Foreword

A feeling of pride and togetherness prevailed among the students and faculty of Plymouth High School, during the 1971-1972 school year. Improvements in Homecoming activities was a major task of the Student Council. With the combined efforts of the administration and faculty advisors, other improvements were made in The National Honor Society and other organizations. The introduction of two new courses, Journalism and a co-ed Concepts in Homemaking Class, added to the wide range of curriculum. Along with the fine showing of the athletic teams, the sports scene was high-lighted with the winning of the State Championship in Cross Country.

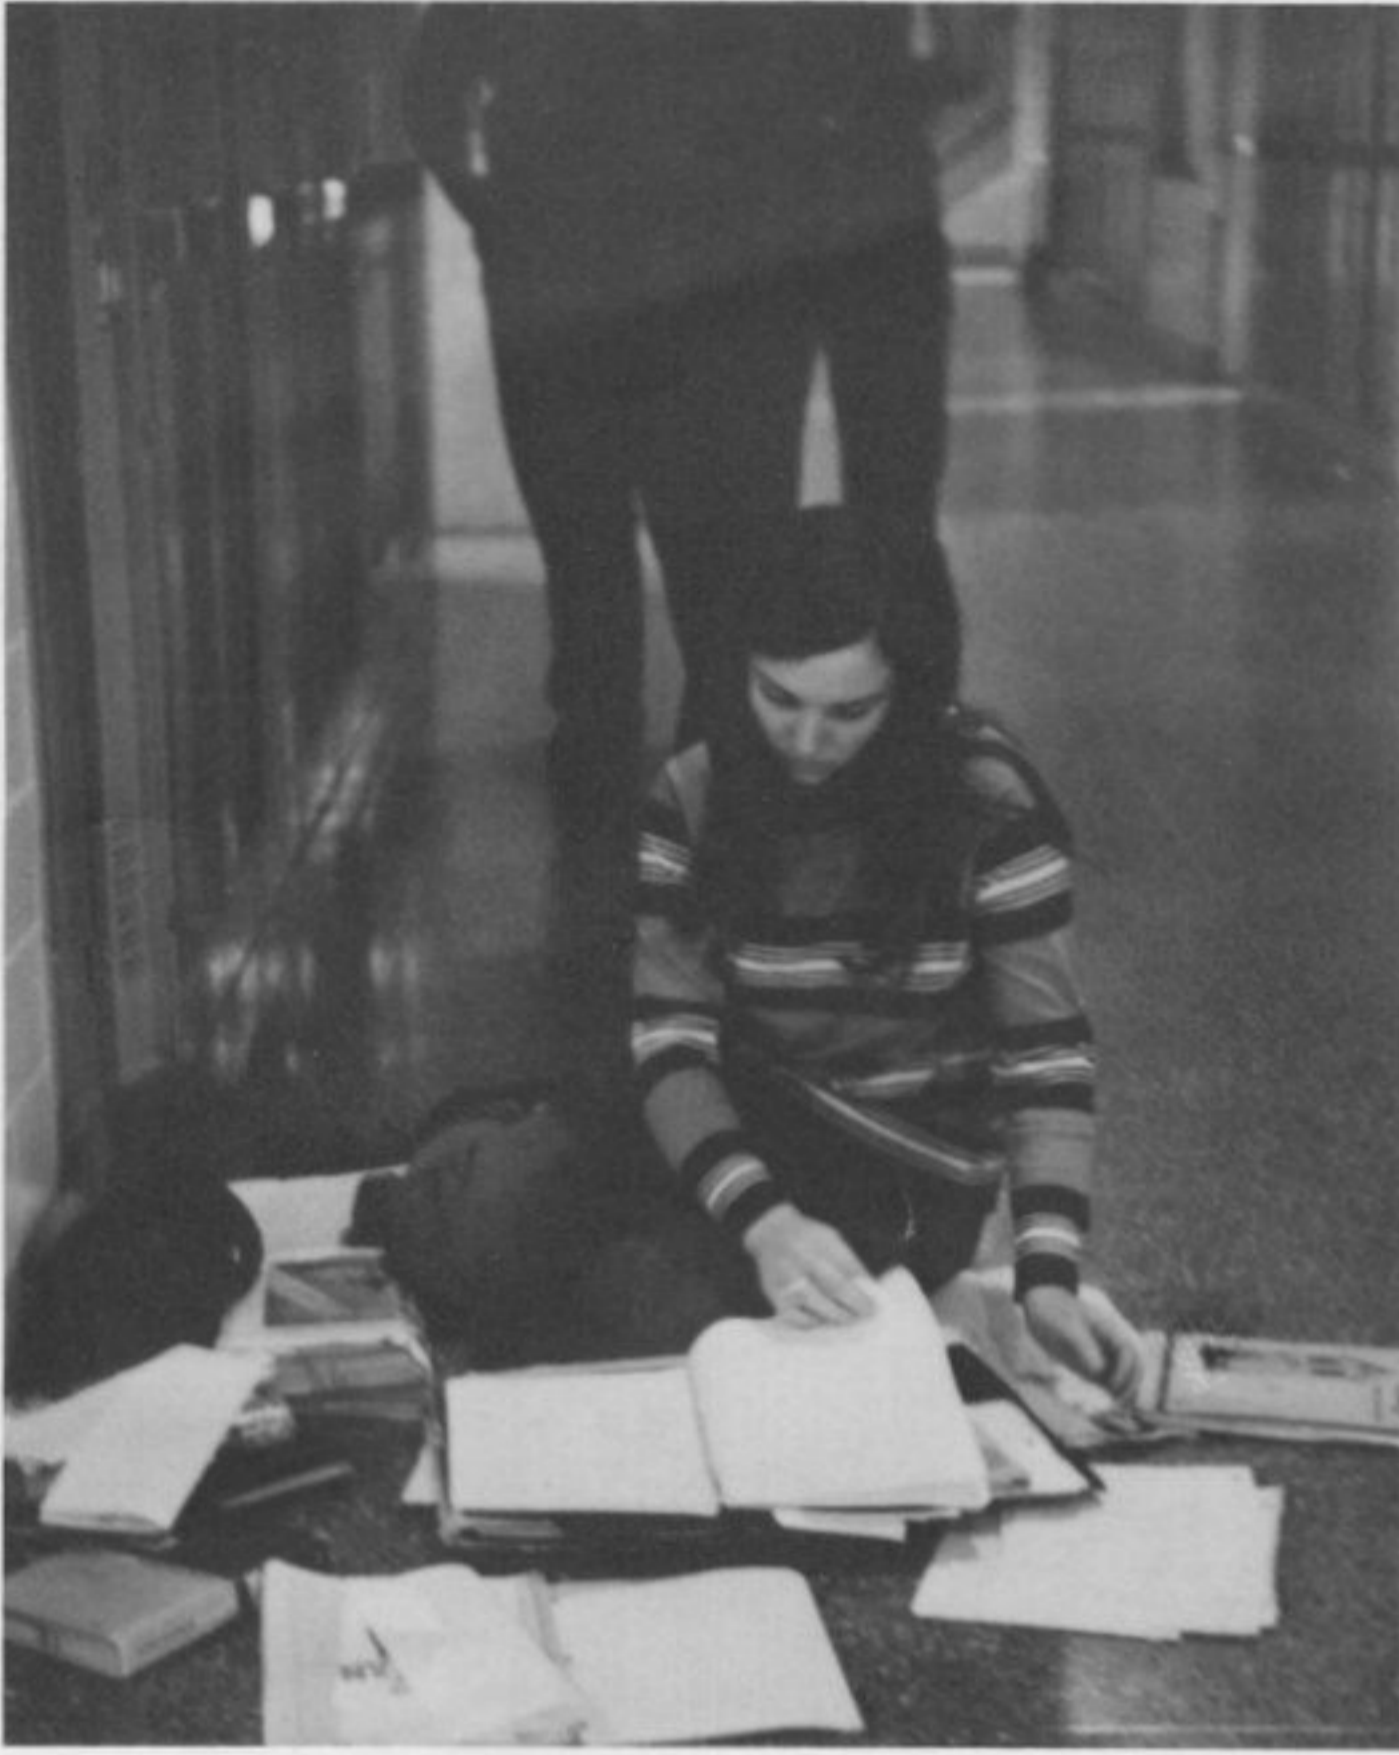

The Havamal Staff of 1972 is proud to present to you, in pictures and words, the highlights of the school year with a focus upon the people who make up P.H.S.

Life*

This year at P.H.S., students participated in a wider variety of activities. Several new organizations were formed, one of the most popular being the chess club. Through these activities, students can learn to think logically, gain experience in meeting people, and just have fun.

Although the students at Pioneer Joint Vocational School are sometimes seldom seen, they remain a large fraction of the students of Plymouth High School. These students choose the field in which they want to work in, then strive to reach it. Although they meet many new friends and take part in new activities and organizations, they still belong to P.H.S. The Vocational School, which is largely expanding, will soon be able to open its doors to more P.H.S. students who are interested in a learning a trade.

Jrs. Present, "A Night to Cherish"

The Plymouth High School Jr.-Sr. prom was held on May 20, 1972. This event put on by the junior class, proved to be a very enjoyable occasion. Dinner was served at Hartenstein's restaurant at 7:00 P.M. Following the dinner was the formal dance held at Plymouth High School, in the old gymnasium. The theme was "Cherish." Excellent selections were played by the Perkins high school band until 11:00 P.M. A very special guest, Mr. Jerry Bishop, entertained on the piano during the bands intermission. Post prom was held at Park Lanes. All the work put into this prom by the junior class, and their advisors, proved to make it a successful and memorable experience.

SPORTS

The sports scene around P.H.S. during the 1971-72 school year promoted a spirit of togetherness and fine athletic competition. The high standings in the J.A.C. in football, basketball, track, golf, tennis, and the winning of the State Championship on Cross Country proved the Big Red's reputation as a determined contender in sports and also contributed to the feeling of togetherness. Along with the fine athletic performance, the support and cooperation of the fans, and the unselfish spirit shown by the student body, the Plymouth High School athletic program proved to be a heart-warming success.

FACULTY

The faculty and administration are a major role in the life of a student. These people at P.H. S. share a close relationship with the students. They are always at hand with advice, guidance, and help when they are needed. Besides offering knowledge to the students, many of the teachers also take an active part in serving the students as advisors, organizational leaders, and coaching staff. This year Mr. Scott Blackburn joined the Plymouth Staff and served as principal. He helped to establish a better atmosphere at P.H. S. and was quickly accepted both by Students and faculty.

