from exercising and tumbling indoors, to baseball and soccer outdoors during good weather. Girl's Classes also have various activities. These range from indoor field-hockey to Hawaiian Folk Dancing. Mr. Flaherty also teaches Health, and is Athletic Director and Assistant-Principal.

Behind-the-Scene-Workers!

SENIORS

"The year has arrived." The days at P.H.S. preambule the life of the graduate, whether fulltime employment, college life, or service to country, this is the seniors tomorrow.

To guide rather than to be guided, to teach and learn together, to learn to suite, to satisfy and be gainfully employed . . . RESPONSIBILITY.

To follow the crowd! . . . the test. Can I make it? This is life? I know I can do it . . . it can be done.

UNDERCLASSES

The Senior year culminates the aggressions of the underclassman. The struggle to be best and to be able to accept defeat in that quest. Greater attitudes in an academic atmosphere are stressed in the classroom. The grade received accomplishing the impossible, to "graduate" to a higher plateau.

An upperclassman reflecting the growth and struggle of the adolescent and reflecting growth and maturity of the self-searching to know. The struggle sustains as energies expound, the inter-self now finding the society for man.

The Havamal Staff at this time would like to give special thanks to those people who have worked so diligently toward the completion of this 1969 annual. We sincerely extend our thanks to Mrs. Louise Geller without whose hard work and many hours this annual could not have been possible. The editors and Mrs. Geller appreciate the time and patience of Mr. Earl Parks, American Yearbook Representative. We also would like to thank the personnel of the Photorama Company for their time and cooperation concerning the photography of our book.

We sincerely hope you have enjoyed our resume of P.H.S. in Motion.