Administration Coordinates School Functions

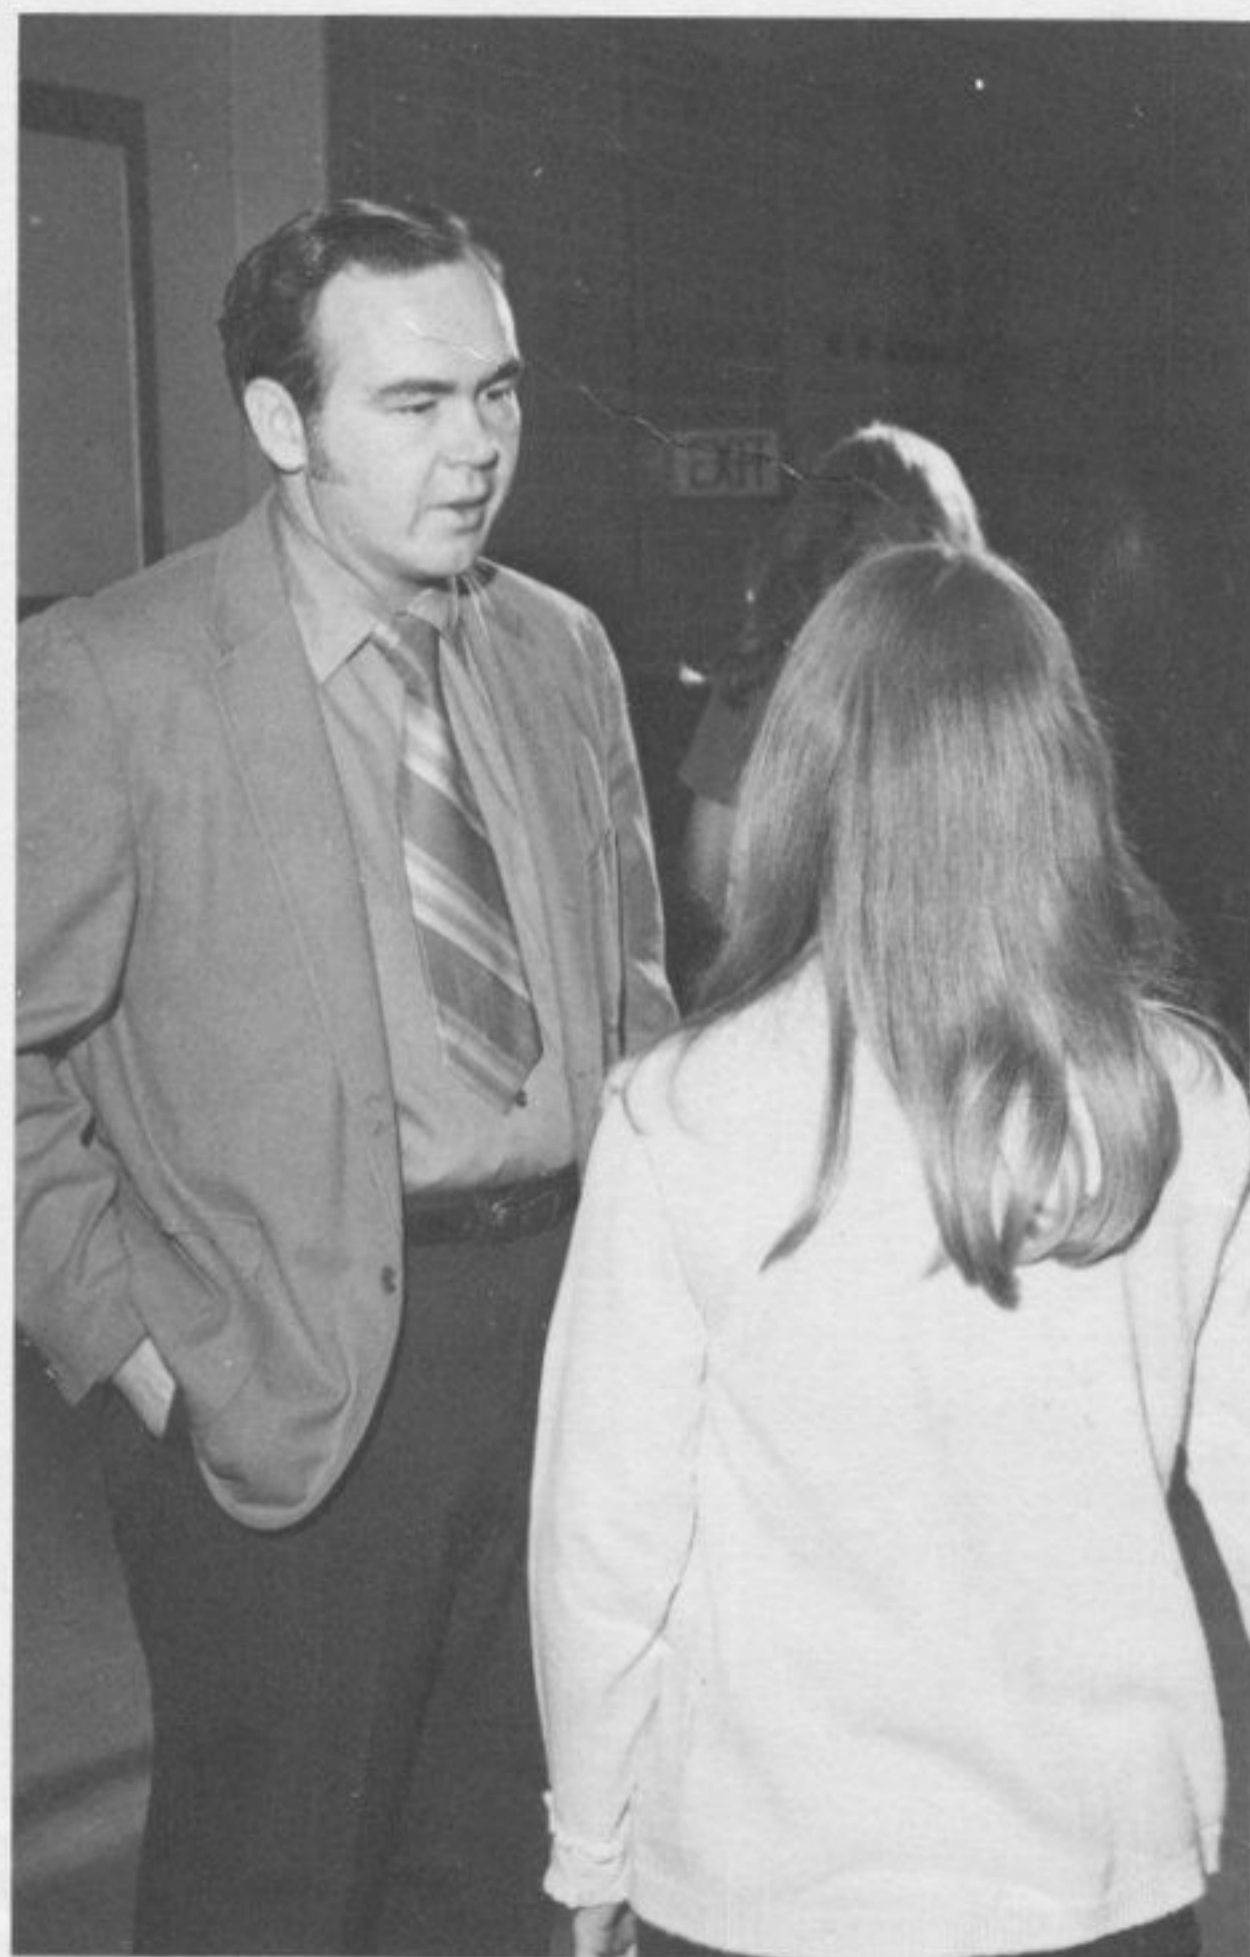

The executive head of P.H.S. is Supt. John Fazzini, who has done much in trying to improve the educational opportunities offered by Plymouth. Completing his first successful year as Principal is Mr. E. Scott Blackburn. Mr. Blackburn has ignited the spark within the majority of the students to build "Plymouth Pride". The school board is the governing body of the school and representative of the people. Mrs. Jean Rish is Supt. John Fazzini's Secretary; and Mrs. Evelyn Williamson is Principal Scott Blackburn's secretary.

While discussing administrative problems of the school, Principal Scott Blackburn flashes a smile of approval to Supt. John Fazzini.

Mr. Blackburn strives for better communication between the administration and the students.

Superintendent, John Fazzini introduces the Commencement speaker to the graduating class and audience.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS: L. TO R., Arthur Hamman, Dick Fackler, Tim Rook, Norma Meyers (Clerk), Ivan Hawk, and Harold Mack (President).

One of the many duties of Mrs. Williamson is the operation of the Thermo-Fax machine.

Mrs. Williamson busily doing three of her jobs.

Mrs. Jean Rish completes one of her daily activities.

Filing important letters she has typed is another daily task for Mrs. Jean Rish.

Youth Tempered by Experience

Besides being assistant football coach, Mr. Paul Fazzini has actively taken part in leading the Student Council activities.

As Mr. James Haney observes, Doug Smith and Jim Beverly demonstrate how to operate the lathe.

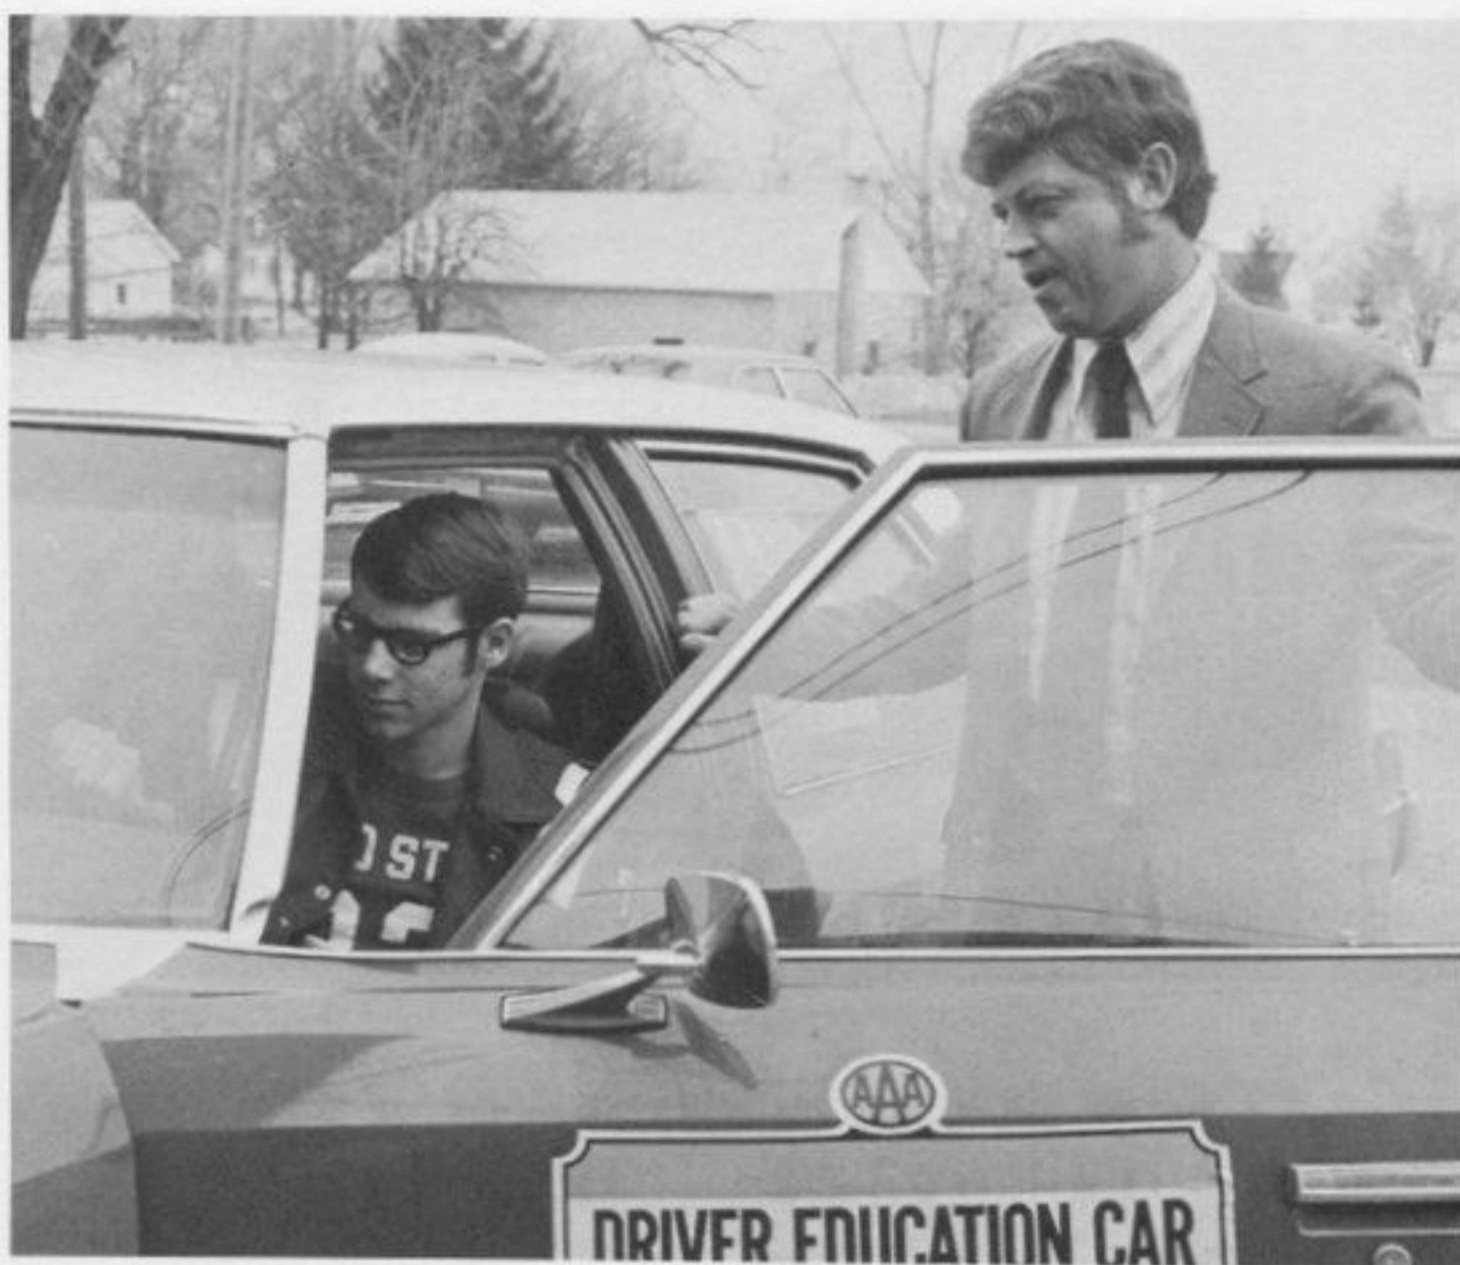

There's more to education than the classroom, as Mr. James Haney shows by being assistant football and basketball coach to the Big Red.

Mr. Paul Fazzini, OWE instructor, gives a reassuring smile to Tim Deskins.

Student Preparation Excels at P.H.S.

Many unique experiences accompany the position of Drivers Education teacher, as is shown by the look on Mr. Larry Root's face.

Responsibilities as Head Football Coach and teaching health classes round out a full schedule for Mr. Larry Root.

Mr. Douglas Dickson's duties as Track Coach include phoning in scores from meets.

Teachers Promote Physical-Mental Alertness

In charge of all athletic events at P.H.S. is Athletic Director and Baseball Coach, Mr. William Flaherty.

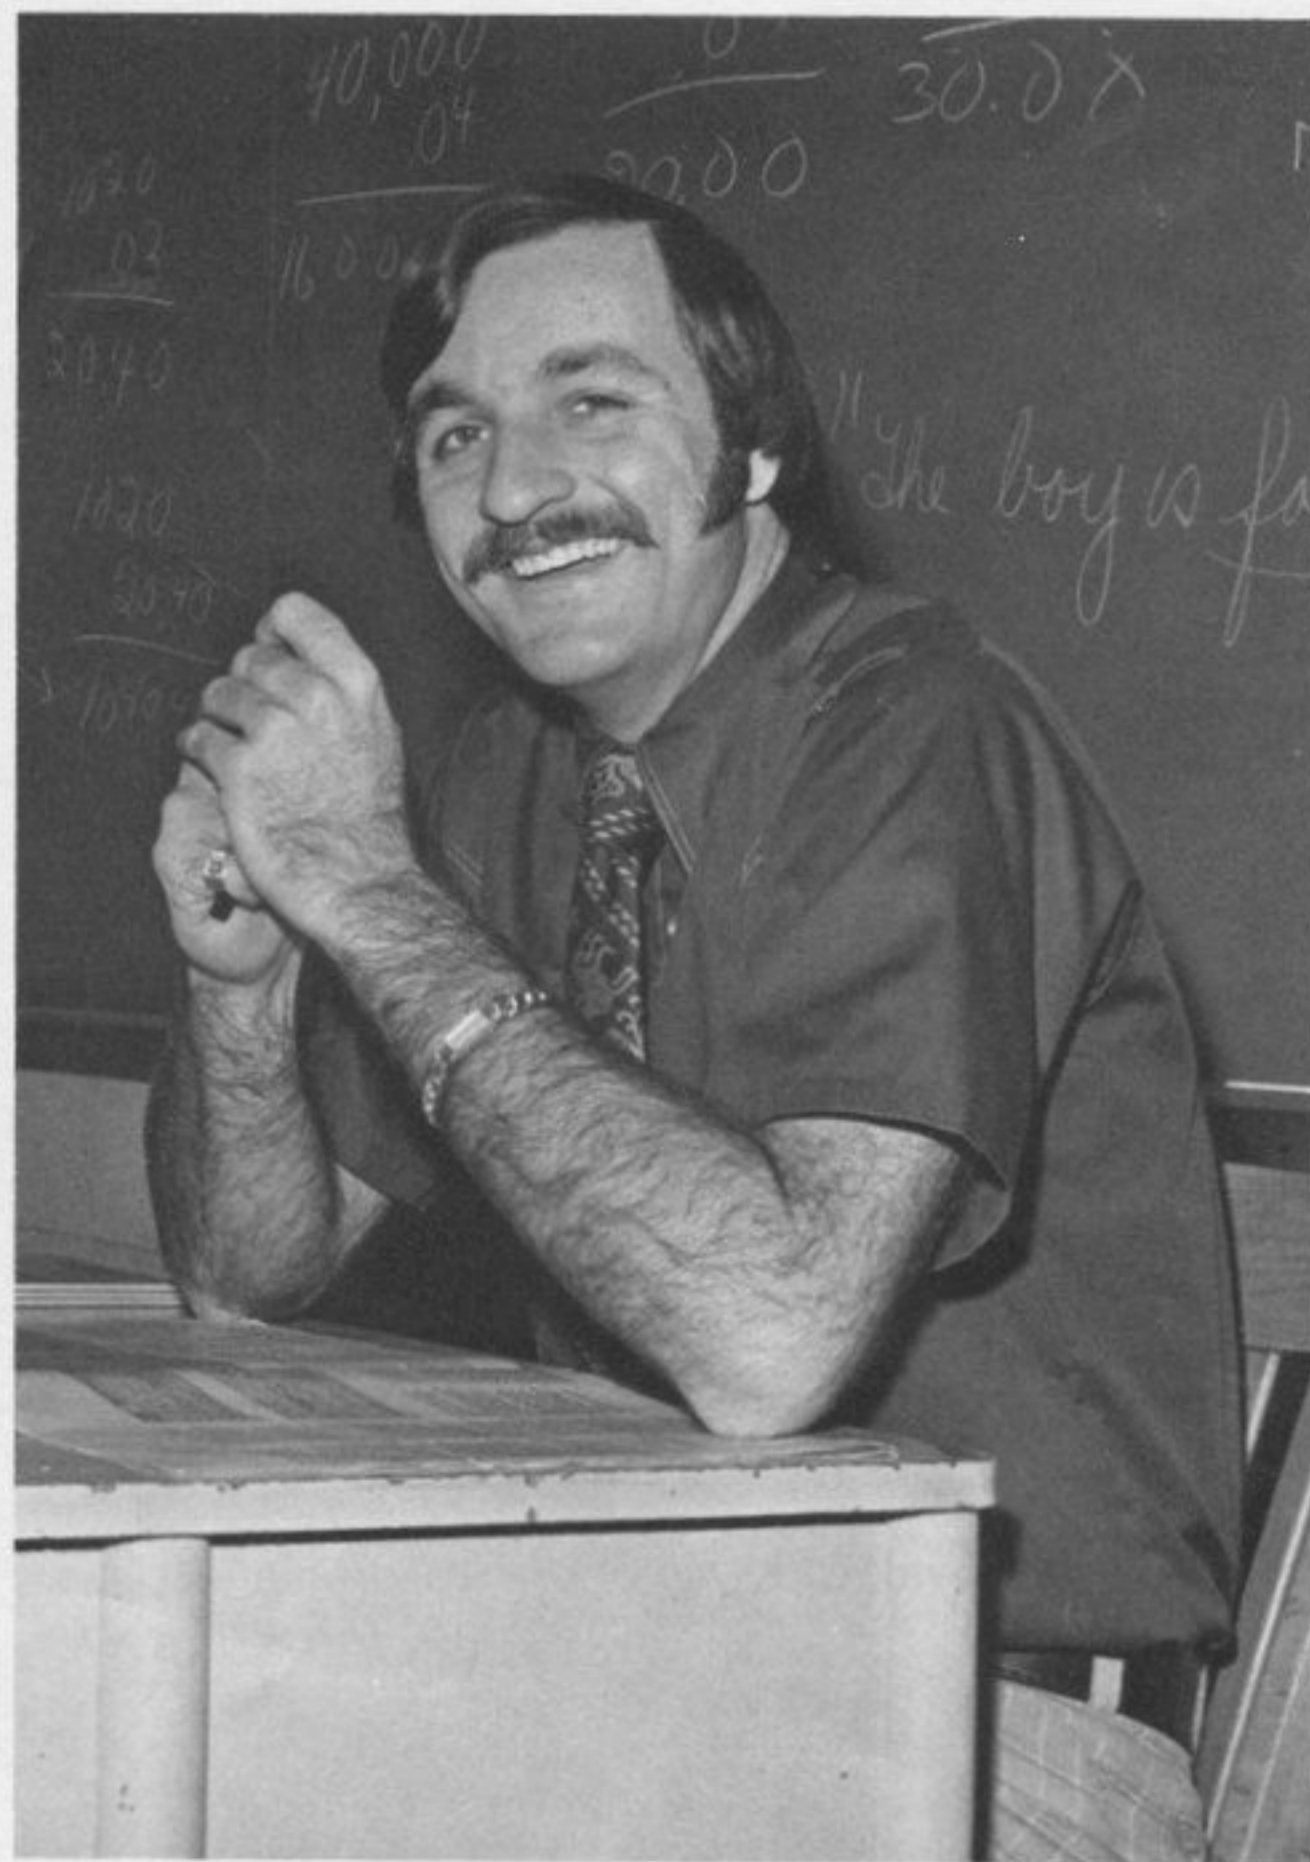

Girls Physical Education Instructor, Mrs. Maxine Lillo, shows students a correct method for shooting a foul shot.

G.A.A. girls listen and watch as Mrs. Maxine Lillo explains the rules of the game.

Helping the students to better understand the business world is Economics Instructor, Mr. Robert James.

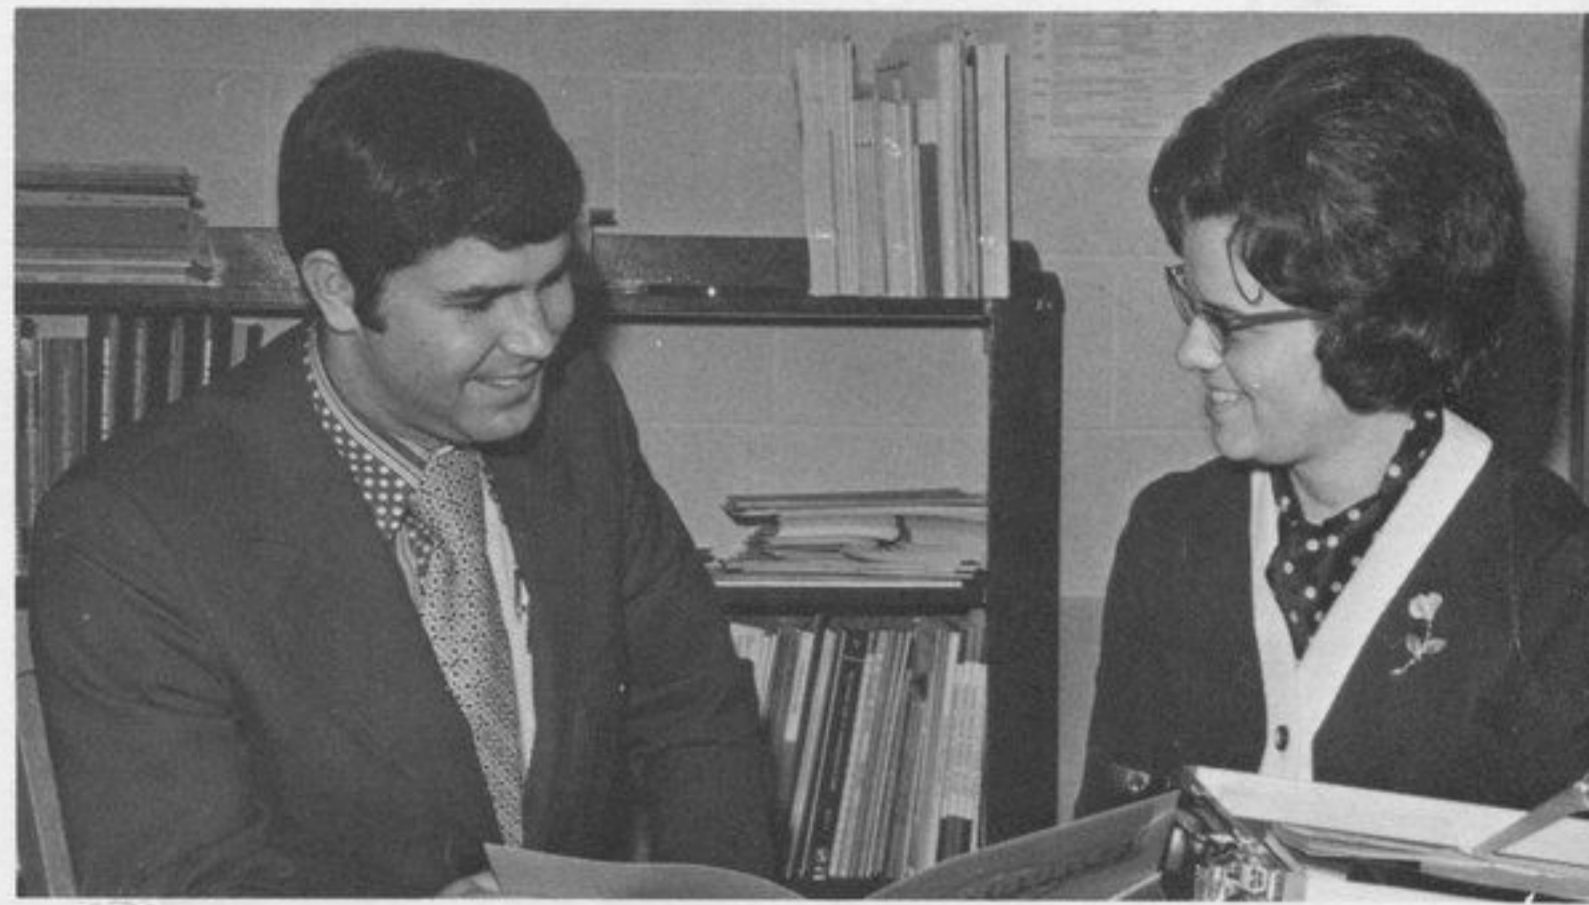

Mr. Robert James flashes his smile of victory after coaching the Big Red Harriers to the state championship.

Stop, Look, and Listen for Special Guidance

Locating research material is one of the jobs of the full-time librarian, Mrs. Agatha Strine.

Miss Ruth Metzger, the Guidance Counselor, makes plans for improving the guidance system.

"No over strikes, please," explains Mrs. Marjorie Smith.

One of the hardest working people at P.H.S. is Miss Ruth Metzger, who helps students prepare for the future.

Mrs. Agatha Strine successfully advised the newly formed Audio-Visual Club.

Many students will well remember the warm smile of Mrs. Marjorie Smith.

Unique Educational Experiences At P.H.S.

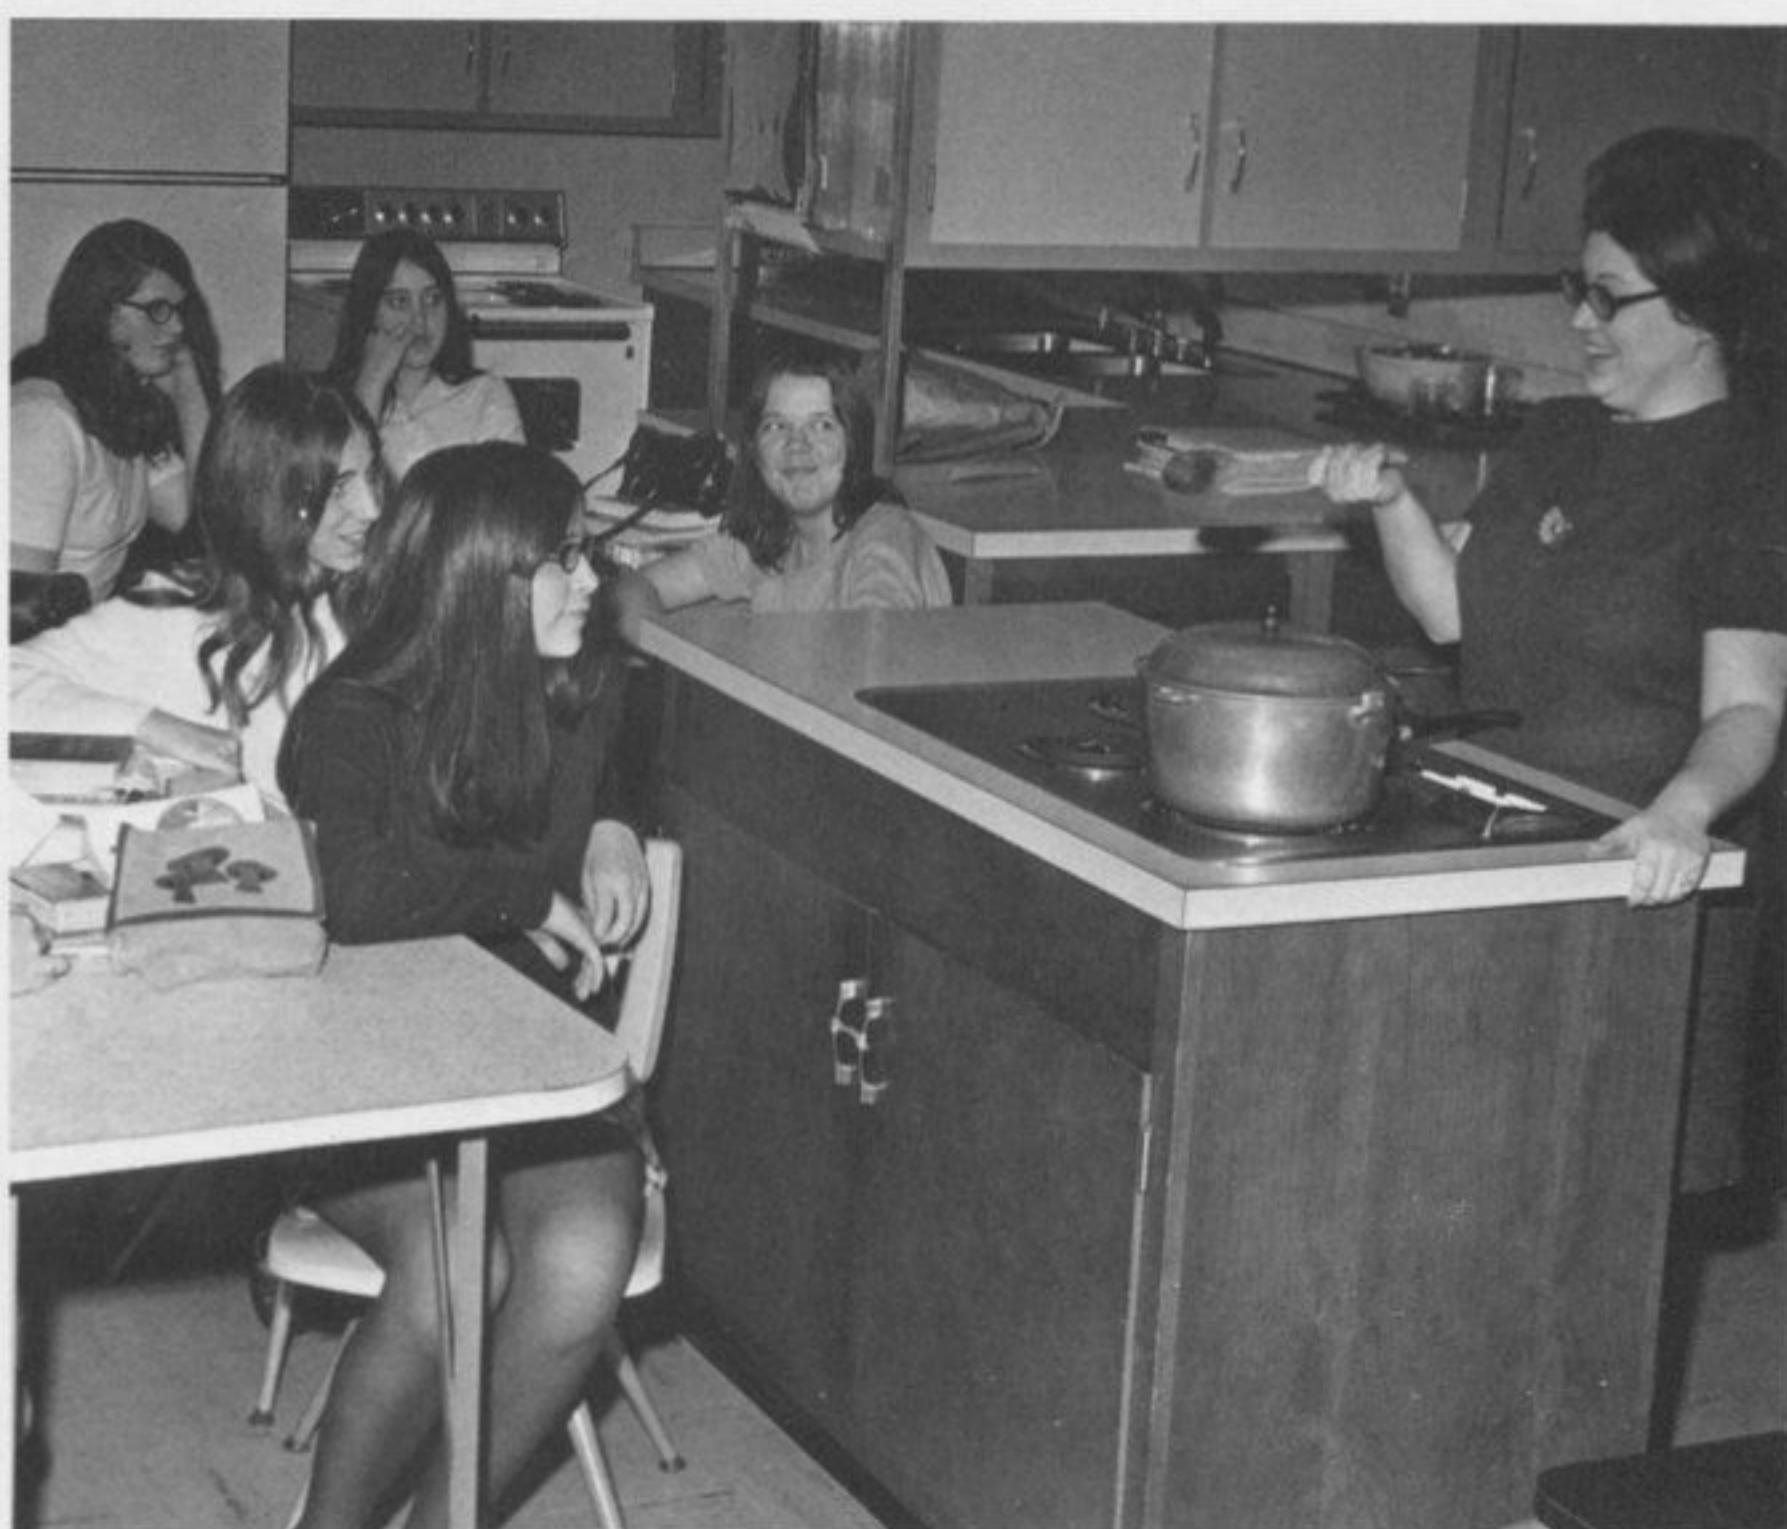

Helpful assistance is given to Sondra McKean by Home Economics Teacher, Mrs. Louise Geller.

Much of Miss Susan Narances' time went toward her duties as Advisor for the cheerleaders, Freshmen Class, and F.H.A.

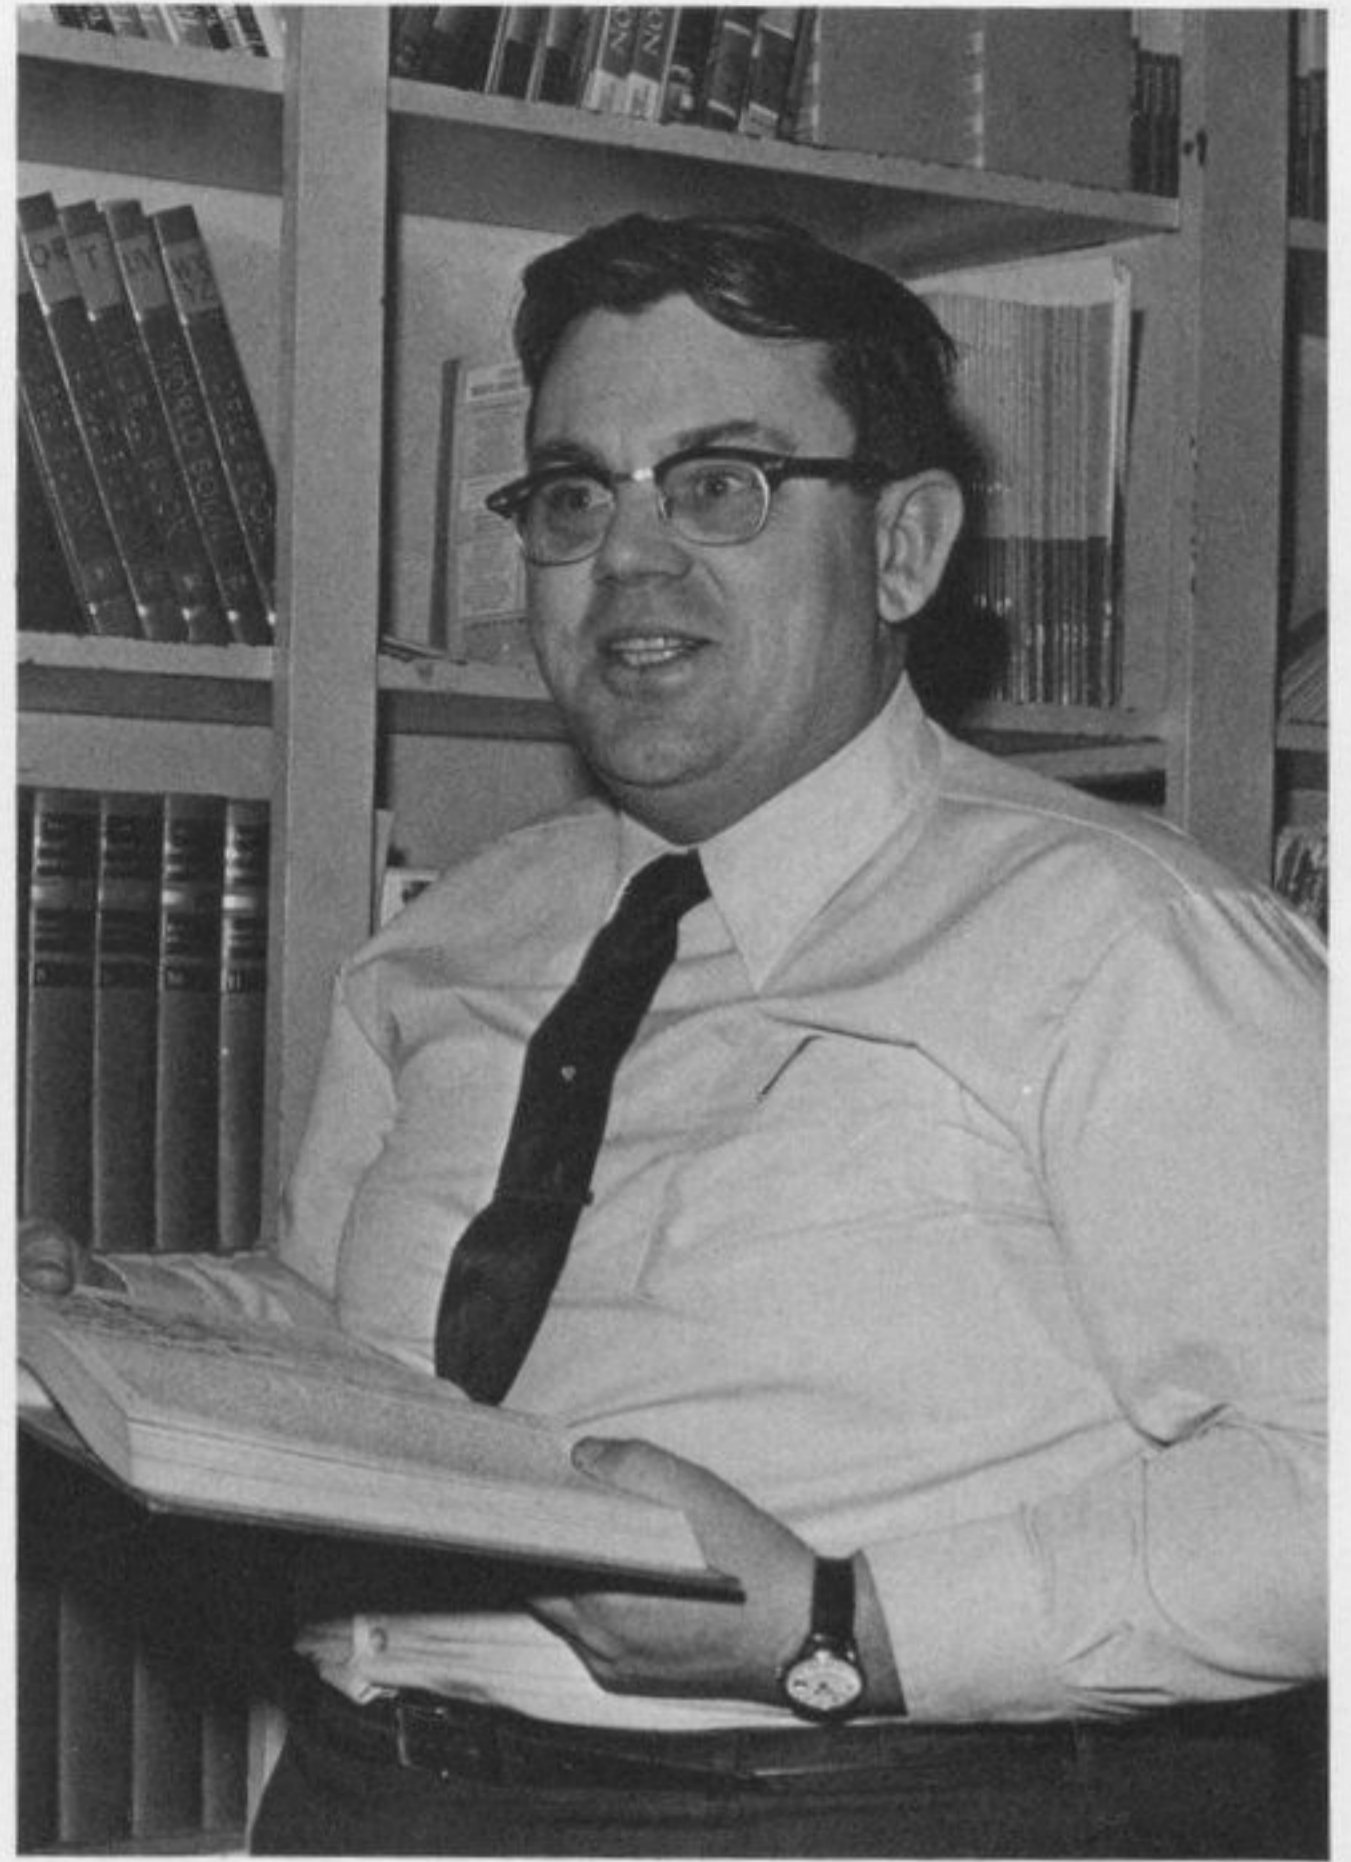

As Junior Class, F.H.A. and Annual Staff Advisor, Mrs. Louise Geller is a necessary asset to P.H.S.

A special gesture enables Miss Susan Narance to stress her point to a Home Economics I Class.

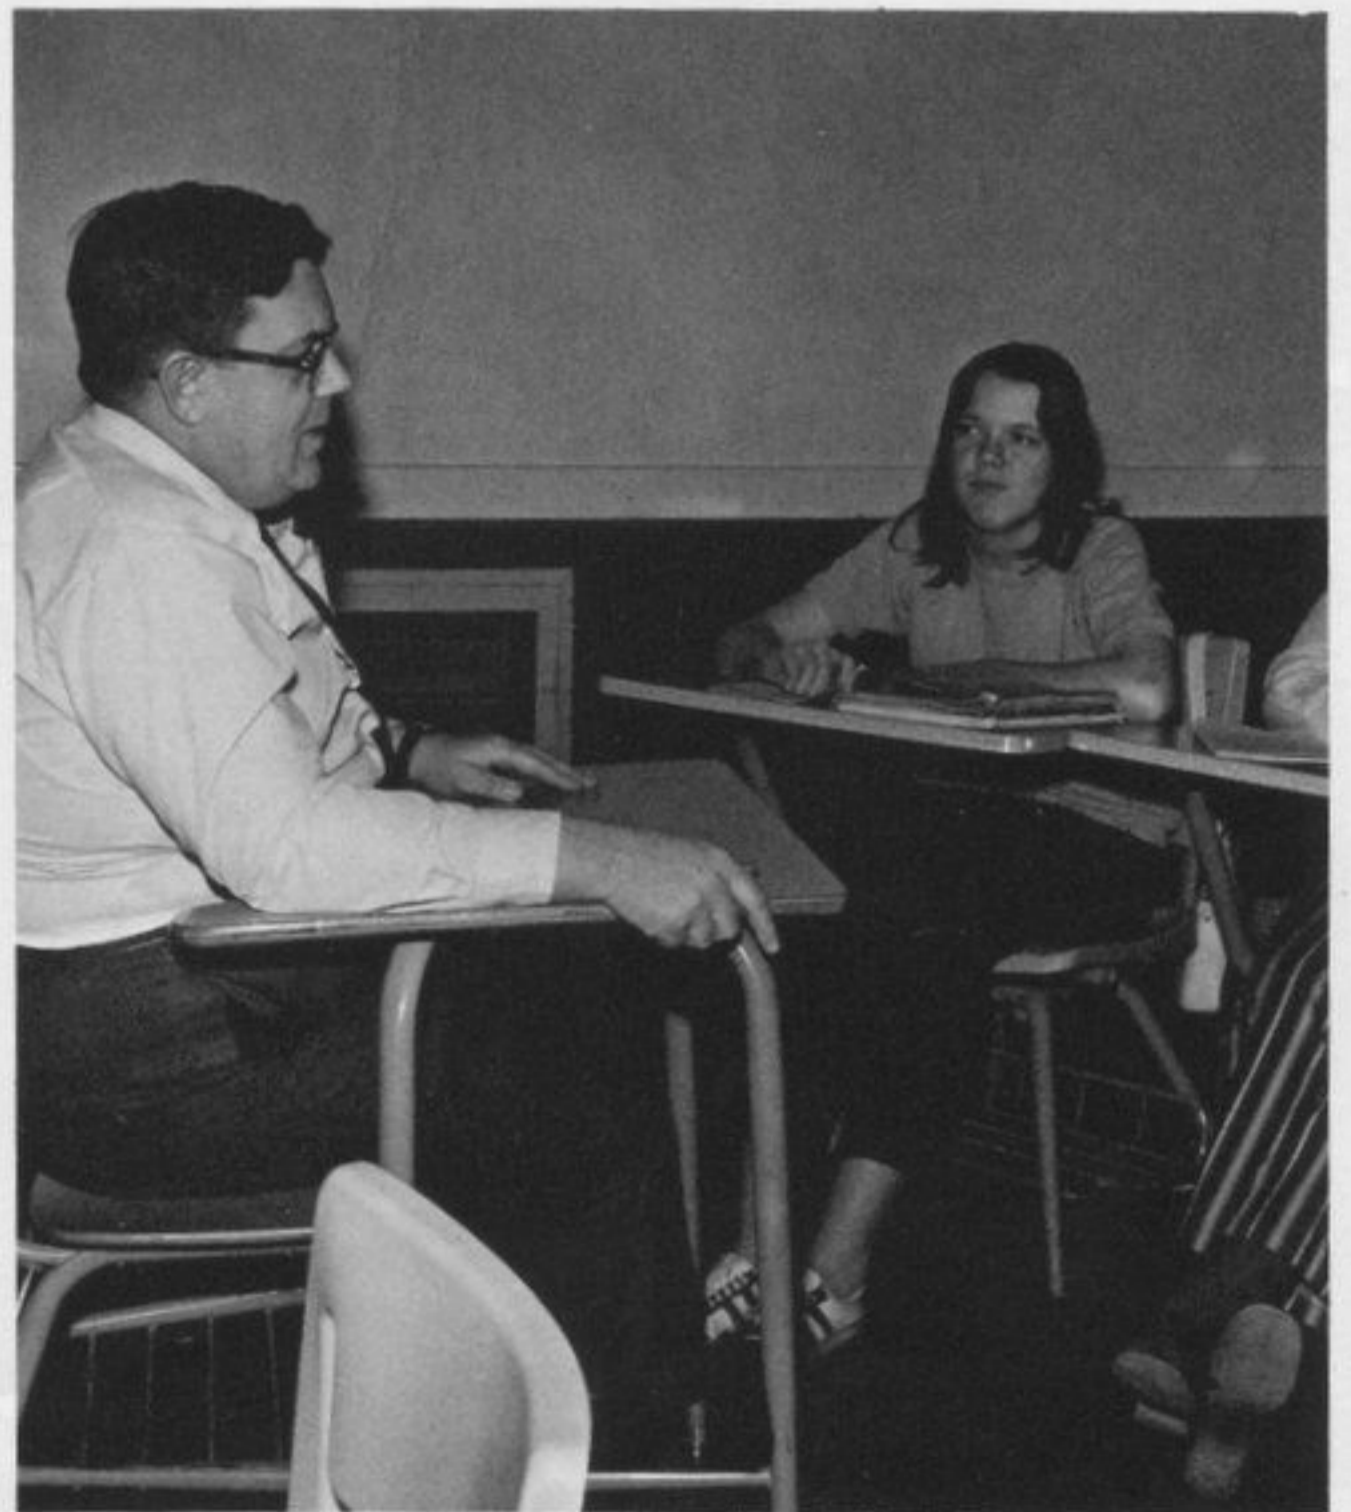

"On the job experience" is provided by Mr. Keith Johnson for his Vocational Ag. Classes.

Mr. Donald Kissiar, Special Education Instructor, verifies a point of interest.

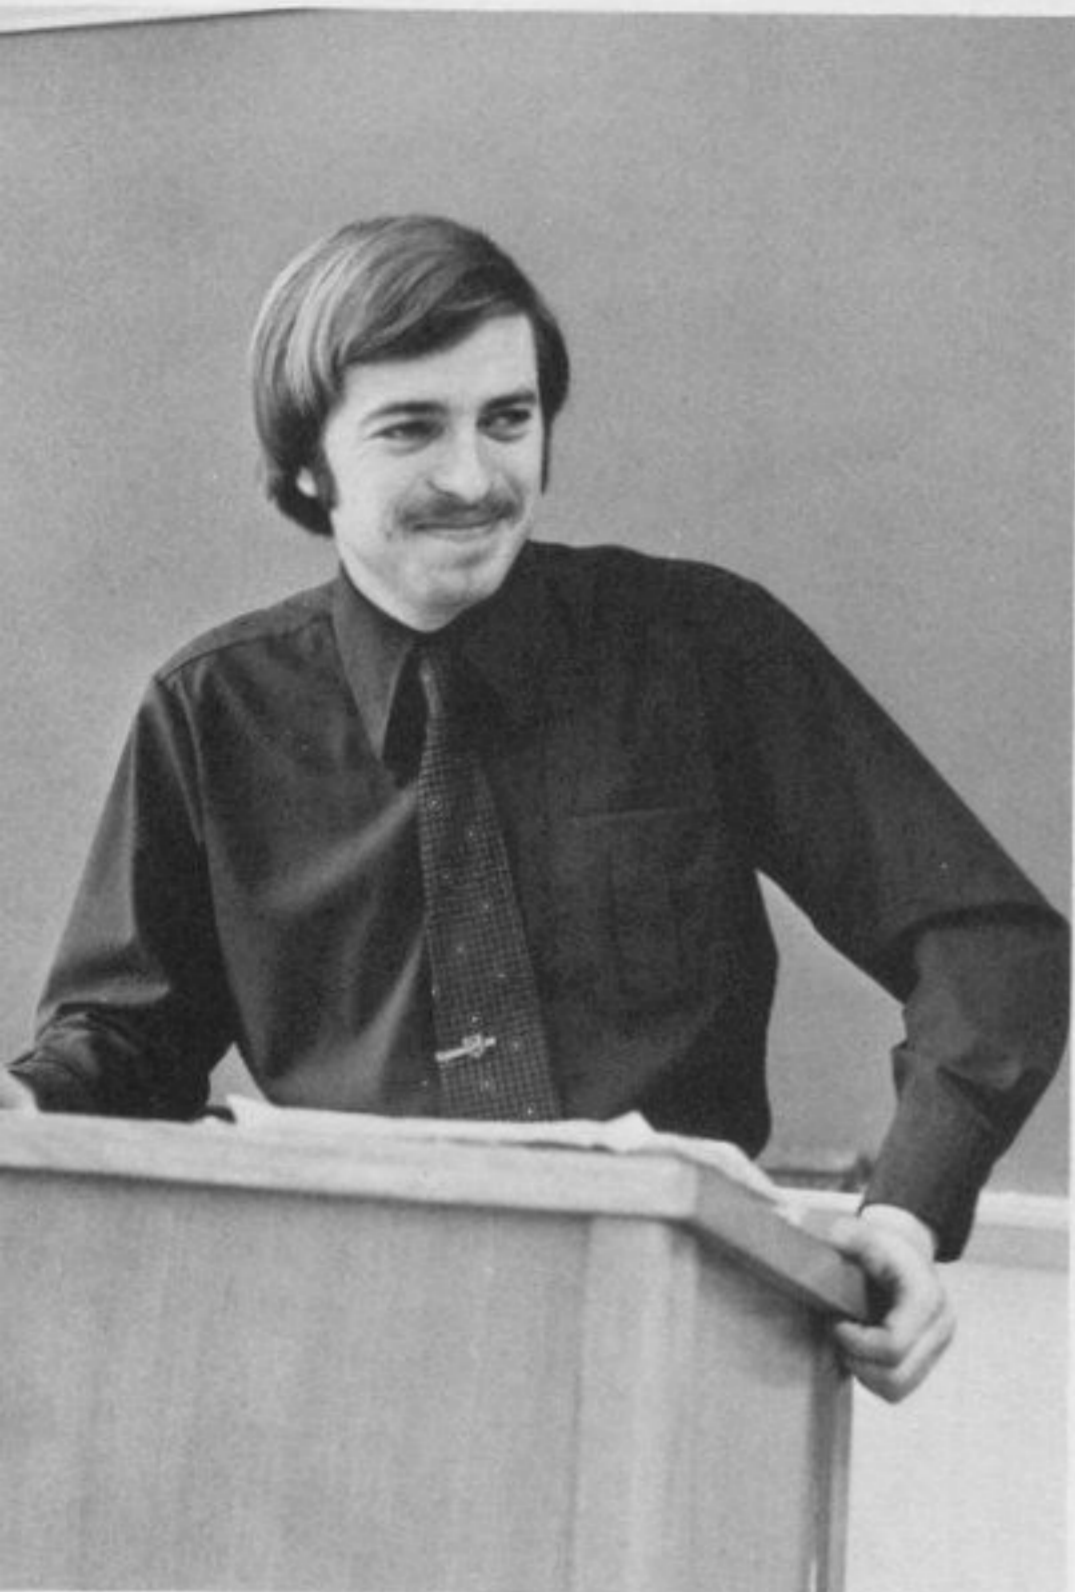

With Mr. Keith Johnson's leadership, the F.F.A. has made many new strides in their money-making project.

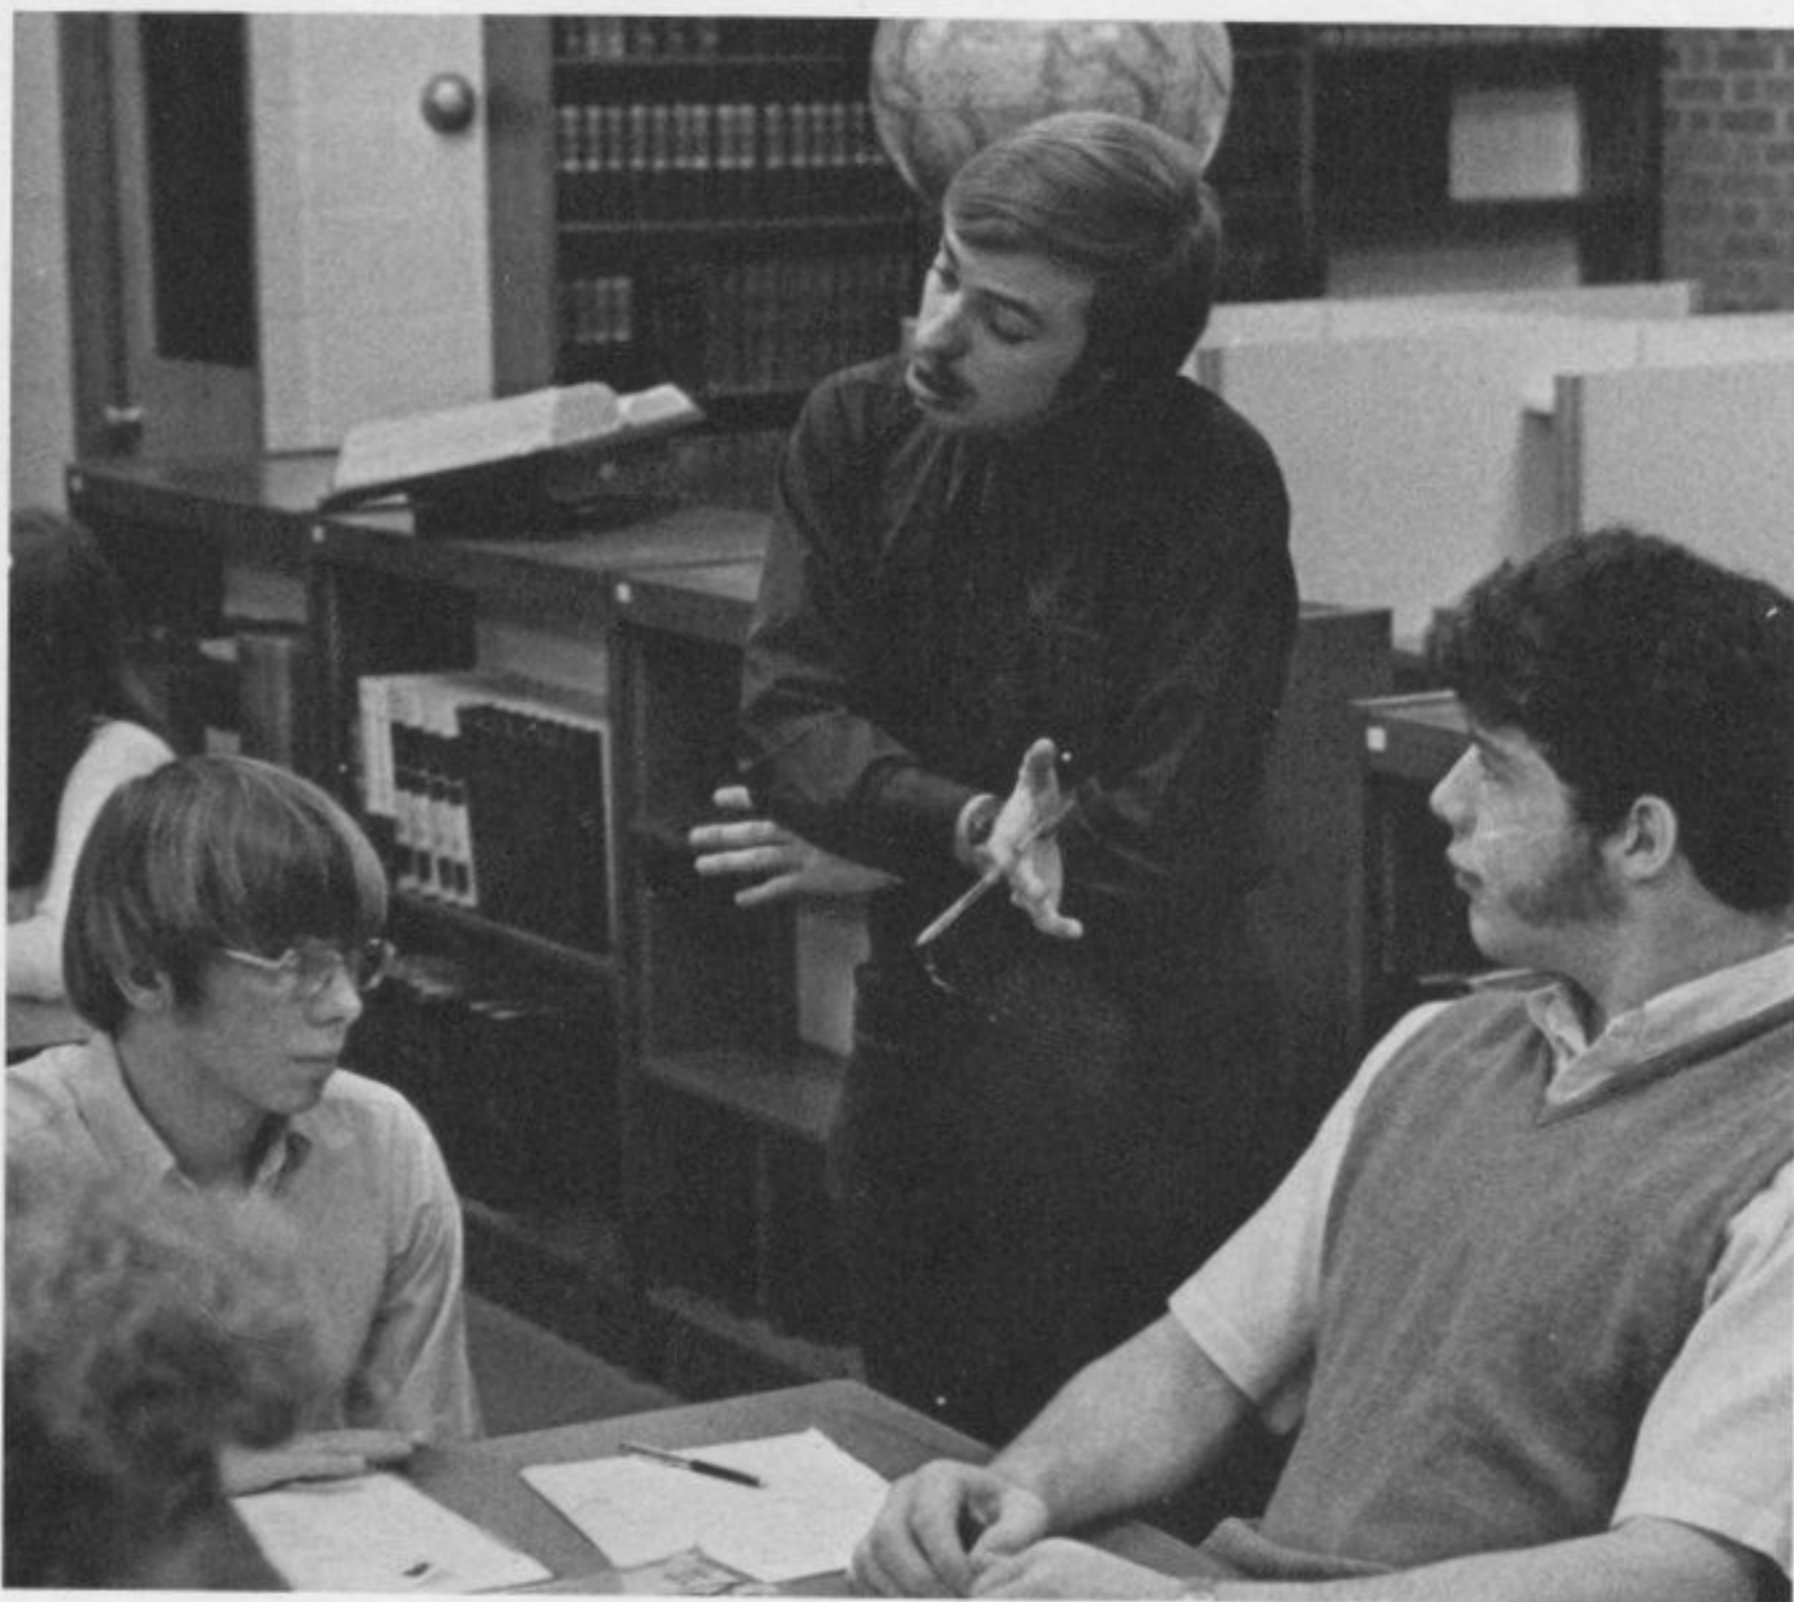

Bonnie Hall and Anetta Stumbo relate with Mr. Donald Kissiar through class discussion.

Language Learning Encompasses

An encouraging smile from Mr. Karl Pfaff makes for a relaxing atmosphere in an English II class.

Mr. Karl Pfaff, the Senior P.O.D. teacher, explains the fundamentals of using reference materials in the library.

Mr. Herbert Heyl busily figuring up averages for Biology I and II.

A new curriculum addition, Journalism, is taught by Mr. Herbert Heyl.

Reading, Listening, Speaking, and Writing

First year English Instructor, Mrs. Edith Hauser, prepares Juniors and Seniors for the future.

Combined duties of foreign language Instructor, Mrs. Linda Laux, includes serving as a Co-advisor for the class of "75" and Advisor of the German and Spanish Clubs.

Heading the English Department, Mrs. Annetta Mitchell, guides Freshmen as they become high school oriented.

A funny moment is shared by all in Mrs. Edith Hauser's Senior English class.

Knowledge for Tomorrow — Today!

Teaching is no easy job, as is shown by Mr. Myron Amstutz's serious look.

Art instructor, Miss Estella Easterday, culturally develops the students at P.H. S.

First year band and choir instructor, Mr. John O'Malley, directs the choir in a daily practice.

The varied activities of Mrs. Edna Richards includes teaching algebra I and II, Trigonometry, Calculus, and advising the senior class.

The Unsung-Heroes of P.H.S.

The school could function smoothly without the inside, unnoticed help of the janitors, who keep the building and classrooms clean; the cooks, who prepare the meals; the bus drivers, who provide necessary transportation to school; and the student helpers, who clean up after the students at noon time.

Special cafeteria helpers are, L. TO R., Nina Hale, Annetta Stumbo, Bonnie Hall, Fannie Conley, and Kitty Cunningham.

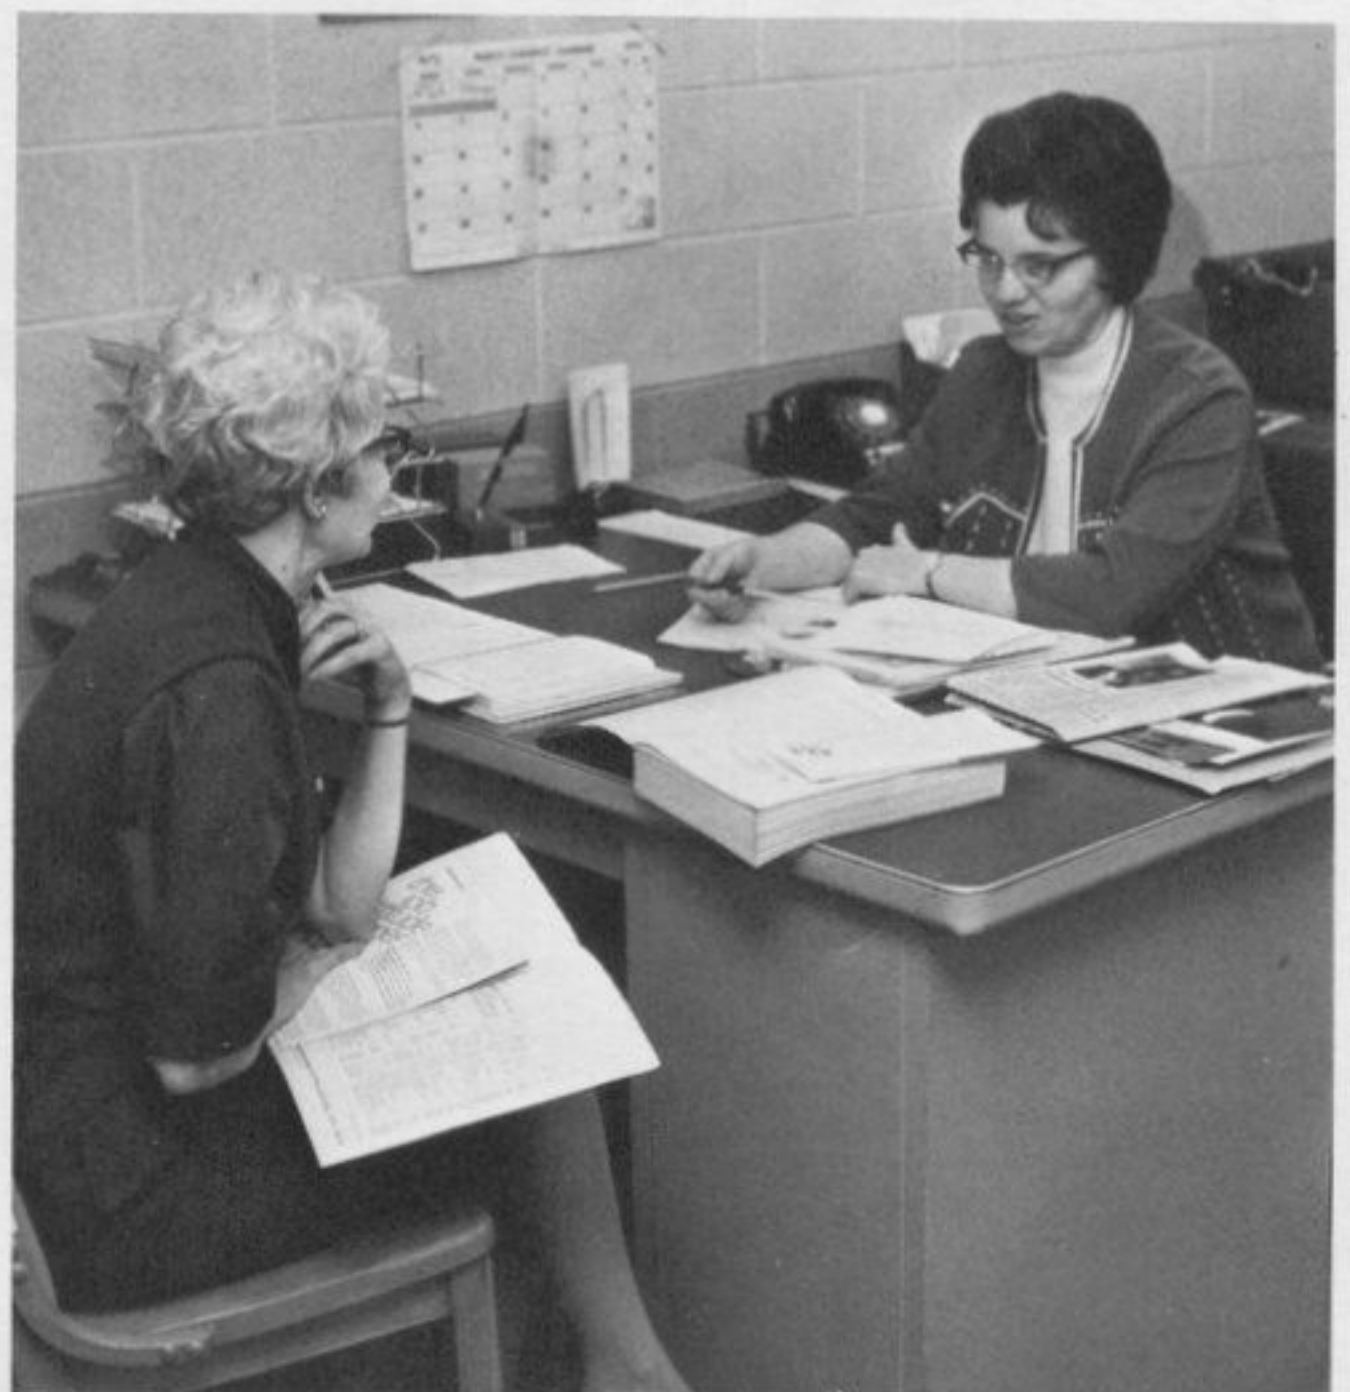

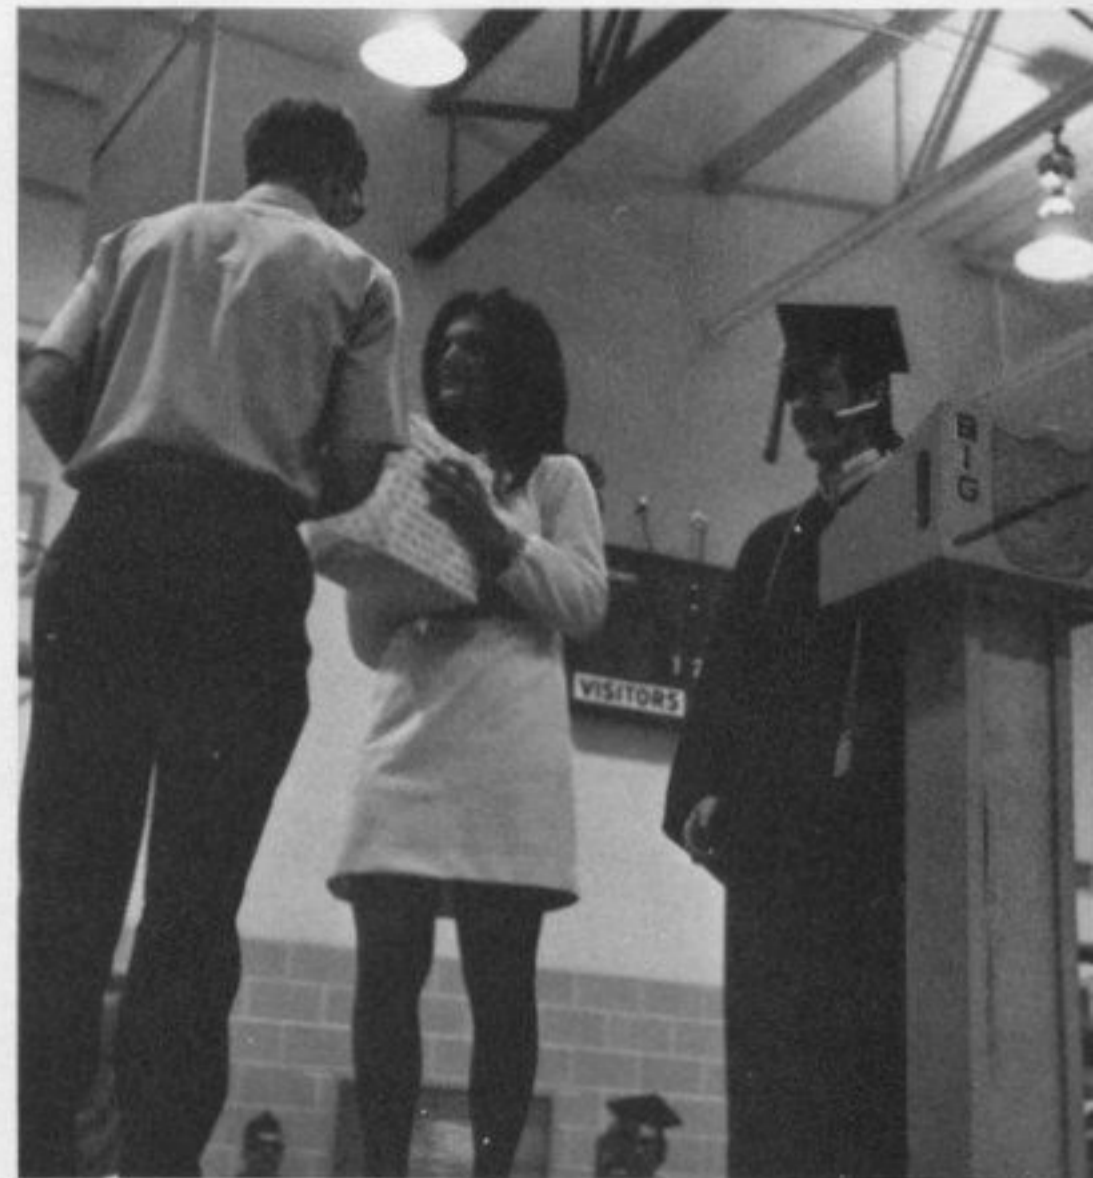

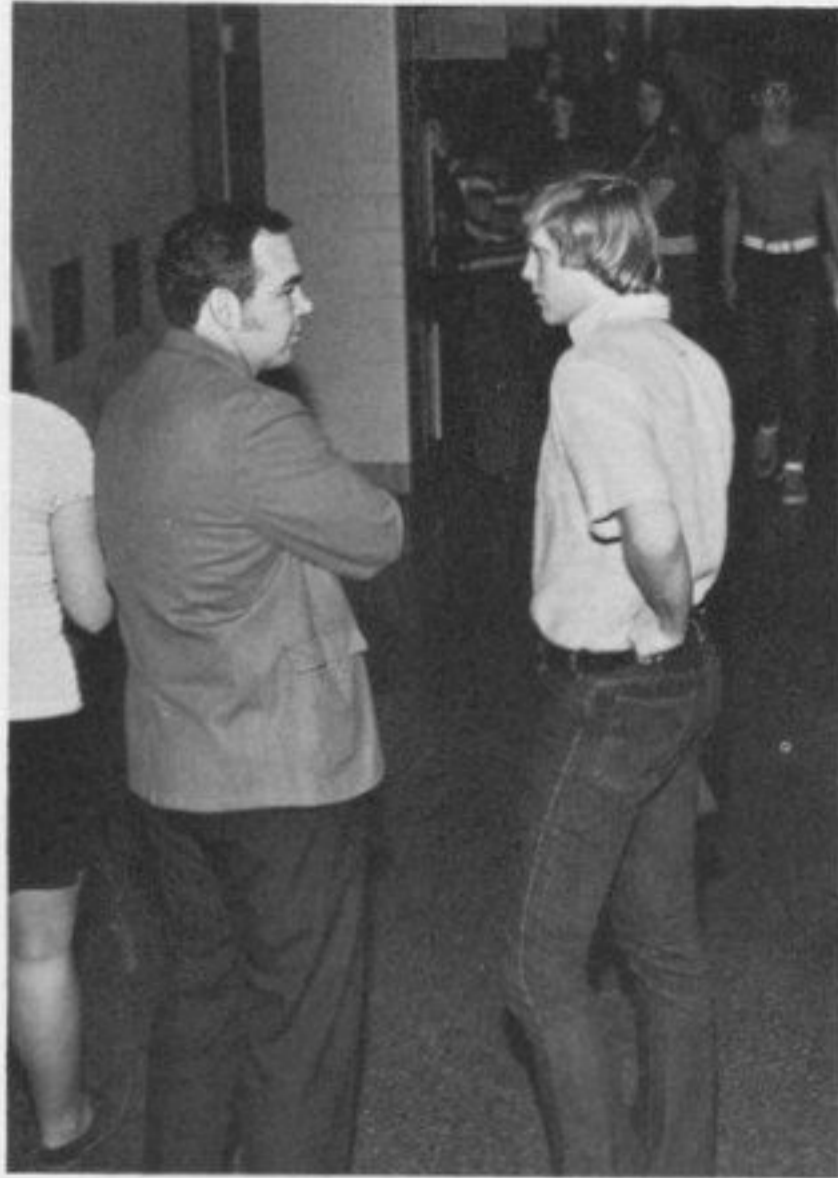

We owe the cleanliness of our school to the janitors Marvin Smedley and retired Russel Moser.

Daily meals are prepared by, L. TO R., Sally Gloriosc, Jane Fairchild, and Ruth Barbour.

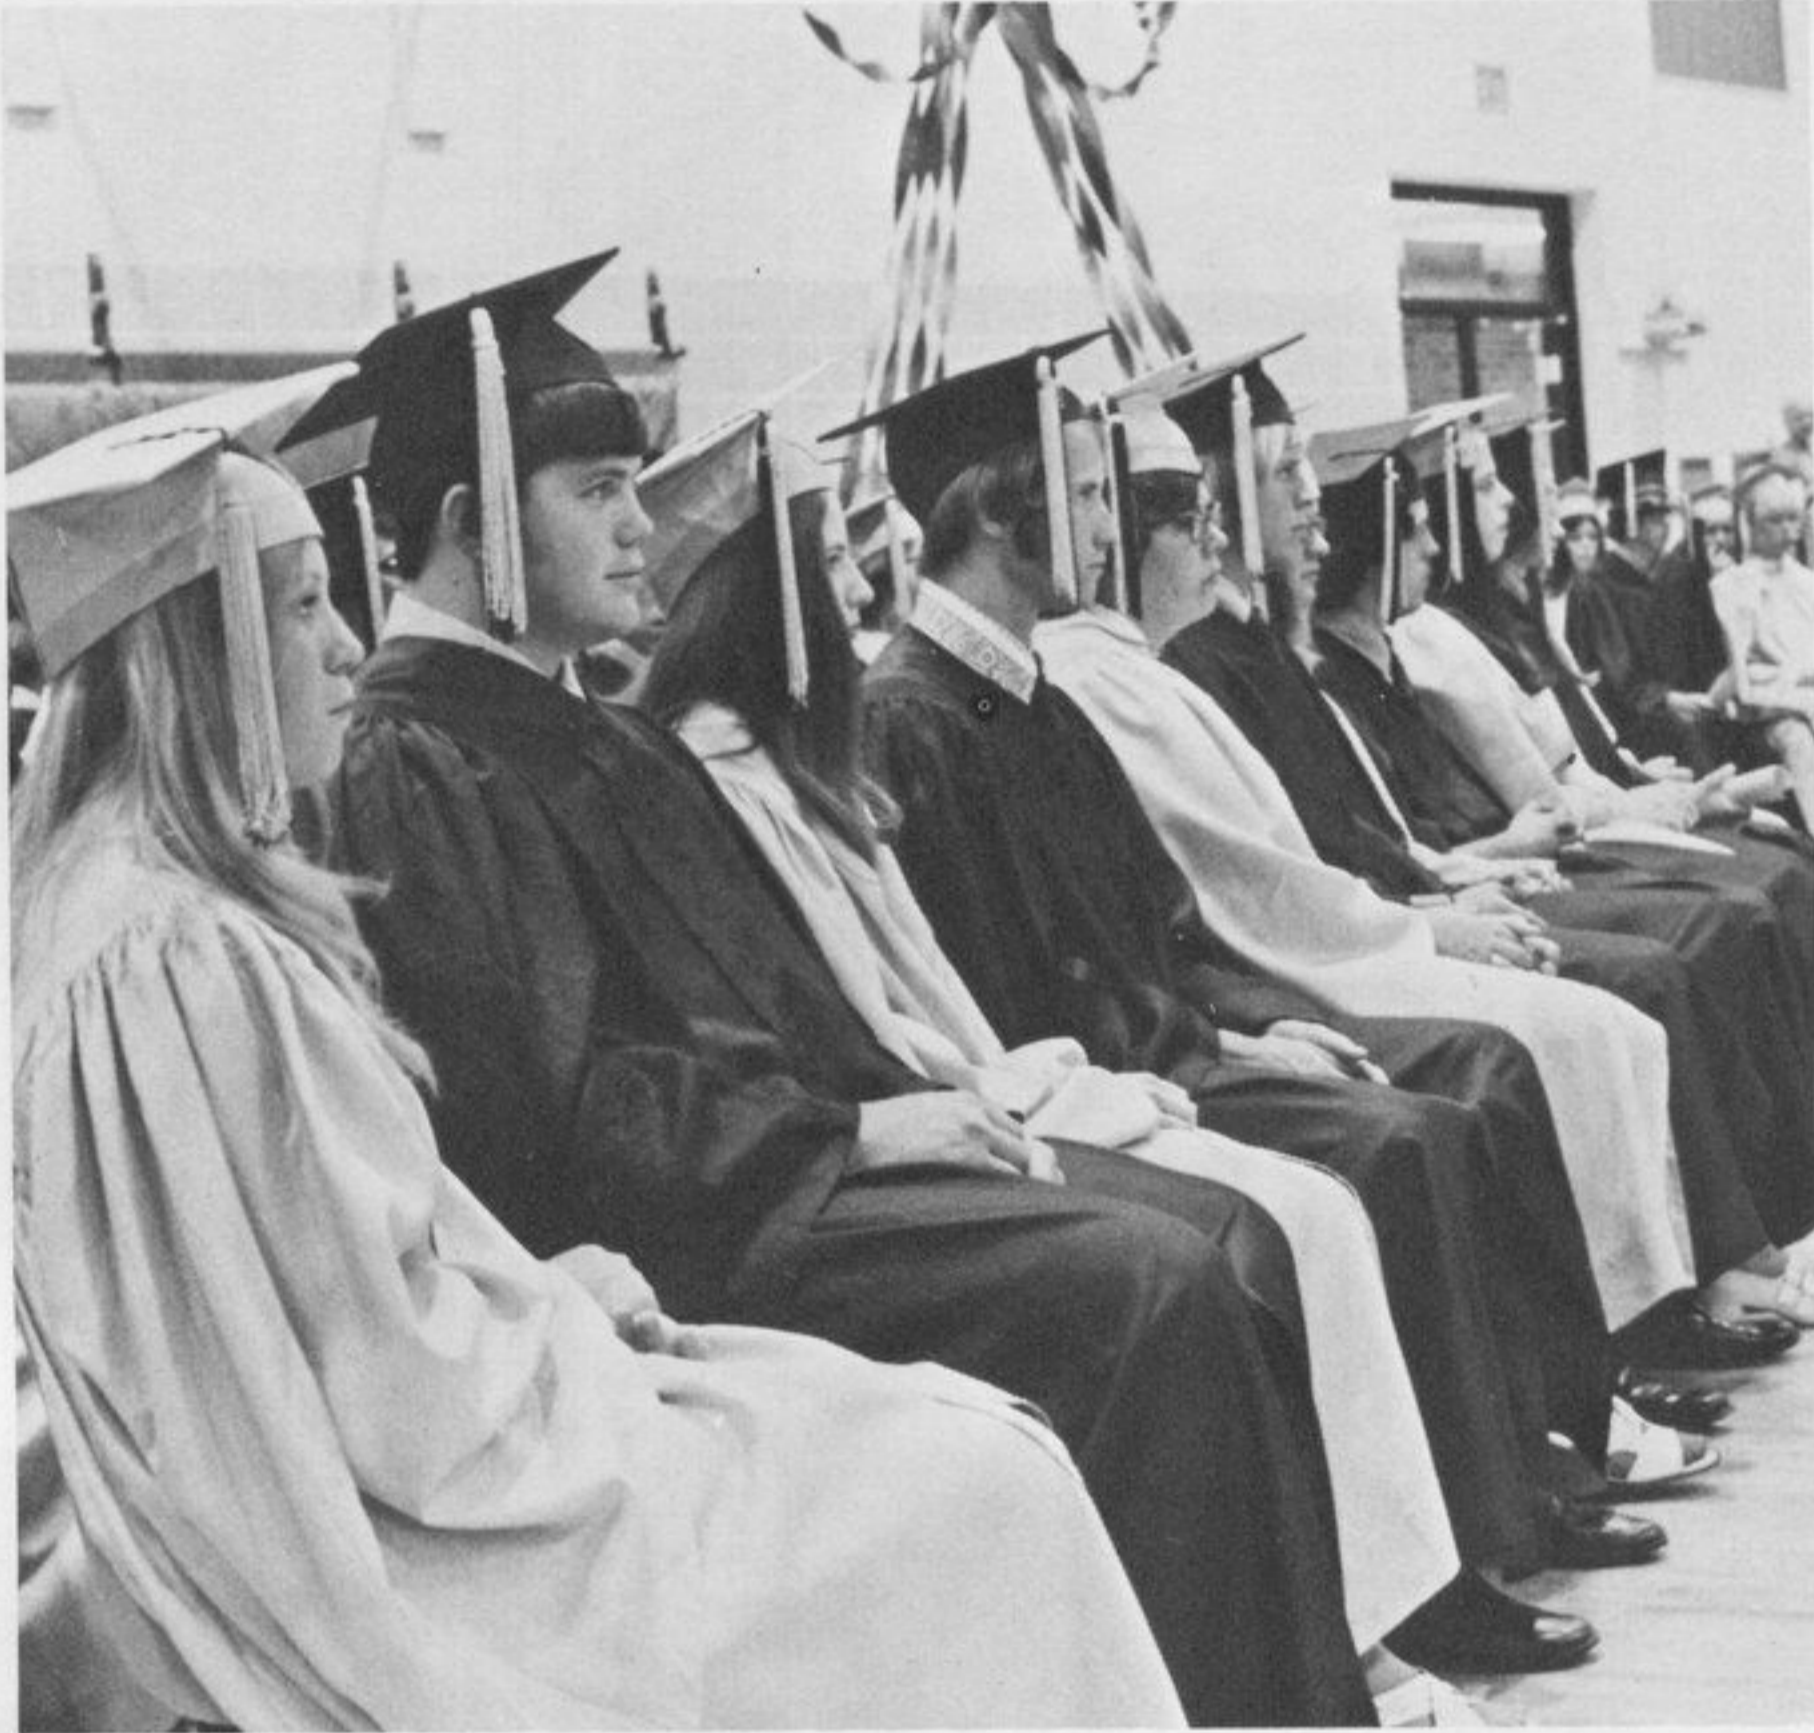

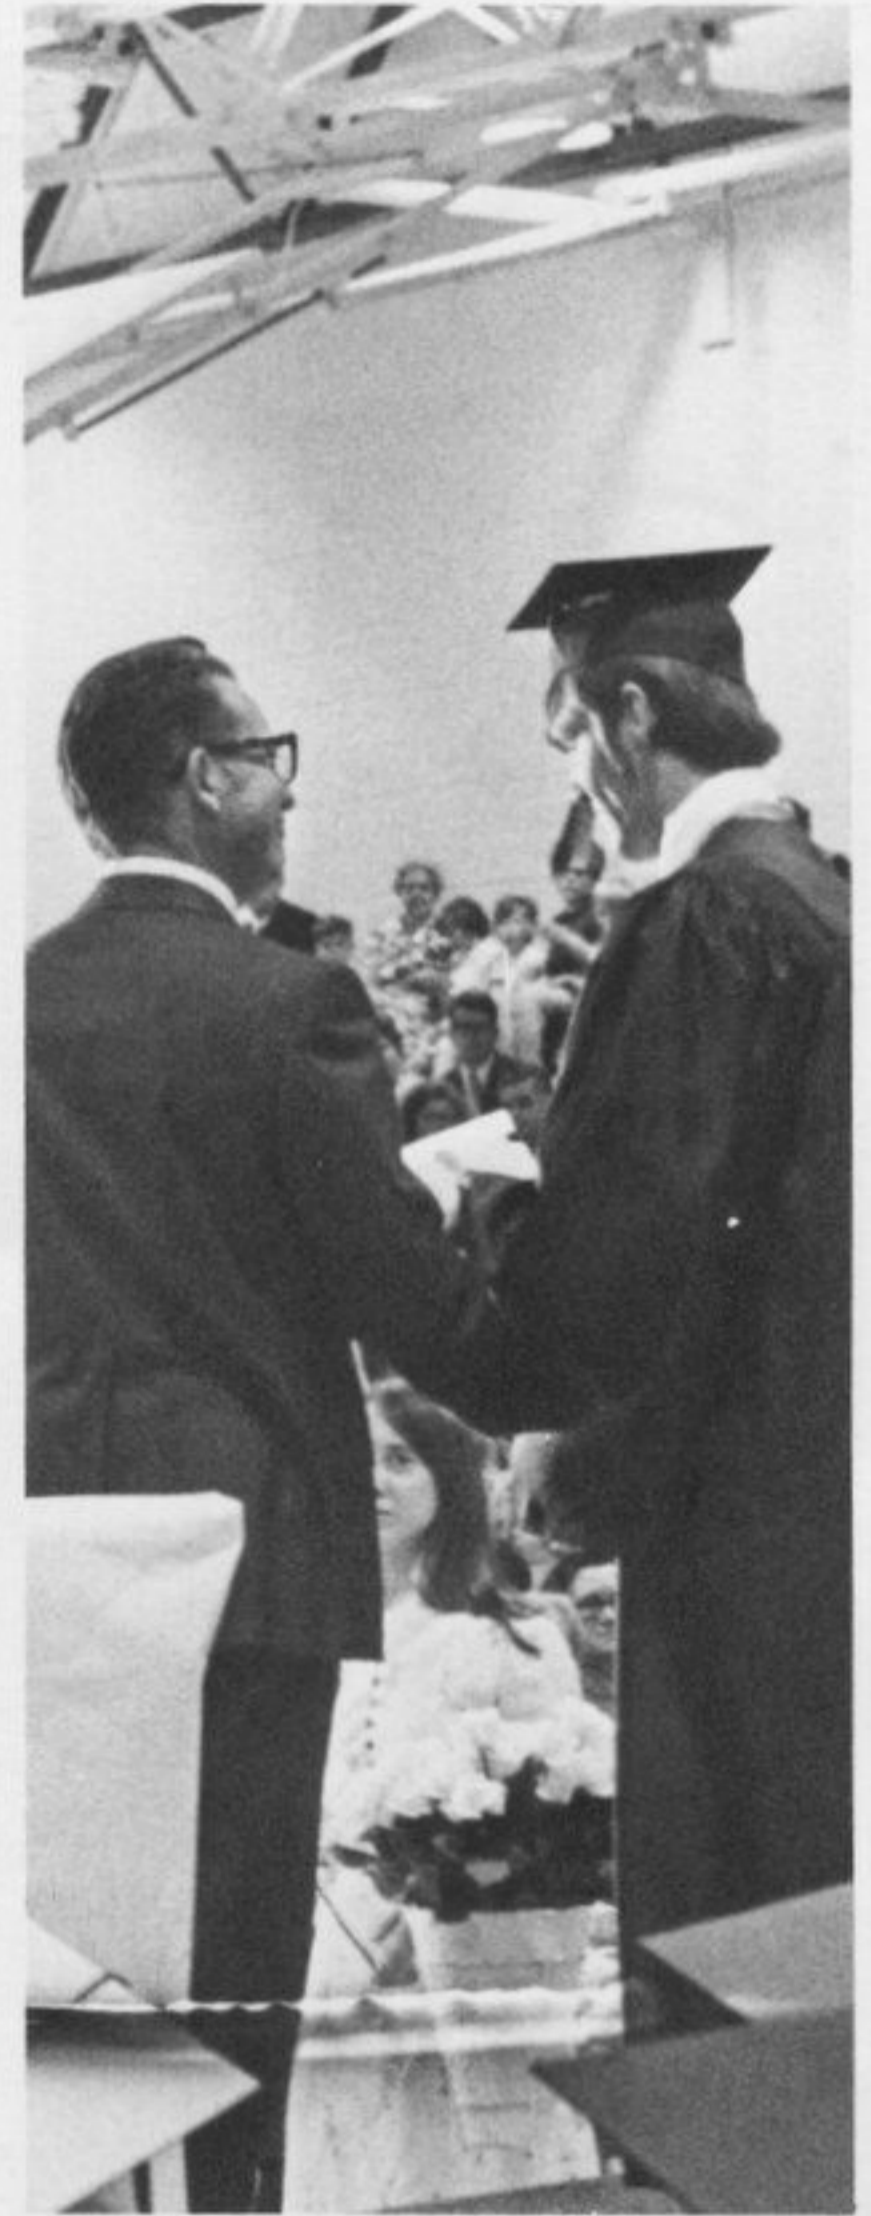

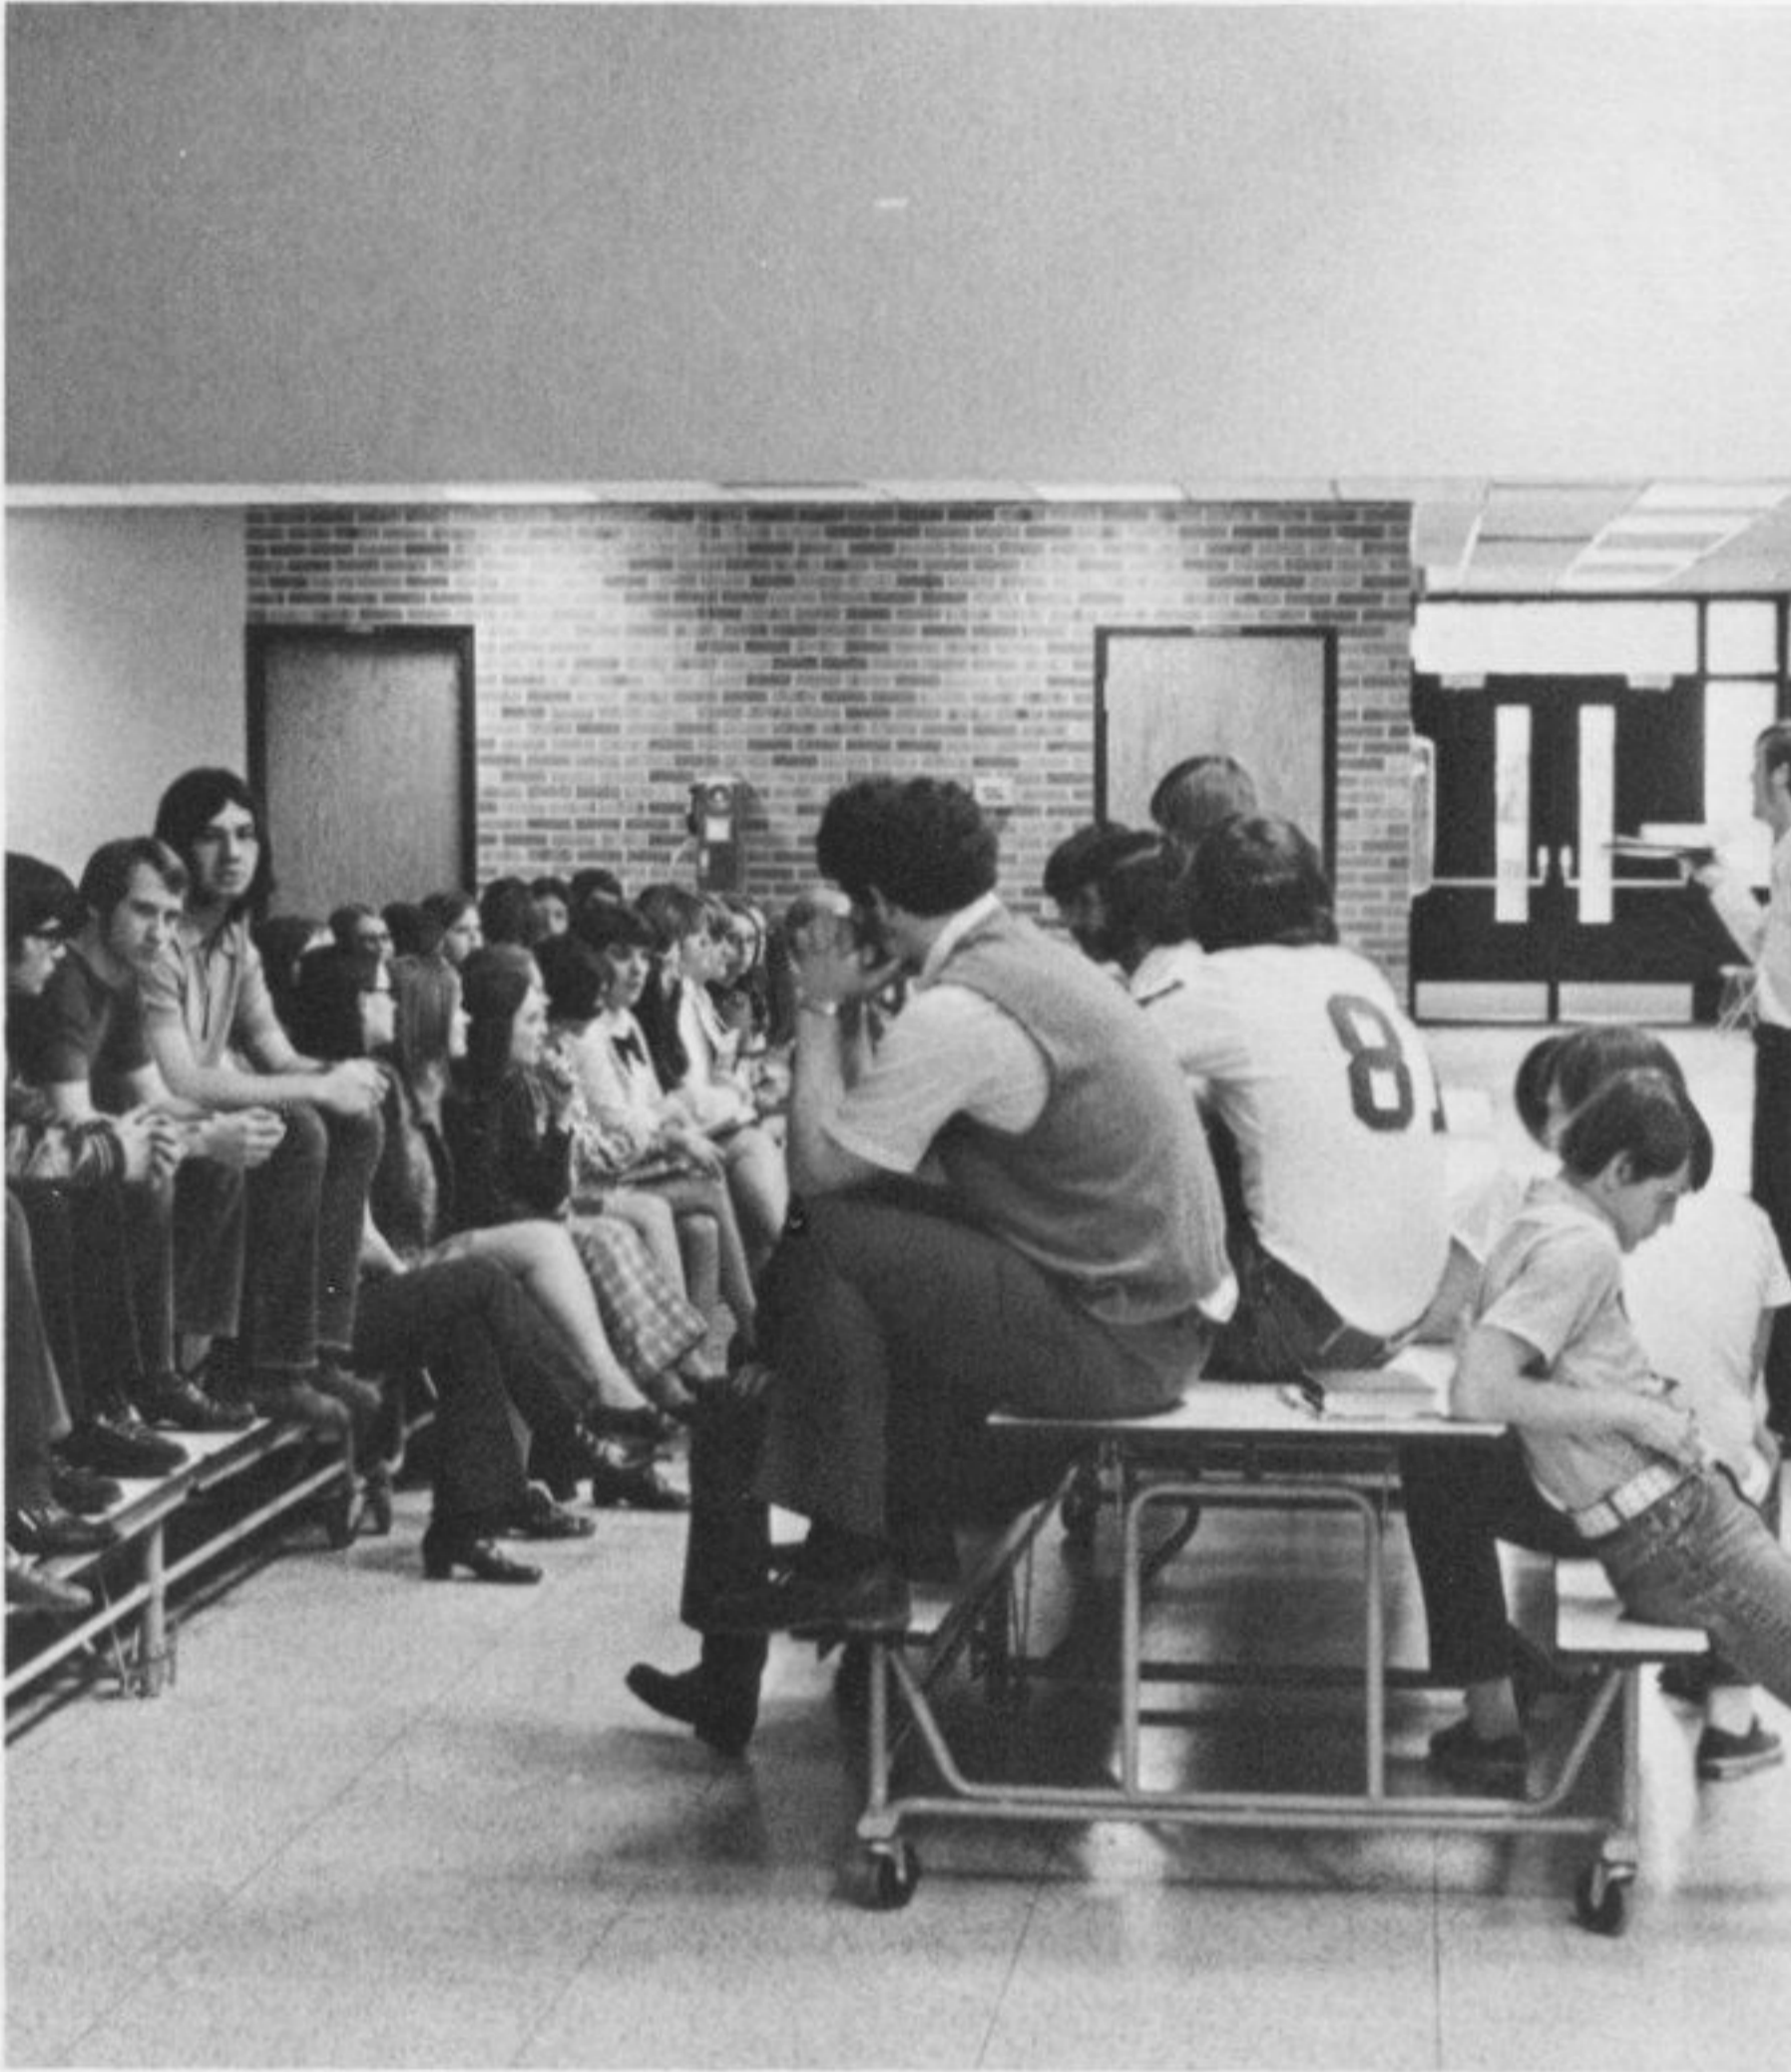

The transportation to and from P.H.S. is provided by, KNEELING, Ruth Wagner, Inez Kilgore, Robert Wagner, Don Vanderpool; STANDING, Clete Lewis, Bill Van Wagner, Paul Kranz, Elmer Prater, and Howard Sloan.

SENIORS

Together... an important role in the lives of Seniors at Plymouth High School. From their first day as a Freshman to the receiving line after Commencement, they share excitement and sorrow, laughter and tears. Their final year at P.H.S. seems to end all too quickly, but the memories and friendships will continue on. These past four years have truly been "a past to cherish".

Outstanding Personalities Chosen by Seniors

A Past to Cherish and a Future to Fulfill

UNDERCLASSMEN

The new spirit of togetherness at Plymouth was also displayed in the enthusiasm of the underclassmen. Although they find their first years trying as well as exciting, they participate in many of the varied activities here. Through their plans and compromises, they gain valuable experience that can aid them in the future.

Juniors Ready Themselves

After much preparation and work the Juniors presented a dinner and dance with the theme "Cherish" for their prom. This years Jr. class was headed by W. Blankenship, president, A. Seitz, vice president, C. Ernst, Secretary, and D. Humrichouser, treasurer.

ADVERTISING

With the help of O.W.E., Pioneer Joint Vocational School, and energetic students, many of the students at Plymouth High School are employed at local businesses of the Plymouth-Shiloh communities. These students gain responsibility and knowledge not often taught in the classroom. The jobs are a variety with a few of them being: restaurant work, maintenance, store clerks, and office jobs.
